FARM AND HOUSEHOLD In May Clean Food!

Most dairyman suppose that hay is the cheapest food for their cows, and think it is a mistake to be short of hay—which is, in a sense, true, for every one who has tried to produce all the hay required for his cows, but it is seldom that the market price of grain is higher than that of hay. If we consider the relative nutritive value of hay and grain, or product of grain, we find that good meadow hay or clover is no cheaper at $18 or $14 per ton than good wheat bran or middlings at $20 or $24 per ton, or corn meal at $20 or $24 per ton, or linseed cake or meal at $20 or $24 per ton. Now, this does not mean that corn meal, middlings, or oil meal would be just as appropriate for the complete food of a cow as hay. We know that such concentrated food would be quite dangerous to feed a cow without some coarse fodder; but it means that the nutritive value of these foods will be as cheap to make up any deficiency in the ration, at these prices, as hay at the price mentioned.

Therefore, when hay is dear in the dairy districts, instead of buying hay the dairyman should buy grain in some form to help him out. The grain will be cheaper, and his cows come through in much better condition for the milking season than if they had all the good hay they could eat. All a cow requires over twelve or fifteen pounds of hay should be made up in grain food. Twelve pounds of hay and eight pounds of middlings per day will winter a thousand pound cow much better than thirty pounds of hay per day. But the ground feed should be mixed with cut hay, moistened, so the ground feed will adhere to it, and must be eaten with hay and raised, and a remanifested feed, fed alone, is not raised and remanifested, but goes on to the fourth stomach, without further mastication.—National Live Stock Journal.

Preparing Soil for an Orchard.

In the book "How the Farm Pays," we find the following suggestions in regard to the preparation of the soil for setting out fruit trees. Rich soil is not required. If the land is able to produce a good crop of corn, potatoes, or clover, it is rich enough; if made too rich the trees are apt to make too much wood, or a weak, rank growth, which must be cut away by pruning, and thus really exhaust the tree and put off its bearing period for some considerable time. The following details will suggest a proper method for setting out fruit trees. The farmer of course must study his particular case, and make a judicious application of these suggestions. The land should be well plowed in the fall or late summer, as deep as possible; deep plowing in this case is beneficial, when it might be otherwise for an ordinary crop. The next thing to be done is to prepare a sufficient quantity of good compost of rotted leaves, weed stalks, and other matter, lime, wood ashes, and rotted manure. These are well mixed and put into a heap ready for use. The trees are then ordered to be delivered at a special time, and for safety, and the proper guidance of the nurseryman, full and accurate directions should be given for shipping. The orders should be sent so as to give the nurseryman ample time to ship the trees. The trees to be set out on the ground, and the holes two feet deep, and large enough to give the roots ample spread, say four feet wide. The top soil should be thrown on one side by itself. The compost is then hauled on the ground, and a liberal quantity of it is thrown into the hole and spread, and partly mixed with the earth in it, being left slightly raised in the center for the trees to rest upon. Everything is now in readiness for the trees. When these arrive they should be unpacked and sorted at once, and each variety laid in the wagon by itself. Each variety should be planted separately in a row or block. The wagon is then taken to the field. The planter, who has a boy to assist him, takes a tree, sets it firmly upon the earth in the hole so that it is a little deeper than it has been in the nursery, and while the assistant holds it, he spreads the roots and carefully works the soil among them so that they are in as natural a position as possible. This is very important and should be well done. After this the rest of the top soil is thrown in and well trodden with the feet. Then the subsoil is put in with a little of the compost mixed with it and thoroughly well firmed with the feet, but left in a slight mound, so as to turn water from the stem. After all the trees have been thus planted each one should be properly pruned. Full planting, which is generally preferable, should be done from the 15th October to the 15th November, and spring planting as soon as the ground is free from frost and dry enough to work.

In the Country Lawyer's Office.

He wanted justice. You could see that in his eyes afar off. He didn't want a little bit of justice weighed out in a gingerly manner and done up in coarse brown paper, but he wanted justice by the car-load and at wholesale rates. He hiked his old white horse and dilapidated buggy in front of the drug store, mounted the stairs running up outside to the second story, and his eyes brightened as they rested on the sign on the door: "George Boxem, Attorney-at-Law." The lawyer was in. So were a two-dollar desk, two fifteen-cent chairs, a huge cuspidor, and a rusty stove.

"Morning."

"I'm Jim White, sir. Live out by Gray's Corners. Bought the Tompkins farm, you know."

"Ah!"

"Skinner jines farms with me. His steers get into my corn. I want damages, but he laughs at me. I turn my hogs into his later patch."

"Good! I like a man of spunk."

"And he kills one of 'em."

"What?"

"He kills a hog worth two dollars."

"You don't say! Well, that man ought to be made to understand that he doesn't own this county. What an out-rage! Have you demanded pay?"

"Oh, yes; and he said he'd like to shoot me."

"Is it possible? Why, he's a dangerous man, very dangerous."

"I came to ask you if—"

"Why, of course you have the best kind of a case against him, and it is your duty to push it."

"Yes, I want justice, but how—how much will—"

"Oh, the cost will be nothing. Just leave me $5 as a retainer and we'll make Skinner sweat. I haven't heard of such an outrage for years. He probably reasons that you are chicken-hearted and afraid of him."

"Well, he'll find that the Whites have as much grit as the Skinners."

"And as much money to law with?"

"You bet!"

"That's the talk! We'll make him a very sick man. Your case appeals to me as a citizen as well as a lawyer. Now, we'll secure a retainer."

Skinner visits the other lawyer in the same village, and the conversation is about the same. White gets a warrant for Skinner, and Skinner gets a warrant for White.

First year—Two adjournments, a disagreement, twenty-four days lost time, and a cash expense of $58 to each farmer.

Second year—Three trials, one disagreement, four adjournments, one appeal, and a cash expense of $150 to each farmer. Time lost, thirty-five days.

Third year—Two trials, two appeals, two decisions, and two farms pass into the hands of two lawyers.—New York Sun.

Babies' Shoes.

"Tell me something about babies' shoes. How are they numbered?"

"No. 4 is the first shoe out of babyhood. No. 5 has a soft sole of white kid and pastebread, and is the successor of the knit wool boots that are sold for babies in long dresses. Nos. 1, 2 and 3 have what is called the turned sole, sewed together at the ends, and turned out. There are from four to five buttons on the side, and a black tassel is now fastened at the top in front. The latest is to have a vamp of French kid with calf uppers, or what is still better, a half-broed round toe, tipped with patent leather."

"Is there no change in the shape of children's shoes?"

"None. There can't well be because the sole must be sufficiently broad to stand the wear and tear. Square toes are preferred to round, because they allow free development to the toes. The spring heel, which was introduced nearly two years ago, is worn as early as two years of age, and has recently become fashionable for girls in their teens. It is something but a sole of leather inserted between the sole and the foot, which is pressed by the wearer's heel. It is seldom that a smaller than a No. 8 is made with a regular heel, and that is on the common sense plan, low and broad. These and the large sizes have a higher top than has been usual for several years. Children would have better-looking feet if they had wider mothers, and the feet with narrow shoes taken. One pair too short will ruin the feet, no matter how loose subsequent ones may be."—New York Mail and Express.

Cutting Ostrich Feathers.

The ostrich is not an easy bird to handle under the operation of feather cutting. You can well imagine that there is some difficulty and also danger in handling huge birds weighing some 350 pounds apiece. Feathers are cut once every seven months, making it, as you see, nearly twice a year. When we intend to cut a bird we approach it with a plate of green corn, to which they eagerly rush. They are then caught by the neck with the left hand, while with the right hand you draw over the head a stocking, thus blindingfold them. At the bottom of the stocking is left a hole through which their beak passes, giving them an opportunity to breathe. As soon as the bird is blindedfold he is held still by four men, and in about half an hour he is plucked. The white feathers are all cut, while the body and tail feathers are plucked. If you watch this closely as I have done, you will discover that there is a new feather coming at different times all over the world, whether it be in the colonies, in the United States or in Europe. In five years from now ostrich farming will be a leading industry, and in ten years from now it will be a staple industry of the United States.—San Francisco Call.

Married Above the Clouds.

A novel wedding took place near Silverton, Colorado. Miss Mollie Conners of Lake City, and Mr. Oscar Olsen of Animas Forks, were married on the summit of the divide, at an altitude of over 10,000 feet, the party being on snowshoes. Miss Conners agreed to meet Mr. Olsen on the summit, bringing her friends with her, and Mr. Olsen agreed to go to the summit, with his friends coming up from the opposite side of the mountain. The bride left Lake City accompanied by her two brothers, and Olsen left Animas Forks at the same hour accompanied by the Rev. Father Ley, of Silverton, and a few friends. The only way of scaling the snow covered mountain was on snowshoes, and the climbing was fatiguing. The groom and the minister arrived first at the designated meeting point, but the bride and her brothers were soon observed nearing the spot, trudging along cheerily. Miss Conners seemed less fatigued than any other member of the party. After a short rest Father Ley performed the wedding ceremony with as much grace and ease as if it had taken place in a church. The minister, the bride, the groom, and the witnesses to the marriage grouped themselves together as close as the Canadian snowshoes would permit; the ceremony was gone through with, champagne was drunk as a toast to the health of the happy couple, and then the party journeyed to the home of the bride, where a banquet was to be held.

A Great Painter's Methods.

M. Meisnier does not object to visitors, and is fond of showing them personally through his studio, says a Paris letter to the Chicago Tribune. He explained to me that he almost always paints from a model. "Here," said he, taking up a small wax image, "is the model of a horse prancing. It would have been impossible to draw directly from nature. So I had a horse brought around here and made to prance while I modeled him in wax. It was a terrible job. I had the horse brought here every morning for four weeks before the image was perfect. But it is finished now, and I can draw from it at my leisure. You see too, I had a miniature set of harness made and fitted on the image, so as to have every strap and buckle just right. Here is another figure of a horse, rolling up in the ground as if struck by a shot. It is for a battle scene. I had them throw a horse down and make him roll and struggle while I modeled him, and he had to do more than a score of times. You see this figure of a horseman with his cloak flying in the wind? Well, I made that and soaked the cloak with a mixture that would gradually stiffen. Then I set it in the wind, and it blew out naturally and became fixed in just the position I wanted."

Dr. Carlos Finlay, of Havana, has been experimenting on the incubability of yellow fever. The disease was found to be transmissible only from the third to the sixth day of eleven incubations, six were successful, one doubtful and four negative. The incubations were brought about by the use of mosquitoes, which were first caused to sting patients suffering from the fever, and afterwards allowed to sting persons whom it was intended to inoculate. Whatever may be the result of Dr. Finlay's inoculation experiments as against yellow fever, the case with which a disease may be transmitted by the mere sting of a small insect is an important addition to the history of how zymotic diseases are spread.

Opelika has had a $100,000 fire. Selma and Mobile have also suffered serious loss from the same cause recently.

Miss Jennie Cley, of the Huntsville Democrat, wants an editor to run for Governor. We know of more than one editor who would like to be "Governor," if Miss Jennie could only consent to be "Governor."

The Washington Critic, the National View and the Philadelphia Times are favoring the appropriations to Southern rivers and harbors, and are especially inclined to boost Alabama's claims in this particular.

The Clarke County Democrat well says: A young man is in a bad way when the odor of whiskey is on his breath at every "sociable," party or hop he attends. He deserves to be fed on "cold shoulder" until he learns to respect decent society and himself, also.

An excursion of 400 people, on its way to California, stopped at El Paso, Texas, one day last week. Nearly every one immediately crossed to El Paso del Norte, on the Mexican side, to witness the bull fights in progress at a festival. They were chiefly Boston people, and explained that they went out of purely scientific curiosity; but the Mexicans who observed their enthusiasm, think otherwise.

All this scare about the scarcity of gold is a mere pretence, a bugbear of the gold bugs. Gold has been scarce many a time before and yet the business of the country did not go to the bow wows. Gold has gone abroad because cotton is so cheap and wheat so abundant at Liverpool that they are insufficient to pay for our imports. But there is plenty of gold yet in the national treasury and among the people to keep the country clear of a gold panic.—Age.

"A Man Without a Country."

Novel readers will remember the interesting story with the above title by Edward Everett Hale. The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette of last Saturday, contained what it vouches for as the real history of this strange character, whose name was Phillip Nolan. The Gazette's "history" is a rebash of Mr. Hale's novel, from which it quotes in extenso.

To give a synopsis of the story: It is claimed that Nolan was a Confederate of Aaron Burr in the scheme to establish a government in the Southwest out of Louisiana and Mexican territory, with New Orleans as the capital. This was in 1805. The scheme was forestalled, as history relates, by the arrest of Burr and Blennerhassett, and a few other leaders, among whom the story includes Nolan. History says they were all tried for treason and acquitted. But the story has it that when the Judge of the Court asked Nolan whether he wished to say anything to show that he had always been faithful to the United States, the prisoner cried out in a fit of frenzy: "D—n the United States. I wish I may never hear of the United States again." Whereupon, the Judge, after recovering from the shock occasioned by such contempt, said: "Prisoner hear the sentence of the Court, the Court decides, subject to the approval of the President, that you never hear of the United States again."

Nolan laughed. But nobody else laughed. The sentence was carried out, and Nolan was sent to sea, where he was closely watched and guarded.

Mr. Hale says: "No man liked to have him permanently because his presence cut off all talk of home or the prospects of return, which sailors so much delight to dwell upon. He was allowed to read foreign papers after somebody went over them, and out out any advertisement or stray paragraph that alluded to America."

Here the writer says that he moved "heaven and earth" at Washington, in 1830, to get poor Nolan discharged, but with no success.

On the 12th of August, 1863, the New York Herald contained the following announcement:

"NOLAN—Died, on board the U. S. Corvette, Levant, of the ill of May, 1830."

Nolan was said to be as fine a young officer as there was in the "Legion of the West," as the western division of the army was called during Jefferson's administration. By his sentence he was compelled to spend fifty-six years on the ocean, and died as above stated.

Such is the story of the Commercial-Gazette. We had all along supposed the story of Nolan a fiction, as history says nothing in regard to such a confederate of Burr. The majority had likewise supposed the origin of the story due to the exalted powers of imagination possessed by Mr. Hale, and other Republicans of his stripe. It is vouched for by the Commercial-Gazette in order to disparage the administration of President Jefferson, the founder of the Democratic party. Mr. Jefferson was too wise a statesman to inflict punishment without authority of law, and the story is about as credible as John Sherman's bloody shirt narratives or the Commercial-Gazette's periodical campaign lies.

A Stay Law.

The Advertiser prints a series of resolutions sent in by citizens of Branchville, Alabama. It seems that these people want a special term of the Legislature called by the Governor, for the purpose of enacting a law to stay the collection of debt.

The sensible editor of the Gunterville Democrat says in regard to such a law. "If men are thoughtless, careless, thriftless and idle enough to raise cotton, buy guano, go head and ears in debt, let tons upon tons of the best manures waste under their feet, we can't see the good legislation will do. Then if such a law was passed, give him a chance to waive it, and he'll waive all right to it and buy candy, snuff, ribbons and lace on credit."

"The way of the transgressor is hard," means just as much in a business sense, as it does in a religious sense. A man can't transgress the laws of trade and succeed any more than he can the law of God. For a man without means, to spend his time in coming to town and buying foolishness on a credit and think he will succeed is preposterous. In saying this, we mean no fling at our Branchville friends whatever, for it is stated they are men of the best standing in St. Clair county. We only mean to express our utter disgust and contempt for men who spend their money for foolishness, and that too before they get it, and then grumble at the hardness of times."

The Iron Trade.

It is one of the axioms of the market that the iron trade is the surest barometer of business—when that is active general trade is also active, and when that is depressed a corresponding state of things is observed in every department of industry. From this point of view Mr. Swank's official report showing the great improvement in the iron and steel industry is in the highest degree encouraging. It removes all doubt as to our being on the eve of that revival of business that has been so long and anxiously expected. What was hoped for has now actually come.

Verbena and Its Attractions.

Correspondence B'ham Age.]

VERBENA, ALA., Jan. 2.—Verbena is deservedly one of the prettiest of the many pretty villages along the line of the Louisville & Nashville R. R. It is not of a great age, and yet a careless observer can see many evidences of thrift and enterprise. Many of the wealthy Montgonerians spend their summers here and seek the cooling air away from the sweltering heat of that sultry city.

Already Verbena possesses the nucleus for a large and thriving town, and there is no reason for doubting that such a destiny will be achieved. The hotel owned by Maj. Gibson would be an ornament to a larger town, and within its spacious walls many a pilgrim from further southern cities could off during the heated months. The people here are interested in the appearance of a gold miner a short time since, who was direct from the gold fields of Colorado. He disappeared in the depths of the forest in search of the precious nuggets, which are said to exist at the Blue Lick Falls on Chestnut creek. Should his investigations prove to be a big bonanza, Verbena will be a second Birmingham.

A most flourishing school here is conducted by Prof. Acres. He attends most successfully to the intellectual and moral needs of our youth.

The cotton year, which is near its close, has held up to past years and hundreds of bales have added many thousands of dollars to Verbena's wealth. There is no enterprise in which Verbena takes greater delight than the Pratt Saw Mill, and well she may, for few flour mills are to be found anywhere. Every equipment known to the lumberman is here to be found. The capacity of the mill is 70,000 feet per day, but at present only about half of this amount is being sawed. With the commencement of the new year, contracts, however, its greatest capacity will be taxed. The Pratt Saw Mill Company ship lumber throughout the northwest. One bill of lumber, now being finished up for one of the handiest buildings in Cincinnati, serves to show the business connections of the company. This bill consists of 125,000 feet of dried and dressed three-inch flooring, and the most experienced lumberman could not behold a prettier sight than this tremendous pile of splendid yellow pine. Curran & Wolf, here, dry house, has a capacity of 200,000 feet every six days. Just now the company are engaged in making an extension of four miles to their railroad into the depths of the pine forest in order to answer the demands they expect to be made on them. Christmas and the intervening space between it and new year were made gloriously jolly by what are pleasantly known here as pine woods dances. These are occasions of the greatest good will and mirth and are celebrated with the greatest joy.

The spirit of progress is not confined to the manufacturing interests of the State alone. The newspapers have caught the idea; the Chilton View is responsible for "brainiest," and the Montgomery Dispatch exhausts its skill in verbal architecture by constructing "doth busieth."—Fort Payne Journal. The claims of the View to distinction in this particular instance are based solely upon a typographical error. Our typo omitted an "i" in setting up his word. So we surrender the palm to the Dispatch if the Journal has put that press down right; and if the Dispatch can find any authority in the entire range of English literature from Chaucer to Trollope for the use of such a phrase as "doth busieth," we hope it will quote accordingly, and set its country brothers at rest, otherwise we hope "never to see the like again," in a capital city daily. In conclusion, we call the attention of our brother of the Journal to his first sentence in the above extract. Omit the last word, "alone," and insert the adverb "solely" after the word "confined," and the construction would be better, and certainly the sentence would be less ambiguous.

In attempting to correct the blunders of others be careful not to commit a worse one yourself.

Little Mulberry Pate.

Mr. Joe Popwell is improving his place by building a new dwelling house.

The Rock Spring correspondent can say more for his community than we can for this. He reports no dances in a year, while we have had four in a month and expect several more before the season is off.

Mr. W. H. Mill's new water mill is ahead of all the mills. We wish him success.

Mr. W. I. Mullins is repairing his mill and gin that was washed out by the November rains.

Mr. Henry Culp has removed from Mississippi to our county, and will make this settlement his home.

Mr. Willis Gray has purchased a track of land from Mr. L. Patiller which he will improve, and he will need a housekeeper.

Hoping this may be a successful year with the View and its readers, I close.

Strasburg Items.

Rain! Plenty of rain.

Mr. A. J. Garner is our happiest citizen. Santa Claus brought him—a boy.

Mrs. Mary R. Wilson is visiting relatives in Coosa county.

Mr. Howard Wilks has just returned from a pleasant trip to Greenville. Wonder who she is?

Mr. Thomas Wilks is visiting his parents at Briarfield.

When we get sick now, we are alright, as Dr. J. P. Givhan, formerly of Lomax, has moved his pleasant family to our quiet little village. We extend them a hearty welcome.

Strasburg is slowly but gradually on the "look up." She has bought more cotton this year than in any previous year.

Mr. J. Rice, who had his hand and arm badly saved up by his gun sometime since, has about recovered.

The Montgomery Dispatch of Sunday contained the view of a number of prominent physicians on the subject of rabies. We quote the following, as the substance of the majority of the others:

"Do you believe in rabies, Doctor?" asked a Dispatch reporter of Dr. Gaston yesterday at his office. "I have no doubt about rabies, but I have not studied Pasteur's theory with regard to protection against, and am therefore, not competent to judge them. I never had a case of hydrophobia, and never saw a physician who had. But Mr. Cooper, of Cooper's Station, brought his little child to this city a few days ago, which, he said, was bitten by a rabid dog. The child was bitten three days before, and we decided to do nothing more than had already been done for it by its physician. Mr. Cooper returned home with his little child to await developments, and promised to inform me as to the result of the bite. The first thing that should be done in case of a bite by a rabid dog is to wash the blood away, then suck out the poison, and then apply some powerful caustic. It is uniformly a fatal disease, the only treatment is a preventive used immediately after bitten. We did not think it necessary to cauterize the wound of Mr. Cooper's child, as three days had elapsed since the child had been bitten."

Some days ago the Age very respectfully asked the question of its state contemporaries whether they endorsed the "President's tariff views. Not a single one of them has answered the question and we shall take it for granted that they agree with the president that there is now no occasion for the general discussion of the wisdom or expediency of a protective system," for the simple reason that this system must for years to come be the settled policy of our government, whether democratic or republican rule.—Birmingham Age.

The View is in accord with the tariff views of the President.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper. An important election year is upon us, and every citizen is more or less interested in public matters. THE VIEW will be sent to any address for one year for $1.50.

There is no bar-room open in Clanton county now.

D. R. McMillian, Esq., of Columbia, was in Clanton yesterday.

Mr. E. L. Higdon, of Birmingham, visited our town on Saturday.

Mrs. Anderson, of Jemison, visited her father's family in Clanton this week.

Miss Rosa Gullahorn has returned home from a visit to friends in Birmingham.

Misses Sidney and Fannie Pitts, who spent the holidays at home in Verbena, have returned to school at Tuskales.

Mr. J. M. Parish has placed in the VIEW cabinet one of the claws of the large eagle killed near his place recently.

Clifford & Airey, the blind minstrels, gave a performance before a large audience in the Academy Hall on Wednesday night.

The rains of Saturday and Sunday, caused the creeks to rise very high around Clanton, which resulted in serious damage to causeways and bridges.

The VIEW issued 53 numbers last year, there being that number of Thursdays in 1885. The year began on Thursday and ended on the same day of the week.

The New Year callers were out for the first time in Clanton on Friday. One of them who wore a plug hat reports that he "had a peck of fun and a bushel of cake."

Mr. O. A. Duke has returned from a business trip north. He reports the business outlook most encouraging, and says the lumber market is especially lively, after so long a depression.

Notwithstanding all the preaching of the VIEW to the contrary, young "Hard Times" Duke still holds to the position that he is the most prevalent young man in the country just now.

The stove-pipe hats, worn by the New Year callers, are still on hand and will be used on stated occasions. They are very useful at church suppers or other places where there is an abundance of cake.

Mr. Will Sarter, has gone out to Wall's Mill, about four miles from Clanton, to take charge of the commissary. We understand that Mr. Khzman has an interest in said mill and Will is still in his employ and representing his interest there. We will miss him from our bar.

The gathering of the young portion of the community at the residence of Mrs. A. M. Adams, on Thursday evening, was enjoyed immensely by the young folks as well as the older ones. It was the occasion of a unique party given by Master Will and Miss Anna Byrne Adams to their young friends. The costumes were gay and attractive and caused great amusement and much speculation as to the identity of the youthful wearers.

The representations were: A New York Dude—Frank Burton; Johnnie Jones a Highland Boy—Mary Duke; Bettie Jones, a Highland Lass—Orman Duke; A Britany Pasant—Sidney Blasingame; Miss Pouch—Bessie Ponder. Gypsy Fortune Teller—Anna Lou Duke; Chief Osceola—Harry Blasingame; The Daisy—Gracie Ponder; Stars and Stripes—Lee Gullahorn; Aunt Liza Jane, the Cake Vender—David Bell Adams; Flower Girl—Loula Gullahorn; Dolly Varden—Anna Byrne Adams; A Monk—Sam. Adams; Philander Phunnybug a Farmer—Claude Boykin; Mystery No. 1—Sumner Ashley; Mystery No. 2—St. Clair Thornton; Snaggletooth Snooks, the Umbrella Tramp—Will Adams; Sir William the Butler—Ned Duke; and Miss Bessie Bivings as a gay little Goddess of Liberty represented the CHILTON VIEW, the name of the paper being distributed, in large letters over her pretty costume.

Shortly after unmasking the sweet strains of a march were heard as Mrs. O. A. Duke touched the piano keys, and a further invitation was extended to an adjoining room where a bountiful repast had been spread by Mrs. Adams, and forming in couples the line of march was taken up to enjoy the toothsome delicacies which that good lady so well knows how to prepare. After which games and music kept them until a late hour.

The occasion will be remembered most pleasantly by all who attended.

The Whiskey Petitions.

I. Gullahorn & Co., of Cooper's presented their petition to Probate Judge Callen for a license to sell whiskey at Cooper's Station. The license was refused, the Probate Judge holding that the requisite number of freeholders and householders had not signed it. The petitioners claim that only twenty names are necessary from among the freeholders and householders, while the special law for Clanton requires a majority of them. The petitioners will carry the case before Judge Arrington, of the Montgomery city court in an application for a writ of mandamus to compel the Probate Judge to issue the license. They claim that the recent law extending the incorporation of the Verbena churches is unconstitutional.

We would like to know "what in thunder" the correspondent of the Birmingham Age means by alluding to the dances at Verbena as "piny woods dances." He also uses bad rhetoric in saying that Verbena is "deservedly" one of the prettiest towns, etc. Verbena is not "deservedly" but is really one of the prettiest towns on the L. & N. road, between Cincinnati and New Orleans, and its people are equally noted for cultivation and refinement. We can but think it was a "slip of the pen" in that correspondent.

There were twelve young ladies and two married ladies who received callers, in Clanton, on New Year's Day. Below we give their names:

Misses Rosa and Dalee Thornton, Miss Mattie Wright, Miss Zella Collier, Miss Emma Boykin, Miss Annie Lewis, Miss Mamie Brushwood, Miss Mattie and Nannie Duke, Miss Sadie Hide, Miss Teresa Ternan, Miss Mamie Bivings, Mrs. A. M. Adams and Mrs. O. A. Duke.

Rev. S. H. Nettles, the new minister of the M. E. Church, at Clanton and Verbena, filled the pulpit at the Clanton Church on Saturday night last. He preaches with great force and power, and with the co-operation of the Christians of this community may do a deal of good in Clanton.

Needleless Den.

Mr. Enron.—Perhaps you think I have forgotten you, but I have only been on the wing a few weeks.

Last week I visited Jemison to witness the Christmas tree. It was very nice. Some of the girls thought Mr. J. H. H. of Jemison, was too slow in getting a "yik" and they concluded that he intended to

GOOD NEWS FOR ALL!!

Special Dispatch to the CHILTON VIEW.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 2, 1885.—The fierce fight that is being carried on here by Messrs. George B. Brown & Co. against high prices being paid for Furniture, is still going on. Their cause is a worthy one, and in one that every person should be interested in. They are determined that the people shall no longer pay high prices for Furniture. To see the crowds that are continually entering their store, and the amount of Furniture that is sent out, goes to show that the people are with them, and that they are doing all they claim.

Yours Respectfully,
BYRON GEORGE.

Glorious News! The Long Looked for Time Has Arrived!

NO MORE HIGH PRICES!

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF LOW PRICES!

We sell Furniture at retail as Cheap as it can be bought at the Factories at wholesale by other dealers. How can we do it? Why we get everything direct from the Factory as it comes from the machine all in pieces. We put it together and finish it ourselves, thereby saving the profits that are made at the Factories. Everything is finished in first-class order. When you come to Montgomery call on us and see for yourselves. We are also the only agents in Montgomery for some of the largest Furniture manufacturers in the United States. We quote a few prices:

Bedroom Suite from $12 to $800; Bureaus $6.50 to $18; Bedsteads—Walnut $7 to $180, Common $1.60 to $12, Single $1.75 to $35; Chairs—Walnut $1.50 to $6.50, Maple .65 to .75, Split Bottom .40 to $1.00, Large Rocker $2.50, Nurse Rocker $1.25; Lounges from $9 to $22; Lounge Bed $12 to $35; Mattresses (cotton top) $3; Parlor Suite from $50 to $250; Sofas $3 to $7.50; Tables $1.75 to $9.50; Wardrobes $8.50 to $75.

Everything else in proportion. Everything guaranteed that we sell.

Notes From Dixie.

Too much rain.
It is extremely quiet after the holidays.

Mr. J. W. Broadhead has moved to the residence of W. A. Smith.

Mr. Stewart, of Martin's Station has purchased the house recently belonging to J. W. Broadhead, and moved up.

The cotton shipments from Dixie this season will reach 450 bales. Several transfers of real estate lately at fair prices. We have plenty of room for all live, public-spirited men.

Mr. T. D. Parnell has moved 3 miles west of Dixie.

Mrs. M. A. Hare has returned from a visit to relatives in Mississippi.

An accident happened to Pettus Crum last week which might have resulted fatally. As he was mounting his horse the animal became frightened, and the young man's foot becoming fastened in the stirrup, he was dragged on the ground some distance by the horse. Fortunately his injuries are not serious.

Mrs. E. G. Adams, of Camden, is visiting the family of her father, Dr. Callier.

We are glad to see that our farmers are each year sowing more small grain. Diversified farming, if properly managed, will pay.

Mr. Peter Morrow who moved to Texas one year ago has come back to Alabama to stay, being thoroughly convinced that Alabama is just as good as Texas. Mr. W. O. Broadhead has returned to school at Verbena.

Planters are already making preparations for this year's crop, and many have concluded that they will not plant much cotton, but more corn.

There was a dance on last Thursday night at Mr. W. H. Burton's. A pleasant time was reported by all who attended.

Another year has passed away and '86 is here.

Great destruction to property in the north and west by storm.

GOOD NEWS FOR ALL!!

Special Dispatch to the CHILTON VIEW.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 2, 1885.—The fierce fight that is being carried on here by Messrs. George B. Brown & Co. against high prices being paid for Furniture, is still going on. Their cause is a worthy one, and in one that every person should be interested in. They are determined that the people shall no longer pay high prices for Furniture. To see the crowds that are continually entering their store, and the amount of Furniture that is sent out, goes to show that the people are with them, and that they are doing all they claim.

Yours Respectfully,
BYRON GEORGE.

NO MORE HIGH PRICES!

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF LOW PRICES!

We sell Furniture at retail as Cheap as it can be bought at the Factories at wholesale by other dealers. How can we do it? Why we get everything direct from the Factory as it comes from the machine all in pieces. We put it together and finish it ourselves, thereby saving the profits that are made at the Factories. Everything is finished in first-class order. When you come to Montgomery call on us and see for yourselves. We are also the only agents in Montgomery for some of the largest Furniture manufacturers in the United States. We quote a few prices:

Bedroom Suite from $12 to $800; Bureaus $6.50 to $18; Bedsteads—Walnut $7 to $180, Common $1.60 to $12, Single $1.75 to $35; Chairs—Walnut $1.50 to $6.50, Maple .65 to .75, Split Bottom .40 to $1.00, Large Rocker $2.50, Nurse Rocker $1.25; Lounges from $9 to $22; Lounge Bed $12 to $35; Mattresses (cotton top) $3; Parlor Suite from $50 to $250; Sofas $3 to $7.50; Tables $1.75 to $9.50; Wardrobes $8.50 to $75.

Everything else in proportion. Everything guaranteed that we sell.

The original estimate of the cost of the Panama canal was $120,000,000. That large amount of money was raised and has been nearly all expended, without any result to speak of. Hence M. de Lesseps now, naturally waits another $120,000,000, but just as naturally, he finds it much harder to raise than he fore.

Of founding sects there is no end. The most lately reported has its habitat in Bessarabia, and is known as "The Nest for Godly People." Its members live in their gardens, or in the earth floor of their cottages, and lie therein until most famished. They then do "to commune with God, confess their sins and examine their past lives," and they declare that at such times they "see saints and devils."

Professor Ludwig Meyer denies that the light wines and beers are diminishing the consumption of ardent spirits and claims that there is a steady increase in the use of both. In Holland, he says, the use of spirits has increased thirty per cent. within seventeen years; in Belgium it has doubled itself in the last forty years, and even in that home of wines, France, it has risen from an average of four annual liters per head to seven in the two decades from 1860 to 1880, i. e., an increase of seventy per cent.

It is estimated that on an average President Cleveland shook hands with 500 people every day during a part of last year. Statisticians have figured out that the physical exertion necessary to accomplish this task would be equal to that of a man carrying a load of 100 lbs. on his back, or of an engine, would give a force of six-mile power. The President sits in an easy chair during his receptions, but that is the only easy part of the business. He grasps the hands of his visitors firmly, and shakes them up and down six times.

It was foreseen years ago that California would produce ten times as much fruit as would meet the wants of local consumption. That point is now believed to have been reached, yet fruit culture is still in its infancy there. The only limit to production seems to be the foreign demand, and fruit growers are anxiously casting about to find markets for their crops. They have held several conventions to consider the subject, and will soon hold another. It is expected that they will be enabled to send two freight trains of fruit per week to the Eastern markets next year, and if the business is pooled it can be made profitable, otherwise not. The element of co-operation is essential to success.

The king of Belgium's new state on the Congo is not to be allowed to have all its own way without twenty-three native chiefs of the neighborhood. Boma knows the reason why. These chiefs have sent a petition to the king of Portugal praying for debarment from the "ferocious" of their greatest enemy. The spectacle of twenty-three black kings, all in a towering passion, would be enough to daunt Mr. Stanley himself. The chiefs complain that their lands were taken from them by fraud; that they have always considered themselves as the vassals of Portugal; and that they do not intend to be quietly dispossessed by the free state. Quite the contrary. They have 200,000 men who intend to make things pleasant around Boma if their masters do not get their rights.

William M. Singler, the millionaire publisher in Philadelphia, has a farm in Montgomery county, Penn., where last winter he wintered 250 head of neat cattle, 800 sheep and thirty horses. At the southwest end of his main barn, separated from it by a covered driveway, are his silos, stone structures sufficient to hold enough to hold 300 tons of ensilage each. His cattle are fed on ensilage three times a day, with also a liberal supply of grain in the rations. Mr. Singler states that ten acres of grain fodder will keep seventy head of cattle during a term of six months through the system of ensilage and soiling. During the fall about 1,000 tons of ensilage have been stored on this farm.

The Boston Courier says, that "a notable illustration of the value of commercial expansion is found in our commerce with Surinam. Situated only a few degrees north of the equator, Surinam is the seat of a rich and fertile country, with which for many years our trade has been considerable, but within the last five years the trade has doubled. The importations of sugar and cocoa have increased, and nearly every vessel arriving from Surinam brings gold dust in considerable quantities. We export to Surinam large quantities of flour, beef, pork, butter and fish, and besides these the products of land and sea we are beginning to send manufactured articles. The leading Dutch-American house in Surinam is that of Marcus Van Praag, all of whose shipments come to Boston and to a single house here. And what to unfarm persons will seem strange, is that all or nearly all the cocoa that comes to Boston, whether from Surinam or from Holland, is taken by one man or by one Boston firm to manufacture. To receive a check for $100,000 on account of a single importation of cocoa is no unusual thing; and certainly this exchange of products is a very profitable one."

Some interesting statistics of the world's population have just been published, which contains tidings of comfort and joy for the fair sex. It appears that women have a greater tenacity of life than men. Nature very properly worships the female in all its variations. Among insects the male perishes at a relatively earlier period. Female quadrupeds have more endurance than males. In the human race, despite the intellectual and physical strength of the man, the woman endures longest and will bear pain to which the strongest man succumbs. Sympathetic diseases are more fatal to men than to women. The proportion of deaths in one woman to seven men. One thousand and eighty men in the United States in 1870 committed suicide to 235 women. The story of the boy who was found by the police in Russia, but he showed no sign of drawing on his bank account. At last it was suggested by a shrewd little fellow that they cut off his rations, and so starve him into doing what they wanted. LOCAL NOTINGS.

Those Buns.

Within the dimly lighted room
She sat and mused alone;
Her brow was dark, and in her soul
Had sorrow made its throne.
A deep remorseful penitence
Was in her dreamy eyes;
The sadness that oppressed her heart
Breathed forth in dreamy sighs.
The wee that clouded that young life,
At morn so bright and free,
Was six dyspepsia-breeding buns
That she consumed at tea.

Maj. Bivings received recently from Tennessee a Jersey cow. The animal is a beauty.

The mails have been very irregular recently, the cold spell being the cause no doubt.

Mr. Will Sarter is quite ill at the residence of his father. It is thought that he has pneumonia.

Mr. Willis, at the depot is one of the cleverest and most accommodating agents that can be found on the road.

Mr. Charles Caldwell, of the Birmingham Printing Works, has sent us the neatest thing out in the way of an embossed calendar for 1888.

Thermometer registered two degrees below zero, on Saturday morning, which we presume was enough to "knock the bottom out" of the hot well.

Mr. Ehrman has his family in Clanton again and boarding at Mrs. Marsh's. It will be a month or two before his new residence will be completed.

Cheap, cheap, cheap, bill heads letter heads, cards, checks, and other job printing done cheap, cheap, cheap, at the View job office. Try us.

The holiday number of Vick's illustrated monthly magazine is on our table. It is full of interesting reading. It is published by James Vick, Rochester, N. Y.

The cold snap did not freeze out the hot well as effectually as some supposed it would. The saw mill was not run at all during the cold snap, and the water is as hot as ever.

On Thursday, a dry kiln at Ter-nan's saw mill caught fire, and the hands being unable to check the flames it burned down together with about 7,000 feet of fine lumber.

The correspondent of the Birmingham Age has been to Clanton to see some of the pretty girls. He writes to the Age that the half had not been told, and he wants to move to Clanton.

A good subscriber came in the other day and paid for his paper for another year, saying that Dr. Talmage's sermons, which he reads weekly in the View are worth twice the subscription price of the paper, and that there was so much other good reading that he never wanted his paper stopped.

The Value of Cash.

A merchant friend, Mr. F. A. Gullidge, of Verbena, has left on our table some statements of accounts dating from 1858 to 1861. The accounts are for goods purchased by Mr. Joel Gullidge, of merchants in Wetumpka, Ala. To show the difference in the prices of merchandise now and at that time, we quote from these accounts:

Calico sold at 15 cents per yard; a barrel of flour sold for $8; 12 lbs. of coffee for $2; Bagging 17 cents per yard; a pair of farmers boots $8; 1 coffee pot 65 cents; 2 hats $6; 1 pair extra brogans $4.80; 1 melasses pot 75 cents; 2 linen shirts $5; 1 fine comb 40 cents; and other articles in proportion.

This is enough to show that we are living in a day of low prices in 1886 as compared with 1858-60.

The case of the whiskey petition of Isaiah Gullaborn, asking for the sale of liquor at Cooper's Station, was set for a hearing before Judge Hubbard of the second judicial circuit on last Monday, in Montgomery. The matter, for some cause, was postponed until Wednesday. It will in all probability go to the Supreme Court. The general sentiment of this locality upholds the Probate Judge of the county in his refusal to grant license on the petition as presented.

Our clever and energetic young friend, Charles K. Bivings, has our thanks for going hunting on the coldest day of the year, killing 48 doves, and walking three miles to Clanton to bring us some of them. He says we have only to come out his way if we want to hunt doves. Ah, but if we only could. We haven't been hunting in forty years, readers, and don't expect we'll find time to go if we live twice forty years longer, so we will expect our friends to do our hunting for us.

Silver and Gunsmith.

Mr. F. S. Jobson, an efficient silver and gunsmith has located in Clanton, and is prepared to repair watches, clocks jewelry, and guns or pistols. If you have such work to be done, now is the time to bring it to him. His work is guaranteed to be well done and his terms are reasonable. Shop in rear of the drug store.

A special meeting of the Merchant's Mutual Protection Association, of Chilton Co., will be held at Verbena on next Monday night, the 18th inst. Any merchant in the county who desires to become a member of the Association can do so by being present at any of the meetings, and agreeing to comply with the resolutions adopted by the Association.

The View is indebted to the correspondent of the Birmingham Age writing up Clanton for his complimentary mention of the editors. We are likewise indebted to the Entaw Whig & Observer. It is gratifying to know that the View is popular with the press as well as with the people.

The editor of the LaFayette Sun says he can't run a newspaper on "rotten potatoes," and all those subscribers who have been bringing him in "rotten potatoes" in payment for subscription may as well consider their names dropped from the list.

Mr. Flann, of McGee's Switch, on the M. & M. railroad made the visit of "a passionate pilgrim" to Clanton on Sunday last. We believe he hopes to carry off one of the sweetest flowers in our "rosebud garden of girls," and we most sincerely hope that he won't succeed.

To Delinquents.

Those subscribers who find a cross mark after their names are hereby notified that their subscription is due, and that we desire to have them pay up and renew without delay.

Notes from Dixie.

On last Friday, Saturday and Sunday the thermometer registered only 10 degrees above zero at this place.

The kitchen of Mr. John Morrow, on Main street, was discovered to be on fire last week, and serious loss might have resulted; but the fire was promptly put out. Mr. Morrow thanks the efficient fire department of Dixie.

The crows of the neighborhood were as high as ever known, last week.

The snow at this place last Friday was very light.

The saw mills of the vicinity have resumed work again.

Mr. J. C. Dardis and wife, of Sevierville, Tenn., are visiting Mrs. Green.

GOOD NEWS FOR ALL!!

Special Dispatch to the CHILTON VIEW.]

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 2, 1885.—The fierce fight that is being carried on here by Messrs. GEORGE B. BROWN & CO. against high prices being paid for Furniture, is still going on. Their cause is a worthy one, and is one that every person should be interested in. They are determined that the people shall no longer pay high prices for Furniture. To see the crowds that are continually entering their store, and the amount of Furniture that is sent out, goes to show that the people are with them, and that they are doing all they claim.

Yours Respectfully, BYRON GEORGE.

Glorious News! The Long Looked for Time Has Arrived!

NO MORE HIGH PRICES!

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF LOW PRICES!

We sell Furniture at retail as Cheap as it can be bought at the Factories at wholesale by other dealers. How can we do it? Why we get everything direct from the Factory as it comes from the machine all in pieces. We put it together and finish it ourselves, thereby saving the profits that are made at the Factories. Everything is finished in first-class order. When you come to Montgomery call on us and see for yourselves. We are also the only agents in Montgomery for some of the largest Furniture manufacturers in the United States. We quote a few prices:

Bedroom Suits from $12 to $800; Bureaus $6.50 to $18; Bedsteads—Walnut $7 to $180, Common $1.60 to $12, Single $1.75 to $35; Chairs—Walnut $1.50 to $6.50, Maple 65 to 75, Split Bottom 40 to $1.00, Large Rocker, $2.50, Nurse Rocker $1.25; Lounges from $9 to $22; Lounge Bed $12 to $35; Mattresses (cotton top) $3; Parlor Suits from $50 to $250; Sofas $3 to $7.50; Tables $1.75 to $9.50; Wardrobes $3.50 to $75.

Everything else in proportion. Everything guaranteed that we sell.

Patent Love Letter.

The following from the Anniston Hot-Blast, not only "takes the cake," in love-letter writing but it cleans up the entire bakery:

DEAR MISS—After long consideration, and much meditation upon the great reputation you propose in the nation, I have a strong inclination to become your relation. If this abatement is worthy of observation, and can obtain commendation, it will be an aggrandizement beyond all calculation of the joy and exultation of PETER H. PORTATION.

P. S.—I solicit the acceptance of the love and approximation, and propose the annexation of the lives and destination of Peter H. Portation and Marie Moderation.

THE ANSWER.

DEAR PETER—I have perused your oration with great deliberation, and little consideration at the instigation of your imagination to show such veneration on so slight a foundation. After mature deliberation and serious contemplation I fear your proclamation is fired with adulation, or say from ostentation to display your education or rather multiplication of words of like termination, though different in signification. But as I admire association, and am in favor of annexation, I acknowledge my approbation, and indeed my inclination to accept with gratification the love and adoration set forth in your declaration and will, with preparation, love, and animation, remain with resignation, and rejoice in the appellation of Mrs. PETER H. PORTATION.

P. S.—I suggest the information that we meet in consultation, and make some preparation for the final consummation of the intended annexation, when I bear the same relation to your home and occupation that you bear to myself.

Senator Hoar's presidential succession bill, which brings the cabinet in the line of succession, has passed both houses of Congress and has become a law with the signature of the president.

St. Augustine not only enjoys the distinction of being the oldest city in the United States, but the grandest and most expensive hotel on the American continent is now being erected there, and is well under way. The total cost of construction will exceed $2,000,000. Two hundred men are employed on the job, and the work will be completed in 1887.

The Daily Age calls on the state press to know how many of them endorse the president's tariff policy. The CHILTON VIEW answers that it does, but all the revenue-only-free-trade-organ-isms lay quiet as mice. We desire to say right here that if we ever said anything naughty about the View we want the New Year just past to blot it out from memory.—Eutaw Mirror.

This paper is opposed to the whiskey traffic because it has seen enough of it to know that it is injurious to the country. The signers of the petitions will say they do not intend to injure any one but themselves—and as none of them drink but believe in "liberty, liberty," their intentions are good. It has been often said that "hell is made up of good intentions," and it would be well for signers of petitions to sell intoxicating liquors to reflect upon what may be the results of their good intentions.

A communication from "Fidel Defensor," giving "Five Reasons for Opposing the Liquor Traffic," has been received. Though we endorse it fully, it is entirely too long for publication in our crowded columns at this time. We give below the reasons which it sets forth:

1. The liquor seller does not make a fair and just return to his patrons for the money received.
2. The traffic in liquor is inhuman and diabolical.
3. It is inseparably connected with the spread of vice, insanity and crime.
4. It is utterly opposed to the prosperity of the Christian church.
5. The curse of God rests upon it.

We may publish the entire article when our space will permit.

The Duty of the Church.

The North American Review for January contains an interesting article from the pen of Archdeacon Farrar on "The Work of the Church in America." If some one could get upon a stump and read the article aloud to those churchmen who have signed their names to petitions asking for a license to sell whiskey such a one might be of great service to his fellows, and the reading might result in eternal good to such churchmen. Individual members of the Christian church cannot in any degree be excusable for signing petitions to sell whiskey or petitions which recommend any man as fit to sell it. There should be a unity of action among Christians of all denominations against the monster evil of the age—the rum traffic. There is money in the liquor traffic, and that is perhaps the secret of its past success. It is not pleasant to know that bar-rooms have helped to build churches, and to run the government of the country. The only way to reconcile oneself to such a thought is in reflecting that the source of so much that is evil should endeavor to counteract its evil by being liberal in its contributions to a government which permits it, and a church which only chides it. The church and the country would be better off without such aid.

"This is the moral of all human tales, The best the same rehearsal of the past, First freedom, and then glory; and that that fails."

And history with all her volumes vast Hath but one tale.

If such a poet as Byron could thus have learnt from the Hebrew prophets the lessons taught by the fate of Egypt, and of Tyre, and from history the warning memorials of Spain and Venice, the church may well feel it to be her duty to keep before the minds of nations the truth that opulence is not essential to national greatness, but that justice, mercy and temperance are; and that, without these, increasing wealth may be the sign of inward weakness and depravity just as the gorgeous conflagration of the autumnal woods is but an evidence of their decay.

It is safe to say that in five years time there will be no whiskey sold legally in Alabama; and we believe it to be the duty of each individual member as well as of the church collectively to take active part in the war against the evil, though it may be necessary to go to the extent advised by Mr. Story, the poet sculptor, and

A Temperance Wave

Is moving over the country. States North and South are being agitated over the questions of prohibition or of high license. That these questions will bear some political significance and have some political weight in the near future is beyond doubt, even though it may be best to separate prohibition from politics. Every day brings forth something to show that the war against the liquor traffic is going to be waged only to be won.

In the States of Nebraska and Illinois the number of saloons is constantly diminishing and in the country—disappearing altogether under the high license system. There is no license in those states allowing the selling of liquor less than $500. In Georgia prohibition will be tried. The chief city of the State, Atlanta, will be a "dry" town after the 1st of July. A recent number of the Atlanta Constitution has this to say on the subject. It wants the pistol to go with the jug. The Constitution should know that they are boon companions and always travel together.

The miserable events of Christmas day reconcile many Alabamians to prohibition who voted against it.

The day of peace and good will was strangely observed, when one physician had to treat seven gun shot wounds and three fractures. The area of drunkenness was unusually ample and much of it was rank. Ninety and nine cases before the recorder reversed the meaning of the good old hymn, and travestied the day. The jug was hid beneath the Christmas tree and made the festival a fight.

When the fighting began the ready pistol was there. Fisticuffs and sticks were the honorable exceptions. The pistol was the rule. It really looked as if every man shot when he was touched. It was a word and a flash and a fall.

The jug and the pistol certainly held the fort on Christmas day. If the jug is really to go, let us pour the pistol into the jug and send them off together.

Most too Big a Contract.

Baltimore Sun.

Herr Most, the German anarchist, yesterday treated a Baltimore audience to an exposition of his plan for improving the condition of mankind. Promiscuous murder seems to be the chief feature of it. "Some dark night," he said, "seize every railroad president, the head of every large corporation, every colonel of militia, the chiefs of police, the mayor and the heads of government, and chop their heads off!" The foreign origin of Mr. Most and his ideas is betrayed by his proposition in regard to the colonels. In Germany they may be scattered and defenceless, but evidently our anarchist is unaware that he was speaking in a section of the country where colonels form the bulk of the population. There were dozens of them, perhaps, among his listeners. They are now forewarned, and the chances are that they will not meekly extend their necks to Mr. Most's axe, but will endeavor to make the chopping-off of heads reciprocal. They, too, are powerful at the "propaganda of the deed," and if the triumph of Anarchism in this latitude is to wait on their extinction, we fear Mr. Most's longed-for "era of love and peace and brotherly feeling" is in the dim and distant future.

Mr. Belford on Silver.

Ex-Congressman Belford, who is in Washington making an investigation of the probable outcome of the agitation by Congress of the silver coinage question, has sent the following characteristic dispatch to the Rocky Mountain News of Denver:

I am convinced from what I have learned to-day that the silver coinage act will not be repealed. Mills of Texas, will open the battle in the House within ten days in favor of continuing silver coinage. The West and South will combine against the confederated thieves of the East. JAMES B. BELFORD.

Free Trade Logic.

Kansas City Journal.

The Free Traders have come and gone at Chicago, and, like the doctors with malaria, all the ill of the country are ascribed to protection. We are not going into discussion, but when they claim that 1,000,000 people are out of work in this country from overproduction how is that 1,000,000 to find relief by importing more of the same kind of goods by opening our ports to them? We may be dull, or the rule of simple addition may be at fault, but that is the way it looks to us. Now if, somebody like David A. Wells or Frank Hurd had got up and said: "There are 1,000,000 men in America out of work simply because there are more goods on the market than can be consumed, therefore we demand that our ports be closed to all foreign goods until this surplus has been used up and our own people set to work," we could understand what was meant. But to say these people are out of work and the way to get them employed is to open the country to more supplies is beyond our mathematics. It may be Free Trade logic, but it isn't sense.

Year of State Politics.

This year, 1888, is to be a year of universal office-making so far as it concerns Alabama. We have to elect a Governor and all the State officials of the Capitol. We have to elect a Supreme Bench and all the Circuit Judges of the State. We have to elect State Senators and all the members of the Legislature. We have to elect the Probate Judges and Circuit Clerks of the counties; and if we mistake not we have to elect the Justices of the Peace and Bailiffs of the beats; and how many others we will not attempt now to indicate. But these necessities make it a year of very great importance to Alabama. In electing a Governor we shall really elect for but two years, but virtually it will be for four, as it is the custom to give a Governor two terms; and it is desirable that Alabama will honor herself in making a Chief Executive. The Supreme Bench is of the very greatest importance. Circuit Judges and Probate Judges of ability are always to be demanded by any State. And surely we should have a wise and able and moderate Legislature. The Democratic party should closely watch against all attempts to divide the party. These attempts will be made—they are being made now, and invariably in the interest of the worst enemies the party ever had.—Mountain Home.

The Liquor Contest.

The mandamus case from Chilton county was argued in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon. Mr. Gullahorn, the applicant, was represented by ex-Gov. Watts and W. A. Collier, Esq., and Messrs. Jones & Faulkner represented Judge Callen, the respondent. The question as to the jurisdiction of the Court having been eliminated by mutual consent, the arguments presented were of the real merits of the case. The speakers on both sides of the issue were lengthy and forcible.

At the conclusion of the arguments Judge Hubbard rendered his decision, holding that the action by mandamus was groundless, and that Judge Callen could not be compelled to issue the liquor license applied for. The court held further, that under the local option law now in force in Chilton county, Judge Callen could not issue the license legally. Judge Hubbard also rendered his decision in the cases from Opelika, which were argued by counsel Wednesday afternoon. In his decision he sustains the plea in abatement entered by counsel for the respondent.

The decision settles the contest in the Circuit Court, but all the cases will probably be appealed to the Supreme Court.

The effect of the decision in the Opelika cases is that the Probate Judge of Lee county is not compelled to issue the licenses which he had refused. The case was not tried on its merits, the Judge ruling the application for a mandamus out of court on a plea of abatement.—Mont. Advertiser.

SOMETHING YOU NEED.

The Cheapest and Best Weekly for an Alabama Reader.

In addition to his county paper and religious weekly, every citizen not able to afford a daily, needs a State weekly, containing in full the latest news of his own commonwealth and of the world. Nothing is so instructive and improving to the family as good papers. The MONTGOMERY WEEKLY ADVERTISER is now one of the largest and best weeklies in the South. It has twelve pages every issue of the latest news of the country. THE DAILY ADVERTISER receives the complete associated press dispatches, which no other Alabama daily does, and it has also a special news service of paid correspondents all over Alabama. The weekly contains the cream of all this costly news. The Alabama department contains a thrilling fresh and full catalogue of interest to an Alabama reader, and no paper in the South approaches it in value in this respect. Its market reports are especially looked after and are fresh and reliable. Its type is large and clear, and easily read. In every way it is a model family weekly.

But not only is it superior in quantity and quality, but its price is as low as the lowest. It has been reduced to $1 per year, to put it in reach of every Alabama family.

Congress is now in session, and fights between the Republican Senate and the Democratic President are coming. The State campaign is also opening, and the legislature will be in session next winter. It will be a great news year, and provision should be made to keep posted. The Advertiser is the Capital City paper, and has the finest facilities to supply the news.

No prices are offered, and no commissions can be given with this low price. The money's worth is given in the paper itself. But anyone who will send ten names with ten dollars will be given the paper free one year.

Now is the time to begin. Sample copies sent free on request. Address: SCREWS, CORY & GLASS, Montgomery, Ala.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. M. J. Greene.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper. An important election year is upon us, and every citizen is more or less interested in public matters. THE VIEW will be sent to any address for one year or $1.50.

Tom Baine, editor of the Examiner, is spoken of as a candidate for the Legislature from Lowndes county.

The Republicans in Ohio are howling about fraud in the elections; while the Republican party is made up of nothing but fraud and frauds.

The fight has opened between President Cleveland and the U. S. Senate. The Senate is asking for the causes of removals from office, and the President is refusing to give any reasons and is making a magnificent display of the real old Texas bull neck.

The Treasurer of Pike county has died and Mr. W. J. Blain, who had both hands blown off by the accidental discharge of a cannon, has made application for the appointment. It is to be hoped that the Governor will consider the application favorably.

Our friend of the Tuscaloosa Gazette is still preaching his red hot prohibition doctrine. He will come out ahead in the end. The Gazette is unable to see how a whiskey seller who practices such fraud as to manufacture freeholders by deeding worthless lots to negroes can be "a man of good moral character," as his petition sets forth.

The issue between the President and the Senate is, has the latter the right to demand from the executive, papers and documents relating to the removal of persons from office? The test case selected is that of Geo. M. Duskin, United States attorney for the Southern district of Alabama, who was removed to make room for Jno. D. Burnett.

Daniels' Lehrbuch der Geographie for the present year gives the population of the world at 1,485,000,000, speaking 3,064 languages and dialects. There are, it says, 1,100 forms of religious belief. Christendom includes 432,000,000, divided between 208,000,000 Roman Catholics, 123,000,000 Protestants, 83,000,000 Greeks or Orthodox, and 8,000,000 in one hundred various sects. The Jews number 8,000,000, the Mohammedans 120,000,000, and the followers of Brahma 138,000,000. The Pagans proper are estimated at 234,000,000, and the Buddhists at 503,000,000.

A most sensible opinion is rendered by the Lafayette Tribune in these words: "The ill that Alabama farmers are suffering from do not grow altogether out of the tariff, as some newspapers and speakers would have us believe. They originate much nearer home. Mortgages and crop liens and high per cents have done and are doing more than the high tariff to bring about the poverty and want of prosperity which prevails in the south, and the high tariff they have been paying to the west for bread and meat, and to the east for guano has hurt them much worse than high tariff levied by the government on imports. No class in the world can pay the high per cent. that has been paid by the southern farmer for the past twelve years under the credit system and prosper. It would break a merchant in six months, it would eat up a lawyer's or physician's income faster than he could make it, it would consume a mechanic's wages before he could earn them, and it will ruin the farmer if he does not abandon the pernicious system. Live at home and pay as you go is the only way to prosper."

What is He?

And who is he? There are individuals who are unable to locate themselves on some important matters of public interest, for instance, on the whiskey question. One man will argue thus: "If you set up a prohibition party, then you can't reckon me among you as a prohibitionist. If you count on me as a prohibitionist you can't expect me to work for the success of the cause. It is only a sentiment with me. Thus far so far." He doesn't know whether he is a whiskey advocate, a rhinoceros, an orang-outang or a slippery river mud-eel.

Great snakes, and scorpions and devil! We call upon you to inform this biped when next he sees you in his delirious and frothy brain, dancing upon his sticky brain, that he is a demon undisciplined. And then you should grab him and carry him down, down, down to the dark pit of the great dragon to replenish the fire, and to rid the world of a mortal possessed of such satanic turpitude; where he may glory in singing after the witches of "Macbeth" and with a yelping chorus:

"Double, double, toil and trouble,
Fire burn; and cauldron bubble."
Whoopie! Whoopie! Whoopie!

But if he can be converted and made a prohibitionist the world may be better for having known him; and yet should he remain where he is—knowing not and doing nothing—the hour will come when he will be added as "fuel to the flames" and hell will be better having won him.

Let us hope that he will reform.

Regulating Inter-State Commerce.

Senator Cullom has reported from the Senate Select Committee on Inter-State Commerce, a bill to regulate railroad transportation. It is not likely to pass and might be placed under the head of class legislation. The Courier-Journal says of the bill:

There is danger in this bill; graver danger than most of the Democrats are willing to admit. Taken in its full significance, it is a bold step toward centralization, a graver menace to self-government, which is local government, than was the emancipation proclamation of Abraham Lincoln. The National Railroad Commission will have a power over the industrial forces of the nation such as the President and his Cabinet do not possess. They can make and unmake cities. They can advance or depress the price of stocks each day. They can give or refuse permission to make discriminating rates and enrich or bankrupt any railroad. They can bless one section and curse another, and raise up one man while casting another down.

Is there any thoughtful man who, considering the matter carefully, does not see that it will be a matter of self-preservation for the roads to concentrate their efforts in order to control this "Council of Five?"

The Courier-Journal has always contended, and it to-day, with firmer faith than ever, holds that all that is necessary to solve most of these perplexing problems is such general legislation as will give greater force to the plain principles of common law for the protection of the people against the exactions and "unjust discrimination" of the common carriers of the country. This Senate bill sacrifices many of the safeguards which hedge in the rights of people, and it gives nothing in exchange which justifies such a sacrifice.

The Tuscaloosa Gazette has the backbone not only to condemn fraud, but to denounce persons who attempt to cry down morality and honesty by saying they are not principles of Democracy. It says: "The practical philosophy in the old comic negro song is aptly here:

"I'd have you all to know that for spunk I ain't lackin', 'Cept when I see a whiteer fer have a fight then I wanta good backin'."

The above extracts are good moral support, and we appreciate it; but unless the prohibitionists are determined to make a bold, square, determined fight against the whiskey "devil" they had better abandon the field. The Whiskey Ring is organized and a unit throughout the country, and the Tuscaloosa wing is as thoroughly organized as in any town in the South, and are ready to carry their point "at all hazards," as was shown last week. Since then, the old shibboleth is being sounded, "it will ruin the Democratic party!" Well, if the Democratic party endorses the manufacturing of freeholders in order to get a license to sell liquor, in defiance of a large majority of the citizens and bona fide freeholders of this city, and proposes to go before the people standing on a whiskey jug and a quart bottle, we say it not only ought to be ruined, but spit upon by every free man. "If that be treason, make the most of it." That is not the Democracy to which the Gazette belongs, and has ever stood by and defended. If that is the doctrine of the Whiskey Ring Democracy, then "crack your whip."

We hold, under the present law, if the bona fide freeholders and citizens of a town or township want whiskey sold therein, they have a right to have it. This is Democracy; but it is not Democratic, or justice, to manufacture freeholders, to fraudulently force the sale of whiskey, especially under the cover of a great State educational institution. We look upon such a transaction as a shame upon democracy."—Tuscaloosa Gazette.

Another Petition.

The following parties have signed a petition asking for a license permitting I. W. & W. A. Gullhorn to sell whiskey at Naplesville:

Rabb Hall, Henry Hall, J. W. McDaniel, E. J. Hays, D. W. Wilkins, J. L. Graves, J. N. Whitley, J. R. Whitley, Ems Bearden, Henry Smith, Thos. Lawrence, John Bearden, John Selman, E. D. Ellis, J. D. Selman, W. F. Foster, M. R. J. Sandy, McCane, J. P. Milledick, Dick King, John Smith, Jasper Smith, E. McGee, Dan Graves, W. A. J. Compton, Ambrose Klenor, James Griffin, N. W. Foster, Dick Shepard, J. W. Adams, W. B. Bearden, Wm. Bearden, Hardy Bearden, Henry Latham, N. W. Ingram, Richard Whitley, B. K. Selman, Dolby Atkinson, George H. Settles, C. Q. Ingram, C. L. Ingram, H. Shoults, H. C. Sloggin, Leonard Bearden, L. Bearden, J. S. Martin, W. H. Davis, J. W. Foster, H. R. Atchinson, James Garner, Ben Talley, G. W. Bearden, L. Latham, James Latham, John Davis, Rolly Latham, J. S. Fountain, W. A. Green, J. N. Tenny, George Hall, Charles Hill, T. N. Lawrence.

We noticed that of the 66 names which were on this petition, thirty of them or nearly half were of parties who were unable to write and signed with a cross mark. Two or three of the names were unable to read and therefore omitted. There are some names on this petition that the public will be surprised to find there. Some of them are names of men whom we had thought better of. But we will continue to preach prohibition to them, and be ready to forgive them for past failings when they come over on our side of this mighty moral question.

"Consistencie's a Jewel."

A lady friend having asked for the name of the author of the above oft quoted and much oftener misquoted line, we republish the following poem. The author of the poem is not known. The poem first appeared in Murtigh's Collection of ancient English and Scotch Ballads, Edinburgh, 1754. The poem is:

JOLLY ROBIN ROUGHHEAD; OR, THE PLOWMAN'S PHILOSOPHY.
HE.
Come, Joan, my lassie, fill up the glass,
We'll drink our own good health,
Thou' poor we be, contented are we,
We covet no man's wealth.
Hand beds to tired folks are sweeter,
And hunger season's plainest mete.
So, here's to Joan and Robyn.

SHE.
But Rob, my manne, if wealth were thyne,
Then Joan would take new gaces;
Gaye as the beste, in satin dress;
With jewels, silks and laces.
Then buting love the crowd would erie,
While in our coveit we put them bye,
Long life to Joan and Robyn.

HE.
Tush! Tush! my lassie, such thoughts resigne,
Companion's are cruel,
Fine picture's suit in frames as fine,
Consistencie's a Jewel.
For thee and me coarse clothes are best.

Rude silks in homely raiment dressed,
Wife Joan and goodman Robyn.
BOTH.
Then thus we drink our home brewed ale,
And gayle clinke our glasses,
Contente of mind and precious store
All other wealth surpasses.
Clink! clink! drink! drink! upon his throne,
The King may envye Rob and Joan,
Then here's to Joan and Robyn.

Homestead Settlers.

The order of Secretary Lamar of November 6th, in reference to persons who entered public lands, and sold the timber thereon, before proof of final entry, shows very clearly that there is no disposition to unnecessarily disturb those who are thus disposed. The order was based upon petitions setting forth Secretary Teller's former ruling, and Secretary Lamar orders that suits instituted against parties acting under the Teller decision, be discontinued. The Brewton Banner on this subject very sensibly remarks:

Having helped to accomplish the exoneration of homestead settlers from crime, we raise the voice of admonition lest they expose themselves further. The ruling of the department in forgiving the past, positively forbids the taking of timber from homesteads in future, except for the purpose of improvement; the taking of timber therefrom for any other purpose will meet with a "rigorous enforcement of the law."

The Banner would therefore emphasize the admonition, by saying let homestead timber alone until final proof has been made, and the receiver's receipt has been given to the settler. Those who will not give heed let them suffer the consequences, as they certainly will unless the system of vigilance now obtaining ceases, which is impossible.

ment laws when surveyed, might cut and sell the timber thereon. As Secretary Lamar reverses this ruling, but discontinue suits against those who have acted under it, all parties, as the Banner, says are upon notice, and if they violate the law hereafter must expect to reap the consequences.—Advertiser.

A Cure for Drunkenness.

There is a prescription in use for the cure of drunkenness by which thousands are said to have been enabled to recover themselves. The recipe came into notoriety through the efforts of Mr. John Vine Hall, commander of the Great Eastern steamer. He had fallen into such habitual drunkenness that his most earnest efforts to reclaim himself proved unavailing. At last he sought the advice of an eminent physician, which he followed faithfully for a couple of months, and at the end of that time he had lost all desire for liquor, although he had been for many years led captive by a most debasing appetite. The recipe, which he afterwards published, and by which so many other drunkards have been assisted to reform, is as follows: Sulphate of iron 10 grains; magnesia 40 grains; peppermint, 54 grains; spirits of nutmeg, 4 drachms. Dose, one tablespoonful twice a day.

LOCAL NOTINGS.

Lightly she mocked, with jest and quip,

And a curl of her red, disdainful lip;

Lightly she laughed as she rode away

In the golden gleam of a dying day.

Spurring his steed, with a tightened rein,

At the sound of her gay auf waldschen,

And cursing the cruel fate that set

His heart at the feet of a vain coquette.

But the restless hound she held in check

Felt the hand that lay on his shaggy neck.

Quiver and stir, while the shadows grew

Dusky and dark in the tremulous blue

Of her April eyes, and a weary sigh

Broke unawares in her airy cry:

"Ay, there are the times of Gloom and Gold,

And Love is a fashion too old—too old!"

As usual January has been a long, dull, dreary month.

a pleasant event of last week. We return thanks for an invitation.

Prof. J. M. Corderie, is thinking of opening a meat market in Clanton.

This would be an enterprise that would flourish.

Bivings, Duke & Co's mill sends to a club of thirteen new subscribers to the View. Our other mills might do likewise.

Mr. H. L. Johnson, of Six Mile,

Ga., is on a business visit to Clanton, his old home. He has grown fat eating gobbers in Georgia.

Mr. W. L. Sanpey, of this place, visited Ramer, his old home in Montgomery county, last week, and reports some improvements going on in that section.

We understand that another new residence will soon be erected on Court Avenue, by Mr. W. H.

Phillips, of this place. He is building it to rent.

A negro by the name of Charley

Thomas was up before Judge Cat-ten on Saturday on the charge of

We miss the "Notes from Dixie."

Perhaps "C" is so busy selling goods that he has forgotten the readers of the View. He is a "good one," and should let us hear from

Just Published.

It is reported to us by most reliable authority that on last Friday night a crowd of about twenty masked men went to a house of ill fame in boat number two, and finding there a man who had neglected his family, took him out of the house, and after severely whipping him, sent him home to his family, with a warning that if he did not minister to their support, he might expect further punishment. One of the masked parties personated our Sheriff, while another pretended to be a justice of the peace of the boat.

H. D., in one of his sardonic caricatures of the terrible story of the siege of Paris, represents the Kaiser William addressing a battalion of stalwart Prussian infantry. The soldiers stand ankle deep in snow, and shiver in their scant tunics under the leafless boughs of the ice-clad trees. "My children," says the grand old warrior, "my children. I am well pleased with you, and in proof of it I have ordered a fur-lined cloak to be given to my son Fritz." We have been reminded of this in reflecting upon the way in which some of our delinquent debtors who promised so much, have neglected us.

We notice quite a number of elm and water oak trees have been set out along the sidewalks on Court Avenue, and also a few on Hot Well Avenue. If all the property owners in Clanton would follow the example of the few who have started the ball to rolling in that direction and set out trees around their residences, they would not only add greatly to the value of their property at very little expense, but in a few years they will have made Clanton the prettiest town in central Alabama.

We publish another whiskey petition in this issue. The publication of these petitions is giving a free advertisement to the saloon keeper, but so many have requested the publication that we felt it obligatory to comply. We are a little suspicious however that some of those making the request are more anxious to know where liquor is going to be sold than to know the names of the signers of the petitions.

An Election Called.
An election has been called for beat five on the question of prohibition or no prohibition. We shall earnestly hope to see the prohibitionists succeed in what has heretofore been the stronghold of the whiskey business in our county. The prohibitionists expect Verbena to help them out in this election, as that box has a good majority for prohibition.

Another Paper.
We learn that Clanton is soon to have another newspaper, to be under the management of Mr. Dan McCall, late of Union Springs. We trust that it will be an aid to us in heralding the unequalled advantages and resources of our section and together we may still further demonstrate that "there is life in the old land yet."

While on a visit to Verbena recently, we were most hospitably entertained by Mr. A. J. Brooks and his accomplished lady at his handsome new residence. Mr. B. moved to Verbena when there was very little there to attract any one. He now sees around him a beautiful and prosperous little city, and himself one of the most prosperous. Success to him.

Mr. Ned Duke, has been having a very bad time this week, with a tooth which has had an abscess to form at the root. He has been confined to his bed. Though his affliction is not of a very serious nature it is nevertheless exceedingly painful, and we sympathize with our young friend in his sufferings. There was a man once on a time thought him wondrous wise. He swore by all the fabled gods he'd never advertise. But the gods were advertised long, and thereby hangs a tale. The ad. was set in nonpareil, and headed "Sheriff's Sale."

Mr. S. J. Heath, of Strasburg, returned from a trip to Florida, last Sunday morning, and brought his brother, Mr. J. D. Heath home with him. Mr. J. D. Heath went to Florida some time ago for his health but we regret to say that he was not benefited by the trip.

Mr. S. P. Tresslar, the accomplished photographer artist of Montgomery, announces through a card in the View that he is ready to do all work in his line and in the very best style of the art.

LATEST FROM THE SEAT OF WAR! GOOD NEWS FOR ALL!!

Special Dispatch to the Clanton View.)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., November 2, 1885.—The fierce fight that is being carried on here by Messrs. Gossard B. Brown & Co. against high prices being paid for Furniture, is still going on. Their cause is a worthy one, and is one that every person should be interested in. They are determined that the people shall no longer pay high prices for Furniture. To see the crowds that are continually entering their store, and the amount of Furniture that is sent out, goes to show that the people are with them, and that they are doing all they claim.

Yours Respectfully,

BYRON GEORGE.

Glorious News! The Long Looked for Time Has Arrived! NO MORE HIGH PRICES!

WE ARE THE PIONEERS OF LOW PRICES!

We sell Furniture at retail as Cheap as it can be bought at the Factories at wholesale by other dealers. How can we do it? Why we get everything direct from the Factory as it comes from the machine all in pieces. We put it together and finish it ourselves, thereby saving the profits that are made at the Factories. Everything is finished in first-class order. When you come to Montgomery call on us and see for yourselves. We are also the only agents in Montgomery for some of the largest Furniture manufacturers in the United States. We quote a few prices:

Bedroom Suits from $12 to $800; Bureaus $6.50 to $18; Bedsteads—Walnut $7 to $180, Common $1.60 to $12, Single $1.75 to $35; Chairs—Walnut $1.50 to $6.50, Maple .65 to .75, Split Bottom .40 to $1.00, Large Rocker, $2.50, Nurse Rocker $1.25; Lounges from $9 to $22; Lounge Bed $12 to $35; Mattresses (cotton top) $3; Parlor Suits from $50 to $250; Sofas $3 to $7.50; Tables $1.75 to $9.50; Wardrobes $8.50 to $75.

Everything else in proportion. Everything guaranteed that we sell.

The trains on the L. & N., have not been running on regular time since the wreck near Sand Mountain, which occurred during the little game of "freeze out" we had a few weeks ago.

80 Day Seed Corn.

Dear Editor.—I have a limited amount of a very superior quality of extremely large field corn which has recently been originated and which will mature in from 80 to 90 days. Ears are from 12 to 16 inches long, and has a slender cob and very fine large grains; in a word, of beauty 134 bushels of shelled corn has been raised per acre. I am very anxious to know what this corn will do in other climates, before advertising it for sale and will send a large sample package free to any farmer who will take good care and report his success with it and will enclose 25 cents in silver to pay postage, packing, etc., on same. Address, W. E. Rust, Springfield, Ohio.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chills, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Dr. M. J. Greene.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.

W. W. Reed, druggist, of Winchester, Ind., writes: "One of my customers, Mrs. Louisa Pike, Bartonia, Randolph Co., Ind., was a long sufferer with Consumption, and was given up to die by her physicians. She heard of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and began buying it of me. In six months' time she walked to this city, a distance of six miles, and is now so much improved she has quit using it. She feels she owes her life to it." Free Trial Bottles at M. J. Greene's Drug Store, Clanton, Ala.

SAVED HIS LIFE.

Mr. D. I. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., says he was, for many years, badly afflicted with Phthisis, also Diabetes; the pains were almost unendurable and would sometimes almost throw him into convulsions. He tried Electric Bitters and got relief from first bottle and after taking six bottles, was entirely cured and had gained in flesh eighteen pounds. Says he positively believes he would have died, had it not been for the relief afforded by Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

"The dear people" will be "muchly" bored during the next eight months.

The wife and daughter of Secretary of State Bayard have both died within the last fifteen days.

Hon. N. S. Graham, ex-chancellor of this division, died at his home in Tuskegee on Monday, in the sixty-eight year of his age. A good and great man has gone.

The petition for the pardon of Editor Stead of the Pall Mall Gazette, for his recent terrible disclosures through the press, is a mile and a half long, weighs 500 lbs and has 200,000 signatures.

The Treasurer of Pike county has died and Mr. W. J. Blain, who had both hands blown off by the accidental discharge of a cannon, has been appointed by Governor O'Neal to fill the vacancy.

The report of the Coast Defences Commission presented to Congress recommends the expenditure of $948,000 at Pensacola; $2,738,000 on Mobile; $2,243,000 at Savannah; $2,500,000 at Charleston, and $3,406,500 at Key West for coast defenses. It speaks of Mobile as a very important point.

Maj. Keiser, of the Opelika Times announces that he has purchased the old State Journal outfit, and will resume the publication of his paper shortly. He was recently burned out. Thus the type which was made to tell such vile falsehoods about Alabama and the South when Arthur Bingham was publishing the State Journal is now to be used to promulgate sound Democratic doctrine by Bro. Keiser.

David R. Atchinson, the ex-Vice President whom we mentioned a few weeks since as having been almost forgotten, died at his home in Missouri last week. He was a United States Senator in 1855, and was elected Vice President on the death of William R. King, of this State, when Franklin Pierce was President. It is said that Mr. Atchinson also bore the singular distinction of having been President of the United States for one day.

Maj. J. G. Harris, of the Alabama Baptist, has been appointed by the President as Register of the Land Office in Montgomery, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. T. J. Scott. The Senate on Wednesday confirmed the nomination of Maj. Harris. Mr. Scott was one of the most clever, accommodating and efficient Republican officials within the range of our acquaintance. Maj. Harris will fill the place as well, and will in addition give the office a Democratic coloring.

Mr. Goldsmith B. West, the scholarly and erudite Birmingham correspondent of the Baltimore Manufacturer's Record is doing some good work for Birmingham and Alabama with his able pen. He believes in protection to Southern industries, because the South is just beginning to reap the benefits thereof. In the last number of the Record he says:

"While it is true that the friends of protection to American industry have had a hard time of it to overcome the effect of the misinformation disseminated by the free-trade propaganda, there is yet a visible growth of the sentiment in this State, even in the country districts. The Birmingham Age, as might be expected, is a staunch protectionist, and its leaves have begun to work among its exchanges. The paper in the town of Tuscaloosa, where the Southern Waterways Convention was held, has fallen in line with energy and courage. Still more remarkable is the lively adhesion of the Chilton View, an able weekly journal published at the county town of Chilton county, on the edge of the 'piney woods country.' If the work should progress at the rate it has started, the 'old banks' free-trade element in Alabama politics will have occasion for surprise before long."

Mr. West might have mentioned a number of other papers published right in the black belt of Alabama, that are working for what they believe to be the best interests of the country, regardless of private criticism.

Two Reasons for Not Voting in Favor of the Liquor Traffic.

It is high time that every patriotic, philanthropic and Christian should ask himself. What are my responsibilities and duties in relation to the tremendous evil of intemperance? The time has long passed for throwing all responsibility for these terrible evils upon the liquor seller. Doubtless the man who dunks out the maddening glass to his fellow men incurs a terrible guilt, but these men are not alone responsible. "If the many did not drink, the few could not sell."

Every man who throws his influence in favor of the liquor traffic, must assume his share of responsibility for the deplorable results these produce in society. The liquor traffic creates and gratifies a public demand for intoxicants; this public demand creates the drinking customs; the drinking customs produce drunkenness, and drunkenness produces vice and crime and misery beyond description. If I support the liquor traffic, either by my vote, or my money, I ought as an honest man, to stand face to face with drunkenness, and the vice, crime and woe it produces, and take to my own conscience a just share of the guilt. But I do not wish to speak particularly of the evils of intemperance, but to give several reasons why no loyal citizen, no believer in the Christian religion, should vote in favor of the whiskey traffic.

The first reason I give is, That the liquor seller does not make a fair and just return to his patrons for the money received. Value for value is the only honest rule of barter. He who knowingly receives value and does not return an equivalent, whatever the world may think of him is in the light of scripture a dishonest man. Whether we take the testimony of the men engaged in the traffic, or of the poor victims of intemperance, or of scientific men, we can come to no other conclusion than that alcoholic liquors are valueless to man as a beverage. It supplies no natural want, and cannot even rank as a harmless though expensive luxury.

The second reason why no loyal citizen, no believer in the Christian religion should vote in favor of the liquor traffic, is, that it is inhuman and diabolical. No man engages in the business without certain scruples of conscience. The vast majority of those engaged in it, will admit that the whole business is a curse to men. What a picture does this present: Men feeling in their hearts that their business curses their fellows, and yet for the sake of filthy lucre consenting to open warfare upon the world around them. Men who consent to do this are justly chargeable with inhumanity, and he who will vote to allow them the privilege of doing this is no less culpable, and it is forever true that "the citizen who votes in favor of the liquor traffic digs a deep pit across his fellow's pathway, and sets a snare for human victims," and the woe pronounced in ancient times against the man who giveth his neighbor drink, the woe that Christ uttered against the man by whom human offences come, rests equally with its awful curse upon both the liquor seller and the man who votes to grant him this privilege.

The third reason why no loyal citizen no believer in the Christian religion should vote in favor of the liquor traffic is, that it is inseparably connected with the spread of vice, insanity and crime. There is no need of discussion at this point. The repeated testimony of judges, coroners, jailors and public men for the last half century in this and other countries is amply sufficient to prove to any unprejudiced mind that liquor selling is by far the most fruitful source of vice, insanity and crime.

In the fourth place, no loyal citizen, no believer in the Christian religion should vote in favor of the liquor traffic, because it is so utterly opposed to the prosperity of the Christian church. The universal testimony of ministers is that there is nothing more diametrically opposed to their high and holy work than the public sale of liquor. The minister of Jesus Christ and the liquor seller are both licensed; the one having the ministry of life, the other, of death. A community of freeholders vote the rum-seller a "legal privilege," and he puts his hand upon that devil's document, a liquor license, and he goes out regularly set apart, which means this: "Take thou authority to tempt men, and change them into beasts. Take thou authority to stain the streets with their blood. Take thou authority to desolate homes, to break hearts and to ruin souls. Take thou authority to work your way through the world with all wickedness, and when you stand before the Eternal Judge just show him the license we granted you."

The fifth reason why no loyal citizen, no believer in the Christian religion should vote in favor of the liquor traffic is, because the curse of God rests upon it. The curse of God is on the seller and equally on those who vote him the privilege. The curse of God is on the place where liquor is sold, blood is upon the door, and the furniture, and the floor, and the walls, and the ceiling of the house where strong drink is sold. The coin that passes over the bar is stained with human, and very often innocent blood, that cries aloud to God and shall have an avenger.

And now readers reflect before you cast your vote on the coming day.

Our friend of the "Bible Blade" should read this paper more carefully, and not jump at erroneous conclusions in regard to its position. The View does not "accuse every man who disagrees with it in its choice for governor of being narrow-minded." Our words were: "Mr. McKelvey has a few narrow-minded enemies who delight in nothing so much as in disparaging his eminent capabilities." We are at a loss to understand how the Blade drew from this truth its erroneous conclusion in regard to "every man." Perhaps our friend's mental vision is becoming distorted, or perhaps he only wants "to get even" with the View. Well, he is now ahead.

"A Baptist Moody."

The Tuscaloosa correspondent of the Montgomery Advertiser pays a deserved compliment to a worthy man in these words:

The Rev. F. D. Hale, the Baptist revivalist, who is just now attracting so much attention in Louisville Ky., was a few years ago a cadet at the University of Alabama, and at the same time pastor of the Baptist Church in Northport. When he applied for admission into the University, the faculty offered, on account of his mature years, and his sacred calling, to admit him as a non-military student; but he preferred to become a cadet, and under the charge of a drill sergeant, he went to work to master the intricacies of Upton with the same earnestness that he now exhibits in calling souls to repentance. When a cadet he was granted leave of absence from Saturday until Monday, and he filled his pulpit in Northport with great regularity and to the entire satisfaction of his congregation. The Courier-Journal has lately printed a sketch of his life, in which it refers to him as the "Baptist Moody." He was very popular with his fellow cadets at the University, and the friends of his college days are no doubt watching his career as an evangelist with special interest.

HE WAS FROM TUSCALOOSA.

But Did Not Know the Smell of Limburger Cheese.

He rushed up to Captain Pickard and said: "Something must be done about it at once." He was excited and Captain Pickard tried to quiet him. "No, sir; I know a dead man when I smell him." "What dead man? Where is he?" "Down here, on Eighteenth street. I went into a house, and I smelt it. I know it was a corpse, because I was in the army, and saw a many one; besides, I am from Tuscaloosa, and could not possibly be mistaken. As sure as you are born I have smelt a dead man that has been murdered and hidden away to conceal the crime. In the name of justice send a policeman to look after it." He gave his name and left excitedly.

Captain Pickard sent for Sanitary Officer Bridges, who went to the locality named. He made a diligent search but found nothing. He was about to give up the search, when he entered one more house on the street. Suddenly fumes pervaded the hall when a back door was opened. A smile fitted across the mouth of the sanitary officer. He discovered at once the cause. He had on one occasion eaten Limburger cheese himself.

Newspapers Not Liars.

From the Scranton Truth. There is not a more common slander current than that which says the newspapers are willful falsifiers. Next to being first to print the news a newspaper's chief ambition is to have the facts, but if it should wait for a trial by jury of every startling incident and call all the witnesses pro and con before publishing its information it might as well go out of business. Every well-regulated newspaper is always ready to correct its own mistakes, and this is the best evidence that the press is not given to the publication of willful falsehoods in preference to facts. If we examine every other business and profession in the country and compare them all with the standard of veracity observed by the press, we will find that the comparison will result about as favorably to the newspapers as to any of them.

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

What a Prominent Citizen Thinks.

Chilton View:—The announcement in your last issue that another paper would soon be established in Chilton, causes reflection and investigation. My mind goes back to the time, four years ago, when the View entered on its mission in our country. The outlook was not promising, and only a man who could "set up" his own paper would have undertaken the work. There were many who, although wishing the venture success, feared that the enterprise would soon collapse. Under such adverse circumstances, the View set itself to the task of awakening the interest and patriotism of the people for the material development of the county. It was not the first journalistic venture in Chilton. Efforts had previously been made that had proved failures. The View is the only paper that has succeeded in securing a permanent footing. The reason of its success I am sure is due to the fact that it has been conducted in the interest of the county, and not for the furtherance of the aims of any one man or class of men. Its policy has been the greatest good to the greatest number. Its independent, outspoken expression on all questions of public interest is commendable. It has opposed all efforts to make political influence a stepping stone for private ambition, and I think, it has incurred the animosity of those whose designs have been thwarted by its ready foresight and timely opposition. From the first it has been a prohibition paper. The prohibition movement was begun in Chilton before the View issued from the press, but I was glad to see the paper enter heartily into the work as a staunch supporter of the movement, and its columns have been used with telling effect. The whiskey men have felt the influence of the paper, and it would be to their interest to suppress it, possibly, but I do not think the establishing of a rival paper can accomplish their object or even benefit their cause. The "whiskey devil" is now in his last throes in this section. Whatever may be the opposition to the paper from the whiskeyites, and men of small minds and large spleen, I am confident that it will continue to be sustained and upheld by the mass of the intelligent people of the county. It has been a success, and will continue a success so long as it receives the support it deserves. KAPPA.

THE TRANSFUSION OF BLOOD.

Mr. William Bender, of Cincinnati, has been sent to a sanitarium because of the late eccentricity of throwing in the fire a package containing over $40,000 in government bonds.

The transfusion of blood from a healthy patient to a dying one has been employed occasionally for many years, and often with good results, but the infusion of warm salt water into the arteries is something new, and its complete success in a recent case in Bellevue hospital, New York, will bring it into general notice as an acceptable substitute for blood transfusion.

A shoemaker may be poor all his life, but if he will work he is sure to make money at last. - Newman Independent.

Undoubtedly one of the motives for our Northern neighbors spending $250,000,000 in the building of the Canadian Pacific railway, much of which money was furnished by the capitalists of Great Britain, is in the conveyance of troops for the defence of the Dominion, and, in fact, to furnish a line for the shipment of stores by the imperial government for its naval stations on the Pacific coast, as well as for the conveyance of troops should trouble in the East prevent their being forwarded through the Suez canal.

COUNTRY BOYS.

The glory of the farm is in its boys.

Their successful careers in every avenue of life where energy, ability and worth are required is the best possible recommendation of country life. It develops a constitution capable of struggling with the tasks and hardships of life. Common sense, ingenuity and pluck are the products of the farm, as well as fruit or grain. The man who pushes to the front, the man of intelligence, adaptability and power is the son of a farmer.

LOCAL NOTINGS.

The Wise Merchant in Hard Times.

When times are hard and trade is dull, the merchant then who wise is doth not sit down to scratch his skull, while he a scheme devises. His trusting creditors to gull, but straightway advertises; Then comes a sudden boom to trade, And presto! change! his fortune's made.

The weather in these parts is now fine for gardening.

Mr. B. H. Chestnut recently had a new arrival at his house—a beautiful girl baby.

Subscribers complain of not getting their papers. We send them out. Go to your postmaster.

Clanton has a colored public school under the management of Frank Brown. It is well attended.

A new bridge is being built over Waxahatchie creek on the line between this county and Shelby.

Clanton is to have a new drug store shortly. It will be opened in the Aldridge building next to the View office.

Miss Mary P. Williams has a good school in the Shady Grove Church neighborhood five miles east of Cooper's Station.

Rev. S. H. Nettles, delivered two telling sermons from the Methodist pulpit on last Sunday morning and evening. He is an able minister.

"Uncle Bob" Carter, that genial spirit of Shelby Iron Works, was in Clanton Monday. He had business before the Commissioners court.

Mr. D. H. Carmichael, of this place, has moved with his family to Wetumpka, where he has accepted a position at Clark & Co's saw mill.

That substantial citizen, Mr. Moses Robinson, was in Clanton Monday. He is hopeful that whiskey will be voted out of his beat on the second of March.

Rev. L. G. Skipper has accepted the call of the Clanton and Verbena Baptist Churches. He will preach at Clanton on the 4th Sunday in February.

"One of Clanton's principal merchants says the trade of Clanton is increasing, and the prospects for Clanton grow brighter in the near future are brighter than ever.

Our young friend Leo Sampey has started out in business "on his own hook." He is a young man of fine business qualities and we hope to see him meet with the success he deserves.

That genial gentleman, Mr. H. C. Mayer, proprietor of the City Shoe Store, at Birmingham, has renewed his advertisement in the View for the year 1886, and we hope for him a liberal share of the patronage of our people. A total is all he asks.

"Raising Cain."

A subscriber across us of "raising Cain" on the whiskey question, among the drinkers rather than among the sellers of liquor. He says the liquor seller generally carries a level head. We agree. And we would prefer to have Cain "lay low." Seriously our war on whiskey is a work for humanity, if we may not claim it as a work for Christianity; and if all the old two-legged "whiskey barrels" we know, would come together in a general row and choke one another to death, there wouldn't be so much Cain around to be raised. The public in general and the liquor seller in particular will admit this to be a "solemnly holy truth"—no "choke" about it.

We Don't Want Any.

The "cheekiest" advertising proposition that we have yet received comes from a fellow in New York who wants us to advertise Stein's Safety Stocking Supporters and Cheesin's Hipless Glove-fitting Corsets and take payment in corsets and supporters. Upon inquiry we learn that none of the View force are desirous of investing in corsets or safety stocking supporters, having lived some time without them and never having had any instruction in the art of handling them, they feel much safer without them. We prefer to advertise for the cash.

Temperance Lecture.

Mr. E. Leslie, editor of the Alabama Prohibitionist will address the citizens of Clanton at the Baptist Church on next Thursday night, the 18th inst., on the subject of "Temperance and Intemperance." Everybody invited to attend. No admission fee or collection asked for. He is traveling for the Grand Lodge of Good Templars. He expects to be at Verbena about the 16th inst.

County Finances.

Elsewhere will be found the semi-annual report of the county treasurer, which shows receipts and expenditures of the county funds since June 15th, 1885. The amount now in the hands of the treasurer is seen to be $2,229.55. Of the fine and forfeiture fund the amount on hand is $123.25.

County Commissioner Anderson Baker was in to see us Tuesday. He has recently moved to his place five miles east of Cooper's Station. He reports the farming prospects of his neighborhood very good. He thinks his beat will vote whiskey out by a two-thirds majority, and says the View is getting some "cussing" among the whiskeyites, but has everybody else on its side.

Our friend, W. I. Mullins, of Kincheon, though he has met with some hard luck in having his mill washed away by the November freshet, and a stable full of provender and a fine horse burned since Christmas, lacks a good deal of being discouraged and is hard at work again to retrieve his misfortunes. May success be with him.

For Sale.

The saw mill outfit and fixtures located at Jemison, Ala., formerly owned by A. D. Robinson, is for sale at reasonable figures and terms. Everything in running order now. For price and terms apply to A. W. Key & Co., at Birmingham, Ala.

Don't forget that next Sunday is the 14th of February and is Saint Valentine's Day. The View Stationery Stand is well supplied with a line of beautiful and tasty Valentine's and also comic ones. Come and see them.

Mr. S. T. Brittle, of the Pratt Saw Mill, will remove with his family to Birmingham. Mr. Brittle as chairman of the County Dem. Executive Committee did some good work for Chilton county.

Some correspondents have come forward this week with interesting local news from their neighborhoods. They all seem interested in the success of our paper. We hope to hear from them often.

Verbena Locals.

Our school is still flourishing. The young people had quite a lively time pulling candy at Prof. Acree's on last Friday night.

Rev. L. G. Skipper preached last Sunday at eleven o'clock and again at night to large congregations at the Baptist Church in this place.

Next Thursday night a series of meetings will commence at the Methodist church conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. H. Nettles, assisted by Rev. J. C. Calpepper, of Mecon, Ga. We hope they will be successful in bringing souls to Christ.

Strasbourg Items.

Our enterprising merchant, Mr. S. J. Heath, has been quite ill for a few days, but we are glad to state that he is better.

Mr. J. D. Heath, who went to Florida some time ago for his health, has returned but little benighted.

Married, at the residence of Mr. A. J. Garner, on the 14th inst., by Rev. A. E. Burns, Mr. Thos. W. Wilks and Miss Ida Wilson. Also, same date, by H. T. Bates, Esq., at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. James P. Barrett to Miss R. A. Raspberry. May their journey over the tempestuous sea of life be pleasant and prosperous.

Miss Vonja Galaway, of Shelby Iron Works, is visiting friends in Strasbourg.

Our school continues to prosper under the care of Prof. H. T. Estes, principal, and Miss Hattie Miller, assistant.

Our former "whiskey devils," Messrs. Bice and Estes, are not selling this year, and so Strasbourg is a dry town now.

Success to the View.

Maplesville Dots.

Farmers have not sown grain yet, but will as soon as the weather permits. They should put in a large crop.

The Gullahorns, of Cooper's Station, have opened a bar-room at this place, and sorry to say, they are getting a good deal of trade.

Mrs. McCary and daughter, of Mississippi, are spending some time with Mrs. N. E. Goodwin.

Mr. Ned Smitherman, who was accidentally shot a few weeks ago, is able to ride around.

Mr. Sam Walker, baggage master on the E. T. V. & G. R. R., came home from his work last week with the measles, from which he has been very ill, but is better now.

Mr. L. H. DuBose has returned to Selma to stay until Summer.

We join in the wish expressed by "Kappa" that your excellent paper may meet with the greatest success.

Benson Points.

Rev. Mr. Green occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church at this place last Sunday.

The young men of this community propose organizing a debating society at Mulberry Academy. Success to the good work. The funniest thing we have heard of in a long time was a young lady wanting to know if she would have to "dig" for the debating society or what kind of "bate" they used.

Strayed or Stolen—A very large brick chimney with two fire places made a mysterious disappearance from our burg one night recently.

Prof. Spear has met with great success with his school at this place.

In spite of the hard times we can see signs of thrift among our farmers. Old houses being repaired; new ones being built, and lands being cleared, and all hands are ready to sow oats just as soon as the weather will permit.

We hope that every voter in beat No. 5 has received and will read the View of last week. One more reason why men should not vote for whiskey is according to the order of creation "woman is an improvement on man" and the wives, mothers and sisters all oppose the sale of it.

The View is sure to hold its own in spite of opposition. It uniformly takes a firm and bold stand for the right. It is gaining friends here.

"THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME"

Illustrated by T. T. HAYDOCK

Respectfully by the use of a single made by T. T. Haydock, which is not only a good reading story in itself, but a fine reading story of a girl who was left behind by a soldier who was killed in the war. The story is full of interest and is a fine example of the art of the pen. It is a story that will be read with interest and pleasure by all who read it. It is a story that will be read with interest and pleasure by all who read it. It is a story that will be read with interest and pleasure by all who read it.

Mr. S. H. Latham, of Lumpkin, Ga., is the possessor of a "mad stone."

Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier Journal, is dangerously ill from paralysis.

Senator Morgan is very earnest in his opposition to the Blair educational bill.

We are glad to see the Opelika Times again. It is smaller in size, but as interesting as ever.

I would rather be five hundred old maids shut up in a room by myself than be the wife of one drunkard.—Sam Jones.

A young law student suicided at Tuscaloosa last week. He was a son of Mrs. Wilson who conducted a boarding house at Mountain Creek some years.

Frank S. Moody, Esq., an able lawyer and President of the First National Bank of Tuscaloosa, is a most zealous worker for the cause of temperance in Alabama.

Col. Dupre, the Washington correspondent of the Birmingham Age, is a writer of wide reputation, and his letters are very entertaining as well as ably written.

The Montgomery Dispatch which is nothing if not "a hard hitter," gives that triple humming, the Alabama Railroad Commission a back-action "send off." The Dispatch deserves a crown of glory.

Ex-Gov. Horatio Seymour died at Utica, N. Y. on the 12th inst. He was Democratic Governor of New York for several terms, and was afterwards the Democratic candidate for President in 1868.

Phoebe Couzens (or Cousins or Cozens or Cousins) says that the woman suffrage feeling comes in waves. Let no doubter, therefore, venture to declare that woman can not paddle her own canoe.

The continued use in the Legislature, of the expression, "a negro in the woodpile," is not desirable. In the Massachusetts Legislature, where true culture prevails, they always put it, "a colored gentleman amid the fuel."

The Tuscaloosa Times with an air of injured innocence is prating about the reputation of that ungodly burg. If the people who are so unfortunate as to live there desired the place to have a good reputation abroad, we think they would see that the whiskey shops are closed, and then unanimously "sit down upon" that rank sheet, the Times.

Several Democratic newspapers are attempting to cover the telephone scandal with smooth words. The Montgomery Dispatch expresses the sentiments of a very large number of Southern people when it says: "He (Garland) would be a fit and efficient attorney-general in Blaine's cabinet but he is out of place in the first Democratic administration since 1860." Such words have the proper moral tone.

Birmingham is in a tremble. A consolidation of coal land interests has raised a grim spectre of monopoly, which though yet in the vague distance, threatens to prove too real in the near future. A consolidation of interests in coal lands amounting in the aggregate to 244,700 acres, is said to be the greatest coal monopoly in America. We can only await developments, as there is no law affording protection against monopolies.

A man who had never seen the inside of a law court until he was recently introduced as a witness in a case pending in one of the Scotch courts, on being sworn took a position with his back to the jury, and began telling his story to the Judge. The Judge in a bland and courteous manner, said: "Address yourself to the jury, sir." The man made a short pause, but, not comprehending what was said to him, forthwith continued his narrative. The Judge was then more explicit, and said to him: "Speak to the jury, sir—the men sitting behind you on the benches." The witness at once turned around, and, making an awkward bow, said, with great gravity: "Good morning, gentlemen!"

As Harsh Work.

The advocates of temperance in this State are neither fools nor fanatics. They are engaged in an earnest work for a righteous cause—their aim is for the betterment of the condition of their fellows and the State. Prohibition of the liquor traffic is only one means to accomplish their end. They are in favor of any other and every other means that will be just and fair. Their opponents are engaged, on the other hand, in a work for personal wealth, for mammon and the devil.

The temperance advocates have no hatreds to bring up between men. Theirs is a work of kindness, a work of charity, a work of love; and they are guided by the advice given to the world by that noble old philosopher, Victor Hugo, when he described the grandest character of "Les Misérables": "His eye never turned away, even for a moment from that serene contemplation, in which the three poor lights of Truth, Justice and Charity were seen beaming above the fictions and hatreds of this world, and above the stormy ebb and flow of human affairs."

With such a shibboleth the temperance cause ought to win, ought to sweep the State from end to end; and we believe that it will.

Our Iron Production.

The Baltimore Manufacturer's Record gives a statement of the production of pig iron in the United States in 1885. The figures are gratifying to those who take pride in the development of our own great State.

The decrease of the output in the entire country for the year 1885 as compared with the previous year was 59,744 tons. However, three Southern States show a heavy increase, and Alabama still holds her place at the head of the South's iron producing States. The two other Southern States in which the increase has been so marked are Virginia and Tennessee. In 1880 the number of tons of pig iron manufactured in Virginia was 29,943; in 1884 the output increased to 157,483; and last year it was 163,782. In Tennessee in 1880 the output in tons was 70,873; in 1884 it was 134,587, and increased in 1885 to 161,199. In Alabama in 1880, we manufactured 77,190 tons; in 1884 the showing was 129,664; in 1885 the figures are 227,438 tons.

In the list of iron producing States of the entire country Alabama ranks fourth. Pennsylvania is first with an output in 1885 of 2,445,496 tons; next comes Ohio with 553,963; and the third is Illinois with 327,977 tons. Only a few years more are needed to place Alabama next to Pennsylvania on this list.

Unhappy Ireland.

A very able writer in the North American Review, who like every Irish-American, has strong Irish sympathies, seems hopeful that "the bonny green isle over the sea" may soon throw off her chains in the establishment of home rule for the country by the united work of Mr. Parnell and his followers with the Gladstone ministry, which is opposed to coercive measures in Ireland.

There is great need of some early change, for the country and people are in a deplorable condition indeed.

Ireland to-day is to all intents and purposes a prison for at least four millions of people—people who are disarmed, forbidden to have arms, or to learn their use by penal laws; a people in whose every village is a police barracks filled with armed guards; a people in whose every town there is a regiment of English soldiers kept ready to shoot them like dogs on their slightest manifestation of national spirit; a people surrounded on their coasts outside by fleets of armed gunboats to warn off any sympathizers from foreign lands who may possibly sigh for a chance to help them to their freedom. Ireland is to all intents a prison to the people who are born there and who dwell there.

Lord Byron, the great English poet, saw the Irish situation in that light. Writing in the Irish "Avatar" he says: "Look down at the beach where the emigrant stands. As he takes a last look at his home and his hearth! Tears fall on his cheek as they drop from his hands. For the dungeon he quits in the place of his birth."

"The dungeon he quits in the place of his birth." May a day of relief soon dawn upon unhappy Ireland.

Call of the State Convention.

To the members of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Alabama.

The members of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party of Alabama, are respectfully requested to be present at a meeting of that committee to be held at the Exchange Hotel in the city of Montgomery, on Wednesday, the 24th day of February, 1893, for the purpose of fixing the time of holding the next State Convention of the party, and for such other business as may be brought before the committee.

N. H. R. Dawson, Chm'n.

TENNIS LOMAX, Sec'y.

The Opelika Times which has recovered from terrible loss by fire, says in its last issue in regard to its resurrection:

"We are determined to be heard from whenever we find any man is not doing his duty as a good, law-abiding citizen. As we have said in another article, we belong to no clique or ring, and we will have our say, provided that another fire does not cut our talk short. And we again say to our readers, be patient and we will be on hand like a 'thousand brick.'"

The Times is right. The press to accomplish any good must be bold and fearless. We further agree with the Times in the following noble sentiments with which it closes another article:

"The Times rises, Phoenix like, from her ashes, purified by fire, its journalistic career shall be marked by malice toward none, charity toward all, and forever a defense of the right."

To our enemies, God bless them! To our friends, all hail!"

The View joins hands with the Times and adopts the same platform.

Lawrence, Kansas, Tribune: A western Kansas exchange rejoices over the fact that two years ago one of its citizens landed in that vicinity with one cent and a button in his pockets; now he is the happy possessor of four hundred acres of land worth fifteen to twenty dollars per acre. We have in our mind's eye a case that forms a moral with equal force. Thirty years ago a man landed in Lawrence with only a bottle of whiskey in his pocket; now he is in the penitentiary, and has been there for ten years!

Following is a letter head of a good citizen of Greenville Ala., Mr. W. W. Wilkinson. "Office of W. W. Wilkinson. Headquarters for Women's Christian Temperance Union. Free Bibles, Temperance Tracts, etc. W. W. Wilkinson vs. Whiskey, Tobacco, Snuff, Gambling, Swearing, Running Out at Night and Dancing, Wilkinson in Favor of Temperance, Religion, Holiness, Heaven, and Will Explain Any Passage in the Scriptures."

The Savannah News says that during the cold spell in that section a wagon containing three or four persons drawn by an ox, passed through Madison Fla., "and the occupants had placed a layer of earth in the body of the wagon, on which a typical Florida pine-knot fire was brightly burning, from which they were warmed."

A New York paper says that the boxes at the American opera, "full of fashionably dressed women, look like so many occupied bath-tubs, in which the patient is sitting." Nice commentary this, on the extremes to which fashion is carrying people in New York.

Some Northern society women are kind enough to write descriptions of their costumes on public occasions for the newspapers. And, we suppose, they are very properly shocked when they read these notices, and wonder how the "horrid reporters" get hold of everything.

The Snake was Red.

JASPER, GA., Feb. 8.—The condition of Mr. Sylvester Sams, a well-known citizen of this county, excites considerable interest. Two years ago Mr. Sams, while walking over his farm, was bitten by a rattlesnake. He immediately resorted to the native remedy, whiskey, of which he took copious draughts. Nothing more was thought of the matter until six months ago when Mr. Sams betrayed symptoms of St. Vitus' dance. He was never still, not even in his sleep, twitching his muscles and moving incessantly. Lately he has developed violent symptoms and has broken his wife and family, and, in fact, all who came within his reach. He now acts like a man with a well defined case of rabies, only instead of barking he makes a rattling sound. He has been taken to the county jail, where a strong guard will be kept over him until the crisis is reached.

Remember that we are better prepared than ever to do your job printing, and send us your orders.

LOCAL NOTINGS.

Boston Poetry.

The pretty girl so bright and gay,
So charmingly polite and civil
In public, may at home display
A temper like the devil.

The awkward girl they call a fright,
Who shines not in society,
May in her home a sunbeam bright
And freckle angel be.

Real estate is on a boom in Clanton.

Farmers are busy sowing oats and preparing for another crop.

Miss Annie Darnell is visiting her cousin, Mrs. J. T. Smithman.

Mr. R. L. Thompson, of Columbia, visited Clanton this week.

An excellent communication from "Kari" favoring prohibition is crowded out.

Married, near Brierfield, on the 14th inst., by J. P. Vanderveer, Esq., Mr. Henry Wilson to Miss Alice Dees.

Our quondam friend, Dr. W. S. DuBois, of Columbia, visited his son Gordon DuBois, Esq., at this place this week.

The valentine party at Mrs. L. A. Thornton's on Monday night, was a very pleasant entertainment and was well attended.

We are requested to announce that Rev. J. G. Armstrong will preach in the Baptist Church next Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

If you want a nobby hat, a tasty cravat, a fine pair of shoes or a genteel suit of clothes call on B. Wellman, first avenue, Birmingham.

Clanton has fourteen store houses and they are all occupied except one and we learn that it will soon be rented and a store opened there-in.

That pleasant gentleman Mr. G. W. Bains, of Bains & Herring, Birmingham was swinging his gips sack among his Clanton friends Tuesday.

Rev. L. D. Gowen, who is kindly remembered in Clanton, has gone to Florida, where he is conducting a series of revivals among the Baptist churches of that State.

The dance at Mr. E. D. Barefield's residence on the 13th inst., was largely attended. Everybody enjoyed it. Deputy Sheriff McKinney was there and told us about it.

Mr. Oliver Mullins has been appointed postmaster at Junice this county, vice McKee resigned. Mr. J. W. Foshee has been appointed to the position at Lomax. Both are good appointments and will give satisfaction. Mr. Mullins will remove the Junice office from its present location to his residence.

Clanton Academy Examination.

The first term of the present session of this excellent institution closed with public examinations beginning Tuesday and closing yesterday evening. Prof. Hicks displayed great tact in making the examinations both entertaining and instructive to all who attended. The proficiency which the pupils displayed not only speaks well of each individual pupil but gives evidence of thorough training by faithful and efficient teachers.

We cannot speak too highly of our Academy, and the citizens of our vicinity should feel a proper degree of pride in its success, and continue to extend to it the patronage which it so well merits.

Mr. F. R. McCarty, of Cooper's, brought to this office Friday last something new in the way of flour. It is a very excellent quality of flour from Indian corn—orange—instead of wheat. It can be seen at this office. Mr. McCarty will also give some of the article to any one wishing it.

For Sale.

The saw mill outfit and fixtures located at Jemison, Ala., formerly owned by A. D. Robinson, is for sale at reasonable figures and terms. Everything in running order now. For price and terms apply to A. W. Key & Co., at Birmingham, Ala.

Mr. J. M. Dawson is prepared to do all kinds of work in brick. He is a good workman and deserves a liberal patronage. All kinds of repairing done in good style. Give him your work. He has a card in this week's paper, and solicits the patronage of the public.

The kitchen at the residence of Judge Callen caught fire Tuesday morning from sparks. The fire was extinguished before serious damage was done. Judge Callen requests us to thank the citizens who were so prompt in aiding to extinguish the fire.

The Address To-Night.

Remember the address at the Baptist Church to-night. It is especially for women under thirty years of age and for men out of debt. No admission fee charged and no collection expected.

Parties in need of hardware by wholesale, saw, doors, blinds, paints, etc., should address T. C. Thompson & Co., a most reliable firm of Birmingham. Their card will be found in our advertising columns.

We hope the good people of Beat 5 will go to work right away, and not let the election returns on the 2d of March show that the devil controls a majority of the votes of that Beat.

Mr. Chas. J. Duncan and wife, of Nashville Tenn., gladdened the hearts of their many friends in Clanton by paying them a visit this week. We are sorry their stay was not longer.

A large gray eagle appeared in Providence neighborhood last week. It did some thieving—carrying away pigs and lambs. It carried off a pig weighing twelve or fifteen pounds.

We are agents for the Chicago Cottage Organ Company and can sell you a good organ at factory prices—from $15 to $25 cheaper than Montgomery or Birmingham prices.

A View representative will be at Bivings, Duke & Co.'s saw mill one day next week. Subscribers indebted will please make a note of this and settle at that time.

Quite a number of contracts have been let, for the erection of new buildings, in Clanton, this month and work is going on them right away.

Already the boys of the town have opened up the old, popular and exciting game of marbles, and by the time the busy season is over, Captains Kaigler and Walker will have selected their "laws" and "ring men" for the summer campaign, and we shall hear from their marble yard the thrilling shouts of "hold back, sir!" "Vence!" "Fat, by giddy!" and now and then the loud peens of victory rending the air.—Eufrasia Times.

Clanton is likewise sorely afflicted.

Hapleville Dots.

Some of the days of last week reminded us of Spring. All the cane is supposed to have been killed by the cold.

There is a lady in our community 63 years of age who has never used spectacles and can read the View with ease.

Drunken men are not hard to find around here now.

Watch the Man Who

Is on the fence.
Has no opinion.
Takes no papers.
Has the big head.
Smoozes religion.
Frowns on charity.
Is cruel to animals.
Lies about everybody.
Goes back on a friend.
Is jealous and spiteful.
Is spasmodically moral.
Won't pay when he can.
Does not favor enterprise.
Favors corruption in office.
Is afraid to speak his mind.
Has no business of his own.
Won't patronize home industries.

Talks about you behind your back.
Thinks he is bigger than his party.

And the man who drinks whiskey whenever he can get it, particularly whenever he is asked to. We say watch him, for he is a man who will bear watching.

A correspondent writes that Commodore Vanderbilt did not like ministers, and never admitted one to his presence if he could help it. But after he became acquainted with Dr. C. F. Deems he liked him pretty well, on account of his off-hand, business manner. He talked with and urged him to call often. One evening the talk fell upon clerical beggars, and the two men agreed, "I've never asked you for a cent," said the Doctor. "That's so, Frank," said the admiring millionaire. "And I never shall," added the minister, "as long as I have the breath of life." The Commodore looked a trifle resentful. "If you have lived to your age," went on the Doctor, who really desired a church very much, "without having the sense to see what I want and the grace to give it to me, I shall never tell you; you will die without the sight." He went away, and within a fortnight the Commodore sent him $50,000 in greenbacks with which to buy the meeting house which became the Church of the Strangers.

Political Events.

The ultra silver democrats in the house and senate have been discussing the propriety and policy of impeaching the secretary of the treasury. He has persisted and still persists in violating the law with reference to the use of silver. He hates the silver dollar. He is the veriest of "gold bugs." He is the tool of the banks—of these eastern banks that would destroy silver. It is hardly credible that a body of men, reared behind counters, as dealers in money and speculators in stocks, would become so perverted in morals that they honestly deem it their heaven-descend right to enrich themselves, by sheer force of law, at the cost of the people. Manning contemplates the toiling masses of the country as beasts of burden, only to be plucked of taxation. Manning was born in the business, and is a representative of his class. He thinks it a great wrong that the banks are not suffered to enlarge and restrict and control at will the volume of the currency, and thus the prices of property. He deliberately and persistently therefore, defies congress and refuses to use silver and silver certificates as directed by law. He deserves, if the facts be as stated, to be impeached, and there are very many M. C.'s urging that this be done.—Birmingham Age.

The population of Gadsden is about 4,000. That of Attala about 500. Liquors sold in both places during 1885, $54,800—a fraction over $12 for each inhabitant, including both sexes, old and young. An amount equivalent in value to 1,365 bales of cotton at $50 a bale; 9,100 barrels of flour at $6 a barrel; or 910,000 pounds of meat at 6 cents a pound. There is not so much as an old hat left to show for all this outlay by the people. You may add $4,000 more for lost time and neglect of business thereby occasioned.

The growth of the city of London is colossal—overwhelming. Its present population is supposed to be about 5,000,000; which is as large as the population of New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Cincinnati, San Francisco, New Orleans and Louisville combined. Over 60,000 abandoned women tramp over London's streets in the hours of night, and 30,000 professional thieves ply their avocation in the city. Such is city life with its immorality.

Rev. L. G. Skipper filled the pulpit at the Clanton Baptist Church on last Sunday morning and at night, delivering able and instructive sermons. Mr. S. is one of the ablest young ministers in the State, and the Clanton and Verbena churches are exceedingly fortunate in having secured his services.

The Scottsboro Herald tells the following amusing anecdote of the late Major St. Paul, of Mobile. "The Major was on his way home from his bank one cold evening and saw an intoxicated, but well-dressed and gentlemanly appearing stranger, making vain attempts to enter his lodging place. The Major kindly assisted him in, when the inebriate asked who he was. "Oh, I'm St. Paul." "Well, I say St. Paul," in a sleepy tone, "did you ever get an answer to that long letter (he) you wrote to those Ephesians?"

LOVER ATTEMPT
I thought I had, I thought I had,
With laughing, for the time of life,
Under a rainbow's arch above,
Heating a little glory-making
Would be to laugh, my love,
If, when the song had ceased above,
I took the life that gave me pleasure.
But if, when it had ceased away,
And I had nothing, I thought, I thought,
I would just let it pass,
The rainbow that had made me gay
Should build for it a nest above.
Then, they had listened, I thought, I thought,
With strange delight, in time of life,
Under a rainbow's arch above,
Heating a little glory-making
Would be to laugh, my love,
If, when the song had ceased above,
I took the life that gave me pleasure.
But if, when it had ceased away,
And I had nothing, I thought, I thought,
I would just let it pass,
The rainbow that had made me gay
Should build for it a nest above.

Japan Village Shops.
Japanese villages are full of shops.
There is scarcely a house which does not sell something. Where the buyers come from, and how a profit can be made is a mystery. Many of the things are eat-ables, such as dried fishes, omelets, and half inches long, impaled pieces of cakes, sweetmeats, and trifles made of rice, and very little sugar; circular lumps of rice dough, called mochi; roots boiled in brine; a white jelly made from beans; and ropes, straw shoes for men and horses, straw cloaks, paper umbrellas, paper waterpots, toothpicks, paper mouthpieces, tobacco pipes, hairpins, bamboo, straw, grass and wool. These goods are on stands, and in the room behind, open to the street, all the domestic avocations are going on, and the housewife is usually to be seen tugging water or sewing, with a baby tucked in the bosom of her dress. A lumber factory has recently been put up in one place, and in many house fronts men are cutting up wood into lengths for matches. In other they are husking rice, a very laborious process, in which the grain is pounded in a mortar sunk in the floor by a flat-headed wooden pestle, attached to a long horizontal lever, which is worked by the foot of a man, invariably naked, who stands at the other extremity.

JUST AS BAD AS FEVER.
The story of the life of a man who was wounded in the heart by a bullet, and who, after a long and painful illness, was restored to health by the use of the
"Just as Bad as Fever" medicine.
Dr. J. H. Henton, who is well-known as a physician, and who has been in the service of the United States Army for many years, writes as follows:
"I have known many cases of this disease, and I have seen many of them restored to health by the use of the
"Just as Bad as Fever" medicine."
The story of the life of a man who was wounded in the heart by a bullet, and who, after a long and painful illness, was restored to health by the use of the
"Just as Bad as Fever" medicine.

JOHN T. WATTS, the oldest man in the present Congress, is old enough to be the grandfather of such youths as William McAdoo, the youngest member.
The one, raised ruggedly in Connecticut, is seventy-seven. The other, hailing from Jersey, is but thirty-two.
For three months a large pump has been at work in a mine at Tombstone, Arizona, without diminishing the amount of water in the lower levels. It has just been discovered that the water pumped out found its way back into the mine, and was simply being handled over and over again.
MERIDONIA has accepted a commission to paint a fresco for the Pantheon.
The subject is to be the fabled personal encounter between Attila and St. Genevieve, the legendary patroness of Paris, whose prayers were believed to have saved that city from the Eastern conqueror in the year 451.
A new use is found for electricity. In Russia now they bleach cotton by means of it. Cotton manufacturers near St.
Petersburg steep their material in water, which is then decomposed by electric currents. The oxygen set free in this way, at once acts on the fibers.
The young women of Connecticut have organized "The Tongue Guard."
Each member drops a penny in a box every time she says a word against anybody. The money is given to the poor.
A beautiful woman with artificially heightened color once said to General Shields: "How is it that after having obtained so much glory you still seek for more?" "Ah, madam," he replied, with more force than politeness, "how is it that you, who have so much beauty, should still put on paint?"
In Boston the law against smoking in the streets still exists, and any unfortunate smoker caught by a policeman who chose to do so. In England a man was recently arrested driving through the streets during church time. In the same country, a convicted murderer escaped all punishment by claiming that by combat; that is, that his innocence or guilt might be proved by a duel with the Attorney General (the latter emphatically declining the test).
And it was found that the right of demanding such a duel had never been repealed.—Chicago Ledger.

cians for all female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce's Expression in Feet.

It is recorded of an eminent Anglo-Indian barrister that after having narrowly watched the demeanor of the occupants of the treasury bench in the House of Commons under questioning at a highly critical juncture of foreign policy, he muttered to himself and to the extreme surprise of his next-door neighbor, who was sitting in the gallery, "What a pity it is that the beggars wear boots and stockings." To the inquiries of his friend, a staunch ministerialist, as to his meaning, he returned evasive answers, and it was only upon reference to a professional colleague of the learned gentleman that the mysterious utterance was explained. The eminent advocate, it seemed, was accustomed to attribute his marvellous success in the cross-examination of native witnesses to his practice of intently watching their naked feet.
His experience was, he declared, that the workings of an inventive imagination, though they might be the most valuable of the trained countenance of the Oriental fabulist, were almost always to be detected in the twitchings of his toes.
MONTAGUE.—A man in Eastern Arkansas was arrested on a charge of marrying a girl who was engaged to some one else. "Your Honor," said a lawyer, when the judge asked him to read the law, and I therefore demand his release."
"What the gal engaged to John Jackson?" "Yes sir." "Then Bill Simmons must be held." "Under what law your Honor?" "Under the law of removing mortgaged property. Take him to jail."
Mr. Constable!

THE POWER OF ORATORY OF U. S. SENATOR
Voorhees, of Indiana, are universally acknowledged. Where even in Democratic circles there he would move elo-quently than those? "I consider St.
Jacobs Oil an excellent remedy," I suffered from rheumatism of the back. I used St.
Jacobs Oil, which gave me instantaneous relief. I feel as if I could do anything.

Ex-Congressman Thomas Williams has returned to Gadsden. What a triumph to Gadsden's gain.

Many friends of Maj. Wallace Evans, of the Montgomery Advertiser, have urged him to become a candidate for Congress from the 2nd District, at the next election.

Tennant Lomax, Esq., is a candidate for solicitor of Montgomery. He is an able and highly cultured young lawyer, who has been assistant solicitor for some years, and deserves promotion.

Temperance puts coal on the fire, steel in the barrel, flour in the tub, money in the purse, credit in the country, contentment in the house, clothes on the children, vigor in the body, intelligence in the brain, and spirit in the whole constitution.—Poor Richard.

Alex. Crews, a negro convict who had served his term on the Smith farm near Dadeville recently dropped dead on the streets of Montgomery. Investigation proves that inhuman treatment while on the farm was the cause of his death. The proper officials are making a thorough investigation of the matter.

The Tuskegee News asks the press of the fifth circuit for opinions as to holding the judicial convention in Montgomery during the sitting of the State Convention. This press agrees with the News that Judge Cobb deserves a place on the Supreme Court Bench, but as the members of the present Supreme Court will probably be re-nominated, we believe the Convention for this circuit should re-nominate Judge Cobb for his present position as a proper reward to ability and past faithful services. As to when or where the judicial convention should be held, that is a question for the District Executive Committee to decide, and yet we see no reason to object to holding it in Montgomery as the News suggests.

Misjudging.

A subscriber writes us: "I was very glad to see your article 'An Earnest Work,' last week. Your paper and the temperance advocates have been misjudged and wrongly criticized in my hearing by parties who had an interest in doing so. I felt sure that they were wrong and am glad that they have shown that they were. Yet I believe they will still misjudge from selfish motives."

Of course it is only a warm friend who will write such letters and inform us occasionally of what "they say."

We know that Mr. "They Say" is a great man, yet he is just as liable to misjudge, as our correspondent tells us he has done. It is human to judge others by oneself—to make the deeds and words of others mean just what our own fancy may be inclined to wish them to mean. A man who is not of a sociable disposition, who likes reading more than talking will be set down as "stuck up" simply because of this disposition which makes him reclusive. He is misjudged by some from selfish motives, and with some others the misjudging is due to a sublime dullness of which leading much and reading little are the forerunners. Another man is misjudged because he appears too religious "too good for this world," as the saying is. Selfishness again takes the possession of Mr. "They Say" who is generally full of spite as well.

A third party, who is always spiritual at home always humble and companionable when in company with Mr. "They Say," generally takes the cake as a "bully fellow" one of the "hall fellow well met" kind. He is likewise misjudged. For investigation would show him to be full of conceit and meanness instead of modesty and self-respect. He knows exactly how to play his cards. Mr. "They Say" who is too dull to see further than the surface sets him down as a "bully fellow." At long as the world rolls round there will be misjudging of nations, communities, papers and men, by habituated notions and selfish bias. There is no remedy for it. We must see things as they are.

Prohibition in Gadsden.

It is only a question of time. The temperance cause has been steadily growing. We know that there are many good men among the anti-prohibitionists, but they are on the wrong side, and will find it not easier or later. Truth is mighty and will prevail. While we have all due respect for the tenacity of their opinions, it becomes us to oppose the whiskey men more vigorously than ever before. There is no mounting the fence on this question any longer. The man who fails to recognize his responsibility in underscoring the dignity of citizenship.

The timid friends of prohibition have raised their cry against making it a political issue, but they might as well stand, and try to turn the course of a cyclone with a shingle. Inevitable as the decree of fate, it has entered the arena of politics, and like Hamlet's ghost will not down at the bidding. The public man and the citizen must array themselves for prohibition or enter the ranks of the enemy. We want true men at the front, men who will remain firm at their posts till the last gun is fired, and the battle won. We are gaining ground every day, and we have only to push the assault with all our combined forces, and the field is ours.

We believe the prediction has been made that Alabama will be a prohibition State five years hence. This is no improbability, and if we can accomplish the result in less time, the greater our glory. The whiskey men have been driven backward and backward till at last they find a new line of action necessary to maintain a resistance. They have called a halt, planted their batteries on the ramparts of political corruption, and with all the energy of desperation are hurling the American eagle into our camps as a missile of destruction. They have pressed that noble bird into service, not alone to pervert the liberty that he so majestically symbolizes, but more for the power of the shining metal that bears his image. Could our ancestors have foreseen the day when their glorious emblem of liberty would be trailed in the slums of King Alcohol their righteous indignation would have reached the courts of Heaven. The corrupt influence of money is all that keeps the liquor dealer from closing his portals of crime. He has already crossed the sacred threshold of Liberty, and with demonic fire flashing from his eye would compel the fair goddess to uphold his nefarious traffic or be hurled from her lofty throne. Who raises the cry of liberty? The drunkard? Does he want the unmoored right to guzzle down the poison for body and soul? Would you throw open the doors of your peaceful homes, and let a mad man enter, rather than seize him at the gateway and bind him with links of iron? Does the weak-minded youth plant himself at the flagpole of liberty, and yell for an occasional glass of today? Would you tear away the railing from a bridge to allow a blind man by a careless step to terminate his existence in the rushing waters beneath?

Who raises the cry of liberty? Is it the liquor dealer? Would you grant the incendiary license to apply the blazing torch to your houses, to murder the husband in cold blood, stab the faithful wife, and thrust the sleeping child amid the crackling flames? But we have already deprived him of so-called liberty by imposing a tax on his income. Even the liquor dealer himself virtually acknowledges the right of the state to require him to pay something for his liberty in carrying on such a profitable business. He prides himself on the promptness with which he settles for his license. If we have the right to license the traffic, we have the right to abolish the traffic. In conclusion what we have said is not the exuberance of a distorted fancy, but a presentation of the case in its true light. Let all prohibitionists prepare themselves to meet the issue when it comes, and rising up in their manhood, strike the monster of intemperance a final death blow. Again we say, prohibition is bound to win.

KARL.

A Letter From the Prairies.

ORRVILLE, ALA., February 15th 1898.

DEAR VIEW: My sojourn in a prairie country, where roads are almost impassable, greatly enhanced my preference for Chilton county, with horrid roads. Though the soil is much thinner, its more easily cultivated, and farmers who fertilize and cultivate properly, realize as much profit.

When returning there, New Year's Day, and observing the many advantages, inclination said stay, while duty to others, called me here, west of the pretty little town of Orrville, where are beautiful level farms, cultivated by intelligent, and progressive farmers.

By the way, none of the land reminds me of Chilton's. Well, after severe cold, wet weather, "it is sunshine at last" and everybody seems to be inspired with the good ahead spirit of the old time maxim "Make hay while the sun shines."

A few days ago, I accompanied some young friends in a walk, to see how farm work was progressing. We looked at the corn crop—about west on to where a handsome young man was driving a mowing machine, in view of the place. The girls thought the work so good as play, but that he strove looking a loaded wagon, and began to transfer the corn with a shovel into the body of his machine, they pitied him; but he laughingly replied, "Oh, I have plenty of time to rest while riding, though I do as much work as two or three hands. After reloading he politely invited a lovely young lady who was a visitor from the city to take a ride; she graciously accepted the seat, and offered to drive the mowing. He replied: "You may drive; but I will hold the reins."

The rows were long, and they chatted as though they were taking a buggy ride. She expressed pleasure in the new occupation and triumphantly told her friends that she had been working on the farm. Now this young man had been a clerk in a dry goods store; had spent many a dollar for a horse and buggy to take young ladies to ride; he returned to the farm, looking pale and thin, with but poor appetite. O what a happy change; who knows but what the day is coming that our young ladies as well as the men may prefer the farm to the stores and counting room. This is a progressive age.

Grand and Petit Jury.

The following are the grand and petit jurors drawn to serve the Spring term of Circuit Court which begins March the 22d, 1898:

GRAND JURY.

PETIT JURY.

Humility.

Humility has this consolation: It finds that the greatest minds have had the least conceit; that Shakespeare bent down from the imperial height of his intellect to be taught by a clown, to be informed by a milkmaid; that Socrates, in his celebrated voyage in search of knowledge with his perpetual question concerning the cause of things, found that knowledge in a workman's shop which he could not find amongst the school of the professors or philosophers; that Newton compared himself to a child who playing on the seashore, had picked up a shell here and a stone there, and knew no more of them. The bullet of steel is worn smooth and polished when it has passed through the gizzard of an ostrich. The most conceited young prig who ever lived will find his level when brought to the rude experience of the whole world.

"Christians Never."

Following is the best article we ever saw published in the Asheville Eagle:

Many of the anti-prohibition papers in the state published the recent communication which appeared in the Christian Advocate from preacher Thompson, of Gadsden, as if they were inclined to the opinion it contained a sort word for the degrading rum business. Perhaps it does not, yet the prohibitionists have the devil on the hip in this matter, and should be watchful as there is no telling how soon he may rise, or by what door he may re-enter to renew the fight; he will not hesitate to appear even in the pulpit if that plan seems best for his purpose. It is a wonder he does not see his advantage at this point.

There are yet in the church quite enough old sets, card slingers and other tatterdemalion religious pretense—who always have their apologies—for the devil by a little adroitness of movement to make a conspicuous show at times in the church when no pressure requiring strength is exerted. With this the devil might make a stand against prohibition out of church under proper leadership, and by some shrewd trick in place of effort that would cover the deception. An open fight would not do, as the old sets are so rotten that they would fall to pieces at their first effort, and the other material is so flimsy that the first stir of a contest would expose a nakedness of the open advocates of rum to shut their eyes with shame.

At this stage of the contest it is too late to talk about good and evil—simonist christians who are of this or that opinion other than for absolute prohibition. The world may be divided on this question—christians cannot. There is no doubt about it that about christianity shall, if ever a fact was revealed by the Almighty will in a way to practical convince even the world of his purpose to take up the main view to bell in the prohibition movement in most emphatically and unmistakably announced. The only question in the church to settle is: who is on the Lord's side? Those who are not in this great movement should get out of the way by getting out of the church or they may be ground to pieces in the struggle.

The days of this evil are set by this generation.

Henry Watterson's condition is improving.

WHAT CAN BE DONE.

By trying again and keeping up courage many things, seemingly impossible may be attained. Hundreds of hopeless cases of Kidney and Liver Complaint have been cured by Electric Bitters, after everything else had been tried in vain. So, don't think there is no cure for you, but try Electric Bitters. There is no medicine so safe, so pure, and so perfect a Blood Purifier. Electric Bitters will cure Dyspepsia, Diabetes and all Diseases of the Kidneys. Invaluable in affections of Stomach and Liver, and overcome all Urinary Difficulties. Large Bottles only 50 cts. at M. J. Greene's, Clanton, Ala.

EXCITEMENT IN TEXAS.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Tex., by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial Bottles of the Great Discovery for Consumption free at M. J. Greene's drug store, Clanton, Ala.

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

The Eggs That Never Hatch.

There's a young man on the corner, Filled with life and strength and hope,
Looking far beyond the present, With the whole world in his scope,
He is grasping at to-morrow, That phantom none can catch;
To-day is lost. He's waiting For the eggs that never hatch.
There's an old man over yonder, With a worn and weary face
With searching, anxious features, And weak, uncertain pace,
He is living in the future, With no desire to catch
The golden now. He's waiting For the eggs that never hatch.
There's a world of men and women, With their life's work yet undone,
Who are sitting, standing, moving, Beneath the same great sun;
Ever eager for the future, But none content to snatch
The Present. They are waiting For the eggs that never hatch.

Mr. F. S. Jobson, now has his jewelry shop at the View office.

Mr. Lou Parson's of Talladega, was in Clanton Sunday morning.

Mr. H. N. Langford, of Jemison, spent several days with friends in Clanton this week.

If you cannot be what you wish endeavor to fill well the place in which you find yourself and you will succeed.

"Grandma" Sexton, as every one loves to call her, has been quite ill, but we are glad to say that she is recovering.

Rev. J. C. Armstrong, our Cumberland Presbyterian preacher, held service in the Baptist church on last Sunday night.

A mad dog took to the town, on a run, yesterday morning. He was shot and killed before doing any damage. He belonged to Mr. Garman.

Revs. L. G. Skipper and W. B. Crumpton will be in Clanton to-day Thursday. Rev. Mr. Crumpton will preach at the Baptist Church this morning and to-night.

Messrs. Roberts & Son, of Birmingham, are A No 1 printers and binders. We have recently had some binding done by them. It is as well done as would be wished.

A good, sober and industrious timber, can make a good living by coming to Clanton and running a tin shop. A long felt want, which if filled by the proper person will pay.

Our carpenters are all busy, and have contracts for work for several months ahead. One of them told us the other day that he had never before known such a building boom in Clanton.

We learn that some negroes got into a row at the saw mill of Mr. J. F. Meall near Lomax a few days ago and one was very seriously cut. The one who did the cutting has been arrested, and is now in jail.

Summarizing Words.

A subscriber in Washington, D. C., writes: "I received your issue which you will please send me my credit and send me the View regularly. It bears the stamp of thorough independence for which I like it."

A friend writing to renew his subscription says: "Your paper is appreciated in this neighborhood. Though several copies circulate here, I am compelled to pass mine around from neighbor to neighbor until it is almost worn out. I shall endeavor to get up a club of subscribers among the borrowers."

Thanks. The View has many a friend who thinks likewise, and it is receiving much encouragement from them. They are above misrepresenting it, and can properly appreciate the fact that our work is governed by our desire to do our duty as public journalists, and make an honest living.

A Gratifying Showing.

State Superintendent of Education Palmer has sent the View a copy of his annual report. It is replete with interesting information relating to education in Alabama. From it we get the following:

The total school population of Chilton county is 3,246—white 2,700, and colored 546. The number enrolled in the schools of the county during the scholastic year of 1884-5 was 2,611—white 2,091; colored 520. This is gratifying as compared with the previous year of 1883-4. Then the school population of the county was 2,242—white 1,797; colored 446. The poll tax collected (which comprises the public school fund of the county) in 1883-4 was $1,634. In 1884-5 it was $1,835. The bad showing is in the length of the schools. In Chilton the average length of the schools is only 62 days.

What a Paper Does for a Town.

One of our exchanges very truly says that every year every local paper gives from $100 to $5000 in free lines for the benefit of the vicinity in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local paper, in proportion to means, does more for a town than any ten men in all fairness, man with man. Its conductors ought to be supported, because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant nor crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than the preacher or a teacher. Understand us now, we do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of the local papers are on the right side of the question. To-day the editors of papers do the most work for the money, of any men on earth.

Read the double column advertisement of E. Erswell, Furniture Dealer, at Birmingham, which appears elsewhere in this paper. Mr. Erswell has been established in Birmingham, since the town was first started, and his business has continued to grow steadily with the town until he is now one of the largest furniture dealers in the South. Consult your own interest and patronize him.

Mr. E. Leslie, of Union Springs and editor of the "Alabama Prohibitionists," delivered a very interesting temperance lecture in the Baptist church at this place last Thursday night. Mr. Leslie succeeded in re-organizing our Lodge of Good Templars at this place, and leaving it in good working order, left for other points in the State where his good work is needed.

For Sale.

The saw mill outfit and fixtures located at Jemison, Ala., formerly owned by A. D. Robinson, is for sale at reasonable figures and terms. Everything in running order now. For price and terms apply to A. W. Key & Co., at Birmingham, Ala.

The man who prefers a city weekly paper to a town paper because "it's got more readin' in it," says an exchange, reminds us of a countryman who picked out the largest pair of boots in the box because they cost no more than a smaller pair that fit him.

Mr. E. W. Chapman, of Jemison we regret to learn, happened to a very serious accident last week, by being struck on the leg with a maul while holding an axe in a log for another party to strike it. We hope he may soon recover from his injury.

Job printing neatly and cheaply done at this office.

The material for building our new jail is arriving now every day and the site for it is being cleaned off preparatory to laying the foundation and ere long we will have a new and secure cage for our criminal birds.

Some negroes created a little excitement Sunday night by getting in a fight on the streets, and splitting boards over each others heads, which was very detrimental to the boards laying around loose on the streets.

B. Wellman, at Birmingham is selling clothing at the lowest figures of any clothing house in Alabama. Call on him and you will be surprised at his very low prices.

Next Monday is election day in boat 5.

Verbena Views.

Verbena has a new merchant. Mr. J. T. Mullins, of Jemison, moved in a few days ago.

Mr. J. M. Hanlin, who was formerly depot agent here, thinks of returning to Verbena for the benefit of the school.

The protracted meeting at the Methodist Church closed last Thursday night. Great interest was manifested. Nine applicants joined the Baptist Church and twenty-two the Methodist. Mr. Culpepper is a great revivalist. We hope to have him with us again.

P. H. T.

An obstruction on Pratt Saw Mill railroad last Saturday, caused the ditching of seven cars, six of which were torn up. Damages about two thousand dollars. Steps have been taken to repair and rebuild at once.

Mrs. Smith, of Prattville, is stopping with Mrs. Davis.

Mrs. Mason, Fitzpatrick's Station, is stopping with Mrs. Oliver.

Mr. S. S. Davis, the handsome drummer for the firm of Gay, Hardie & Co., of Montgomery, is in town and registered at the Greene Hotel.

A geologist from Birmingham, registered here last Saturday night, and has now gone over in Coosa county to examine a supposed tin mine.

"What's the matter?" you are not looking well. "O nothing only a slight cold." In two days after the above conversation "H" was very sick with pneumonia. Had he at hand taken a dose of SMITH'S FILE BEANS (1 bean) he would have been cured without harm. A cold in congestion, FILE BEANS will relieve a cold quicker than any other remedy, as it relieves the congested part at once. For sale by all medicine dealers. Price, 50c. per bottle.

Consequently, the great base ball pitcher, has gone to Europe for a year. It is predicted all over America that the season attending the European tour of Gen. Grant will be repeated.

The people all over the country are giving the subject of intemperance more attention, than ever before, and the more they think, the better results we may expect. Let every body assist in downing the monster whiskey. - Mineral Age.

Col. N. H. R. Dawson has resigned the chairmanship of the State Democratic Executive Committee in order to enter the race for Governor. Hon. H. C. Tompkins of Montgomery, was elected Chairman of the Committee to fill the vacancy so occasioned. Capt. J. W. Bush, of Perry was elected a member of the Committee from the State at large.

The wonderful effect of oil in a storm has again been shown by the report of the bark Neptus, which has just arrived at Boston from Cienfuegos. Having encountered a furious gale, a small quantity of oil was put in bags and dragged overboard. The effect was magical. The water was so quieted in the path of the vessel that she kept on her course without difficulty.

The apportionment of the State Democratic Executive Committee for representation in the next Convention gives Chilton nine votes, an increase of four votes over the representation in the last convention. Our representation is equal to that of Coosa, of Lauderdale, of Macon and of Sumter, each of these counties having a representation of nine votes. There are twenty-eight counties that have a less representation than ours.

The petition of Zuber & Fin for license to sell liquor at Childersburg, which has been pending in the probate court at Talladega for some time was refused last Friday. It is asserted that Fin made bogus deeds to negroes to make them eligible as signers of his petition. It seems the example of the Tuscaloosa whiskey men in manufacturing free holders is not lost on the brethren of the craft throughout the State. - Fort Payne Journal.

Under an act of Congress of March 3rd, 1883, commonly known as the Morgan Land Bill, certain mineral lands of Alabama were ordered to be sold at a minimum price of $1.25 per acre. This sale was originally fixed for a day in January last, but the same was postponed. A proclamation has been issued by the President ordering the sale to be made on Thursday, April 23d, 1894, to continue for two weeks or less time if less be sufficient for the disposal of the same.

The Smith Farm.

Investigation has recently been made of the treatment of convicts on what is known as Smith's farm five miles from Dadeville in Tallapoosa county. The result of the investigation, to say the least, is horrifying. The investigation was brought about by the death of a negro, Alex. Crowe, who dropped dead on the streets of Montgomery, and whose death was proved to have resulted from exposure and ill treatment while at work on the Smith farm. His physical condition when discharged was deplorable, and resulted in his death as stated.

The investigation shows that there are a number of convicts on the farm who are in a like bad condition and cannot live long. A number of others will be disabled for life. Exposure and insufficient clothing during the bitter cold weather of the winter has afflicted them with frost bite. Hands and feet are so badly frost bitten in some cases as to necessitate amputation. A State exchange very pertinently says:

The investigation of the condition of affairs at the Smith convict farm in Tallapoosa county, and the verdict will be read with mingled feelings of surprise and disgust. The conclusion arrived at after a careful hearing in all cases, that none are to be blame, and that none are to be blame, and that none are to be blame.

has suffered to erect the same and put them in four legislatures did all they could think of to make the law competitive enough to protect the convict, and make his condition more endurable. It is as easy to alter the balance on the legislative scale, there is nobody to speak for that much abused body, and besides there is no danger of trodding on anybody's toes. For a never failing example on which to throw blame which should go to some official, commended us to the legislature; and yet this same legislature created a board of inspectors who are paid $3,500 a year and expenses to look after the condition of the convicts and when they have failed to do their duty the ready excuse is the legislature did not give them power enough to prevent abuses.

We agree with the Montgomery Dispatch that Governor O'Neal should pardon all of the convicts now in Smith's hands, if the State cannot get out of this terrible shame in any other way. If that can't be done let the next Legislature make a law establishing a guillotine for the especial purpose of beheading all convicts apportioned to the Smith farm. This would be killing them in a more humane manner. The law might be styled, "An Act, entitled an act in behalf of mercy and humanity to convicts that may be hired to one, Smith, in the State of Alabama."

The State Convention.

The Executive Committee met Wednesday morning. The business in hand was promptly attended to, and preparations made for opening the canvass. Mobile was ably represented before the committee, and Mr. Lyon and Col. Hodgson made handsome speeches in advocacy of the Gulf City as the place for the convention to be held. The vote, however, disclosed the fact that the committee was practically unanimous for Montgomery; only two votes being cast for Mobile. The date fixed for the assembling of the convention, June 2d, will suit the convenience of those who attend better, perhaps, than any other time that could have been agreed upon.

The number of delegates will be over 700, making the largest convention ever held in Alabama. The counties, according to the ratio agreed upon will be entitled to delegates as follows: Autauga 4, Baldwin 4, Barbour 18, Bibb 8, Blount 13, Bullock 7, Butler 16, Calhoun 21, Chambers 10, Cherokee 16, Chilton 9, Choctaw 4, Clarke 9, Clay 8, Cleburne 6, Coffee 8, Colbert 8, Conecuh 7, Coosa 9, Covington 6, Crenshaw 11, Cullman 6, Dale 11, Dallas 21, DeKalb 8, Elmore 10, Escambia 3, Etowah 13, Fayette 8, Franklin 6, Greene 8, Hale 16, Henry 17, Jackson, 14, Jefferson 18, Lamar 10, Lauderdale 9, Lawrence 7, Lee 10, Limestone 11, Lowndes 17, Macon 9, Madison 16, Marengo 20, Marion 5, Marshall 11, Mobile 26, Monroe 4, Montgomery 29, Morgan 8, Perry 16, Pickens 16, Pike 15, Randolph 5, Russell 13, Shelby 12, St. Clair 8, Sumter 9, Talladega 10, Tallapoosa 17, Tuscaloosa 18, Walker 4, Washington 5, Wilcox 17, Winston 1. This makes a total of 722 delegates and their appearance here will make things exceedingly interesting.

By Congressional districts the representation will be to the first district 67 delegates, to the second district 90 delegates, to the third district 89 delegates, to the fourth district 87 delegates, to the fifth district 84 delegates, to the sixth district 97 delegates, to the seventh district 129 delegates, and to the eighth district 79 delegates. - Advertiser.

No Nominations Advised.

Mr. Editor:—Our State Democratic Executive Committee met last week in Montgomery, and the unusually full attendance tends to show or indicate the deep interest that will be taken in the next election. A good many county conventions have been called, especially in the southern portion of our State, where they are a necessity. The question I wish to present is shall we have a convention? In this county we have no organized party to conflict with Democratic interests; we need apprehend no danger from opponents; we have only two county officers to elect, and why not allow each candidate to enter the field upon his individual merits, with his election not biased nor prejudiced by nominations. Let each voter be a convention within himself. Leave the choice directly with the voter. There are no questions of vital importance that will enter the opening election. We will have no opposition, it will be rather a family quarrel and every candidate will join to defeat the common enemy. There are hundreds of good, honest, sincere pure Democrats who are opposed to a convention this year, except for the purpose of electing delegates to our State convention. A FARMER.

Responsibility of Jurors.

The more solemn duty is presented to the citizen than that connected with the position of juror. He is entrusted with the most sacred rights of his fellow men. Questions touching the gravest concerns of his peers are submitted to him for settlement. Not only must the property and liberties of individuals be considered, but not unfrequently the grave question of life itself is placed before the jury for decision. The jury is the bulwark of society—it is a cordon of defence against the invasion of the rights of individuals. Where the jury system has acted as such it has been a terror to evil doers and an appreciated shield of protection to the honest, upright and tranquil man. Where it has failed of this, more or less disorder has arisen and demoralization has sometimes ensued. So that the jury becomes, not only a means of protection to the innocent and unoffending for the present, but its decisions most necessarily give more or less tinge and tone to society after these decisions have been rendered. The juror is selected from the midst of his peers for a most solemn duty. He must not only be qualified by reason of his capacity to serve, but he must be so related to the great and grave questions with which he has to deal that he must be unbiased and unprejudiced. It is not a position which he seeks, but he is sought because of recognized or supposed ability to meet the demands of his position from the beginning to the end. For not only is he selected, public confidence thus expressing itself in his integrity, but he is hedged about with a most solemn oath to do his whole duty alike under the dictation of judgment and conscience. He must be swayed then, not by the array of talent which this or that client may bring to his defence; not by personal regard for the offender; not by the commendations of or condemnations of the public, but by a sense of patriotic and conscientious duty—his guide, the law, his incentives, the judgment and conscience within him. It cannot be denied that in some sections of our land there has been a most lax observance of duty on the part of jurors, and it is observable that in these same sections there have been outbreaks, the violence of which hastening our cheeks with shame. The disorders in the form of mob or lynch law are largely due to the lax execution of the laws of the land. Not that we applaud the mob or lynch law; for we do not. Such outbreaks themselves are the most violent disregard of the very laws which the mob proposes to execute. Lynch law is not only to be deplored, it should be strictly and emphatically condemned by all good citizens for it introduces disorders, breeds demoralization and may upturn the very cause which it proposes to espouse.

The control of these social disorders is largely in the hand of the juror. Let him know no man in the discharge of his duty—no matter what his position, his relations past and present, his outlook, his standing, his color—let justice be meted out and a calm public will applaud. But if there be evasion and squirming and straining in order to compromise a rigid law with a perverted judgment and an inactive conscience, then violators will go unwhipped of justice, wrong doers will be emboldened but the more, and the smothered indignation of the populace will seek a vent and work a damage tenfold worse than that wrought by the original crime. Let jurors seriously consider their obligations and solemnly act in their performance. - Livingston Journal.

Dr. Mary Walker.

The following extract will entertain many, especially those who have never heard much of the remarkable character described. It is exaggerated no doubt. The Capt. Lawrence mentioned was father of the editors of this paper, and at the time was on duty as Steward in the Confederate Hospital at Richmond, and was afterwards killed in a fight with Sherman's raiders in Northern Georgia. [Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.—This town is full of strange characters—cranks, crooks, beggars, fools, cripples, niggers, and Mosbitch women. The favorite haunts of these people is the Capitol, where they lounge in the galleries or loaf in the rotunda or promenade in the corridors, or beseege committee rooms. Some of them are innocent, some are wise; some are harmless, and some are vicious. All want something from the Government, and are unceasing in their importunities.

I saw Dr. Mary Walker at the Capitol to-day. She is a crank who imagines that she saved thousands of lives during the war by means of her skill as a physician. She is receiving a pension for alleged loss of health occasioned by her service as surgeon in the United States Army, and has had a bill for increase pending in every Congress the past dozen years. She looks exactly as she did when I first saw her years ago, and dresses in male attire from crown to heel. She has a slender form, black hair and eyes, and a Madonna face that might have been attractive a quarter of a century ago. She claims to be a physician, but she knows no more about hygiene than a hog does of a medical shirt, or Nicotianus did of the second birth. I used to have frequent long conversations with her, and was astonished that so densely ignorant a person should have achieved so great notoriety without doing something startlingly criminal. She was captured by Confederate troops during the war, and tells a cock-and-bull story of the suffering she endured in Libby prison, but one of the Commissioners of the Confederacy for the exchange of prisoners told me that one Capt. Lawrence, C. S. A., afforded her protection, administered to her necessities, and supplied her with comforts.

The only thing she ever did that was feminine was to fall in love with a Government employe in high position in one of the departments just before Garfield was inaugurated President. The gentleman became very ill and she went to his room and nursed him. She discharged everybody on the premises and gave the attending physician his walking papers. The sick man was too ill to interpose an objection, and she stationed herself at his bedside, administered nostrums of her own compounding and denied admission to all callers. She gave out that she was to be married to her patient as soon as he recovered strength sufficient to bear the excitement of the celebration of the sacrament of marriage with such a creature as herself would certainly create. Things continued in this state during ten days, when a brother of the sick man arrived on the scene. When he called to see the invalid, Doctor held the fort and denied him admittance to the chamber and slammed the door in his face. The affair became notorious, and was the talk of the town. The brother appealed to the courts and caused a writ of habeas corpus to issue, directed to the Doctor, and enjoining her to obey its behests and show her authority for kidnapping a free American citizen and public functionary. When the myrmidon appeared to execute the writ the little virago applied a jack-screw to hell and raised more of the unshrunk article than ever broke loose in Georgia, or lurked in one of J. A. Logan's bloody-shirt speeches. It took two days for the police to get into the chamber of the sick man, who for two weeks had been as much a prisoner as the Doctor claimed to have been at Richmond. He declared that while he was in her charge he suffered unspeakable torments while she was cramming him with pills and unceasingly supplicating him to marry her. There was some method in her action, for the fellow had a bushel of money and was an eligible match for a much younger and far handsomer woman. The Doctor threatened to institute suit for breach of promise, while the gentleman swore he would have his action of battery against her. The matter was allowed to drop, however, without an appeal to the courts.

Last Tuesday was Mardi Gras day. It was celebrated in Birmingham with considerable eclat.

Shakespeare makes two of his characters say "Tis not in mortals to command success, but we'll do more, we will deserve it."

Crimes and strikes are reported from every quarter. The world seems to be growing worse every day, to judge from the number of horrible crimes that the newspapers tell of.

Clay county, Alabama it is said is the scene of great Mormon triumphs. We expect this is a slander on Clay originated by a Chattanooga paper. Chattanooga is said to be the great Mecca of Mormonism in the South.

Drunkennes causes woes and mischief, wounds and sorrows, sin and shame, it maketh bitterness of spirit, brawling and quarreling. It increaseth rage, lesseneth strength; it maketh red eyes, and a loose and babbling tongue.—Jeremy Taylor.

A horrible murder occurred last week at Scott's Station on the C. & M. R. R., near Marion. Mr. Cooke the depot agent was murdered while asleep in his bed by some unknown parties who afterwards robbed the body. The top of the victim's head was crushed off with an axe.

An exchange says that the Mormons who are creating such a disturbance in Clay county ought to have located in Lowndes. There they would have had the sympathy and encouragement of a newspaper in their efforts to destroy the peace of families and revolutionize society.

There is only one person announced for Congress in the 5th District and he is "Major" Suttle, of Bibb Co. We are glad to be able to chronicle the fact that the Congressional field won't be monopolized entirely with "Colonels" as heretofore. Even a "Major" is some relief to oppressed people.—Elmore Express.

The Philadelphia Times thus describes the situation at Washington: "It is beginning to be evident that the senate judiciary committee was elected president in 1884; that it appointed the present cabinet, and that Mr. Cleveland is only allowed to live in the white house out of deference to the superannuated machinery of the Electoral College. In short, the offices belong to the saints, and the senate judiciary committee are the saints."

There have been eleven different men on the democratic national ticket since the war, of whom only four, Pendleton, Tilden, English and Cleveland, are now living. Three former democratic nominees for the presidency McClellan, Seymour and Hancock, and two for vice president, including the late vice-president and B. Gratz Brown, have died since the democratic party came into power. Seymour and Blair, and Greeley and Brown are dead. Pendleton is the sole survivor of the McClellan and Pendleton ticket of 1864; Tilden of the ticket of 1876; English of the tickets of 1880; and Cleveland of the ticket of 1884.

Our Solicitor.

The following is from the Rockford Enterprise: "That there will be a number of aspirants for the Solicitor's office, is now a potent fact. The present incumbent will offer for a second term. Solicitor S. J. Darby is too well known in the District to require anything more than a passing notice from the pen of the Enterprise. Besides him, we are informed through a letter from Rev. Geo. E. Brewer, that Hon. N. D. Denison, of Lafayette, will also be a candidate. We have not the pleasure of his acquaintance, but are informed by Capt. Brewer that he is every way competent, worthy of that or any other position, being a good lawyer, full of energy, and faithful to any trust reposed in his hands. Also T. C. Wynn, of Dadeville, and Benj. Fitzpatrick, of Wetumpka, we understand, will be candidates. But the Legislature has the election of Solicitors, and hence the people will have nothing to say except through their representatives."

Points of the Coming Struggle.

There are six hundred and fifty-three nominations before the Senate of cases responded by the President during the recess. About one-half of them are Postmasters. The Republicans, speaking through the lips of Mr. Edmunds, have formally announced their intention to reject every nomination, without considering fitness or character, should the President refuse to give his reasons for removing the former incumbent.

Contemporaneously with this proceeding a resolution was passed in executive session calling for the reasons that led to the suspension of Mr. Wells, late Collector at Burlington, Vt. This is the special case which touches Mr. Edmunds on a most tender point, and may be regarded as the inciting motive of his movement, though it was adroitly kept until the ball was started.

The President and his advisers believe that the attempt to subject his motives to scrutiny by the Senate in making nominations is an infringement of the constitutional rights of the Executive, and so believing, they will resist. The outcome of a contest in which both sides adhere to their respective convictions cannot be predicted. But if pursued to the bitter end it may seriously affect existing political conditions.

The Press of Alabama.

In giving an account of the proceedings of the National Press Association, and in reference to the address delivered by Col. J. B. Stanley, the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette says: "Mr. J. B. Stanley, President of the Alabama Press Association, read a paper on 'The Press of Alabama.' If his style is a sample of the journalistic work going on in that State the material progress of Alabama is ably kept before the people. The writer is not only eloquent, but patriotic, and his statements of the harmonious feeling of the South are evidently founded on knowledge, as well as conviction. It was gratifying to all to hear such sentiments, and they were loudly applauded."

Pardoning Convicts.

Governor O'Neal on Monday pardoned four hard labor convicts. The convicts pardoned were: Warren Sims, colored, convicted of assault and battery in Barbour county circuit court at the fall term of 1885, and sentenced to ten days' hard labor and for costs, six months and twenty-nine days; worked on the farm of Barton B. Smith, in Tallapoosa county.

George Spence, colored, convicted of grand larceny in Chambers county circuit court, spring term 1885, and sentenced to two years' hard labor, and for costs, four months and ten days; worked on the farm of R. J. Trammell in Chambers county.

John Miller, white, convicted in Lee county, common tramp, worked by R. J. Trammell at his place in Chambers county. No statement as to time of his conviction or length of sentence or court that tried him.

Our Solicitor.

The following card appeared in the Selma Mail, and we reproduce it: "GENTLEMEN—I have read with regret a paragraph in your issue of Friday, attributing the recent slanderous attacks upon me to the inspiration of my distinguished competitors. I repudiate unequivocally any charge of this character against any one of the gentlemen. I have assurances from all of them that they have no sympathy with these attacks, and I trust that none of my friends in their zeal will impute to them any purpose to countenance or encourage such assaults upon me. Yours truly, N. H. R. Dawson, Selma, February 18th.

Ben Hill was unquestionably one of the truly great men of this country, and it is interesting to read his last recorded thoughts. Some one has recently visited Oakland Cemetery, and with a feeling of reverence sought the grave of the deceased statesman. A plain white marble shaft marks the resting place of this illustrious son of Georgia. The gentleman copied the inscription upon the monument, thinking, perhaps, there might be those who had not seen it. When too feeble to speak, he wrote the following words: "If a grain of corn will die and then rise again in so much beauty, why may not I die, and then rise again in infinite beauty and life? How is the last a greater mystery than the first? And by as much as I exceed the grain of corn in this life why may I not exceed it in the new life? How can we limit the power of Him who made the grain of corn and then made the same arise in such wonderful newness of life?"

Cold Weather in Virginia.

(From the Thompson (Va.) Journal.) When Judge Hardaway came into town last Saturday morning his most intimate friends failed to recognize him, and every horse along the streets broke loose and stampeded to the country. He looked like a forked cotton bale, with a hat on the top end, and a decided inclination to wobble. When Colonel Bush and Joe Jones unwound him they found that he had on four suits of flannels, three pairs of pants, two vests, three coats, ten pairs of socks, one pair of boots, then more socks, three overcoats, a shawl and ten yards of bagging, then another overcoat and a duster and some more pants, and a bed quilt wrapped around his jaws and head, and a small black hat and two pairs of gloves and his hands in his pockets, and you couldn't see any of him except one eye and the end of his nose. The surplus duds taken off of him exactly filled an empty crockery crate. He was speechless when they finished shucking him, but when he recovered he stated pointedly that he intended to keep warm if it involved this country in a civil war.

A Boy's Composition.

A contemporary says, "A boy's composition on the theater has been handed us, together with abundant evidence of his genuineness. It runs thus: "What a pleasant place a Theater is for instance a business man in the business world to drop into and join a world of wrapture and delight with rays of perfect sunshine gazing on beautiful woods green fields and imagine your very neuritis are filled with the fragrance of the flowers when in reality it is a cold winter day in January the winds whistling around the building making the windows pains clatter you do not mind that you are so absorbed with the world within leaving to love passion and despair you do not think of anything but the play and for two hours your business cares are gone thus it is at the Makoda. How many people enjoy themselves in seeing a good play."

The following saith the Coosa River News. It is richer because it rhymes: "A family who lived near Centre owed more than they could pay, so they took to the woods in the night time and silently stole away. No one knew of the fitting, they played the game so fine, and they settled all indebtedness by crossing the Georgia line."

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. It will banish pain and subdue inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Mapleville Data.

Bad weather has caused delay in farm work. Commercial fertilizers are not so much in demand as heretofore.

Mrs. N. R. Goodwin has returned from a visit to Orville.

Mrs. M. A. Berry, of Orville, is visiting her daughter at this place.

The school here will continue several months longer.

Rev. E. S. Starr preached a very interesting sermon in the Methodist Church last Sabbath.

Farmers should plant less cotton and raise more "hog and harmony."

A FAWN THE PRIZE.

A FIGHT BETWEEN A GRIZZLY AND CALIFORNIA LION. Undoubtedly the grizzly bear is a grass feeder. Although his main source of food is roots, herbs, acorns and such nuts as are to be met with in the countries through which he ranges, he nevertheless greedily devours the carcasses of any dead animals that fall in his way.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

EVILS OF BOARDING-HOUSES AND HOTELS.

Rev. Dr. Talmage's eighth sermon of the series on the "Marriage Ring," related to the evils of boarding-houses and hotels, and was preached from the following text: "And brought him to an inn and took care of him." And on the morrow, when he departed, he took care of him. This is the good Samaritan paying the hotel bill of a man who had been robbed and almost killed by bandits. The good Samaritan had found the unfortunate in a lonely, rocky road, where to this very day depredations are sometimes committed upon travelers. He had found him in a state of weakness, and he had taken him to his own house, and he had nursed him, and he had clothed him, and he had given him food, and he had given him shelter, and he had given him a place to rest, and he had given him a place to stay, and he had given him a place to live, and he had given him a place to die.

THE BARON AND THE TREASURY GIRL.

The story going the rounds of the press about the pretty Boston girl who became the wife of the late king of Portugal finds a parallel, though in a less degree, in the marriage of a pretty Washington clerk to the Chicago News. Almost ten years ago the daughter of Mr. Woodford was born on the rolls of the treasury department as a clerk in a less degree, in the marriage of a pretty Washington clerk to the Chicago News. HOW THE RUSSIAN KEEP WARM.

The Russians have a great knack of making their winter pleasant. In fact, nothing of the cold in those slightly built houses where all doors and windows are double, and where the rooms are kept warm by big stoves hidden in the walls. There is no damp in a Russian house, and the inmates may dress indoors in the lightest garb, which contrast oddly with the mass of furs and wraps which they don when going out. A Russian can afford to run no risk of exposure when he leaves the house for a walk or drive. He covers his head and ears with a fur bonnet, his feet and legs with felt boots lined with wool or fur which are drawn over the ordinary boots and trousers, and reach up to the knees; he next cloaks himself in a top coat with a fur collar, lining and cuffs; he buries his hands in a pair of fingerless gloves of seal or bear skin. Thus equipped, and with the collar of his coat raised all around so that it muffs him up to the eyes, the Russian exposes only his nose to the cold air; and he takes care frequently to give that organ a little rub to keep the circulation going. A stranger who is apt to forget the precaution would often get his nose frozen if it were not for the courtesy of the Russian, who will always warn him if he sees his nose "whitening," and will, unbidden, help him to chafe it vigorously with snow. In Russian cities walking is just possible for men during the winter, but hardly so for ladies. The women of the lower order wear knee boots; those of the shop-keeping class seldom venture out at all; those of the aristocracy go out in sleighs. The sleighs are by no means pleasant vehicles for nervous people, for the Kalanchoe coachmen drive them at such a terrific pace that they frequently capsize.

THE MODERN SAMARITAN'S STORY.

The historian doesn't know where this story had its actual origin, but it was "told for true" on a recent ocean voyage to enlighten the company. A gentleman who had indulged quite too freely, and hadn't the discovery made for him in season to get a carriage, was helped home by a very good Samaritan. He was very grateful in an extreme way, and asked his benefactor's name. "My name," said the gentleman from Samaria, "Oh, I'm St. Paul." The benefactor staided himself by a final effort, and looked dreamily at his departing friend. "I say," said St. Paul, "Did you ever get any answer to that long letter you wrote the Ephesians?" - Boston Herald.

WITTEKRAFT.

An unrepented law of New Jersey, passed while the State was a British colony, reads as follows: "That all women, of whatever age, rank, profession, or degree, whether virgins, maids, or widows, who shall, after this act, importune upon, reduce, and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's subjects by virtuous means, or by any other means, artificial, false, or high, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force for witchcraft and like misdemeanors." No wonder New Jersey is unpopular with the ladies.

TO-MORROW.

"You'll come to-morrow, then," said the man on his arrival, and he was to be seen. Gayly she waved her little hand, and he bared his head. Ex-Lieutenant Governor Moren, of Centerville, Bibb county, died on the 19th inst.

The base ball season has opened. There will be a "Gulf League" this year.

We agree with the Birmingham Age that the State should have a Bureau of Statistics.

Quite a number of Alabama military companies will take part in the Savannah encampment and drill.

Heavy snow storms are reported up in Minnesota, which accounts for the cold snap we have just had.

Montgomery has already commenced making preparations for the decoration of the soldiers' graves on the 26th of April.

D. W. McIver has withdrawn from the race for Secretary of State, and favors the present incumbent for re-election.

Ex-President Davis will lecture in Montgomery, for the benefit of the Monument fund, about April 30th or May 1st.

Birmingham will soon have a large and commodious union passenger depot. Work has already commenced on it and is progressing rapidly.

The State Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party, of Alabama, will hold a meeting in Montgomery on the 6th of April.

The Montgomery papers are still clamoring for a car shed. "Patience and perseverance remove mountains," but we don't know whether they ever build car sheds or not.

The Talladega Advance, a very able and excellent press just established, comes out like a bomb shell in its last issue in favor of McKlure for Governor. We publish its editorial elsewhere. Mr. McKlure is gaining friends every day.

We publish an account of a fearful butchery of negroes at Carrollton, Miss. These negroes had attempted to assassinate a prominent white citizen of the town, instigated by mean white men no doubt. This is another of the long list of crimes which radicalism will have to answer for.

A northern exchange says: An Sam Small and Sam Jones penetrate the north they will find their audiences less and less disposed to jump and dodge when they point towards them and say: "We mean you, you old, red-nosed, blue-eyed hog." The climate here has a terrible effect on noses and eyes that are exposed.

Senator Jones, of Fla., who has been in Detroit since last June, making love to a rich widow, though meeting with no encouragement, is acting in a way to justify the belief that his mind is unsound. His constituents are doubtless getting disaffected with his course. If physically and mentally able to attend to his Senatorial duties he ought to be at his post; if not able to do so he ought to resign, and let somebody take his place able and willing to look after and protect those interests.

A New York liquor dealer named John O'Neil, doing business at Whitehall, N. Y., has for years been sending liquor in sealed kegs into Vermont to fill orders. In December, 1892, the authorities seized 100 of his packages, and upon O'Neil crossing the line arrested him. On 307 convictions he was fined over $6,000, with the alternative of thirty-nine years and two months in jail. He appealed, and last week the Supreme Court sustained the decision of the lower court. This decision makes the sending of liquor from N. Y., by common carrier to Vermont a sale by the sender. O'Neil was held in $10,000 bail, and the case goes over to the United States Supreme Court on a Federal question.

McKlure.

The days of ring and hoodie politicians are no more. Demagogues cannot flourish nor can their satellites. The people are not subservient to any set of hoodlums of any color, but they want a man for Governor because he is a man. The man is more than the policy to-day—policy is made; men are born.

The man that must be the next Governor of Alabama cannot devote his whole time to military encampments at Selma or Mobile, cannot cater to the wants of a set of ring and hoodie politicians who smoke ten cents cigars and spit ambrosia around the stove of the Exchange hotel in Montgomery, or devote his time to seeing that guano is tagged according to Hoyle at Auburn, but he must be like McKlure is, and Dawson and others are not. Dawson and McKlure are the foremost candidates for Governor, and why the Advance supports the latter is given in the comparisons herein.

McKlure is a man to whom the highest gift from the hands of the people of Alabama, should be given whenever asked for, because in him is vested the powers of an executive officers to whom none are superior. Being at the head of the Alabama Mineral Land Company proves his ability as a financier. The management of his private matters adds another truth to this assertion. His record stands out as a public officer free to every criticism. As a state senator and superintendent of education he left a record that shines as a model for his successors. The state press, the people's medium, is overwhelming for McKlure. This is another indication of McKlure's popularity and fitness for the high office to which he aspires. It would be too laborious a task to heap upon him, in the columns of this paper, the praises he has received from the press, but we support him as first choice, and in so doing believe we are looking to the best interest of the state.

Dawson cannot produce a record as brilliant as McKlure's and cannot be expected to receive the support that his far-famed opponent does. He is rich, but more by chance than thrift. His record will not compare with McKlure's. He was a good soldier and the people like him, but no better than McKlure. He is a magnetic man and no doubt his personal magnetism has secured for him many friends. He is a lawyer of ability, but not the peer of McKlure. There is nothing to say against Mr. Dawson, nor is there anything against McKlure. There is nothing particular to say for Dawson, but there is a great deal to be said for McKlure. Outside of McKlure the Advance supports Dawson, and if he is nominated by the convention (which is not probable) it will support him second to none in the state and fly his pennant with a belief that there is only one man in the state that would have made a better Governor.—Talladega Advance.

HORRIBLE SLAUGHTER Of Negroes in a Mississippi Court House.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—A special to the Picayune from Grenada, Miss., says: News of a terrible tragedy, enacted at Carrollton, an interior town, twenty-four miles southwest of Grenada, was received here this evening. Fifty men rode into town and repaired to the court house, where thirteen negroes were waiting their trial. The whites walked into the court room and shot ten negroes dead and mortally wounded the other three. The shooting grew out of the attempted assassination of Jas. Liddell, a prominent citizen, who was shot and seriously wounded by these negroes several weeks ago.

A Winona, Mississippi, special to the Picayune says: At Carrollton, today a fearful tragedy occurred, in which ten negroes were killed and three wounded. Some weeks ago two negroes attempted to assassinate J. M. Liddell, inflicting some painful but not serious wounds. The negroes engaged in this dastardly attempt are known to be the most defiant and lawless in the county, and since the attempt upon Mr. Liddell's life have been more so than ever. For some reason they swore out a warrant a few days ago for Mr. Liddell's arrest. It was at this trial today that the killing occurred. The negroes present were mostly armed. About 10 o'clock a party of armed men, numbering about forty or fifty persons, rode up to the court house. They dismounted, and entering the building at once commenced firing on the negroes with the above result. They then returned by the same route they came. They do not live near Carrollton.

The collision between whites and blacks at Carrollton, Miss., is regretted to be regretted. The negroes, it seems, will never learn that in a conflict with the whites, especially when the provocation comes from them, they will always be the sufferers. The affair is to be deplored because it is to the interest of both races that they should live together in harmony. Time was, also, when the south would have regretted the affair because of the political capital it would have given northern republicans, but that time has passed.—Fort Payne Journal.

Chappell Cory.

At the recent National Press Convention in session at Cincinnati, none in that interesting body graced the occasion more than Chappell Cory, of Alabama. We proudly place the laurel on his brow and Alabama's Press delights in the fact that in all that brilliant assembly none were more honored than this young knight of the quill whose talents are only less pre-eminent than his worth. The papers teem with compliments so gracefully won and modestly worn. The Cincinnati papers published his address.

But three of the defeated presidential nominees of the two great political parties of the day, are still living—John C. Fremont, Rutherford B. Hayes and James G. Blaine. Three only of the defeated nominees of the two parties for the vice presidency, are yet in existence—George H. Pendleton, Wm. H. English and John A. Logan. It is a striking coincidence that but three men, also, who have been elected to the presidency are still among us—Samuel J. Tilden, Chester A. Arthur and Grover Cleveland.

Rev. Dr. Kittredge, of Chicago, has been sued for $27,000 for saying from the pulpit that a police justice had accepted bribes for the release of prisoners. Rev. Sam Jones noticed it as follows: "The devil has got Chicago. If Jesus Christ was running this city do you suppose a blackleg gambler could be fined only $5.00 for an offense against God and man? Let the ministers bombard the sins of Chicago next Sunday. Let them sue you for damages. The Lord knows they can't get anything out of you, for you ain't got anything."

The following copied from an exchange will fit our case and we wish all to read it: "If each of our readers will get us a subscriber or two and send us the money with the names altogether it would make a handsome sum. The editor would buy him something to eat and a brand new $10 suit of store clothes, and become so bold that the rascals would jam each other to death trying to turn themselves out." If you will take pride in the VIEW it will improve to such an extent as to be worthy of your care. Do what you can to benefit it, and rest assured that it will do a great deal to benefit you.

Jimison Notes.

The body of Mr. J. D. Heath, deceased, was conveyed through this place on last Saturday en route to Pine Hill for interment. The deceased was in declining health for several months, hence his death was not a surprise. His short life was exemplified as that of a true christian; he often spoke of his death, seemingly confident; always expressing willingness to go when called. This model young man leaves a host of friends to mourn his departure from their midst.

The question of establishing a reading society or circle here, is being agitated among the most intelligent, who also should have the co-operation and support of every thinking citizen; and this can be done by the exercise of some earnest work, which would be very creditably meritorious under the situation.

Messrs. F. M. Hunt & Bro., have received their Saw Mill cut-off. They have the Lane & Boddy Co's Mill and Atlas Engine, which gives them a model outfit for a saw mill. It is their intention now to begin sawing within ten days. May they meet with success in their new undertaking.

There is some painting being done on a few of the dwelling houses here, by two transient painters who have been doing jobs of the kind, from New York city down this far, being on the road thirteen weeks. Their destination is Brunswick, Ga.

Prof. J. M. Corderio's business here is to furnish medicines to all who may want, but he has already found himself not supplied with one necessary article for which he has had a call; that was for butter. Some one will confer a favor on our generous and most affable druggist to inform him as to what kind of butter would be best for a drug store stock. The caller seemed somewhat disappointed in not finding the much desired article.

Preaching was conducted in the Presbyterian church on last Saturday night and Sunday morning, by Rev. Dr. Armstrong. Meeting was largely attended; all appreciating the explicit style of this noble gentleman, in delivering his discourses.

Miss Lola Dawson, daughter of Dr. J. J. Dawson, of Rock Springs, has been visiting some of her friends here. We always welcome such a visitor.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lamboago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, it will banish pain and subside inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Montgomery Dispatch.

Spring terms of the circuit courts of the several counties in this state will soon be held. The circuit judges have a responsibility in the matter of the mistreatment of county convicts. In felony cases, where sentences is not more than two years, it is discretionary with them whether they send convicts to the penitentiary or keep them in the county to be hired out. The lesson taught by the Smith farm exposures should not be forgotten or overlooked. There is no protection thrown around county convicts. The law is defective in this respect, but there is now no remedy for the evil till the meeting of the next Legislature. In the meantime let the circuit judges see to it that no convict, where they have it in their power to prevent it, is placed where he will not be protected from the brutal lash of an inhuman convict contractor. Circuit judges cannot feel too keenly their responsibility in this matter.

A newspaper and a newspaper editor that people don't talk about sometimes are rather poor concerns. The men and business that an editor sometimes feels it his duty to defend at the risk of making enemies of another class, are the first to show ingratitude. The editor who expects to receive much charity or gratitude, will soon find out his mistake; but he should go ahead and say what he conscientiously thinks right without regard to the frowns of grumblers.—Estate Mirror.

VOL. V.

CLANTON, ALA. THURSDAY, APRIL 8, 1886.

NO. 22

Twenty years ago hardly any better was imported into England; now nearly all of it is made in this country.

Months must be the object of an driver. In that happy country these comfortable persons smoke cigarettes and read novels while driving and passengers get on the cars without pretending to catch the driver's eye.

A shocking incident is related of a recent shipwreck on the New England coast. The captain's wife and children were lost. They had on board a few tame doves. When the body of the wife was found on the shore a dove was on the body and flew to the house to which the remains of the drowned woman were conveyed, and pecking at the window gained admission.

A young business man of Detroit became interested in a young girl and educated her with the intention of marrying her. Before the time for the wedding arrived the young man fell in love with another girl and refused to carry out his contract with the first. A suit for $50,000 damages followed. The jury awarded $4,000 and the supreme court affirmed the decision. The young man will take no more young ladies to bring up. He finds $4,000 and the costs of an education too much for the amusement.

The Philadelphia Record insists that its city is ahead of all others in the way of new buildings erected in 1885, and gives this comparative statement:

Philadelphia	3,337
St. Paul	3,370
Minneapolis	3,370
New York	3,338
Chicago	3,133

But Philadelphia, it must be remembered, is justly famous for the number of small dwellings, which make that city an ideal home for men of moderate means, but do not "count" like the large structures that are so plenty here.

Scientists profess to be perplexed by the phenomenon of a bird begun nearly sixty years ago at Yakutsk, Siberia. It was dug down thirty feet through solidly frozen ground and abandoned. Then the Russian academy of sciences took up the work and dug to a bottom of 383 feet, to find the ground still frozen as hard as a rock. It was too much of a bore to be continued, but the academy decided from the temperature taken at different depths of the excavation that the freezing extends to a depth of 619 feet. This warrants the official report that "the pole of the greatest cold in Siberia is in the province of Yakutsk," though probably the North Pole is a little bit more frigid.

The amount of capital invested in potteries in this country now is $3,000,000, and the value of last year's product was about the same. Between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 are paid in wages, and the wages here are about 100 per cent. higher than those paid abroad. At the same time with the improvement in quality of our home-made crockery ware, there has been a great reduction, amounting to nearly fifty per cent., in the price of it. Everything in the pottery line that is used in this country is now made here, from plain "stone china" and drain tiles up to the thinnest and most highly-decorated table ware and the most beautiful ornamental tiles. The value of the imports of both the coarser grades of pottery and the finer ware has fallen off within five years.

Isaac Walker, a New York tailor, has issued a little book of two hundred and ten pages, handsomely bound, largely illustrated, and entitled, "Dress: As It Has Been, Is, and Will Be." In this work Mr. Walker combines much that is amusing with many sound reflections and practical suggestions. Under the amusing falls the vindication of "this art." To quote his own eloquent words: "There is a satisfaction greater than the compensating dollars to the cutter and fitter who can point out a well-dressed man on the avenue, and say, 'That is my work.'"

He makes a little calculation that may cause some surprise. "It is a fact," he says, "that a $100 suit of clothes sold at retail for $50 actually costs the tailor $25 outlay. The three garments cost for the stitches alone $21; for the cloth, $60; for cutting and trimming, upward of $35. Often the alterations will cost from $5 to $10." According to the author, outfits in a first class house often get salaries as high as $5,000 a year, "considerably in excess of the salary of the president of Yale college and the highest professions in other celebrated institutions of learning here and abroad." The author does not admit the possibility of gentlemanly existence without the possession of five overcoats for the various seasons. And was to the industry man whose costume does not correspond with his country's complexion. These are the moving mile and evening suits, after noon suits, mid-day suits, riding suits and shooting suits, tennis suits and jockeying suits. To prove that his theories have already made progress in the refined circles of society, the author cites the case of a young man, with a limited bank account, who bought a promising $20 suit of clothes.

SUBT ENOUGH.

The man who looks for little in this great world of strife will find much meaning.

Who is the candidate of life? From out their legends bright From out the wayward dream, With heaven just in sight.

The child that learns to handle Close at the mother's knee May have the poem, ambition, In baby's expectancy.

Tomorrow, when the sun of life Has set over the land, A and of green may cover o'er The still and verdant hand.

He much that makes the little, Or little makes the much, Depending all entirely Upon the might of touch.

Upon the touch of good or truth, Oh hope! why will you die When first the heaven flashes o'er The firmament of sky?

Oh heart of great endeavor! You'll never learn the worth That's gotten within the human breast As smiles and tears in birth.

Why will you never count the cost Of jewels far away, And never stop to gather up The pearls which round you lay?

—H. S. Keller, in Clippers.

CHANGED HIS MIND.

Old Mr. Molyneux was immensely proud of his position as the country magistrate. He lived in a feudal castle in Great Britain which he had bought cheaply, having taken over at the same time the good will, so to speak, of its former owner's social influence and dignity.

In consideration of his great wealth his neighbors charitably ignored the fact that his father had been a small tradesman, and that he himself had carried on a lucrative business in the hardware line for many years. He was not a bad fellow, his vulgarity being of a subdued and inoffensive kind, and consequently he was received in the best county society. But he aspired to even greater distinction, for his pet project was to marry his only son, Tom, to one of the Earl of Laburnum's daughters.

There seemed no reason why this aspiration should not come about, for the Lady Florence looked kindly upon Master Tom, and his lordship had more than once hinted that he would raise no objection. Lord Laburnum was the lord lieutenant of the county, and alliance with his family meant admission into the most aristocratic circles.

Unfortunately, Master Tom was rather a scapegrace, and his father preferred to let him see a little of the world before revealing the high honors that were in store for him.

One day, however, the young man came down from town, where he was ostensibly studying for the bar, and with a very grave and determined air announced that he was engaged to be married. Old Mr. Molyneux, who had his coat of arms on the spot, and when Tom began to state that the young lady earned her own living by carrying on the business of a dressmaker at the West End, his horror and indignation knew no bounds. In vain Tom pleaded that Miss Fabian was a lady by birth and education, and that the poverty of her family was her only crime. His father became more and more furious, until Tom showed symptoms of flat rebellion.

"Think of your position in the county!" cried old Mr. Molyneux, perceiving this, and wisely making an effort to control himself. "I will take it for granted, if you like, that the girl is an exemplary character. She may be a lady and the rest of it. But her station is altogether inferior to yours."

"I don't see that," said Tom, stubbornly. "Why, of course. It is ridiculous," said the old gentleman, swelling with self-importance. "Her father, you say, is a poor-out-at-elbows clerk in the city."

"The fact is, sir, I have been victimized," suddenly, as the truth flashed across his mind. "What?" roared his father. "You see, my son, I have been victimized," said Tom, with a dejected air. "The fact is, sir, I have been victimized," said the old gentleman, swelling with self-importance. "Her father, you say, is a poor-out-at-elbows clerk in the city."

PULPIT THOUGHTS.

Extracts From the Sermons of Leading New York Ministers.

Owing to the absence of Rev. Dr. Talmage from his pulpit in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, we do not give his customary sermon in this issue, but print in its stead extracts from the sermons of prominent metropolitan ministers.

THE REV. HENRY NEWTON ON TRUE IDEAS OF GOD. The Rev. R. Heber Newton, preached at All Souls' Church, in West Forty-eighth street, "The Scientific Idea of God and the Spiritual Vision of a Heavenly Father" was his theme. "It seems to me," said Mr. Newton, "that a true idea of God ought to be able to reveal itself in the general consciousness of man. This is the conclusion which science reaches as Mr. Abbott has recently thought. Because, an infinite organism, it is manifestly infinite wisdom, power, and goodness, or thought, feeling, and will in its infinite fullness, and because these three constitute the divine nature, the personality of it must be conceived as infinite person, absolute spirit, creative source, and eternal home of the derivative finite personalities which depend upon it, but are no less real than itself."

What is this but infinite beatitude, infinite benignity, infinite love, the all-contracting fatherhood and motherhood of God? "Let me tell you how, in a very simple fashion, I reach this blessed assurance. From the unity of nature I follow that the fact of being are partial manifestations of this infinite and eternal unity. That which is essentially human is undoubtedly human, for lack of a better term, call it personality, intelligence, consciousness of itself, free in the power of will, owning the moral law. If we do not find personality in the brute, we find it in the dog, and but a dreamlike personality in the dog, and if we do find such personality in man, which fact are we to trust as the better expression of the infinite and eternal unity that is in us all? The answer of evolution to this question is unmistakable. The higher forms of life must more truly express the nature of the infinite and eternal unity than the lower forms can possibly do. Over a muddy creek a willow grows and its long, slender leaves hang down in the water below, lowly, vainly. Above the clear crystal water of the mountain tarn, the sacred pine's shape and soul its noble form faithfully mirrored in the lake below, the organism is capable of reflecting a finer image of the face which broods over us, seeking to mirror itself. Man is the mystic flower of the great tree of life, and the reflection of the divine image in the human form is the dim, shadowy outline of the infinite Power which these lower forms trace for me by the clearest, noblest form of all, coming forth in my consciousness."

THE REV. DR. J. M. FITZGERALD PREACHED IN THE CENTRAL METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH on the subject of "What is the Mission of the Church?" Many persons, when asked to contribute to missionary work, consider that their donations are to be expended entirely in foreign missions, and that the church is to be supported by their contributions to go to help the world for all their donations and labor at home. If that is a candid remark, a fair hearing should be accorded to it; but it is merely an excuse to get out of the church, and to leave the work, it should not receive the slightest recognition. This society, in the Methodist church, reaches to all classes of people at home and abroad. In the home mission work, it may specify to what particular department of it the donors are desirous of contributing. To the Rev. Dr. J. M. If we sometimes err in our editorial work, we trust that even our enemies will be charitable enough to remember that we are only human. Our errors are errors of the head not of the heart.

The New South is the name of an illustrated weekly recently established at Birmingham. It is a paper that would do credit to any city in the land, and bids fair to accomplish much for Birmingham.

What with the freezes, the freshets, the hard times and a political fight ahead, the poor farmer will not have his pathway strewn with flowers this year, and the poor newspaper man always suffers with the farmer. They are boon companions in poverty.

An article in the Alabama Baptist in opposition to "Drunkennes in Public Office" is double leaved but is too mild. We endorse its sentiments, however, for we think that a man who drinks to dissipation is as much out of place in a public office as a hog is out of place in a lady's parlor.

Mr. P. C. Dennis, the energetic member of the executive committee from Cooper's makes a good suggestion to the county Democratic Executive Committee. The Committee will no doubt act upon the suggestion made and meet in Clanton on the 22d (next Thursday) for the purpose mentioned.

We want Christians in office. Men who are in favor of temperance, law and order and opposed to looters and law breakers straight out, and men who are not afraid to be emphatic in expressing their oppositions, their likes or dislikes. Give us no "wishy-washy" men in public office.

The county of Barbour having sent a delegation to the State Convention with instructions to vote for Gen. Clayton for Governor, the Times says that it was due to the political manipulations of H. D. Clayton, Jr., a son of Judge Clayton, and a politician of uncommon shrewdness. The Times further says:

"We make this statement for the benefit of the State press and the people generally, that they may understand why his home county went against him. No man ever did have more warm admirers and devoted personal friends and it is, perhaps, Mr. McKleroy's misfortune, that as a ward politician he is a failure, and in a scramble for votes he must inevitably lose."

As we expected, some of the disgruntled assembled together last week and read over an article in this paper under the head of "Afraid of Getting Into It." Some of them came to the conclusion that the View was afraid of "getting into it." However, when the campaign opens they may expect to find the View "into it" red hot for the Democratic ticket, if one is nominated, though we have no plan to offer for making nominations or for primary elections. The View is never afraid to express its opinions nor never wavers as to which side to stand on, though it has some modesty, and does not thrust its opinions before a Democratic Executive Committee or a nominating convention.

The Birmingham Chronicle, which has no choice for Governor unless it is a Birmingham man says: "The rumor comes, we have no mail, that Barbour county has held her best meetings and has decided to give her vote to Clayton. That is Barbour's business, not ours. Still, according to the position taken by the Chronicle on the decisions in other counties we feel bound to say that such a selection of delegates is unfair. There were two worthy men from that county before the people. To say that every voter in Barbour or in Bufala is for Clayton over McKleroy is an absurdity. Everybody knows better than that. If McKleroy has any friends in his own county he is fully entitled to a share of the delegates to the convention."

More Defaulting.

Last week two county Superintendents of Education and one probate judge in this State were published as defaulters. The last heard of them they were hickering around in the fog of an unknown clime. One of the Superintendents is Col. N. A. Flournoy, of Colbert county, and the other is Dr. T. J. B. Ford, of Escambia. The shortage in Flournoy's case is estimated at from $3,000 to $5,000, and in the case of Dr. Ford it is about $2,500. The defaulting probate judge is from a North Alabama county—Winston.

What we need in our state and county offices is Christians. Men who are right morally and who will not drink whiskey. The man who drinks whiskey is not right morally. It is said of Dr. Ford's defaulting by way of extenuation: "What makes this fact especially and is the fact that the superintendent has a daughter just blooming into womanhood, and a devoted wife, who is heart broken. He was a polished man in his manners and had only one fault, a weakness for the cup that 'bitch like a serpent and stingeth like an adder.'"

And yet there are fellows who don't want to mix temperance with politics. They prefer that the mixture may continue as heretofore—whiskey and politics. We shall see what we shall see.

Is He?

We agree with the Birmingham Age that the next nominee for Governor in this state should be able to answer affirmatively questions like these:

"Does his character index any enduring principle? Has his record proved him capable of being a true and honest servant of the people? Is he able, manly and self-reliant enough to be superior to dependence upon the mind of a hired subordinate for light upon the correct administration of his office?"

In addition he should be willing to say aye to these interrogatories: Is he willing to submit to the abrogation of the custom of giving a Governor two terms, except where special fitness warrants it?

Is he in favor of temperance?

Is he a sober man himself?

Is he in favor of more industrial progress and less military burrah and parade?

Some of these are questions of vital importance, and the people of the State are beginning to think that their public men should be men of opinions and moral courage. Men who will deliberate with caution, but act with decision; and yield with graciousness or oppose with firmness.

We further agree with our very able contemporary that in matters of special public moment, where occasion offers by which the State may be benefited, the Governor need not always be afraid of the traditional constitutional rap. Let us have more of the practical and less of the theoretical in the administration of public affairs.

Extend Our Territory.

The papers of western Florida, which section of that State geographically belongs to Alabama, are nearly all advocating the annexation of all that section of Florida west of the Chattahoochee river to Alabama. That section of Florida trades almost entirely with Mobile and Montgomery, and its population is largely made up of former Alabamians. Another and a very important point is in the fact that West Florida is the best and richest section of the Peninsular State and Alabama would gain a big and rich plum by such annexation. The people of the peninsular section are willing to give West Florida to anything that will take it, because of the jealousies and sectional antagonism which exists between the two sections. Such annexation would likewise benefit western Florida largely and would give Pensacola a grand boom. "Let us put in our thumb and take out the plum."

Another man has killed his friend, with an old pistol, and says it was accidental. The best way to cure this inexcusable playfulness says an exchange is to take those who indulge in it, and suspend them in the air with a rope which the hangman didn't know had a noose in it until the doctors had examined the corpse.—Ex.

A new daily paper is on the tapis in Birmingham. Cocaine arabid seems to be the reigning god just now. It is a well known fact that only about one of every five papers established pulls through the first year's existence. And if this new venture of Birmingham is in opposition to the Age we don't think it will pull through.

Be Forewarned But Convinced.

The Montgomery Dispatch started out on a plan to succeed and will no doubt do so. It started out on a reform idea which is the idea for a paper to succeed on at present, but it is not consistent. It raised a racket over the shortage of books in the Secretary of State's office, which shortage was very natural, and no doubt if Col. Troy had been in there and Rice of Boston had been a member of the legislature, the same mistake would have occurred. It finds a few negroes over here on Smith's farm with frostbitten toes, and wants them housed up with feather beds to remove them. The infernal, damnable wretches there who have raped our daughters, burnt houses, stolen at night when all honest men were asleep, murdered and robbed many a man on the highway, are boozed over.

Here, be consistent. Go to the Exchange hotel most any time and you will find Governor Bob McKee's office boy drunk, although it is constitutional. Why don't the Dispatch attack him? We are certain he would keep sober for a while at least. Why don't they find out from some of Vincent's friends in Montgomery, who are holding him from the clutches of the law, where he is? They are afraid to expose the matter; that is the whole of it.

These things may make Rome howl, but they are facts, and we are not afraid to expose them. So be consistent, Dispatch. If you are on such stirring policy commence nearer home.—Talladega Advertiser.

Editing a Paper.

Editing a paper is a pleasant business—if you like it. If it contains much political matter people won't have it.

If the type is large it don't contain much reading matter. If we publish telegraph reports folks say they are nothing but lies. If we omit them, we have no enterprise, or suppress them for political effect.

If we have a few jokes folks say we are nothing but rattleheads.

If we omit jokes folks say we are nothing but fossils.

If we publish original matter they damn us for not giving selections.

If we give selections people say we are lazy for not writing more and giving them what they have not read in some other paper.

If we give complimentary notices we are censured for being partial.

If we don't all hands say we are a great hog.

If we insert an article which pleases the ladies, the men become jealous, and vice versa.

If we attend church they say it is for effect.

If we remain in our office, attending to our business, folks say we are too proud to mingle with our fellows.

If we go out they say we don't attend to our business.—Ex.

It was in Charleston, S. C., that rebellion was organized against the Lord Proprietors of King Charles in 1719; it was in Charleston that rebellion against King George began in 1774; it was in Charleston that rebellion attempted nullification of the revenue laws in 1831, and it was in Charleston that rebellion culminated in civil war in 1861. Verily, it is in Charleston that is to be found a rebellious little burg.

The man who claims to be a Christian and a member of the Christian church, should remember that the Church itself is a temperance society, one of its fundamental principles being taken from the scriptural teaching to "touch not, taste not, handle not." Can he be a Christian and yet fail to keep his pledge to observe this great injunction from the Chief Templar of the Universe.

Worcester's definition of modesty is, "propriety, moderation, decency, diffidence." The same authority defines timidity as "wanting courage, easily frightened, afraid." Mr. Webster concurs in these definitions. We call the attention of the Great Critics to these definitions, which show the difference between modesty and timidity.

The People's Will.

Public sentiment points unmistakably to Hon. John M. McKleroy as the man entitled to the nomination for Governor, and it will be useless for scheming politicians to try to thwart the fixed purpose of the people. Any man who undertakes to throw obstacles in the way of the accomplishment of the people's will is in a fair way to gather a full stock of disappointments and regrets—perhaps a life long regret.

We hear of a notice posted on a fence in this latitude: "Whoever is found trespassing on these grounds will be shot and prosecuted." We suppose the poster means to "shoot" 'em if he can't catch 'em.—Knox Register.

There is one in this county that brags that to death. It reads: "Them what can read, go back; them what can't come on an' catch 'em."—Talladega Gazette.

HON. H. D. CLAYTON,

OF BARBOUR.

The chief end of a politician is to get a big paying office."

The next annual meeting of the Alabama Press Association will convene in Marion on the 27th of May. The President of the Association, Col. J. B. Stanley, of the Greenville Advocate, thinks any excursion at this time impracticable, but it is thought the Association will adjourn to Washington after the State election is over.

There are people in the world who are so mean that their morbid nature is not satisfied unless they frequently hear or say something mean of others.

Our correspondent "J. R." is opposed to the sweet-scented nigger juryman and all radical officials and wants a Democratic convention to nominate a county ticket.

From the press and the general public opinion it seems as if McKee will succeed Governor Bob McKeel. Gov. McKee has made an efficient officer.—Talladega Advertiser.

The Birmingham Age makes a good point in calling attention to the rhetorical and grammatical inaccuracies contained in the address of the Democratic State Executive Committee recently published.

Fatal Clash.

The Knights of Labor have been getting in their work with a vengeance in the railroad strikes on the Texas Pacific road. At Fort Worth, Texas, on the 1st, a collision between the officers of the law and the strikers who were trying to prevent trains leaving that city, resulted in the killing of two of the officers and the wounding of a third; one of the strikers was wounded. About fifty shots were fired. The strikers were armed with Winchester rifles. State troops are now upon the scene of the trouble, and further conflict is apprehended.

Afraid of "Getting Into It."

More than one citizen calling himself a good Democrat has asked us to present plans of holding primary elections in the different beats for the election of delegates to the county convention and for the selection of nominees for the county Democratic ticket. They objected to writing communications on the subject, because each was afraid he would "get himself into it," as one expressed it.

We do not think the county executive committee needs any suggestions from us, or that it would even consider our suggestions if made. But if several plans were proposed by experienced persons through these columns, the committee might see fit to take up the good features of each plan, and thereby make a marked success of the next campaign. But the plans can be submitted to members of the committee verbally by any one who may be able to present a good plan, and we presume the committee would be glad to hear from such.

As to the objection made by each to proposing his plan himself, another point is raised which cannot be overlooked. The objection, to say the least, is not a very valid one. It may show some policy, but does it not also show a lack of courage? What would become of this country if all the good citizens were afraid to take any active part in important matters fearing unjust and harsh criticism? The country would soon go into the hands of the same class of fellows who impoverished the South during the era of reconstruction. It would go into the hands of a set of selfish and depraved politicians—the sweepings of the earth—who, being already "into it," would not care a continental how much further they got in. It required the work of brave men—men made brave by the exigencies of the times—to bring about a change in the then deplorable state of our affairs.

What we need to-day is men! Men with courage, with decision of character, and with a determination to do their best in a good cause—let a sneering and critical few say what they will! Don't be hoggish, and ready to get all of the good and do none of the work; nor don't be dogmatic—ready to do all of the barking but none of the biting. Don't be a clam; but be a man! Remember the lines—

"The man recovered of the tide—
The dog it was that died!"

We trust that our over-cautious friends will bear in mind that these suggestions are made as much for their benefit as for the benefit of others, who, like them, are afraid to get involved in what Mr. T. says will get them into it.

A good Democrat would not be ashamed to get behind the high wall of publicity and let his name and Democratic hear the brunt of the battle. Let it lead a head.

Let our friends be afforded at this bit of advice. They have given us an occasional scolding, and a turn about is only fair play, and if in the right spirit, may be all the better for the party.

In the Olden Time.

A friend and reader of the View in Tuscaloosa sends us copies of old papers, published in that town, that are yellow with age, but filled with interesting reading even to the denizens of this day and locality. The oldest of these papers is called the Independent Monitor; M. D. J. Stale was the publisher, and S. F. Miller, editor. The date is April, 1844. This was a presidential campaign year, and the paper was flying the colors of the Whig party. At its masthead appear the names of Henry Clay for President, and Theodore Tilton, of New York, for Vice-President. Among the advertisements is to be found that of White, Noe & Co., dealers in books and stationery. The senior member of this firm, Mr. Joel White, now of Montgomery, is still living. There are a number of advertisements like the following:

COMMITTED to the jail of Lawrence county, Alabama, on the 30th day of December, 1843, a negro man who calls his name ALFRED, and says he belongs to John James, of Nashville, Tennessee. Said negro is about 22 years of age, rather slender, not very black, and about five feet 6 or 8 inches high. The owner of said negro is requested to come forward, prove property, pay charges and take him away, or he will be dealt with as the law directs.

A. P. GALLAWAY,
Shirley Lawrence Co.

The paper contains this item among its general news:

Col. C. C. Clay, Jr., is announced in the last Huntsville Democrat as Associate editor of that paper.

In another place is an opinion of Gen. Jackson on the annexation of Texas, in which he says:

"I must say that in all its aspects, the annexation of Texas to the United States promises to enlarge the circle of free institutions, and is essential to the United States particularly as lessening the probability of future collision with foreign powers, and giving them greater efficiency in spreading the blessings of peace."

In the local column the editor announces that, "wood, coal, corn, opossums, eggs, chickens, indeed everything raised in the country save only suck-egg dogs—will be taken in payment for subscription. The new city dog law prevents us from receiving such animals in payment for dues as heretofore."

Among these old papers are to be found three that bring us down to the reconstruction era in the South. The Monitor had passed into the control of Ryland Randolph, then quite a young man, whom the outrages committed by scallawags, carpet-baggers and negroes had developed into a "fire-eater," so-called by unprincipled opponents. In one column a squad of Yankee troops is denounced as a body of rascally thieves, and evidence of the justness of the charge is published.

Smith was Governor of Alabama, and Appellate Lieutenant Governor. This was in 1867. The paper had at the top of its editorial page these suggestive words: "White man—right or wrong—still the 'white man.'" Maj. Randolph, the editor was at the time a member of the Alabama Legislature. He was shortly expelled from that body by the radical majority because he persisted in alluding to the negro members as—"the nigger from Hale," or "the nigger from Greene," after being instructed to say "the gentleman from Hale," and "the gentleman from Greene." In a letter to his paper he says:

"Matters at the capital have been of a not very exciting character during the past week: excepting that occasionally the monkeys have been kept agitated and stirred up by being publicly informed of the fact of their being negroes. It is astonishing how indignant these 'outland gentlemen' of the so-called Legislature become when dubbed by that appropriate but, to them opprobrious name."

Further on in the same letter the honored citizen for whom our town is named is spoken of as follows:

It has been my fortune to see much of the great leader of our party in this State—Gen. James H. Clayton. That gallant gentleman is a perfect terror to carpet-baggers and scallawags, keeping them in continual fear. He makes it his pleasure to assault the pretended bullies among them, either whipping them or exposing them to public scorn and ridicule. Such a man is of incalculable benefit to the whole State, but more especially to the place that has the honor of claiming him as a citizen. Had each town or city at the South been as thorough going today, it would not have long ago led the land of all others in the South. The paper is a most curious and interesting one. If the most numerous of these were regularly edited and kicked, the Democratic party would be built up amazingly. The paper is of "policy, policy" has played out in the hands of all true white men."

The paper had a wide reputation as a sound discriminator of Democratic principles, and made war to the death upon the vices—that vile, siffat of humanity—which composed the scallawag and carpet-bag element in the politics of the South at that day. One copy contained "a list of those who had plunged headlong down into the loathsome abyss of infamy." Their names were published as "nigger-lovers," and the paper says of them:

"Some of them we know, some we do not know, and all we never wish to know save to shun their filthy touch. Let every honest man shut them off from trade, from recognition, from humanity. Vice must be thus crushed in its incipency, or we will never be able to separate it from Virtue. Let every man prove himself now by his acts. 'Touch not, taste not, handle not.' 'By their fruits ye shall know them.' There are not enough mean men in Tuscaloosa to support them; and if all the good men will avoid them, socially and financially, they will have to seek more congenial latitudes, till they finally reach a latitudinal h—l."

In the same paper is published a communication from thirteen of the most cultured and influential ladies of the place pledging that they would withdraw their patronage from scallawag stores, and requesting every other person who wished to be called decent and respectable to do likewise.

Much more that it contains would be interesting, but space prevents further extracts. The paper was published in "the days that tried men's souls." Can the true white men of Alabama ever forget them? There are office-seekers and a lot of timid "policy" fellows who wish it. But these days can never be forgotten by true white men. Be on your guard that they may never return. A preventative is better than a cure. The South cannot afford to forget the days when carpet-baggers, camp-followers, vultures, jackals, hyenas, tongs of Egypt, lice of the Nile and Yankee school marms flocked to her borders and revelled in a saturnalia of the most revolting political spectacle the world's history affords since Cromwell's invasion of Ireland; for it is by preserving and cherishing the memory of these days that we will rear a fabric more exalted than "The glory that was Greece,

The grandeur that was Rome."

The Flood Again.

"The floods came and the rains descended," and the earth is filled with water in every place that will hold it.

The damage done to the farming interests has been quite serious. Fences have been swept away and land "washed" till a new plowing will be necessary. Large quantities of fertilizers have thus been lost.

One farmer in this section had one mile of fencing washed away, and he estimates his loss at $500. He thinks his fence is in the Gulf of Mexico by this time. We append some telegrams from different sections of the State which will show that other sections have suffered more than our own. The flood district extends as far north as Staunton, Va. At Nashville, Tenn., the Cumberland river is higher than ever before known, and the saw mills and lumber along the banks of the river are being swept away with the raging waters.

Tuscaloosa, March 31.—The water began to recede at noon to-day, and has fallen two inches.

Many houses on either side of the river have been abandoned, and the water is running through the doors and windows. Some families occupy the upper stories of their dwellings, and others are paddled in through the doors and windows of the lower floor. The streets of Northport resemble those of Venice. Skiffs are plying between the houses. Many persons in the swamps below here had to be rescued by boats and carried to places of safety.

The water is a foot deep in the cotton fields. The ends of the iron bridge are submerged, but the center spans are several feet above the flood. No estimate of the damage done to stock and the oat crop in the swamp can be ascertained. No loss of life has been reported.

LATER.—About dark this evening the wreck of a house passed down the river, and it is said that several persons were clearly observed clinging to the timbers. Recalling parties in skiffs started in pursuit and the rapidly moving current soon bore them out of sight.

They have not yet returned. Wednesday, April 1.—The water in the Coosa river is when last deep in areas and on the public square in East Wetumpka. The city bridge is gone; loss, $33,000. Many residences in West Wetumpka are partly submerged. There is no communication across the river except by hazardous skiffs. A number of families are in churches Monday night. The river has fallen four feet in the last forty-eight hours. Wild rumors reach here of terrible loss throughout all Coosa and Elmore counties. No bridges are left in Coosa. A man named Bud Sears, was drowned near Sylva Mill, in North Elmore.

Judge Lancaster saved his cows from the state farm on Tallapoosa river by boating them to a knoll, and backwaters drove them many miles before a place of safety could be reached. He reports hearing wild cries for help sounding above the roar of the waters all night long, and saw a number of cabins borne on the current with terrified negroes on the roofs calling for assistance.

There is water from Coosada to Montgomery. Seven thousand feet of track has been washed off the road-bed. The river railroad bridge here is safe. The water fell 3 1/2 inches from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., at Coosada, to-day.

Montgomery, April 1.—Alabama is suffering great loss from disastrous rains and the highest flood of the century. The river here has been on a stand-still since morning and is now beginning to recede. Rescuing parties in boats have been in the flooded district to-day rescuing the homeless and helpless on plantations up the river and over many miles of country. The situation is heart-rending. People have taken refuge in trees and on house tops, and many have been swept away and drowned. On the Goodwin place, six miles from this city, to-day a white man named Hanson and a negro named Ellis were drowned. The negro had taken refuge in a tree. Hanson went to his succor in a boat. The boat capsized. A negro woman was drowned at Murray's quarters on the Tallapoosa river this morning. A negro man named Bell, fell out of a boat at the foot of commerce street to-day and came near drowning. It is estimated that several thousand people, mostly colored, have been driven from their homes by the rush of the waters. The loss is incalculable. Many houses have been swept away and hundreds of farms devastated by the flood. Cattle and stock of all kinds have perished by the thousands, and the river is dotted with floating carcasses, and some of the farm people are in trees, with their children strapped to their backs. The work of rescue continues to-night. It will be several days before the waters recede and the worst of the terrible story can be told.

The Ohio river at Louisville was higher than ever before known at that point. Rain made an attempt to fall again on Sunday and Monday, but the water was then all over the country, and the attempt was almost a failure. A drizzle kept up the greater part of Sunday and also on Monday morning.

The damage cannot be estimated at this writing even in this section. In our county nearly all the bridges have been washed away.

LATER.

Later telegrams tell of considerable loss of life. Nine negroes were drowned on one plantation near Montgomery, and two thousand were rescued in a destitute condition from an island near Selma. Rome, Ga., was ten feet under water and the loss there is estimated at more than $1,000,000. The loss to Alabama is estimated at $2,000,000, and in Georgia it is even greater. Trains of the L. & N. are now transferring over the Alabama river bridge, which is still under water. The river at Montgomery was nine miles wide.

The image shows a dark, vertical, textured surface, likely the cover of an old book or a piece of aged paper. The texture is grainy and uneven, with various shades of dark gray and black. There are some lighter, irregular patches and lines, suggesting wear, discoloration, or perhaps the binding of the book. The overall appearance is aged and somewhat mysterious.

Got Discouraged.
The individual may live to old age without having another attack, and finally die of some trouble wholly unconnected with the tendency to apoplexy.
But notwithstanding this possible exemption, it is proper and important that the person should preserve as closely as possible a temperate mode of life, avoiding excesses of all kinds, and adhering as faithfully as possible to that golden mean, which is the exponent of the laws of wholesome living. Mental excitement and great bodily exertion must be avoided, but all mental occupation should not be prohibited, and moderate physical employment is one of the necessary conditions of good health.—Good Housekeeping.

A Strange Lake.
"Sugar Lake, in this county," says
the Crawford County (Penn.) Journal, "is a beautiful little body of water, and is undergoing a continual chemical change that should attract the attention of scientists. Eighty years ago the average depth of water in the lake was about thirty feet, but it is now only fifteen feet deep. The surface of the water stands at high water mark, but the bottom is filling up or rising. It is a most singular phenomenon that every year in the month of August the water of the lake becomes a milky substance, and after a little change in the temperature, small white particles like cheese curd are formed and precipitated to the bottom, and are slowly, but surely, filling up the lake. After these particles are formed and settle, the water becomes clear and pure. At the rate this chemical change is now going on, fifty years more and the water of Sugar Lake will have become solidified into a solid loaf of sugar, or what is more probable, formed into a great bed of Limburger cheese. During the season of the year when the chemical process is in operation there is precious evidence to sustain the latter theory."

"Shuddering?" growled Brown.
"For fear the cable would break?"
she artfully queried.
"No, no. Because I remember that it was on our bridal tour."

Both Shattered.

The Painful.
Four or five young clerks of the Geographical survey were talking shop the other evening at a dinner and were indignant over the ignorance of certain persons who ought to know better.
"It is perfectly appalling," said one in a high collar and a two-dollar diamond.
"I should say it was," assented another.
"Why, fellows, don't you know, it took me fully a half-hour to explain to these Senators the difference between the meaning of the words 'topographic' and 'geologic.'"
"I heard that," said a third, "and really, I was never so amused in my life; and yet, in a sense, it was painful, too."
"It was bad enough," put in a fourth geologist, "but worse still than that was the case of the Senator who asked what a cadastral survey was. And right before everybody, too."
"Great Euclid!" screamed the crowd.

propriate seventy million dollars for edu-

A Very-Successful Case.
First Lawyer—"Ah, Robbins how did you come out in that case you were just beginning when I went out?"
Second Lawyer—"Gloriously. It was a perfect success; created a great sensation; papers full of it; got lots of advertising out of it. I think it was the making of my future."
"Good! Glad to hear it, old fellow. I knew you had the stuff in you; and, by the way, what did they do with your client?"
"Oh, they hanged him."—Chicago

Frightful Wages.
Consumption carries off thousands of victims every year. Yet thousands of human lives are being wasted that might be saved, for the fact is now established that consumption, in its early stages, is curable. Dr.
Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will, if used in time, effect a permanent cure. It is not equal as a remedy for bronchitis, coughs and colds, but it has been proved in thousands of cases. All druggists.

The Flowers With.
The chilling blast of winter wither the flowers and the leaves. So does it affect the human family, and if precautionary measures are not taken, being chilled is followed by evil results. Taylor's Cherry Balm of Sweet Gum and Mullein will cure coughs, colds and consumption.

A Western paper bearing that a doctory is about to be established at Orange, N. J. called upon its readers to lay over Orange by establishing a polecatory.

President Cleveland will be married to Miss Frances Folsom, of Buffalo, N. Y., in June. Miss Folsom is now in Europe. The information is given out as positive that the wedding will take place quietly at the White House in June.

The political methods adopted in Barbour county to retire Mr. McKleroy will not succeed. Judge Clayton will go into the convention with the backing of Barbour county only. Mr. McKleroy's supporters throughout the State have been drawn closer to him by this evidence that he is not a wire pulling politician.

The State Convention.

The executive committee met last week and fixed the date for the meeting of the State Convention on June 9th. This change is necessary on account of the fact that all the railroads in the State will commence changing the gauge of their tracks May 31st, and for several days there will be interruption of schedules. Everything will be in regular order by the 9th, and delegates will meet with no interruption in coming through.

A resolution was adopted which county committees will do well to read. There has been some dissatisfaction at the action of committees in several counties, notably Perry, in the matter of appointment of delegates to county conventions. The committee adopted a resolution recommending as a rule, for one county alone, but for all counties in the State, that appointments be made upon the basis of the vote cast at the last preceding State election.

Following is the resolution referred to:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that the representation of the several beats in the county conventions, called to appoint delegates to the State convention, should be based upon the Democratic vote cast at the last State election.

The World is Growing Better.

It is true the world is advancing in many ways, and it is equally true that we are still advancing in Christian principles and that the world is yet growing in virtue and morality.

It will be remembered that when Jesus was crucified as a malefactor upon Mount Cavalry Tiberius Caesar, the adopted son and heir of Octavianus Caesar, or Caesar the August, sat upon the imperial throne. It was in the eighteenth year of the reign of Tiberius that Jesus was crucified. This event, the crucifixion of the son of God—probably the most wonderful which has occurred during the annals of eternity—produced no impression whatever; was unknown in the distant palaces of Rome.

The death of Tiberius strikingly illustrates the depravity of the times. He had retired to the island of Capri, where, in a palace of the most luxurious surroundings, he surrendered himself to almost every conceivable indulgence of sin. For six years he remained there, while conspiracies and revolts agitated the empire. There was a young man in his suite by the name of Caligula, son of the renowned general Germanicus, whom Tiberius, through jealousy, had put to death.

Caligula was one of the filiest of the villa. He ingratiated himself to the favor of the tyrant by pandering to all his wickedness; and by the most hypocritical adulation. At length the death hour of Tiberius tolled. Rome, with scornful looks, looked over his dying bed. The wretched emperor, reclining upon his couch, was taken with a fainting fit. His physicians, seeing his pulse, said: "His life is ebbing fast." All thought him dying. The emerald abandoned the poisonous monarch, who had no longer any favors to grant, and gathered tamely around Caligula, declaring him to be emperor. In the midst of their hilarity, Tiberius to the consternation of all revived; but he was weak and helpless, and could be easily put out of the way. A few of the courtiers entered his chamber, and pressed a pillow upon his face, and after a brief and feeble struggle, the smothered king lay still in death. Caligula, who was, if possible, still more infamous than Tiberius, was now decorated with the imperial purple.

Caligula, elated by his accession to sovereign power, surrendered himself to the uncontrolled dominion of lusts and passions, which had already been rendered furious and untamable by years of indulgence. He erected a temple of gold, placed in it a statue of himself, which he ordered to be dressed every day in clothes similar to those which he should that day wear; and declaring himself to be a god, compelled his subjects to worship his statue with divine honors. The degraded populace, without religion, without any moral principle, hesitated not to bow in adoration before this image of the most contemptible of men. The most rare delicacies which money could purchase were offered in sacrifice at his shrine. His wife and even his horse were ordained as priests to officiate in his temple. The insane luxury which he displayed surpassed all that had hitherto been known. His baths were composed of the most costly liquids. His table service was of gold and diamonds. Even in his saucers he had jewels dissolved that they might be more costly. He built a stable of marble for his favorite horse, and fed him with gilded oats from a manger of ivory. It was one of the entertainments of his meals to place persons upon the rack, that he might be amused by their shrieks and entertained by their convulsions.

The guilty, cowardly wretch was ever trembling in every nerve in apprehension of assassination. Suspecting one of the most beautiful women of his court of being engaged in a conspiracy against him, he placed her upon the rack to enforce confession, and dislocated every joint in her body. Her shrieks and mutilation aroused the courtiers to the energies of despair. Cherea, a Roman Senator, approached the emperor, and, plunging a dagger into his heart exclaimed: "Tyrant, think of this!"

Caligula fell dead. He was but twenty-nine years of age, and had reigned but four years. To such men how awful the declaration of Christianity! "All that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth—they that have done good unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil unto the resurrection of damnation."

Anarchy succeeded. As some drunken Roman soldiers were rioting through the palace, they found a half-crazed old man named Claudius, an uncle of Caligula hidden behind a pile of lumber in the garret. They seized him, and partly in jest and partly in earnest, proclaimed him emperor. The army took up the joke and ratified the choice. In solid phalanx, with banners, shoutings and bugle-peals, they presented him to the trembling Senate, and compelled his enthronement. In Claudius the worst of conceivable bad elements were combined; he united the stupidity of the idiot with the ferocity of the demon.

Messalina, the wife of Claudius, has attained the unenviable notoriety of having been the worst, the most shameless woman earth has ever known. The renown of her profligacy has survived the lapse of eighteen centuries. The story of her life can now never be told; modern civilization would not endure the recital. The ladies of her court were compelled under penalty of torture and death, publicly to practice the same enormities in which she rioted. Her brutal husband was utterly regardless of the infamy of her life. At length, becoming weary of her, he connived with another for her assassination. Claudius having murdered Messalina, married Agrippina. She had already given birth to the cooerter Nero. For a short time she ruled her incestuous husband with a rod of iron. Three wives had preceded her. One day, Claudius in his cups, imprudently declared that he was his fate to be tormented with bad wives, and to be their executioner. Agrippina wrought the words. Claudius loved the poisonous monarch, who had no longer any favors to grant, and gathered tamely around Caligula, declaring him to be emperor. In the midst of their hilarity, Tiberius to the consternation of all revived; but he was weak and helpless, and could be easily put out of the way. A few of the courtiers entered his chamber, and pressed a pillow upon his face, and after a brief and feeble struggle, the smothered king lay still in death. Caligula, who was, if possible, still more infamous than Tiberius, was now decorated with the imperial purple.

Such was life in the palace of Rome at the time of the apostles. Such was the world that Jesus came to redeem. The question is sometimes asked, whether humanity is advancing or retrograding in moral character. No one familiar with the history of past ages will ask that question. Manifest as are the evils in many of the courts of Europe at the present time, most of them are as far in advance of ancient Rome, in all that constitutes integrity and virtue, as is the most refined Christian family in advance of the most godless and degraded.

European Capitalists in the South.

From the American Manufacturer, Pittsburg, of the 5th instant, we take the following:

Mr. Henry Hauman, of Belgium, passed through this city on his way to the South, where, it is stated, he is going to locate the site of a large iron and steel plant, to be erected by a strong Belgian company. The company will, it is said, employ 1,200 men, and will make steel by the basic process.

The last number of the Nashville Artisan contained the following:

Adolph Mentzer, the rich Amsterdam capitalist, who has spent the past year investigating the capabilities of the Southern States, traveling incog., states in substance as follows: "I leave at once for Panama and the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, and from the latter point to Europe direct. Next autumn I return to America to found manufacturing colonies in several of the Southern States. I will establish a ship yard and coal depot at Pensacola, Fla., in connection with new Pacific transit routes to be opened. The climate of the South, and its remarkable stores of mineral wealth, combined with its agricultural capabilities, stamp it as the most favored portion of the globe. Europe has swarmed; its lives are no longer capable of holding its starving millions. Men cannot live on wind. This is the cause of the present London terror—the empty stomachs of its agrarian and socialist mobs demand bread. Matters in this respect, throughout Europe, will grow worse. Hence, I consider capital and life there no longer safe. Therefore I come to America for safety, and while southern lands are so cheap."

Following is the latest effusion of our friend of the Talladega Advertiser:

The clumbers of some of the candidates for Governor will be occasionally disturbed during the time between this and the election by one or more of the following exclamations, equal to the ziz, ziz, zip of the swamp mosquito:

Oh! cruel Barbour, Barbour, where art thou gone?

McKLEROY.

In the great wide state, with Barbour, Barbour only, all alone! CLAYTON.

Oh who will get a helping hand when the voting gets down to a man. Surely, McKleroy's men will come to me; they cannot with a conscience go to Sony. Let's see what I'll do? Write to Glass and Pettus too.

DAWSON.

Railroaded out and dropped off at the first station. The commission letters, with my people, severed my relation.

BRAOG.

I, with Dawson or McKleroy, will have the best chance; but some dark horse may spear me with his lance.

SEAY.

If the floods had held a little longer and the monument committee was a little stronger; if a little sooner I had got to be the city's boss—but then I may come in as a dark horse.

RESE.

Governor I want to be, but how I am to I can't see.

LANE.

If I am not confirmed for Auditor I will be dorned if I don't run for Governor.

SHELLEY.

The first chain factory in the South is about to be established in Birmingham, Ala.—American Engineer.

That is a mistake. This factory has been in operation for several months, and is crowded with orders. It is only for a very short time when it can be said that any new enterprise "is about to be established in Birmingham." If the Birmingham people begin to talk seriously about starting a new factory, it is only a few days before the buildings are being erected. Birmingham is a good illustration of what the New South is doing. It is an example of the push and enterprise of that section.—Manufacturer's Record.

A lady friend who is traveling in England, Scotland and Wales, sends the View a package of London newspapers from across the water, which unfold in a very interesting manner the daily history of men and things in the mother country.

McKleroy was entitled to have had representation from his own country. The only justification for such treatment to McKleroy is that he is wholly unfit for the position to which he aspires or totally unworthy of the consideration of his neighbors. Barbour has endorsed McKleroy on more than one, two or three occasions. His record is the same now as at the time, each of those endorsements were accorded. That plea would not be sustained, if any one had the effrontery to interpose it. The State knows Mr. McKleroy, and his friends will only be incited to more zealous efforts in his behalf by this ungenerous and unjust treatment.—Troy Enquirer.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Clanton with her shade trees in their garb of green is the "loveliest village" to be seen.

Mr. Adam Courtney, of Verbena, spent a day among his friends in Clanton, this week.

Mrs. S. G. Rice, of Maine, delivered an address at the Baptist Church on "The Popular Evils of the Day," Thursday night.

Mr. T. M. Ternan, of this place, and Capt. Borrowes, of Chicago, have been down on Blue Creek this week prospecting for mines.

Messrs. Bains & Herring at Birmingham are selling the most famous Chess Carley's Oil at Company's prices. Send them your orders.

County Treasurer Parish was in town Saturday. He reports no great deal of damage from the freshet in his section. The "washing" of land and the destruction of fences in a few places being all the damage done.

The Young Men's Debating Club, of Clanton, will give a picnic at Baker's Mill, about two miles from town, on Friday, the 7th of May. They will also have a public debate at the court house on Monday night the 17th of May.

Mr. B. H. Chesnut has returned from Birmingham, where he has been looking after the lumber business of Mr. R. Ehrman. Messrs. Sam Brook and F. J. Davis have gone to the Magic City to look after this interest for Mr. Ehrman.

It is no use to call a man "stuck up" because he won't drink whiskey with you. One man has as much right to be "stuck up" and above drinking whiskey as another man has to be willing to drink whiskey, and all should avoid temptation for the sake of their eternal good.

We paid another visit to Lomax last Saturday, and succeeded in getting up a very good list of new subscribers to the View. Mr. Lodge, the owner and general manager of the coal, at that place, was sick at the time and consequently could not show us around, so we will have to pay them another visit in the near future and we hope to get more subscribers and more to write about next time.

Some of our citizens report the damage done them by the recent freshet, to be but slight while others report heavy loss. Mr. W. N. Jones, who lives in the southern portion of the county, near Verbena, was in to see us last Monday and said that the people of his section had sustained heavy loss, and that the damage done to his farm alone will exceed five hundred dollars.

The new and stylish college outfit of Mr. W. H. Phillips will soon be completed and will be an ornament to our town. Who will build the suit?

New friends, if you want a good paper during the campaign you should subscribe for the View, the best paper for you published south of Manitoba. Be not a borrower or a lender, but a subscriber.

The burlesque serenaders turned out in force on Thursday night. They sent forth such rip staving tunes that all the dogs in the country around about here immediately placed their tails between their legs and skedaddled. Sheriff Smith-erman says his jail yard dog hasn't got back yet, and he wants him. He is a black cur with collar on. The man who finds his dogship should return him, and the finder will surely be rewarded.

Notice.

The members of the Democratic Executive Committee of Chilton County are hereby called to meet at Clanton on Saturday, April 25th, for the purpose of attending to any business coming before it.

S. T. BRITTE, Chairman.

The Cemetery Fund.

The fund now on hand for the purpose of fixing up our cemetery is ten dollars and fifty cents, ($10.55), which is not near sufficient to commence work with. Some one has suggested that we have an ice cream and strawberry festival as soon as the strawberry season opens, for the purpose of increasing this fund. Who will take hold of this and carry it through?

Painting, Upholstering and Furniture Repairing.

Frank Gill, colored, of Montgomery, has located at Verbena, and is prepared to do all kinds of painting, upholstering and furniture repairing. He guarantees satisfaction with all his work. The following will show that he has the best endorsements:

MONTGOMERY, ALA., 1886.

Frank Gill has been employed by me as painter. He painted one large house for me, and gave entire satisfaction. He is a very good workman.

CAPT. HENRY.

He also has recommendations from Mr. Yarbrough, Capt. Bell and others in Montgomery but as space is limited did not publish them.

Don't Swear.

It is not an evidence of smartness or of worldly wisdom. Any fool can swear, and a good many fools do it. Ah! If I could only gather up all the useless, uncalled-for, ineffective oaths that have been dropped along the pathway of my life, I know it would remove stumbling blocks from many inexperienced feet, and my heart would be lighter by a ton than it is today. But if you are going to be a fool just because other men have been, oh! my son, what a hopeless fool you will be.—R. J. Burdette.

We Have Found an Honest Man.

Colonel B. H. Keiser, of the Opelika Times, is a candidate for Secretary of State through the Democratic party. In an editorial in his paper he recognizes what is already so apparent, viz: The Prohibition question must go into politics. "In less than a decade," says the editorial, "temperance will be the all-absorbing question throughout the land."

The article closes with the following gallant exhibition of colors: "We have had threats that if we did not let the whiskey question, alone, that men who were now our friends would not support us for the office which we are offering for. If the support of the temperance cause, and the cause of morality and good government is to defeat us, all we have to say is, let us be defeated. We are for good government, and we do not believe that any town or city can have pure and good government, with whiskey shops in its midst. We are opposed to high license from the fact that one man can pay the license and continue the evil among people who are utterly opposed to the traffic."

We don't believe the Democratic party of Alabama will nominate a man who thus fearlessly expresses an opinion. We wish it would, but we shall see what we shall see.—Alabama Prohibitionist.

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper. An important election year is upon us, and every citizen is more or less interested in public matters. The VIEW will be sent to any address for one year for $1.00.

Remember the Greek.

Brink Goudy tells of a little boy who was sent by his parents to school in his neighborhood. Just as he arrived at the school-room the class in Greek was called up to recite. As he entered the door one of the big boys rose and, looking at him, began to call the Greek alphabet: "Alpha, beta, gamma, delta, epsilon, zeta," &c. When he pronounced the last letter the little fellow turned on his heels and ran as if for life, not stopping until he arrived at home. His mother met him and wanted to know what was the matter. The little fellow said: "Mamma, just as I got in the school-house one of the biggest boys in school got up and cried out, 'Alfred, beat him, d—m him, beat him, help to eat him,' and I just left that school-house in a hurry, and don't want to go to school nohow."

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

Miss Rosa Thornton's school is still flourishing.

Mr. John Garner is having his residence painted.

Mr. Porter is doing our town great good. Go to hear him.

Mr. "Hoot" Gillespie is the happy man this time—it's a girl.

Thanks to Hon. Thos. W. Sadler for interesting public documents.

Go to the meetings at the Baptist church: It cannot hurt you to go.

Quite a number of Clantonians are in Montgomery to see Jeff. Davis, "the grand old man."

We hear of more than one family that will come to Clanton this summer to seek a pleasant home.

Mr. Ehrman has moved into his elegant new home. It has been completed at a cost of about $5,000.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Brooks and Mrs. Tarrant, of Verbena, visited Clanton on Sunday to hear Rev. J. J. Porter.

Mr. W. R. Holder and Messrs. Stock of Verbena, were in Clanton this week to attend the religious exercises.

The negroes around Clanton with a few exceptions are a very good for nothing and worthless set of "scabs."

Rev. J. J. Porter and family are stopping at the Hot Well House. Mrs. Porter is a sufferer from paralysis and is trying the hot water.

Clanton Academy under the management of Prof. Hicks and Miss Meredith is gaining a reputation as one of the best high schools in the State.

Sick headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably banished by Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pellets. 25c. a vial. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

It is always safe to patronize men who advertise in their home paper—it shows they are not hide-bound, but are liberal, wide awake and enterprising.

There is on exhibition at the drug store, a pair of beautiful white rats. Their fur is as white as cotton, they have pink eyes, ears and feet. They are beauties as well as curiosities.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, it will banish pain and subdue inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

A town as judged by its newspapers, and as progressive people who wish to locate are apt to think that the advertisements in a paper represent all the business done, it is well for every business man to have at least a card in his home paper.

Mr. J. W. Edwards says he is going to build himself a summer house like the pretty one recently erected by Mr. Duke. That's it, give us another summer house among the stores. Something for the boaters to savor in during the summer.

We learn the Island at the Zimmerman place known as the House Island, in Chilton Co., was completely carried away by the recent freshet. It embraced some 10 acres of the finest farming land on the Coosa river, and the owner feels almost ruined by the occurrence. —Emore Register.

The Shortest.

The pulpit of the Methodist and Baptist churches at this place have united in holding a protracted meeting at the Baptist church. They are assisted by Rev. J. J. Porter, of Gallatin, Tenn. Mr. Porter is an earnest, conscientious and powerful worker in his high and holy field of labor. Our town has never before been visited by an evangelist so thoroughly equipped for his work. He has no other desire in reminding poor, weak mortals of their depravity than a great and an earnest desire to save their immortal souls. He is a man for the times and for our midst. Religion has been at a very low ebb in our town too long, too long. Let us all wake up and turn out to hear Mr. Porter, throwing aside personal prejudices, steeling our hearts to the whisperings of the devil, heeding not unjust criticism but going with an earnest hope of being eternally benefited by what the man of God may say. Show your appreciation of a great man and a great mind which is in the service of your Saviour and endeavor to get others to go with you. The present year sees the entire Christian world awakening, and there is work for every one calling himself a Christian, every one who believes in death and eternity.

The writer once read an inscription over a grave in a neighboring town, which inscription it might be well to quote here, and which should be emblazoned in letters of fire in every cemetery in the land. It was:

"Stranger attend as you pass by: As you now are so once was I, As I now am so you must be, Prepare, for you must follow me!"

Reader think of this and act. It will be but a few short years before each of us now so full of life will be called into a different sphere. May the inscription above each of our graves be: "Prepared for eternal life."

Mr. Porter is having large audiences. Go to hear him. It cannot hurt you. He preaches the Bible and the teachings of Christ in the strongest and most effectual manner. Christians like to hear his powerful talks. Those who are not Christians prefer to dodge such sermons and stay away from the church.

Town Killers.

A curse to any town is a population which is forever and eternally complaining. People who are always looking around them for something to criticize and condemn; who talk about nothing but imaginary evils and fancied disadvantages by which they hope to excuse their own want of enterprise. They love to discount upon every discouraging feature, and never seem to observe the blessings and advantages by which they are surrounded. They delight in magnifying every possible evil, and repressing every good which may, when properly appreciated, far more than compensate for the supposed evils and obstacles which loom up like mountains. Let a stranger come into such a town, and instead of encouraging him to buy property and locate, they spare no means in their possession to drive him away, by holding up the most horrible, gloomy and discouraging picture. If a few bales of cotton go through the town in quest of a few cents more on the hundred than their merchants feel able to give, they are ready to proclaim to the world that the trade of the town is rapidly being taken away and absorbed by rival towns in the country, and practically throw up the sponge.

They contribute nothing to public enterprises, such as school-houses, churches, and other institutions which go so far towards attracting immigration from the intelligent and progressive class of people, and go into spasmodics whenever a proposition is submitted to raise a small amount by municipal taxation for public purposes. When they go abroad, instead of praising their own town, its people and its institutions, they proclaim their demerits to the world, and then wonder how it is that their own town does not prosper. Such people never succeed in building up a town, however good their intentions, and they may be classed as so much dead weight in the march of material progress. They are genuine town killers in the true sense of the term, and a majority of that class of citizens will crush out a town, no matter what may be its resources and natural advantages.

Economy, wisely directed is not only not stingy nor mean, but the thing that makes benevolence and generous giving possible.

The county Democratic Executive Committee seems to be in no hurry about doing anything in the political line.

Another Burke announces a decision by the attorney general that cotton held on the first day of January is subject to taxation under the revenue law, and is not among the exemptions of the act.

The labor troubles still continue in the northwestern States. It is impossible to conjecture what the end will be. A mob of 21,000 working men were parading the streets of Chicago Monday. They were intent on working some damage upon the McCormick Reaper Works, but no damage was reported in the press dispatches.

A great inter-State competitive drill at Savannah, Ga., is now in progress. The great War Department of Alabama is represented there by two Montgomery companies, the Greys and the Blues, and by the Warrior Guards of Tuscaloosa. The Montgomery companies took first rank in the pool selling. It is a surprise that the Governor of Alabama is not along. We fear the Alabama lads will be discouraged and fail to win a prize, since the Commander in Chief is not there to "whoop 'em up."

The Montgomery Dispatch has found out that the two Germans, Miller and Diedrich, who were convicted of begging bread to keep from starving, and sentenced to six months hard labor and seven months for cost, and who were pardoned by the governor because of their inhuman treatment, have not yet been released, though pardoned near two months ago. It seems impossible to find out who is at fault in the matter. There is a rottenness somewhere in connection with this matter that ought to be hunted up and exposed.

There is no more radical and partisan Republican newspaper than the Philadelphia Press, and "Jimmy" Husted might take a lesson from it for fairness and decency. It says, in speaking of the recent appearance of Jefferson Davis at Montgomery:

"The South has pushed ahead of Mr. Davis. It no longer follows his teachings, consults his philosophy, or subscribes to his dogmas. It has thrust them all aside for the greater advantages which progressive statesmanship, vindicated valiantly in the nation and nobler aspirations in her sons have opened to it. The South is of to-day, with all the energy, intelligence and accumulating power which accrue from legitimate competition with free nations in the fields of industry and material aggrandizement. The country at large can forgive the South for turning its back to the light a day or two to pay homage to the personal qualities which endeared Mr. Davis to the hearts of her citizens during the weary years of war."

Jefferson Davis in Montgomery

The event of the year in Montgomery, was the laying of the corner stone of the monument to the Confederate dead on Thursday last. The old town was stirred to its depths by the exercises in which Jefferson Davis and Gen. John B. Gordon took so prominent a part. The visit of Mr. Davis will attract Montgomery and Alabama all over the country, and there will be much carping criticism to be heard from a section of the country which antagonizes anything and everything that would show honor to Jefferson Davis. In view of this fact, it is exceedingly doubtful whether the advertising received will redound in any benefit to the State. Montgomery was given an opportunity to show her spirit, and she is ahead of the entire country in "whooping things up" whenever Jeff Davis is around.

Mr. Davis' visit was for the purpose of delivering an address for the benefit of the monument of which he was also called upon to lay the corner stone. From the thousands who attended, it is evident that the monument fund has been largely increased by this stroke on the part of the management committee.

It was not inappropriate that Mr. Davis should have been called upon to lay the corner stone of the monument, where he helped to call it into being twenty-five years ago.

A elegyman in a Confederate State was on his way to preach a funeral sermon. As he was passing the house of a widow lady a member of his congregation, she ran out and stopped him, saying, as they had just slaughtered their hog, she had put up a few pounds of sausage as a present, adding that, as she had put it in double paper pockets, she thought it would not soil his clothes. He thanked her earnestly for her kindness, and rode on, having put the parcel in his pocket.

All the time he was officiating at the grave a large, half-starved, hunched kept snuffing around him, sometimes approaching alarmingly near, attracted by the scent of the fresh meat. As the deceased was a man of some prominence, there was a considerable crowd collected, and great mourning and lamentation came from the family group; so no one paid any attention to the movements of the animal, but all noticed with concern—for he was beloved by his congregation—the great pallor of the clergyman, and the beads of perspiration standing upon his brow, and they began to whisper to each other that Mr. H— must be ill.

After the interment they all proceeded to the church, where the funeral sermon was to be preached. Just before entering Mr. H— turned around to ascertain the whereabouts of his tormentor, when lo! there he was, not far from him, but the crowd prevented him from approaching too closely. Just at this moment some one gave the poor creature a cruel kick, which sent him off howling. When the minister reached his pulpit one of those old fashioned affairs ascended by a short, steep flight of steps—he breathed more freely. He was just about to commence his duties when the sexton, a good old man, came noisily up the steps with a slip of paper in his hand, which he wished to give to the minister, but who was unnoticed by that gentleman, though seen by all the congregation. He gently twitched his coat to attract his attention. A thrill of horror passed over the unhappy preacher at the dreadful thought that the dog had entered unseen in the crowd, and was now about to take forcible possession of the sausage before the whole assembly; so, hoping to drive him away, he kicked back cautiously but vigorously, and struck the old man in the breast, who rolled down the steps.

Seeing the look of surprise and alarm on the faces of the audience, he stammered out, with crimson face: "I must explain to you, my brethren, what must seem my intemperate conduct. A friend came out to me, as I was passing her house, with a small package of sausage for me to carry home in my pocket; but ever since I dismounted from my horse this old dog"—pointing behind to the prostrate sexton, but without looking round—"has been following me, and has been tugging at my coat, determined to get the sausage from my pocket."

At this moment the sexton, a little stunned and a little hurt, arose from the floor, and the minister at a glance took it all in, stared wildly at him, took a drink of water, turned very pale, and sat down overwhelmed with consternation.

Press Comments.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Comments of the press in the North regarding the Davis speech yesterday are very kindly. The New York Times, Republican, says: "His words in speaking of those who fell in the Confederate cause, fell on sympathetic hearts, and certainly no one in the North, no one whose opinion is worth attention, will object to the enthusiasm with which they were received."

The World says of the speech: "It no doubt disappointed those politicians who were waiting with some impatience to seize upon his utterances and parade them as evidences that if the South is not in the saddle it has its riding boots on, and is ready to mount at a moment's notice. Over the head of the 'unreconstructed' leader waved a Federal flag with the stars and stripes to tell the story of complete re-union."

The Washington Critic says: "None of our emancipated contemporaries can find much to harp on in the visit of Jefferson Davis to Montgomery, nor in the remarks made there. It is true that the people welcomed Mr. Davis very warmly. It was but natural they should. He was their leader at a time when they were fighting for what they thought to be a just cause. To him they looked—in him they trusted, when the skies were very dark and when the road ahead of Alabama was being explored. There was nothing unreasonable in Mr. Davis' welcome, nor was there anything so very objectionable in

The Philadelphia Press says: "The speech of General Gordon delivered at Montgomery yesterday, though distinctly Southern in its tone, had one noticeable characteristic which distinguished it from the customary sentimental, fervid Confederate memorial harangues, glorifying the lost cause and the bravery, devotion and other virtues of those who lost it. General Gordon was a soldier, and a brave one, and he took occasion to remind his Southern audience of 'the persistent, indomitable will and splendid courage of the North.' He paid the highest tribute to Southern courage when he said of the men who opposed them that 'the rushing and oft-repeated onsets of Northern phalanxes with fixed bayonets against the walls of fire from Southern guns and over the dead bodies of their comrades, piled in ghastly hecatombs before Southern forts and breastworks, bear witness to Federal courage and devotion which nothing can ever impeach.' We welcome this evidence that there is one Southern memorial orator whose patriotism takes in the whole country, and who thinks the virtues of both sides are worthy of eulogy."

At the next general election in August the people of the state will vote upon two proposed amendments to the constitution, one to section 7 of article 11, and one to section 5 of the same article. Section 7 is proposed to be amended by adding the following clause: "And provided further, That this section shall not apply to the city of Birmingham, which city may levy and collect a tax not exceeding one-fourth of one per cent in addition to the tax of one-half of one per centum herein above allowed to be levied and collected, such special tax to be applied exclusively to the payment of interest on the bonds of the city of Birmingham, issued in pursuance of law, or that may hereafter be issued in pursuance of law, and for a sinking fund to pay off said bonds at the maturity thereof."

The proposed amendment to section 5 is in substance to allow the various counties to levy a special tax of not more than one half of one per cent per annum on the taxable value of property for the purpose of constructing and repairing public roads within the respective counties. This second amendment is in response to a growing sentiment in the state in favor of a radical change in the present inefficient method of working public roads. The voting is to be by separate ballot on which shall be printed "For proposed amendment," or "Against proposed amendment," as the voter may desire. As will be seen, the first amendment refers to the city of Birmingham alone; the second is one in which the whole people of the state is interested, and one which the people will almost certainly sustain.—Fig.

LOCAL DOINGS.

Measles are in town.

Mr. B. H. Chestnut is having his residence repainted.

Are we to have another concert for the benefit of the cemetery?

Gordon DuBose, Esq., of this place, is attending court in Shelby this week.

There were seven additions to the Methodist Church on Monday morning last.

About 1,000 people attended the Porter revival services in Clanton on Sunday last.

See change of schedule of trains on the L. & N., which went into effect last Sunday.

Quite a number of Verbenians were in Clanton Sunday to attend religious services.

We want to hear from our neighborhood correspondents throughout the county more regularly.

If you have a good business advertisement and keep it. If you have it not, advertise and get it.

Rev. Mr. Morton, of Wetumpka, has been assisting in the religious exercises in our town during the past week.

Married, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Lomax, on the 14th ult., by Rev. A. E. Burns, Mr. G. H. Gilliam to Miss Lou Givhan.

Miss Belle Smith is visiting friends in our town. She is the daughter of Capt. W. A. Smith our worthy tax assessor, and is a welcome visitor among us.

The ordinance of baptism was administered to five applicants for membership in the Baptist Church of Clanton, on Tuesday, by Rev. L. G. Skipper, the pastor.

A wagon load of fish came over from the Coosa Saturday. It contained a cat fish weighing fifty-seven pounds which had been caught with hook and line.

Rev. A. E. Burns, of Jemison, was down Saturday to hear Mr. Porter. We are glad to know that Mr. Burns has a fine school at Jemison and that he is prospering.

A party of fishermen made up from Birmingham and Clanton went out to the Coosa yesterday. Though it is most too early for snakes the inevitable keg of "medicine" was along.

Sick headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably banished by Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pellets. 25c. a vial. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Married, at Helena, on the 27th ult., by Rev. A. E. Burns, Mr. Joe Beasley, of the L. & N. R. R., and Miss Martha Anderson. The View extends congratulations to the newly and happily married pair. May their joys be unceasing.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, it will banish pain and subdue inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

The Bibb Blade says: Robt. L. Boyd, of Chilton county, named through this place on Saturday last. He is in his ninety-ninth year, and was in former days one of the commissioners of this county. He served several years as Justice of the Peace. He is still active for a man of his years.

The Porter Revival.

Rev. J. J. Porter closed his series of meetings at this place on Sunday night last. After his first sermon here he was rather roughly criticized, and the criticism was taken up and harped upon by those who had not even heard him preach and who from an erratic view refused to hear him. All to no purpose, however, for when Mr. Porter said farewell to the 400 people who heard him Saturday night, he was enthroned in the hearts of almost the entire community, and much feeling was exhibited by those who came up to shake his hand and bid him farewell and a God speed in his glorious work.

There were about seventy-five professions of religion during the week, and out of that number there have been many to come into the church of Christ. Our community has been greatly benefited by the week's work. The pastors of the Methodist and Baptist Churches here, deserve their share of praise for the earnestness with which they seconded the efforts of Mr. Porter. They are both able and faithful workers in their high and holy calling.

The Christian people and all other classes have great cause for rejoicing at the manifestations which the work of the week brought about.

Mr. Porter begins a series of meetings to-day in the First Baptist church at Montgomery.

Rock Spring Locals.

Hugo has just closed the first session of his school near Weldon, Ala., and has come to this place his old home, to spend a few days with his friends and relatives and thought he would give our readers a few items while here.

Prof. G. W. Dawson, Miss Lela Dawson and Mrs. Dodson, of this place attended the examination and picnic given at the closing of Hugo's school.

The small grain and fruit crop is fine in this community.

Rev. Mr. Thompson preached an interesting sermon last Saturday.

Farmers have been injured by the rains but are moving on finely with their crops.

More anon. Hugo.

Canon Farrar's New Book.

A few weeks ago, when Canon Farrar was in this country, tens of thousands of people paid as much as one dollar each to hear a single lecture delivered by him, and were well pleased with what they got for their money. Several of the most important of those lectures and addresses with other papers are now published by John B. Alden, of New York, and can now be had in a very handsome cloth-bound volume, for the price of 40 cents. Some of the lectures are also published separately in his Elzevir Library, in which form the lecture on Dante sells for 3 cents; on Temperance, 2 cents; on Ideals of Nations, 2 cents; Thoughts on America, 3 cents. The millions of intelligent people who admire Canon Farrar and who were not able to hear him lecture, will be delighted to find in his brilliant, scholarly and eloquent thoughts placed in this handsome form within their reach. The publisher's illustrated catalogue, 132 pages, is sent to any address on receipt of 4 cents; or condensed catalogue free. John B. Alden, Publisher, 393 Pearl St., New York.

Don't Leaf.

Mr. Porter in his sermon to men on Saturday night, told of the danger in sitting around doing nothing and listening to improper and disgusting yarns from those who ought to know better than to vomit them for the innocent and unsuspecting to swallow. The devil controls the tongues of too many idlers and not over-nice loafers in this world, and is always hatching up something fresh for them to debate and demoralize their neighbors with.

Men who can't find anything better to do than loaf ought to have their tongues pulled out, or the world would be even better off if they would crawl into some old gutter and die. Don't leaf.

Mr. Davis' Memory.

The Montgomery Advertiser says: "Mr. W. A. Collier, of Clanton, was the only representative of the Confederate navy in the Jeff. Davis celebration." Mr. Collier was one of the assistant marshals on the occasion. On being introduced to Mr. Davis, the latter at once recognized him, and Mr. Davis mentioned the time and place where they had last met, twenty-two years ago. Mr. Collier, who is one of the best and most thoroughly equipped attorneys in this section of the State, was midshipman in the Confederate navy, where he served during the entire struggle.

He who too much fears hatred is apt to rule.

BILE BEANS. With a funny name for a medicinal preparation it is very significant as applied to the ailment. Bile, according to Webster, is "a yellowish bitter, viscid, nauseous fluid, secreted by the liver." Whenever the liver does not act properly this fluid is retained in the blood and poisons the whole system, and salivaceous and misery is the result. SMITH'S BILE BEANS is a sure cure for biliousness and liver complaint. Price, 15 cents per bottle.

A dusky damsel came to our office door the other day and after looking around long enough to take in the whole contents of the building made known her wants by saying: "Got any cheese in here." We had to inform her that we did not have any of the article. All who want "cheese and crackers" can call on Billy Wilson or Brother Sartor.

Mr. Sam. D. Armstrong has taken the position of night operator at this point. Mr. Armstrong is the son of Rev. Thos. Armstrong, pastor of the Decatur M. E. Church. We knew Sam when he was a "bad boy" over in West Alabama. We are glad to welcome him to our town, and hope that his stay among us will be both pleasant and profitable.

Mr. Porter heard of the criticism upon his work in Clanton, and in one of his talks he spoke of it. Mr. Porter mentioned a fact which is as old as it is true, that a man who has very little sense at all can criticize; he might have added that most of the criticism comes from men "who have very little sense at all," for other things. They are critics but nothing more.

The Young Men's Debating Club has postponed the picnic which was set for to-morrow, until Friday the 21st inst. It was necessary to postpone it in order to give the ladies time to get up the eatables, as the preachers managed to consume all the eggs and chickens in the place last week. The time for the public debate has not been changed and we hope that the young men will have a crowded house to inspire them on the night of the 17th inst. The public generally are cordially invited to attend.

A Fair Spirit.

The Labor Union, of Birmingham, edited by a union soldier, who is the commander of the Grand Army of the Republic in Alabama, says:

The editor of the Labor Union was unable to meet Jefferson Davis at Montgomery, but we did meet a great many of his boys from 1861 to 1865, and played ball with them. It was much different from the game now played. At the game we used to play every time you caught a ball on the fly you were out. Now when you catch the ball you are in.

How to Visit a Printing Office.

One of our exchanges gives the following rules to be strictly observed by all persons visiting a printing office.

Enter softly.

Sit down quietly, if there is a seat.

Subscribe for the paper.

Pay for it in advance.

Keep six feet from the "devil."

Keep hands off the manuscript.

Don't talk to the compositors.

Don't carry off the exchanges.

Never beg a paper.

Don't stay too long.

If you have a communication to make to the editor, do it and remember that it is now time to let him attend to his work.

Do not steal a couple of hours of his precious time to entertain him about your private affairs. He feels no interest in them.

Gentlemen observing these rules, when in a printing office, will much oblige the editor, and have no fear of the "devil."

Indignant New Yorkers.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—A call signed by Gen. H. A. Barnum of New York, Maj. George H. Treadwell of Albany, and Capt. Bailey of Batavia, has been issued for a mass-meeting at Capitol Park at 8 p. m., to protest against the ovation given to Jefferson Davis at Montgomery, and the disloyal sentiments uttered there.

In response to this call grand army men and citizens to the number of 200 met in the assembly chamber to-night to protest against the utterances of Jefferson Davis in his speech at Montgomery yesterday, and to denounce the resurrection of Davis from the oblivion to which loyal and patriotic people had consigned him. Speeches were made by Gen. Barnum, Speaker Husted, Senator Haines and others. Senator Coggeswell was the last speaker. When he had concluded the crowd sang: "We'll hang Jeff. Davis on a sour apple tree." Resolutions had been previously introduced declaring treason, etc., were carried and the meeting adjourned.

Mass Meeting.

It being necessary that immediate action be had to secure our county representation in the coming State Convention it is suggested by members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county that the members of said party meet in Mass Meeting at the Court House in Clanton on Saturday, May 23d, to select Delegates to the State Convention and to determine the action to be taken by the party in the coming campaign.

W. H. LAWRENCE,
Sec'y of Committee.

Clanton, Ala., May 7, '96.

Do your duty to your party and attend the mass meeting at Clanton on the 23d inst.

Tell your neighbor of the mass meeting of the Democracy at Clanton on Saturday, the 23d inst.

The delegates to the State Convention from Autauga county are solidly for McKleroy for Governor.

Clay county selected her delegates to the county convention Saturday. The delegates are all for McKleroy.

An exchange says that Solicitor E. J. Darby will not be a candidate for re-election to the Solicitorship of this circuit.

A registered package sent out from the Scottsboro postoffice on the 30th of March cannot be found, and we presume that the recent great flood swept it away—not only the registered package, but the mail bags, mail rider, horse, post office, post master and all.

Rev. J. J. Porter will begin a revival in the First Baptist Church, of Montgomery, immediately upon the adjournment of the Southern Baptist Convention now in session. We hope the Advertiser will publish Mr. Porter's sermon's and let the outside world know just what he is.

The following from the Huntsville Mercury is too true to let slip: "One kind of petty meanness some persons show, and it is difficult to perceive of their getting down much lower, is to make a regular practice of borrowing a newspaper which they dislike too much to purchase."

Dadville Advocate-Star: In one of our private schools this week the teacher asked the class the meaning of the word "victim." The question seemed to puzzle the pupils, but after a pause a bright and beautiful girl answered: "Please, mam, a victim means a man about to be married."

If I was compelled to do one or the other, steal mules or sell whiskey, I would go into the mule stealing business every time, for then I would not rob the man of his character, his money, his happiness, his life, and his soul. I would not break his wife's heart, and drag his children down to shame and poverty.—Rev. J. J. Porter.

The Greene county Democracy made a split. Two conventions were held and two tickets placed in the field. We like conventions, but we fear that Greene county has "too much of a good thing" just now. The radicals will chuckle over this discussion and will have a fine chance of getting their henchmen into office. Democrats cannot afford to have a "row in the camp" in such a county as Greene. "United we stand, divided we fall."

The Butler county Convention met in Greenville on last Saturday, and nominated its delegates to the State Convention. The delegation goes unopposed, and is divided between McKleroy, Dawson and Clayton. There was great diversity of opinion in the Convention as to the matter of nominating county officers, many favoring a free-for-all race. After considerable wrangling it was decided to make no nominations. As the Democrats have only about 350 majority in Butler county the result can easily be imagined. All the Democratic candidates are allowed to make the race. It is a deplorable state of affairs, but there is no alternative.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county have taken it upon themselves to call a mass meeting of the Democracy for May 23d, at Clanton, to select delegates to the State Convention and to determine the action to be taken by the party in the coming campaign. The members who make the call desire to withdraw from the committee, and they will expect the mass meeting to select a new committee with a central committee having authority to work. The present committee has never had a full meeting, and as there is no central committee, they have been working under disadvantages. They hope that as their work is done gratuitously, and to the best of their ability the timber-backed critics and croakers who never do anything themselves, and can always pick flaws in what others do, will go to work and call another mass meeting if this one does not please them.

Blood in Chicago.

Sixty-five policemen were wounded by the Anarchists in Chicago last week. A large number of these have died. The vigilantes of the city have organized and threaten the leaders of the Anarchists with the rope. Matters are quieting now.

The history of the bloody events in Chicago for the last week shows how dangerous it is to temporize with such creatures as Spies, Schrab, Fielden and Parsons. They are the representatives of the worst class of agitators in Europe and for several years past have been preaching up a crusade against modern civilization on the very ground where they were arrested. They profess to have a mission to right "the wrongs of labor," and have not hesitated to proclaim their intention of attaining their ends by the torch, the knife, the musket and the deadly dynamite bomb.

These men are levelers, not reformers. All that is bad and destructive to good morals and the peace and order of society they seem to regard as elevating and ennobling. They are atheists and infidels in creed, and crime is their natural atmosphere. Hitherto they have been treated rather as amusing mountebanks than dangerous criminals, and newspapers and public officials have laughed at what were deemed their vagaries of speech and eccentricities of action. Three score or more of dead and dying men in Chicago Wednesday morning attest their true character, and too late the city authorities realize that they have been harboring a nest of vipers that have turned and stung them. The majesty of the law is now invoked to punish crimes that ought to have been prevented.

Of what do these murderous villains complain? Why, that some people are rich and some are poor; that some own manufacturing establishments and run railroads, while others have to work with their hands for a living. Of the crew that met Tuesday night in the old Chicago hay market to plan for the destruction of McCormick's shops, there were probably not a hundred of McCormick's men. Yet Spies and Fielden and Parsons pretended to be eager only to right the wrongs of the laborers, while plotting to destroy the establishment that gave them work. These men had nothing, really, to complain of. There was plenty of work for them at good wages; there were comfortable homes and plenty to eat and warm clothing for them if they had a mind to earn them. No one molested or made them afraid; no one wronged them; the government did not oppress them; they were free to come and go, to work or to play. They chose to do none of these things, but rather to foment riot and promote murder. That they are dangerous to peace and good order they have demonstrated, and they should be made to pay the full penalty of their crimes.

There is no question of labor here, or of the rights and wrongs of the wage-workers. The Anarchists represent nothing but anarchy; nothing but the disintegration of society and the rule of passion—the spirit which prevailed when in Paris, when under the lead of Robespierre and Marat the drops of the city's population "got drunk on blood to commit crime."

It is the duty of every Democrat in the county, to lay aside everything else and come to Clanton to attend the mass meeting to be held on May 23d. Let the mills shut down, the merchants close their doors and the farmers stop their work for one day and all turn out to the mass meeting.

The Hebetudinous Crank to prove that Jefferson Davis was not hanged twenty-one years ago, John C. New appears to think that it is not yet too late to hang him. With two such vigilant sentinels on guard against the incursions of the country ought to be able to sleep nights.

How different is the case of that ardent Republican, that devoted friend and biographer of the late Gen. Grant, that stalwart supporter of Blaine and Logan, that gallant veteran of the Northern army, Col. Frank A. Burr of Pennsylvania!

Col. Burr visited Atlanta in pursuit of his profession of newspaper reporter. Standing amid the men against whom he fought a quarter of a century ago, he too was carried away by the sentimental enthusiasm of the occasion. We learn from the Atlanta Constitution that Col. Burr "appeared in the procession with a Confederate Banner in his hat. He shouted himself hoarse, and wept with the veterans."

Would the Hon. John C. New have worn a Confederate flag in his hat? Probably not. Would the Hebetudinous Crank have mingled his tears with those of the brave Southerners? We doubt it. And yet we are inclined to regard Col. Burr, who was at the front during the war, as a more reasonable being than Mr. New or the Hebetudinous Crank.—N. Y. Sun.

It is Well to Remember.

That every path has a puddle.
That the fruit of success ripens slowly.

That he is the richest man who wants the least.
That a million dollars will not buy a ray of sunshine.

That the greatest of faults is to be conscious of none.
That the brightest thoughts sometimes come from the dullest looking men.

That all of the goods of this world are of no further good than they are of use.

That Methuselah, even, never complained of time hanging heavy on his hands.

That a newspaper may be a sewer or a stream of pure water, according to its source.

That what a man gets for nothing he is very apt to value at just about what it cost him.

That we often unlock the door of fate with our own hands and then throw the key away.

That compliment and congratulations cost nothing but pen, ink and paper, or words.

That the easiest way to outwit the world is to let it believe that it is smarter than you are.

That there can be no greater mistake than the stopping to worry over a mistake already.

That with contentment the lowliest hovel is more of a palace than the loftiest mansion without it.

That while few are qualified to shine in company, it is in the power of most people to be agreeable.

That our homes are like instruments of music, of which a single discordant string destroys the sweetness.

That the path of life is beset with thorns, and they who are not afraid to encounter them gather the rare flowers that grow between.

Exchange.

The members of the County Executive Committee should see that the members of our party attend the meetings to be held at Clanton Saturday, May 23d, 1896.

Civil Service Reform.

Scene: Office of the Deputy Comptroller of the Treasury, Washington, D. C.

United States Marshal—I called to see if I could get my accounts settled to-day. I am in a hurry to get home.

Deputy Comptroller—All right, sir. Caesar, call Mr. Slowcoach.

* * * Mr. Slowcoach, Mr. Shock-at-Sight, from Texas, wants his accounts adjusted.

Mr. Slowcoach—Well, really, we are very much pushed just now, and are short of clerks. There are those marshals who have been removed, and we want to settle their accounts first. By the way, I heard there was a new clerk assigned to this bureau yesterday.

Why didn't you send him to me?

Deputy Comptroller—Well, I'll tell you why; because I knew he would be of no use to you. He has been a schoolmaster all his life, and, although he passed a creditable civil service examination, I know he has no earthly idea of practical business. Such men make the very poorest kind of clerks. Their minds have got into theoretical routine, and from which it is impossible to extricate them. I have put him in a place where no common sense business methods can interfere with him.

Ex-President Davis passed through Montgomery Saturday on his return home from Savannah.

Don't believe that man, which did great credit to Clanton.

Don't let the State to overlook for your county paper. An important election year is upon us, and every citizen is more or less interested in public matters. The VIEW will be sent to any address for one year for $1.50.

RELIEF

Forty Years a Sufferer From

CATARRH.

WONDERFUL TO RELATE!

"For forty years I have been a victim to CATARRH three-fourths of the time a sufferer from EXCRUCIATING PAINS ACROSS MY FOREHEAD AND NOSTRILS. The discharges were so offensive that I hesitate to mention it, except for the good it may do some other sufferer. I have spent a young fortune from my earnings during my forty years of suffering to obtain relief from the doctors. I have tried patent medicines, every one I could learn of, from the four quarters of the globe, with no relief. And AT LAST (57 years of age) have met with a remedy that has cured me entirely—made me a new man. I weighed 12 pounds and now weigh 146. I used 12 bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that being in the hum of the world I may not have had influence to prevail upon all catarrh sufferers to use what has cured me."

Doctor of my childhood's day
In your antiquated shawl
Doctor Paray! tell me, pray,
Why did you
With your well-directed pills
Cure me of my infantile
And, with your oil and pills,
Pull me through!

When I blossomed out in spots
With the measles' slightly blot,
When I writhed with colic's knots,
Ailing inward;
When I found my life a curse
With my insatiable nurse
Who indulged in a perverse Falling gin-ward!

You'd have won my gratitude
If, while you were at it, you'd Shown a life more latitudinal
In your drugs;
If you'd come upon the scene
With a dose of Paris green
Sacred to the coy, serene Taster-bug!

Yet I'll do my duty here,
While, tho' painful it appear,
Is most obvious and clear
To my eyes;
I'll become a great M. D.
Just to poison (but they be)
Wretched misanthropes, like me,
Little boys.

I know a patronizing man,
Who, when I go to shake
His hand, holds one limp finger out
For my big paw to take.

Of all the things that rile me up,
His action "takes the cake."
So sometimes I'll get hopping mad,
And standishly make Him jump around and howl with pain

And beg for mercy's sake—
When in my rigid fist I grab
His digit—for to shake

My aggravator here and there,
And thurst for vengeance sake
By twists and bendings—till the bones
In that fore-finger break!

RECEIPTS AND INDUSTRIAL.

Proctor claims that every colonial body must at some time pass through a life-supporting period.

Not only exercises greatly increases the activity of the lungs. It cannot, therefore, be truly beamed to the

The island of Arran, off the west coast peas and cauliflowers thrive in the open air without injury, in winter, although the latitude is that of the northern part of Labrador, on the continent.

Extensive experiments are to be made by the government of Tasmania in naturalizing European fishes, such as lobsters, crabs, turbot and brill, in the waters of that country. Similar trials have been very successful in New Zealand and Australia.

The weather service in Great Britain appears to be in a somewhat unsatisfactory condition. Statistics obtained by the house of lords show that during a period of ten years 120 unexpected storms visited the British coast, or an average of one storm a month.

The paper mill seems about to become a practical reality, a large establishment for the manufacture of paper of compressed paper being projected at St. Petersburg.
Among the advantages claimed for this material are extreme durability, a cost about one-third as great as steel, lightness, greater adhesion to the driving wheels of the engine, and a reduction in the wear and tear of both the road and the rolling stock.

An analysis of the contents of the principal grenades, tubes and other patent devices for the extinction of incipient conflagrations has recently been made by Professor Kedzie, chemist of the agricultural college at Lansing, Mich. He finds that the only active ingredient in all that he analyzed is common salt, and his investigations go to prove what is generally known, namely, that salt water is better than fresh water for putting out fires.

The weight of scientific opinion now favors the view that "flying fish" do not fly. The muscles of fish in birds do not average in weight one-fifth of the whole body, those of bats one-thirteenth, while those which have been supposed to enable the fishes to fly are only one-thirtisecond. The impulse to the propulsion of the flying fish is probably delivered while they are still in the water by the exceptionally powerful muscles which cover both sides of their body.

The prevention of decay in wood is said to be effectively accomplished by exhausting the air from the pores and filling them with a gummy solution of a substance which preserves the wood alike from moisture, water, and the action of the sun. The solution is made by mixing two-thirds of gutta percha to one-third of paraffine, this mixture being then heated to liquify the gutta percha, when it is readily introduced into the pores of the wood, the effect of the gutta percha being, when it becomes cool, to harden the pores.

The Panama Canal.

The projector and most active mover in this work has been the indefatigable engineer, M. De Lesseps. In 1879 he visited the isthmus and satisfied himself that the construction of a ship canal across it was quite practicable. He then returned to France and formed a stock company to undertake the work, and to this company the grants of land made by the Colombian government in 1878 for the construction of an interoceanic canal were, through his influence, transferred. In January, 1881, a number of engineers and surveyors were sent from France to the isthmus, and the actual work upon the canal was begun in the following summer. De Lesseps in his report to the company in January estimated the probable total cost of the work at 512,000,000 francs, and the stock of the company was fixed at 600,000,000 francs to give an ample margin for the work. The canal, he estimated, would be ready for actual operation in 1888.
The plan of the canal contemplated a direct cut from sea to sea, open to the sky through its entire length, with a nominal depth of 20.38 feet below the sea-level, and a width of 72.16 feet at the bottom of the canal, also the excavation of a grand side-basin 3.1 miles long, at about the central point of the canal, to facilitate the passage of ships in either direction. It was estimated that a total excavation of 143,890,000 cubic yards of earth would be required for the digging of the canal proper, and the excavation of the side-basin. The entire cost of the canal, including the end sufficiently for the traffic. Since 1881 the work on the canal has been steadily pushed, but the great mortality among the white laborers has been a serious drawback to the undertaking. The amount of excavation necessary has not been found to much exceed De Lesseps' estimate, but the labor and expense of it have been found to be much greater. Already the work has begun to lag from shortness of funds, and in July, 1885, De Lesseps endeavored to secure the guarantee of the French government for a new loan of 500,000,- 000 francs, but it was refused. The reports of the great engineer have been made annually, and they have uniformly given an encouraging exhibit of the progress of the work. Until January, 1884, the labor of actual excavation proceeded slowly, so much preparation in clearing was required. In the first four months of 1884 more excavating was done than in all the time previous.
Dredges are also now being used for the excavating, and are found to be of much assistance. Up to May, 1885, about 30,000,000 cubic yards of earth, or about one-seventh of the setting out, had been accomplished. Up to that date $70,000,000, or 350,000,000 francs had been expended on the work. M. De Lesseps still asserts that the canal will be ready for the passage of ships in 1888.

Pot Witches.

The natives of the Caroline islands are firm believers in sorcery, but instead of believing their witches they try to conciliate them in every possible way, especially by leaving presents at their door in the night-time, never doubting that the wisdom of the bruxa will enable her to divine the unknown benefactor. Witches are propitiated by gifts of coconuts, cashews and honey whenever the storm-clouds loom on the horizon of the setting sun, as well as in times of protracted drought, for bruxas are supposed to have special powers for this sort. Women credited with proficiency in such business branches of the black art are therefore considered desirable matches, and do not fail to impress their admirers with vague hints of magical omnipotence. —Felix L. Oswald.

Gen. Lee's General.

Colonel Chapman, says a writer in the Massachusetts, the special federal revenue officer, was Colonel of Mosby's regiment. Frequently Mosby was off making private scouting, accompanied by only a few trusty men. In such cases he left Colonel Chapman in command.
Early in January, 1862, the Colonel went to Potomac, to see General Lee about moving a part of Mosby's command for the remainder of the winter down near Kinross, on the Potomac River. While the Colonel was talking to General Lee they were interrupted by the arrival of a special courier. The day was very cold. There had been rain for several days. This day the rain had fallen in torrents. The water was flowing to a close, and rations and clothing were very scarce. The courier was wretchedly clad. He had no overcoat.
His suit was very much worn, and was soaking wet, for he had ridden many miles that day in the drenching rain.
General Lee drew a chair to a small wood fire and took a seat.
When he had concluded his errand and was thoroughly warmed he rose to go.
General Lee glanced at him almost furtively, as if he felt that the soldier was ashamed to have his poor attire observed.
"Are you returning at once to your General?" inquired General Lee.
"Yes, sir," was the response, "if my horse has finished feeding."

"It is still raining very hard," said
General Lee; "have you no rubber coat?"
"Oh, that don't matter, General," was the evasive but brave answer.
"Then," says Colonel Chapman, "General Lee remained silent a moment, walked to the wall where his rubber coat hung, took it down and gave it to the soldier, who protested in vain against General Lee depriving himself. I'll tell you," continued Colonel Chapman,
"there were many generals in the army who would have risked their lives for their men, but Lee is the only one I saw part with a gum coat on a rainy day in dead winter, and that to a private who was not even immediately connected with Lee's command."

Rev. J. L. Thompson, who was last year pastor of the Clanton and Verbena Baptist Churches paid his friends in this section a short visit last week. He is now pastor of the Baptist Church at Columbia, Henry county. He returned to Columbia Saturday.

Exposure to rough weather, getting wet, living in damp localities, are favorable to the contraction of diseases of the kidney and bladder. As a preventive, and for the cure of all kidney and liver trouble use the valuable remedy, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm. 50c. per bottle. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

The public debate given at the court house Monday night by the Young Men's Debating Club, of Clanton, was largely attended; in fact a crowded house greeted the young Ciceroans, and the exercises proved very entertaining. The question of debate was: "Is it right to prohibit the immigration of the Chinese to America." The speakers for the affirmative were A. J. Gullahorn, N. A. Kicker and R. C. Duke; and those for the negative were Leonard Gullahorn, P. D. Wilson and J. C. Lawrence. The judges—Mrs. Dr. Stewart, Miss Rees Thornton and Miss Mollie Hannon gave their decision in favor of the negative. A very pleasant evening was spent by those attending, and the young gentlemen promise to "spread" themselves again soon.

Always remember no one can debase you but yourself. Slander, satire, falsehood, injustice—these can never rob you of your manhood. Men may lie about you, they may denounce you, they may cherish suspicions manifold, they may make your failings the target of their wits or cruelty; never be alarmed; never swerve an inch from the line your judgment and conscience have marked out for you. They cannot by all their efforts take away your knowledge of yourself, the purity of your motives, the integrity of your character and the generosity of your nature. While these are left, you are in point of fact unharmed.—Ex.

Some one writes us as follows from Verbena, in sending us some items for publication:

Mr. LAWRENCE:—If you will be so kind as to publish this I will write to the View often. Please correct all mistakes, and I will try to write better next time. I hope you will publish my letters without my name for I don't want anybody to know who I am.

I am your little girl friend,
BLUE EYES.

We ought to know you but we don't, and will have to deny even little "Blue Eyes" a hearing until she gives her name.

Remember everybody is invited to the picnic given by the Young Men's Debating Club to-morrow, and conveyances for the ladies and members of the club will be provided by the club. The ladies in West Clanton who expect to attend are requested to assemble at the Methodist church and those in East Clanton at the Baptist church upon the ringing of the bells. The picnic grounds are at Bakers' mill pond.

An Arkansas editor puts it thus: "You may hive all the stars in a nail keg, hang the ocean on a rail fence to dry, put the sky in a gourd to soak, unbuckle the belly band of eternity, and let out the sun and moon, but never delude yourself with the idea that you can escape that place on the other side of purgatory unless you pay the printer."

Children who are troubled with worms are pale in the face, blue rings around their eyes, pick the nose, have variable appetites, are fretful by spells, have bad dreams, are restless in sleep. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid or Candy Vermifuge will kill and expell these troublesome parasites. 25c. a bottle. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Base ball clubs, of adjoining towns, and country clubs can be supplied with balls and bats on short notice, by ordering from the View Stationery Stand. Dead-red balls $1.00. White balls 50 and 30 cents. Oak and hickory bats 50 cts. each. Send money with order.

The closing exercises of Prof. J. L. Spicer's school, at this place was a grand success. Each of the scholars acquitted themselves in a way that reflected great credit on themselves and their distinguish young Professor. The people of the neighborhood think he has no peer in his profession.

Are there not some aspiring young democrats in the county who have courage and fortitude enough to contend with the third term men for the honors that the people are willing and waiting to bestow on them at the August election, and thereby consign those selfish and presumptuous fellows to the premature and tightly sealed grave of the greedy. There has been great apprehension on the part of the young men of the county that there is a court house ring already in our county and to take the most charitable view of this great display of cheek and want of aspiration and magnanimity is that if this ring is not now formed it no doubt ere the expiration of the ensuing term will be and these presumptuous and ungrateful fellows will say to the people of the county with that same display of magnanimity that now shines around them in such a halo of beauty, that these are our officers and you must give them to us.

Barbour County.

A Barbour county man said to the editor of this paper not long ago, quoting the language of Brutus. "Not that we loved Caesar less but that we loved Rome more," as explanation of the Barbour county convention. He said he was a Clayton man, but that next to Clayton McKleroy had the strongest hold on the affections of that people. He says McKleroy has been honored time and again by Barbour county. He is brave, able, distinguished and they love him. He can utter no word of reproach against McKleroy but he puts forward the same pitiful plea by which two thousand years ago Brutus attempted to smooth over the just indignation of the Roman people at the assassination of the foremost man of his day. Yes they have attempted the assassination of McKleroy, and their excuse is no better than the plea of Brutus, but let the men of Barbour reflect on the fate of Rome and learn a lesson from the truth of history. Rome, the mistress of the world, started on the downward road from that moment, and Barbour, the home of the officeholder, in the language of Patrick Henry may profit by their example. BILE BEANS! What a funny name for a medicine! Nevertheless it is very significant as applied to the article. Bile, according to Webster, is "a yellowish bitter, viscid, mucous fluid, secreted by the liver." Whenever the liver does not act properly this fluid is retained in the blood and poisons the system, and salivary and gastric juices are the result. SMITH'S BILE BEANS is a sure cure for biliousness and liver complaint. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

Rev. J. J. Porter is stirring up Montgomery, and the frequenters of his den of iniquity are said to be growing belligerent. Mr. Porter is the man to do or die—the man for the times and the place.

Georgia planters kill many crows by the following method: "Catch one of the birds, tie it to your body and walk through the field with your gun cocked and your finger on the trigger. The cries of the bird will cause others of its tribe to flock around you and they can be very easily shot."

We see it stated that Dr. W. C. Cross, of Centerville, will be a candidate for State Senator from the Senatorial district composed of the counties of Bibb and Tuscaloosa. Dr. Cross is a thoroughly competent man for the place, and is worthy to fill it. He is well and most favorably known in both the counties and wherever known is highly esteemed as a cultivated southern gentleman son pour d'un reproche.

Our correspondent at Benson "Young Democrat" spoke last week of a court house ring which he fears is getting hold of too much in Chilton. We did not have space to comment upon his supposition at the time and will only say now that we hardly think it a correct one; but if he still labors under such an impression we say let him continue to pump his double-barreled thunder into the "shebang" and if he don't "bust it up" in a very short while there will be no harm done.

The Montgomery Dispatch tries to make a display of "back-bone" by denouncing the style of work of Rev. J. J. Porter, evangelist. It says he is uncultured and would suit the backwoods only. This is from the paper that the Birmingham Age "took off" so beautifully last winter by calling attention to about half-a-dozen different sentences in one issue which were mere butcherings of anything that has ever been taught in the civilized world in the way of grammar. The Dispatch displays more brag and bluster than back-bone. It is seeking popularity, and as the devil is generally the most popular gentleman around Montgomery, the Dispatch is of course on his side.

The Mass Meeting.

The Democratic Mass Meeting held at Clanton on last Saturday was well attended. It was the first Democratic assemblage that has ever come together in Chilton county under a national Democratic administration, and every Democratic citizen will be glad to know that its deliberations were both successful and harmonious. The best of feeling prevailed, all agreeing that it would not pay to have a family quarrel over the political aspirations of any man or set of men.

The resolutions relating to future party organization and policy were wise, conservative and to the point, and were adopted by the meeting without a dissenting vote. They prescribe the primary election plan of nominating, which has been tried in numbers of counties, and has been found devoid of the objectionable features of the convention plan. Every Democrat will, by its provisions, have an opportunity of voting for his choice for a nomination, and no instructed delegations or proxies can come between him and his choice for the office to be filled.

The new executive committee is an excellent one, and with a strong central committee the campaign work will be begun at once. These committees promise to work together vigorously and with unity. Guided as they are by wisdom and harmony success will be the natural outcome of that work.

The proceedings of the meeting are published in this issue and will prove interesting reading to all.

Plain Talk from Bro. Matthews

When M. P. Porter says that I over-estimated, sympathized or voted with the Republican party, or over said anything in favor of the infamous George E. Spencer, he is an uneducated, damnable liar.

L. E. MATTHEWS.

A Contrast.

In 1816 one bushel of corn would buy one pound of nails; in 1866 one bushel of corn will buy two pounds of nails. In 1816 a pair of wooden blankets cost as much as a cow; in 1866 a cow will buy five pairs of wooden blankets. In 1816 it required sixty-four bushels of barley to buy one yard of broadcloth; in 1866 sixty-four bushels of barley will buy thirty yards of broadcloth. In 1816 it took twenty dozen eggs to buy one bushel of salt; in 1866 twenty dozen eggs will buy ten bushels of salt. In 1816 it required one bushel of wheat to buy one yard of calico; in 1866 one bushel of wheat will buy twenty yards of calico. With these figures before them who can justly claim that farm products are not improving? The outlook for the products of the farm is certainly hopeful; the farmer can exchange his crop for more of the necessities and luxuries of life than at any former period in the history of our country. Let farmers take courage; what they produce will always bring money or a large equivalent in needed supplies.

And let them remember that with a tariff protecting home manufacturing enterprises the greater will be the demand for their produce by the laboring masses, and the more manufacturing enterprises thus built up the cheaper will manufactured articles become under the rule of competition. The striking comparisons published above are the result of protection to home industries.

Windsor Castle.

From the London Telegraph, which a lady friend traveling in England sends us, we call the following items of a personal nature from the column headed, as above:

The Queen drove out yesterday afternoon, attended by the Hon. Horatia Stopford and the Hon. Frederica FitzRoy.

Prince and Princess Henry of Battenberg and the Countess of Erbach went to London yesterday afternoon.

Miss Murray Macgregor, who arrived at the Castle yesterday, had the honor of dining with her Majesty in the evening.

The Queen, attended by the Dowager Duchess of Athole and Major-General Sir J. M'Neill, K. C. B., V. C., and Colonel Sir Henry Ewart, K. C. B. (Esquerra in Waiting), went to London this morning, and visited her Royal and Imperial Highness the Duchess of Edinburgh at Clarence House, and his Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught at Buckingham Palace.

Her Majesty travelled by special train on the Great Western Railway to and from Paddington, and, accompanied by her Royal Highness Princess Beatrice, returned to Windsor Castle for luncheon.

The Prince of Wales went to the House of Lords this afternoon and will take soup to-night at the Marlborough house.

It seems that personal journalism is "down to a fine point" in London when the Prince can't go to the House of Lords or take soup without its getting into the papers.

W. A. Collier, Esq.

The VIEW does not seek office, nor does it seek to fill offices, other than to fill them with those who are worthy and well qualified. With this understanding it presents the above named gentleman as a suitable man for circuit solicitor. This it does without any authority from the gentleman named for so doing. We believe in supporting home men and home talent in preference to any other equally as worthy for positions of honor and trust. We believe that Mr. Collier can be induced to become a candidate for the position, and with his real and long experience in his profession, and his known characteristics as an indefatigable practitioner at the bar, we believe that he would fill the office most acceptably, indeed, with great satisfaction to the law-abiding and tax-paying citizens of the circuit.

Proceedings of the Democratic Mass Meeting.

CLANTON, ALA., MAY 26, 1898. Meeting was called to order by T. B. Little, Chairman of the Executive Committee. On motion J. P. Allen was elected permanent chairman and W. U. Acheson and J. C. Lawrence secretaries. W. A. Collier introduced the following resolutions and they were adopted:

Whereas, the Democratic and Conservative party in mass meeting assembled, recognizing that purity of elections is to be considered rather than the elevation of any man to office and that the voice of the members of the party ought to be fairly represented in the coming State Convention,

Resolved, That the mass meeting proceed to ascertain by ballot the choice of its members for Governor of Alabama, and that representation from the county to the State Convention be apportioned in accordance with such ballot.

Resolved 2nd, That after the strength of the respective candidates for Governor are ascertained and delegates apportioned accordingly, that the advocates of each candidate for Governor assemble and select their share of delegates to the State Convention.

Resolved 3rd, That the delegates selected, when convened that further support of their candidate is unwarranted, may support such candidate as they deem best.

Resolved 4th, That in taking such action should any candidate receive not enough votes to entitle him to one delegate to the State Convention said votes shall be discarded from the result.

The result of the ballot was McKelroy 59, Dawson 52.

It was then moved and carried that the delegates to the State Convention be also appointed as delegates to the Judicial Convention. The following were appointed: B. J. Baldwin, J. P. Allen, R. Ehrman, Oliver Mullins, B. T. Rasberry, W. A. Collier, J. P. Vandever, W. F. Claughton and N. W. Foebe.

The business relating to the nomination of county officers was then taken up, and the following resolutions, introduced by A. J. Brooks, were adopted:

Whereas, It is Democratic that a majority of qualified voters should govern the country and in order that this object may be fairly and intelligently ascertained, therefore be it

Resolved 1st, That the chairman of the County Executive Committee shall order a primary election not later than Saturday June 19th, to ascertain who are the people's choice for the county offices to be voted for this year.

Resolved 2nd, That he shall appoint three managers who are intelligent and true Democrats who shall conduct such election on the same plan and during the same hours of all state elections; every Democrat shall be entitled to vote and no others at such primary election.

Resolved 3rd, That all voters shall vote for the persons of their choice for the different offices on the same ballot and the managers shall count out and return tally sheets with ballots to the chairman of the Executive Committee within three days after said primary election. The managers shall sign the tally sheet and certificates.

Resolved 4th, That within two days after the election the chairman of the Executive Committee, with the assistance of the Central Committee, shall open all the returns, count the votes and proclaim the result in the CHILTON VIEW.

Resolved 5th, That the persons receiving the largest number of votes for the various offices shall be the nominees of the party for same.

Resolved 6th, That we hereby pledge ourselves to support such nominees under this rule, and work for their election. It was moved and carried that a committee of five be appointed to select a Central Committee. The chair appointed on said Committee J. S. Edwards, W. E. Stewart, A. J. Brooks, Joseph Green and Wm. Walker, Sr. The right was invested in said committee to appoint one from each beat to constitute the Democratic Executive Committee of said county. The Central Committee selected is, A. J. Brooks, J. P. Allen, L. J. Hand, W. E. Stewart and P. C. Dennis. The Central Committee then appointed one from each beat as follows:

Beat No. 1. Oliver Mullins.
" 2. Joseph Green.
" 3. B. T. Rasberry.
" 4. W. A. Collier.
" 5. W. N. Jones.
" 6. J. R. Kemp.
" 7. D. J. Waterworth.
" 8. John Farnell, Jr.

A. J. Brooks was elected chairman of the Central Committee and W. A. Collier, chairman of the Executive Committee.

The thanks of the meeting were extended to the Chairman, Secretaries and retiring Chairman of Executive Committee, for services rendered.

A motion was made and carried that the CHILTON VIEW be requested to publish the proceedings of this meeting. The meeting then adjourned sine die.

Primary Election Chm.

Notice of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Chilton County.

CLANTON, ALA., May 26, 1898. Whereas the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county, did on the 22nd of May, 1898, determine "That the chairman of the County Executive Committee shall, not later than Saturday, June 19th, order a primary election to ascertain who are the people's choice for the county offices to be voted for this year." It is hereby ordered that said election be held at the various places of voting in said county, on Saturday, June 19th, 1898.

Appointment of managers to conduct said election will be made, and such action taken as will secure a fair expression of the will of the party, of which due notice will be given at an early day.

RELIEF

Forty Years a Sufferer From

CATARH.

WONDERFUL TO RELATE!

"For forty years I have been a victim to CATARRH three-fourths of the time a sufferer from EXCRUCIATING PAINS ACROSS MY FOREHEAD AND NOSTRILS. The discharge was an offensive that I hesitate to mention it, except for the good it may do some other sufferer. I have spent a young fortune from my earnings during my forty years of suffering to obtain relief from the doctors. I have tried patent medicines, every one I could learn of—from the four quarters of the earth, with no relief. And at last (37 years ago) I have met with a remedy that has cured me entirely—made me a new man. I weighed 125 pounds and now weigh 146. I used 12 bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that being in the humbling walks of life I may not have influence to prevail upon all catarrh sufferers to use what has cured me."

LOCAL DOTTINGS.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce

B. H. CHESNUTT

a candidate for the office of clerk of the circuit court of Chilton county at the ensuing August election.

Mr. W. B. Haden is painting his new residence.

The picnic on last Friday took the town to the woods.

Mrs. A. J. Hall, of Montgomery, is visiting relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. F. A. Hannon, of this place, is on a visit to relatives in Opelika.

Mrs. G. W. Brown, of Darlington, S. C., is visiting relatives in Clanton.

Miss Augusta Evans, of this place, is visiting friends in Montgomery.

Gordon DuBose, Esq., has returned from a two week's visit to relatives in Columbiana and Talladega.

Rev. Mr. Skipper, filed his regular appointment in the Baptist church at this place last Sunday.

A social singing party met at the residence of Mrs. Ehrman last Monday and spent a very pleasant evening.

Mr. S. J. Brock, now of Birmingham, paid his many friends in Clanton a visit last Saturday and Sunday.

A fishing party, composed of several gentlemen from Birmingham and Clanton spent Monday out at Mims' millpond, near Clanton.

Sick headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably banished by Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pellets. 25c a vial. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Dr. Ellsberry has returned from Birmingham whither he went on a prospecting trip. He returns with a decided opinion that Clanton is the best place for him.

A fence is now being built around the new residence of Mr. W. H. Phillips. When that is finished the place will then be complete with the exception of the paint brush.

The mass meeting was attended by citizens from Shelby, Bibb, Dallas and Autauga counties, who were present to present the claims of their choice for the gubernatorial chair.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment. It will banish pain and subdue inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Mr. B. H. Chesnutt is announced as a candidate for the office of circuit clerk, in this issue. Mr. Chesnutt has many friends throughout the county. We believe that he would make a faithful and efficient officer should the trust be placed in his keeping.

Base ball clubs, of adjoining towns, and country clubs can be supplied with balls and bats on short notice, by ordering from the View Stationery Stand. Dead red balls $1.00. White balls 50 and 30 cents. Oak and hickory bats 50 cents. Send money with order.

Exposure to rough weather, getting wet, living in damp localities, are favorable to the contraction of diseases of the kidney and bladder. As a preventive, and for the cure of all kidney and liver trouble use that valuable remedy, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balls. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

The closing exercises of Clanton Academy will consist of examinations only. Verbena Academy closes in like manner for the present session. The school exhibition appears to be getting out of date. Clanton Academy will close about the 15th of June. Verbena Academy a week later we believe.

A negro by the name of Floyd Kinderbrew was brought to jail on Monday last charged with committing a rape upon a Miss Holt in the Strasburg neighborhood. The negro denies the charge. We learn that there was little or no excitement in the neighborhood on account of the crime; and the fiend may live to see his case in court.

"The Devil" Dissemates.

TO THE BOSS AND THE READERS OF THE VIEW:—Here I am on hand again like a "thousand o' brick." The boss is sick-a-bed and I'm here to run the machine as long as I can. I have been sorter glum for a month or so, but the glummer I am the tougher I am. Like old Lorenzo Dow I'm here to "raise the devil" for misery loves company, you know.

Something that I would like to know and a good many would like to know is how the loafers around this little burg of ours manage to make a living? Like Miss Rosa Dattle "I only want to know?" and that's all there is about it.

Now if the loafers will get a plow and hoe and go to work, instead of crossing their legs, spinning crooked yarns and playing dominoes, they might have something to show for themselves by the time fall rolled around, and the country would be better, and their morals might improve. This is my suggestion to give them something to do. The devil can always find work for idle hands and tongues, and if they don't get at one thing I'll put them at another sooner or later.

My dissertation is upon things in general. And if there is any fool around here who wants to get mad at my harmless thunder, I shall organize a mob and get Blasphemy to let us drop him head downwards into the hot well. Perhaps he could then tell us whether the water is really hot down there. I want to say a word to the "policy" crowd. Altogether you ain't worth a trip to anybody but yourselves. The reason you are always neutral and afraid to declare for either side of a question until you know the strong side is because you are looking out for number one, and don't care a snap of your finger for principle. The public have "spotted" you and very soon you are going to hear "something drap" with a dull thud that will make you sick all the way to your "inwards." The good citizen should look after the interests of something else besides self. He doesn't hunt for the strong side, but takes hold and makes the right side the strong side by working like a Turk for it. There are not many good citizens in the world but there are some.

A crazy poet once wrote: "The devil arose from his little bed, and washed his face, and combed his head." I hope not to be considered profane if I ask where in hell he got his water.

A Troy, New York, paper says: "The cry for work is heard at every corner of the street." A good many in Clanton spend a good deal of their time on the street corners, but they don't want any work bad enough to cry for it.

Policy is deceit and it is nothing more nor less than a device by which Satan enables one man to deceive another. That is my experience, and I have studied weak humanity long enough to know that the guage made is as near correct as you can get one.

While Rev. Porter was in Clanton there was a good deal of superfine refinement shown by some of the great hypocriticals. They knew how to sneer and criticize at the good man's ways and words, for the devil's ways and words suited them best. I ought not to complain at that and won't, for all who are not on the Lord's side are on the other side, and I am keeping a particularly hot place in hell for some of the rusty and rotten old sinners around "these diggins." Their refinement may be superfine, but it is nevertheless rotten—very rotten. Now if they don't like this they can say what they please in reply. I am willing for them to say what they want to say about me, just so they keep their hands off.

Now the great hypocritical club of miserable old sinners will collect and read this, and want to know who in thunder wrote it for me.

and what in thunder it was written for. Well, all I have to say to them is to invite them to go to thunder themselves. I am going to get their rotten carcasses in the end anyway.

One word more and I am through. All hands should subscribe for the Chilton View. The View has been fighting me hard in Clanton; but it is a paper that likes to ram red hot common sense down the throats of critics, croakers and criminals. That's what I like to do too. So three cheers for the Chilton View. THE DEVIL.

Verbena Views.

A number of young ladies escorted by Mr. C. L. Reed and W. J. Donk spent quite a pleasant day at the "turn-around" recently. They didn't invite somebody.

It is rumored that Mr. C. K. Williamson will return in June; I hope rumor is correct this time.

The little folks held their missionary meeting at the Baptist Church last Sunday at 4 p. m. There were a large number of little men and women present.

Mr. Glover has returned to Verbena after a very successful drumming trip for the Pratt Saw Mill. He probably hurried back to see his "little bird."

Mrs. Wager, of Mountain Creek, will come to Verbena to live. She has three charming daughters. They will be quite an addition to the society of our town.

Mr. Editor, if you have any dudes in your town to spare please transfer them to Verbena and you will have my sincere thanks.

Blue Eyes.

Dudes, for goodness' sake emigrate at once.

Jemison Locals.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. John M. Brantly, who lives near this place is quite sick.

Mr. J. H. Gibbons is erecting a nice dwelling in south Jemison.

Jemison has a flourishing school under the control of Prof. Hubbard.

Your correspondent "Hugo" had not been at Jemison in a long while, until a few days ago and he was indeed surprised to find that so many improvements had been made. Many nice dwellings have been built, and Jemison has two of the best churches in the county.

A Unique Cyclopaedia.

An extremely valuable Cyclopaedia, and of very great popular interest is Alden's Cyclopaedia of Universal Literature, Volume II, of which is just published. Novel in plan, and novel in form, at once beautiful and convenient, and at a price low even compared with Mr. Alden's always low prices, this volume gives in its 800 pages biographical sketches of 111 prominent authors, with characteristic selections from their writings. The following authors, among others, appear in this volume: Audubon, St. Augustine, D'Auvergne, Bacon, Balzac, Banquet, Balin, Barbauld, Beaumont, Beecher (several of his names), Bentham, Bion, Bonson, Black (William), Blackstone, Bessington (Countess of), and Boccaccio; thus representing nearly all ages and all nations even in this volume—American, English, French, German, Italian, Greek, Latin, Jewish, Portuguese, Scotch, Dutch, Irish, Norwegian, and Danish authors—from the period 250 B. C. to A. D. 1886. The literary and mechanical workmanship are both of a high order. The work is really one that ought to find a place in every home library; it offers a fund of entertainment and instruction that will prove well-nigh inexhaustible. The price, only 60 cents a volume, makes its possession possible even to nearly every school-boy. The work is published also in Parts of 100 pages each (exchangeable at any time for bound volumes), which are sent post-paid for 15 cents each. Every reader of this notice ought to get at least a specimen Part for examination. John E. Alden, Publisher, New York.

BILE BEANS! What a funny name for a medicine! Nevertheless it is very significant as applied to the article. Bile, according to Webster, is "a yellowish bitter, viscid, mucous fluid, secreted by the liver." Whenever the liver does not act properly this fluid is retained in the blood and poisons the whole system, and sadness and misery are the result. SMITH'S BILE BEANS is a sure cure for biliousness and liver complaint. Price, 25 cents per bottle.

Long Live the Grand Duke.

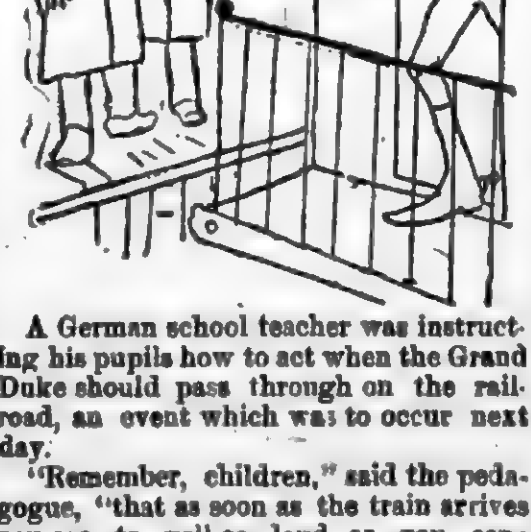

A German school teacher was instructing his pupils how to act when the Grand Duke should pass through on the railroad, an event which was to occur next day.

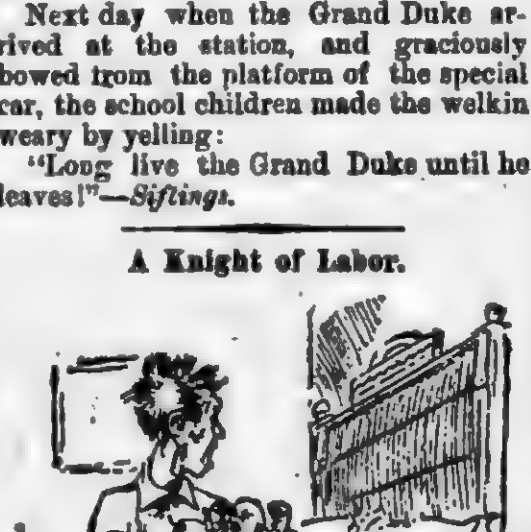

"Remember, children," said the pedagogue, "that as soon as the train arrives you are to yell as loud as you can: 'Long live the Grand Duke!' until he leaves."

Next day when the Grand Duke arrived at the station, and graciously bowed from the platform of the special car, the school children made the welkin weary by yelling:

"Long live the Grand Duke until he leaves!"—Sittings.

FEATHERY PETS.

THE TRADE IN TUNeful BIRDS OF BRILLIANT FEUMAGE.

Something Also About Monkeys and Other Genes. Pests Without Wings—Rare Birds that Bring Big Prices.

A reporter for the Tribune recently visited a number of the places where the demand for household pets is supplied.

Entering a store where a number of cages were displayed in the window, and in front of which several street urchins were enjoying the sight of the gayly-plumed birds in brass and painted cages, he was met by a clipper young woman, who readily responded to his inquiries.

The first batch of information was lost to the seeker after it in a pandemonium of howls, yells and screeches. However, becoming somewhat accustomed to the uncanny noises, he comprehended that she was bewailing the paucity of trade.

"Monkeys!" went on the young woman, in response to further inquiries.

"No, we haven't one in the store, and I hope I may never see one of them again as long as I live. They're just a nuisance, and that's all. I never could see nothing funny in them. We haven't had one in the house for a month. Let's see, the last one was a Capuchin, and we sold it to a newly-married couple who live in Denver. They were awfully rich, and had a conservatory for flowers, you know, and the lady said she thought a monkey in the conservatory would look just too cute for anything. And the husband—well, I could see that anything she wanted she could have. They bought the monkey. I'm perfectly sure of one thing; by this time they either haven't any monkey or they haven't any conservatory. A monkey is death on plants of any kind. Why, this same monkey we'd sold once before to an artist on Monroe street, who said he wanted it for an ornament for his studio, whatever that is. The artist lent the beast to a man who was giving a century plant on the lake front, together with a museum. That monkey consumed the century plant one night for a late supper, and it didn't disturb his digestion any more than if it had been a Welsh rabbit. I don't know what kind of a century plant it was. It might have been a young plant. Anyhow, back went 'monk' to the artist and then back here, then the owner of the shop bought him in again at half price. We had a monkey here once that had a broken arm. He couldn't use it, but a man bought him just the same. He said he was a doctor. So I suppose he wanted to experiment on him."

The reporter was tired of monkey talk and turned to the occupants of the cages.

"Those love birds there," said the clipper, "are just what you want. They sing, but we sell 'em for $5 a pair. That there's a Toucan. He's worth $35. The bird alluded to appeared to the uninitiated eye neither valuable for its beauty of plumage nor sweetness of voice. It is a native of Central America, and, though in appearance quite as revolutionary as most of the denizens of that part of the globe, has the air of a redoubtable warrior, being gentle and incapable of the ferocity which its villainous-looking beak would suggest.

"That bird," said the reporter's informant, pointing to a fat little creature contentedly warbling to itself, "that bird is a Japanese robin, and the price of it is $3. This article in the feathered line resembles the ordinary robin in appearance, except in the fact that it is nearly as bright-hued as a parrot.

The demand, the Tribune's representative was informed, is greatest for canaries, after which come mocking-birds. The sale of black caps, a bird whose title betrays its chief characteristic, he was told, came next in the estimation of fanciers, to the nightingales as song-birds.

The only further information volunteered was that Guinea-pigs were rated in the household-pet market at from $3 to $2.50 per pair.

At another establishment, similar to the one just described, there were the same rows of cages, containing canaries, parrots, doves and pigeons; the assortment of aquariums, abounding in gold and silver fish. In a corner of a cage fully fifty tiny white mice were huddled closely together. Gray pigeons and white doves cooed plaintively from dark places under the counter. On a high perch sat a most haughty looking parrot, evidently proud of its brilliant plumage and reticent to the fact that its tail feathers were disgracefully deficient in number. Other parrots there were whose feathers were colored by nature with hues the blending of which successfully defies man's crude idea of the proper harmony of tints. Three diminutive marmosets looked forth from their retreat with their bright, sparkling eyes, seeming full of good nature. As a matter of fact they are almost untamable. As they darted about their cage they resembled so many hairy comets, the disproportionate size of their tails to their bodies producing that effect.

Like the first store visited, the noises were indescribable. Let one imagine sounds composed of commingled shrieks, scats, coos, and yells, which were shrieked from every nook and corner. Away from all light fully a dozen little parrots were wasting their gorgeousness in dark, dilapidated cages. A disconsolate and solitary monkey scratched his cheek in an embarrassed way as the reporter approached its cage and added evidence to the "feathered species" doctrine by his perfect frenzy of fear and anger when he first got a glimpse of the reporter. Before the reporter had left, however, the animal had so far succumbed to the usual course of coaxing adopted by interviewers that he betrayed a very evident curiosity as to what kind of a queer bird his visitor might be. He even went so far as to attempt to relate his personal grievances in doleful chatter. His confidence will never be betrayed.

An employee stated that the foreign birds are all brought from New York, where the jobbers buy them as they are brought from the ships.—Chicago Tribune.

The Frolickest Epitaph.

In one of his sermons Rev. Sam Jones said: "I think the finest tombstone I ever saw, and the prettiest epitaph I ever saw, was when I was visiting an old friend of mine. After dinner he took me into the garden, and in the most prominent place there was erected a beautiful tombstone of white marble, in memory of his wife, and on it I read her name and the date of her death, and her simple epitaph was this: 'She made home pleasant.'"

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK.

We are authorized to announce

as a candidate for the office of clerk of the circuit court of Chilton county at the ensuing August election, subject to the Democratic primary election to be held June 19th.

I hereby announce myself a candidate, at the ensuing election, for re-election to the office of Circuit Clerk of Chilton county, Alabama, subject to the primary election of the Democratic and Conservative party to be held June 19th, 1886.

W. H. FOSHEE.

Clanton, Ala., May 24th, 1886.

FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON CO.:

I have endeavored to faithfully discharge the trust you have conferred upon me, and have to the best of my ability administered the office of Judge of Probate. If I have given you satisfaction, regardless of my fate, I ask at your hands a re-election, subject to the primary election June 19th.

Respectfully,

H. J. CALLEN.

We are authorized to announce

R. E. R. HICKS

as a candidate for the office of Judge of Probate of Chilton county, Alabama, at the ensuing August election, subject to the primary election of the Democratic and Conservative party, to be held Saturday, June 19th, 1886.

This railroad changed to the standard gauge this week.

The fruit crop is said to be very good throughout this section.

Tickets for the primary election can be printed at the View office.

The Baptist Sunday School will have a picnic on June 9th. Place not yet decided upon.

"Bijou" sends us an invitation to attend Howard College Commencement Exercises. We return thanks.

The readers of the View will be pleased to hear from "Aunt Sallie Simmons" again; and will hope to hear from the old lady often and regularly.

Mr. J. M. Ponder requests us to return thanks to the Clanton String Band for the tender of a delightful serenade on Friday night last.

Sick headache, wind on the stomach, biliousness, nausea, are promptly and agreeably banished by Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Pellets. 25c a box. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Prof. Jno. R. Sampey, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, is visiting relatives in Clanton. He will preach at the Baptist Church to-night by request.

Persons who lead a life of exposure are subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and will find a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment, it will banish pain and subdue inflammation. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Mr. W. H. Foshee, announces himself a candidate for re-election to the office of clerk of the circuit court. The Grand Jury Reports have always spoken well of Mr. Foshee's management of the office, and his friends believe that he will be "hard to beat" in the race.

Children who are troubled with worms are pale in the face, blue rings around their eyes, pick the nose, have variable appetite, are fretful by spells, have bad dreams, are restless in sleep. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Candy Vermifuge will kill and expell these troublesome parasites. 25c a bottle. Sold by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

The amount due this office from several parties are small but have been due for several years. The smallest of the amounts makes payment a comparatively easy matter. We congratulate ourselves that we have such an appreciative list of patrons, there not being as many as half-a-dozen of the "bad pay" kind, among them.

Judge H. J. Callen announces himself a candidate for re-election to the office of Judge of Probate in this issue. Judge Callen makes a modest and appropriate request for the support of all who desire his re-election. He makes his candidacy subject to the Democratic primaries, and he may prove another of the "hard to beat" kind.

Mr. B. M. Gentry, of Jemison, deputy tax collector, is suffering from a snake bite received eleven years ago. The bite was inflicted by a moccasin snake on his left hand. Every Spring the hand and arm will swell up and break out in sores, sometimes extending down on his left hand and leg and causing him as much pain as he felt when the bite was fresh. He has taken a great deal of blood medicine, but has never found relief from the periodical swellings. The hand will remain sore and useless for four or five months after breaking out.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks is announced this week as a candidate for Judge of Probate. Prof. Hicks is an ex-Confederate soldier who saw some hard fighting and whom the Yankees tried to starve to death while they had him in prison, but as the Southerners had accustomed themselves to short rations the attempt was a failure and the genial Prof. lived to run for Probate. Furthermore it is predicted that he is going to make a fine run even if he does not win the prize. He is a Christian gentleman who is highly esteemed wherever known and would undoubtedly make a fine officer.

Deputy tax collector Gentry is said to have had a "skeery" experience down in the Swift Creek neighborhood recently, where he went to levy on the horse of one of the matrons of that neighborhood who had neglected to pay her share of taxes to help run the State and county government, thinking no doubt that as she could not be a voter she ought not to be a tax payer. So the matron reinforced by her several buxom daughters, brought an old "blunderbuss" shot-gun out of the garret, and warned him to move off, expecting perhaps that he would make a Swift Creek trot back to Clanton. But as the deputy wouldn't "skeer," it is said they decided to postpone blowing his brains out, and that it might be best to pay the taxes, which they did.

EDITOR VIEW:—The contents of your last issue have just been eagerly devoured, and I feel like I had just had a long interview with an old friend who speaks of home and friends. I am greatly surprised to find that you number his Satanic Majesty among your contributors. You must have altered greatly or else I have been deceived in you in a manner that shames the penetration of a woman with silver locks and snuggled teeth. In your neat columns he would be more dangerous than in your celebrated well.

We have here a well which is said to possess medicinal properties. It is an artesian well about two thousand feet in depth, and overflows at the rate of three thousand gallons per hour with a force sufficient to carry the water in pipes to various parts of the city. There has never been much advertising done for it, but the water is shipped regularly to various points, and yet I do not think it is as valuable as your own hot well. We have several wells of the same kind which possess very little mineral property and a lower temperature.

Water is a great object in this section and I appreciate its value more than ever before. Twelve inches below the surface of the earth we strike a solid rock which must be bored through for a distance of a thousand feet, before any water can be obtained. Cisterns are used a great deal, and all over the plantations pits are dug in which water accumulates for the benefit of stock. As the bottom and walls are one solid rock, there is no loss except by evaporation, and the lime impregnation prevents in a measure the usual results of stagnation. Stock accustomed to it prefer it to running water.

While our soil is shallow it is very fertile and productive. It is proving itself to be equal to the blue grass region of Kentucky for cereals, clover and all kinds of grasses. Stock and cattle are raised with profit, but the staple crop is still cotton, over sixteen thousand bales of which have been bought here this season. Plantations are large and conducted on the antebellum plan, which might be greatly improved. A good deal of the cattle is thoroughbred, and the rest is of high grade. I have a Jersey which I might as well feed myself, and which makes my family plenty of better, notwithstanding the fact that I drink nothing but cream (except when I drink water.)

No description of life in Marengo county is complete without some mention of coons. They remind me of the Spanish household stewards in the days of Gil Blas. They are an independent class and submit to the lowest bidder every duty laid upon them. The chief reason for their being indispensable is that we must have at least one person of consequence about the premises.

SALLIE SIMMONS.

Notice.

We wish to give fair notice that hereafter all who attempt to "beat" this office out of its just dues will be published as frauds and dead-beats, no matter who may make up the list. We desire our creditors paid all that is due them and this makes it necessary that we collect all that our debtors owe us. Only three or four hard-cases have succeeded in "beating" us so far. Unless they settle soon their names will be given to the public through these columns that farmers, merchants and business men may know who and what they are. Remember, old fellows, we mean business and don't intend to fool with you any longer. We keep a "devil" and a "hot pot" for your sort, and if you don't pay what you owe us, we will publish your names if it costs us half-a-dozen fights and twenty years in Congress.

The Library Magazine.

One hardly appreciates the vast amount of valuable and entertaining matter which is contained in the Library Magazine, if he sees it in weekly form only; when its several issues are brought together in monthly parts it presents an array of valuable and timely articles that is fairly astonishing. The part for June contains a score of important papers selected from the best current literature, British and American, besides which there are the departments of "Books and their Authors" and "Literary Notes and Comments," which contain well nigh two hundred notices and notes. It is doubtful if any other magazine in Europe or America furnishes so much valuable and interesting reading, even at five times its cost, which is only $1.50 a year. John B. Alden, Publisher, 383 Pearl Street, New York.

BILE BEANS! What a funny name for a medicine! Nevertheless it is very significant as applied to the article. Bile, according to Webster, is "a yellowish bitter viscid succulent fluid, secreted by the liver. Whenever the liver does not act properly this fluid is retained in the blood and poisons the whole system, and sallowiness and misery is the result. SMITH'S BILE BEANS is a sure cure for biliousness and liver complaints. Price, 25 cents per bottle."

THE OBJECTS OF LIFE.

One who has been asked to give the object of life, has answered: "To be happy." This is a true answer, but it is not the whole answer. There is more to life than to be happy. There is to be useful, to be good, to be noble.

There was a sad suicide by a young lady, Miss Willie Lee Farley, aged twenty years, in Montgomery last week.

Rev. J. J. Porter has closed his meetings in Montgomery and gone to his home in Gallatin, Tenn.

There was a sad suicide by a young lady, Miss Willie Lee Farley, aged twenty years, in Montgomery last week.

Mr. R. F. Dickson has been appointed Gen'l Land Agent of the L. & N. R. R., vice R. W. A. Wilder, resigned. We have known Mr. Dickson a long while and believe his appointment is a good one.

We visit Birmingham once or twice a month, but never fail to find something new every time we go. The latest feature of Birmingham's progressiveness is the little steam dummies used on her street car lines.

W. A. Collier, of Clanton, will be a candidate for the Solicitorship of this circuit at the next meeting of the Legislature. He is a worthy gentleman, and would fill the position with the utmost satisfaction.

Sam Small says he has had both yellow fever and whiskey and he prefers the former. He got over the yellow fever in two weeks and the tussle with whiskey lasted seventeen years. He says, moreover, that there is a good deal of hilarity in hell when a minister turns his back on the temperance question.

It is now conceded that the race for the nomination in the Democratic primaries for Probate Judge is almost entirely between Callen and Hicks. These have announced themselves subject to the Democratic primary election and the primary vote should be divided between them, no other candidate having so announced. Though you may have a personal choice between these two candidates, yet Democrats should be first, last and all the time for the somnolence.

In the Supreme Court last week, Justice Sumner presiding, the case of Schumaker vs. Dudley from Chilton Chancery Court came up. This case involved the property of a defaulting tax collector's sureties. The court held that the defaulting tax collector cannot claim a homestead exemption in lands owned by him at the time his official bond was executed. The case was reversed and remanded, and may again go through the lower courts.

The Montgomery Dispatch, after wrestling ten or eleven days with a squib which the View gave it on account of its pompous criticism of Rev. J. J. Porter, evangelist, at last becomes nettled and charges into the fray thusly: "Editor Lawrence has simply taken too much Porter and become intoxicated." We have heard before that when an individual gets "half dead over" he naturally supposes all the world is drunk. Perhaps that is what ails our Dispatch friend. It is evident that the Dispatch had to take more Porter than it wanted.

President Cleveland is a reticent man, self-opinionated and self-possessed, but if what the newspapers say be true, and we are too orthodox a newspaper to doubt it, the Fulton family into which he has just married seems inclined to be garrulous. However, as Grover is now in his fiftieth year, he should be able to bear an occasional Canale lecture from his young wife. Chief Justice Waite, of the U. S. Supreme Court, who is learned, witty and wise says that he thinks the President ought not to have married during the period of his term of office, because "The Constitution prescribes his compensation" and declares that it "shall not be increased or diminished during the period for which he shall be elected, and that he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States or any of them." Justice Gray who is a bachelor, thinks the President is a bachelor, and a wife is not an emolument or compensation, but quite the reverse.

The Objects of Life.

The old rhyme asserts that there are "Many men of many minds," and "Many kinds of many kinds." It is a truism; there is no chance to dispute it at all. Talleyrand was distinguished in a crowd of courtiers by his plain dress; the Duke of Wellington, when he appeared at Vienna in the height of his glory, was identified by the absence of any ribbon or other decoration on his breast. Other noblemen and generals are noted for their love of ornaments and titles; and among the common people one differs from another in a variety of essential and non-essential particulars.

All have their objects in life. One desires to be immensely rich; another wants to be considered very witty; still another desires fame and the bubble reputation that is sought and found, often at the cannon's mouth; and yet another wishes to be regarded as great only as he is good. To attain these ends they rise up early, work hard, deny themselves, peril life and limb, or sacrifice themselves to duty.

One rich man died in Ohio last week, who was supposed to be poor. After his demise it was found that he had accumulated in his life time $20,000, which he had invested in United States bonds to keep it from being taxed. It was no trouble for him to get rich, for he never spent any money. In summer his principal articles of diet were clover leaves and bran, and in winter he laid about most of the time, supporting life by chewing raw corn meal. We have known a witty man who sacrificed all his friends to his jokes and sharp sayings; another gained fame by a fight in a barber shop in lieu of a chance to die in the battle of Gettysburg; and a third sacrificed himself to chills and fever at thirty-five in order to get a "beat" on death, who did not intend to claim him until he was three score and ten.

So runs the world away. As the result of this reflective mood of ours we have come to the conclusion that after all is said, done and considered, he has the best object in life who calmly pursues the even tenor of his way, and "Nothing extenuates, Nor sets down ought in malice."

Such a one is not fretted nor annoyed by failures. If riches come as the reward of intelligent exertion, it is well; if he says a good thing in the exuberance of his natural spirits, that delights his fellows and makes them laugh, it pleases him too without unduly elating him, if the rub-a-dub of the drum catches him, if fortune takes him to the field of carnage and makes him famous, he is as evenly balanced as Grant or Lee and takes his niche in the temple of fame with a quiet ease; and if duty, with hard lines takes him in and he dies for mankind, he accepts the roll and acts the part of a self-sacrificing hero in the spirit in which the duty comes to him.

What the Free-Trade Press is Doing.

The Nashville Union, a vigorous champion of the South's need of a protective tariff, makes a suggestion which some of the free-trade editors of the South would do well to ponder. The Union says:

The free-trade press of the South, in its misstatement of the manufacturer's profits, and by its personal warfare on every man who has the pluck to go to manufacturing, arraigning him before the laboring people as a robber—as he is if the American's statement is correct—is actually the worst enemy the South has. The bloody-shirt crowd of the North are not doing half as much to damage us. The man who has accumulated some capital looks into the business of manufacturing. He finds that by street attention to business, with sufficient capital, making no mistakes in the employment of agents, he can make interest on his money. It may be 5 per cent. But he says I am, if I go into manufacturing, to be put in a class called by the newspapers robbers. It will be said to my employees that when they make $2, I will take as profit more than half. My employees will of course become dissatisfied, get up strikes, and so I cannot go into the business. Surely this war on manufacturing industries struggling to live ought to stop. The South is making a heroic effort to get on its feet by diversifying our industries. Will not the free-trade press stop its fight on these young industries?

Dr. W. O. Baldwin of Montgomery, a brother of Maj. B. J. Baldwin of Vicksburg, died in Montgomery last week. As a skilled physician he had gained a national reputation, and quite the reverse.

Albany.

We don't know who started the "Here we rest" story, but as we have put the legend on our State coat of arms we do not propose to accept the "Malberry town" story without protest. As the word "Albany" is a corruption of a Spanish word meaning "The Lizard," may we not find the word Albany a corruption of some Spanish word applied by the Spanish discoverers to certain tribes of Indians? It does not sound like an Indian word. If any one ever heard of an Indian tribe calling themselves "The gatherers of figs," or "The gatherers of oysters," or "The gatherers of china berries," then we might listen to the Professor's fanciful resemblances of sounds. At present however, we must stick to "Albany." Here we rest! although, as a matter of fact, we have rested long enough and should get to work. —Mobile Register.

"Dark Horses."

There is some talk of dark horses in various localities. We do not favor the encouragement of what is termed a dark horse. If a man is a candidate for any office he should announce himself as such; for surely if the office is worth having it is worth seeking. It would be nothing but proper, in our opinion, at the assembling of a convention for a resolution to be adopted by said convention to give no man a vote unless he is put in nomination with other candidates. It is taking an unfair advantage of those who have canvassed the State, District or county, as the case may be, at an expense. Down with the man who is not man enough to announce his candidacy, but prefers running in as a "dark horse." —Savannah Mail.

Luck and Labor.

If the boy who exclaims, "just my luck!" was truthful, he would say, "just my laziness!" or "just my inattention!" Mr. Cobden wrote proverbs about Luck and Labor, and it would be well for boys to memorize them: Luck is waiting for something to turn up.

Labor, with keen eyes and strong will, will turn up something. Luck lies in bed and wishes the post-man would come and bring him the news of a legacy.

Labor turns out at 6 o'clock and with busy pen or ringing hammer, lays the foundation of competence. Labor whistles. Labor whistles. Labor relies on chance. Labor relies on character. Labor slips down to indigence. Labor strides up to independence.

EDITOR VIEW.—It is true that much might be written in favor of this, that and the other candidate for Probate Judge, but a pre-eminent worthy man is now before the people of Chilton county for that position, subject to the Democratic primary election. This man is R. E. R. Hicks. He is not running on his war record or his political record, though he can feel proud of both, but his friends believe that he is best fitted for the place because of his intelligence, his moral manhood and his Christian character. The county does not need a better fitted man for this position. Let the primary election will restore in him.

Mary Anderson should learn to kiss and kiss according to Hoyle. Kiss so that after the deal she would leave a royal flush on the cheek of the kisser. If Mary would pay a little more attention to kissing she could cultivate an article that would cause the footlights to pale with envy and make the stage carpenter pound his ear on his head with admiration. She is built right to kiss with charming effect. Her lips are full and red; her mouth is even-like; she could approach a man from the rear, kiss him over his shoulder, kiss down through his eyes into his brain, kiss his lips to his, kiss his cheek, kiss his lips for him, kiss him, kiss him, kiss him.

Primary Election Call.

ROOMS OF THE DEMOCRATIC AND CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF CHILTON COUNTY.

CLANTON, ALA., May 26, '96.

Whereas the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county, did on the 22nd of May, 1896, determine "That the chairman of the County Executive Committee shall, not later than Saturday, June 19th, order a primary election to ascertain who are the people's choice for the county offices to be voted for this year," it is hereby ordered that said election be held at the various places of voting in said county, on Saturday, June 19th, 1896.

Appointment of managers to conduct said election will be made, and such action taken as will secure a fair expression of the will of the party, of which due notice will be given at an early day.

FORTY YEARS A SUFFERER FROM

CATARH.

WONDERFUL TO RELATE!

"For forty years I have been a victim to CATARRH three-fourths of the time a sufferer from ENCRUCIATING PAINS ACROSS MY FOREHEAD AND NOSE. I have tried every medicine, but I hesitate to mention it, except for the good it may do some other sufferer. I have spent a young fortune from my earnings during my forty years of suffering to obtain relief from the doctors. I have tried patent medicines, every one I could learn of—from the four quarters of the earth, with no relief. And AT LAST (57 years of age) have met with a remedy that has cured me entirely—made me a new man. I weighed 150 pounds and now weigh 145. I used 12 bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that I did not have the medicine to prevent all my suffering. I am now a healthy man and I can say that I am cured." —W. A. to feel that you are getting old, nothing cient; to change the parlor floor for the top story, and the top story for a single attic, and wonder what change will be next."

I have had a great many beautiful flowers sent to me, but the most beautiful bouquet over had given was last week—three five-pounds and three or four leaves—around this subject the words: "Thank you, from a workingman." If you are here to-day, I thank you.

Now, I cannot spend any more time this morning in talking about the hardships of the working classes, for I have two or three words of grand and glorious good cheer.
One is, that all these sorrows are going to be relieved and extirpated. How, I cannot summer shower!" "Oh, yes," says the water,

"I came down from God shining like an angel."
"I say to the water: "Did not see you drop like a gun from the sky, guns over the rock?" "Oh, yes, I went over cliff and through meadows."
"I went over the cliff with the shuttles and the grist mill?"
"Oh, yes. I used to work for my living, but now I am idle, and I am not doing any work."
"I am disgraced with the shuttles and the grist mill, I am going to stop." Accursed of God am I and shamed of man, and I am going to stop." "Oh, I have heard of you, and I have heard of your work. It is the mightiest preventive against all evil. Sin, the old private bar-down, on those rocks that have said little tapping in the wind. The arrow of sin has been shot, and the arrow of sin has been wiping away. Make the devil, make the wiping wall the fortress in which you can hide and from which you shall fight down the temptations of this life. Thank God now, now, now, on Sunday and week day,
I have pleasure to do."

Another encouraging fact is that your children are probably to have better opportunities than you had. They will be brought up in luxury and by twelve years of age they are going to be wealthy. They will not have to struggle and sometimes they will go out into the world and find a way of making a fortune for themselves and to be useful to society. There are business men to-day grasping, grasping, grasping, what for? To get enough money to live in luxury. They are grasping up. The boys scattered it in five years. The lord of prosperity and luxury, he may come out of the gate and go into disipation and waste his money. He may squander his trade, get a good physical constitution, start out and win great success. Who is that man to-day standing in some mighty place for God and for his country? He is a man who has the shadow of a modern man under the shadow of a tree while she spread the canopy. The mightiest men to-day, in Spain and National League, in England and in America, they are drunk out of consciousness with the wine of the earth—war, war, war, and every step in life has been a forced march. Thank God that you have Trouble is not going to damage you for if you put your trust in God. The shipper of the summer does not hurt the iron it sends into space. Trouble is the best burn for sharpening keen minds. Robert Burns was a poet, a farmer and a shepherd. He attended Glasgow College. Clifford was a shoemaker, and for the son of the tolling man and woman, there is a large moral and worldly success if he trusts in God.

I cheer all workmen also by the fact that they have so many more opportunities for information than were afforded to the slaves. The average wage is $1,200 for a common book. Countess of Anvo paid 300 sheep for one book. Gerome turned his own hand occasionally by buying out the rights of authors. He was not a printing press, so the cylinders of the Appleton, the Harper, the Lippincott, the Peterson, the Rand, the Young, the Van Nostrand, and many more than Benjamin Franklin knew. Every workman man in Brooklyn has a newspaper or a book. Paving along at night

"Awake, awake, and you can sing on the wind amid the howling of the storm, and in the shower amid the shoving of the plane, and in the rain amid the shivering of the of the crow, and on the ships deck you before you climb the railing. Christ counts the hairs of the head counts the drops of sweat.
 Are you weary? He will give you rest, are you sick? He will give you health, are you sad? He will give you gladness, are you in want of Him everlasting love. And this is all introductory and preparatory. See the throne, see the throne, the throne. "See, you say, 'they must be the royal family of Heaven.' " They dress like princes, they wait in princely pomp, they are surrounded by princely people among them. Ah! we make a mistake, you make a mistake. That bright spirit believed that he was a prince, that he was a earth and earned only two shillings a day.
 That bright spirit bore the throne—why he should send the beggarly brick layman to sit before the throne—why, he, the drunken father, turned his own into the midnight cold and from the throne, who are they? Why, some of these came up from the Birmingham mill, some from Lowell carpet factories, and they are no radiant ones. I wish you could hear them there. They sing in perfect accord as though they had been all eternally practicing. If you could only hear their song, why, it would make the pilgrim's burden in fields, the hymns of the angels in heaven, and the song I met written in that sweet spot, not they will sing it in the song of the ransomed working people. And these are angels' voices up and down the streets of Birmingham, and these are they who are they? And a voice answers, "These are they who came out of great tribulation and had their robes washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb."

Circuit Judge James E. Cobb was re-nominated at the Judicial Convention in Montgomery last week. The Chancery Convention re-nominated Chancellor McSpadden. Neither of these gentlemen had opposition.

A Catholic legend says that the devil gave a hermit the choice of three great vices, one of which was drunkenness. The hermit chose this as being the least sinful. He became drunk, and then he committed the other two.

Our information that only Democrats are expected to vote at the primary election on Saturday is directly from headquarters. The executive committee through its chairman furnished the information and will send such instructions to the managers of the primary election. The mass meeting being Democratic the election will be a Democratic primary election and not a general primary election, as the committee very correctly holds.

The View is gaining in favor and its subscription list continues to increase. Our friends tell us they like the paper; and they think there is no demand for another paper, and that should another be established, it will not be done with any vague possibility of "making money," as that is out of the range of possibilities, but with the sole object of injuring the View. Such an object is very human, but we do not think will meet with success.

Editor Hare, of the Camden Home Ruler, attended the recent meeting of the press association in Marion, and presents some excellent thoughts on the subject of editors in general. He says the press of Alabama is improving and gaining ground with the masses rapidly, and that no matter who says that editors and newspapers are not leaders of public thought the fact remains that they are. He continues: "A few years since it looked as if many of the Alabama editors were afraid to say anything of opinion or temperance. It appeared as if they deemed that beneath the dignity of their work, but we are happy to see that some of us are changing, and that some of us are glad to publish sketches of persons and to tell how the rum fiend is being throttled. That was a true sentiment expressed by Mr. Lloyd when he said that down deep in the hearts of the masses there was an earnest desire for papers that breathed a pure and healthy moral atmosphere."

Such sentiments surpass any that we have yet seen published on the recent meeting of the press association. Though there are but a few among the 144 weekly newspapers in Alabama that deem good morals and religion worthy of any degree of space and time, yet those few are doing much good, and may yet leave the whole lump to a realization of the fact that there is more honor, dignity and self respect displayed by the press as a moral than as a political scavenger.

The State Convention.

The State Convention of the Democratic and Conservative party of Alabama met in Montgomery last week, and placed in nomination for Governor Hon. Thomas Seay, of Hale county. This nomination will give general satisfaction, and it created more enthusiasm in the convention than has ever come to the surface in such a body over a candidate. We quote as follows from the report of the proceedings of the convention: The twenty-ninth ballot was Dawson 236, Clayton 100, Seay 326. This ballot was the signal for the most vociferous, enthusiastic and prolonged applause on the part of Mr. Seay's friends.

The thirtieth ballot was at length ordered. As every county was called gains were made in the Seay columns. Before half the counties were recorded, it was evident that he was being nominated and the long contest was realized to be ended. Many counties called for the secretary to change their votes, most of them giving their entire strength to the Hale gentleman. Confusion and enthusiasm reigned supreme. The galleries were full, ladies and children joining in the cheering. It was the usual scene when the end of a long contest in a convention is

In the babel of voices one was heard in a motion to make the nomination of Mr. Seay unanimous, but it was ruled out of order, because of the progress of a ballot. Loud cries of "Hale!" rose up, and comparative quiet was resumed for the ballot to be finished. A number of counties successively recorded solid votes for Seay. When Russell was reached with a solid thirteen for Clayton, Major Frank Boykin, of Dallas, arose, and said that his delegation, recognizing the supreme will of a majority, desired to bow to it. He eulogized Col. Dawson most earnestly and gracefully, made a proper acknowledgment of Mr. Seay's fine qualities, and closed by directing the secretary to change Dallas' twenty-one votes to the Hale favorite.

His words and order were received with terrific applause, and quickly afterward Gen. Richard Jones, of Wilcox, followed Dallas' example by making Wilcox's vote solid for Seay. He moved to suspend the rules and nominate Mr. Seay by acclamation.

Mr. Webb, of Jefferson, made the point of order that this could not be done, since there were two names before the convention. The chair ruled the point well taken. A few more counties were called, going solid to the Seay column, when Col. J. D. Roquemore, of Barbour, came forward, and in a graceful speech accepted the situation, and withdrew Gen. Clayton. In doing so he paid a glowing tribute to the Barbour candidate's character. He closed by directing the secretary to change Barbour's eighteen votes to Seay.

Next Gen. Pettus arose and formally withdrew Col. Dawson's name, which Maj. Boykin had evidently in his excitement forgotten to do. Gen. Pettus ended by moving that the nomination of Mr. Seay be made unanimous, and his motion was carried amid another display of enthusiasm.

Mr. Seay is the only new man on the ticket nominated, which we publish below in full. The only other contests were for Secretary of State and for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. Col. B. H. Keiser, of Lee, and Mr. Thos. Reynolds, of Talladega, were presented but after the first ballot their names were withdrawn and Col. Langdon, of Mobile was unanimously nominated. Judge J. T. Hefflin, of Talladega, was before the convention for Chief Justice; the first ballot was a tie and the second ballot resulted Stone 380, Hefflin 343. Judge Stone was declared nominated. The ticket will give great satisfaction. We publish it in full as follows:

For Governor,
THOS. SEAY, of Hale.
For Secretary of State,
CHAS. C. LANGDON, of Mobile.
For Treasurer,
FRED. H. SMITH, of Dallas.
For Attorney General,
THOS. N. MCLELLAN, of Limestone.
For Auditor,
MALCOLM C. BURKE, of Marengo.
For Superintendent of Education,
SOLOMON PALMER, of Marshall.
For Chief Justice Supreme Court,
GEORGE W. STONE, of Montgomery.
For Associate Justices,
H. M. SOMERVILLE, of Tuscaloosa.
DAVID CLOPTON, of Montgomery.

Hon. Thomas Seay.
The Hon. Thomas Seay, nominee, was born in the year 1846, in Greene county, Ala., in that portion thereof contributed to the new county of Hale, and is therefore forty years of age, in the very prime of a vigorous manhood. He obtained the rudiments of his education at a public school, and completed it at the Southern University at Greensboro, graduating with the degree of A. M.
At the beginning of the war between the States, he enlisted in the confederate service at the early age of seventeen, and as a private in the ranks continued to the close. He was twice made a prisoner of war, the last time while gallantly defending Spanish Fort, and Blakeley, the key-stone to the arch of confederate defenses of Mobile.
At the close of the war, he accepted law as his profession, and has attained a high rank as a jurist. In 1874, at a time when the 32d senatorial district was overwhelmingly republican, he was nominated by democrats to lead a forlorn hope against their opponents. He was defeated in that contest but largely increased the democratic vote; in 1876 he was again nominated by the democratic party and was elected by a large majority. Since then he has continuously served the state as a senator without opposition and now concludes his long term of ten consecutive years as presiding officer of that body.
He was a member of the national democratic convention at Clanton, until in 1890, which nominated Gen. Hancock. He presided over the state democratic convention in 1894 with marked ability. He has been eminently successful in the management of his private affairs as well as his public trusts.

His nomination meets with general approbation.

Verbena.

The picnic here on the 11th was a success. About three hundred people attended and all seemed to enjoy themselves " hugely." There was an abundant supply of provisions for which we are indebted to our wide-awake and good ladies.

Mr. J. G. Farley and wife have returned from Lowndes.

Miss Annie Clibby, who has been spending some time in Montgomery, has returned to Verbena where we hope she will remain.

Miss Etta Haralson has returned from an extended visit to Birmingham.

Messrs. Phillips and Hannon, of Clanton, were in Verbena last Sunday.

Miss Sallie Walker, one of Maplesville's charms, spent a few days in Verbena last week, stopping with Miss Mamie Green.

Mr. R. S. Saunders, of Virginia, spent a few days in Verbena last week.

Messrs. William Walker and Davis McGee, were in Verbena last week.

The Misses Pitts, daughters of the estimable Dr. J. S. Pitts, have returned from Tuscaloosa College and will add to the pleasure of our town during summer.

Mr. Barrett and family, of Montgomery, have moved into their summer home here for the season.

Several families have registered at the Clifton Hotel for the summer months.

Miss Hattie Clisby has been sick but is now convalescent.

Mr. G. H. B. Matthews has been quite sick for several days.

Miss Sadie Hyde, one of Clanton's most attractive young ladies, is spending a while in Verbena, stopping with Miss Belle Smith.

Why do you bring out Maj. J. Carr Gibson, of Verbena, for the Senate or for Congress?

We regret to learn that Mrs. B. W. Slaton is quite sick.

We are pleased to see R. P. Luckett looking well again. He has been quite sick for two weeks.

Our genial friend D. M. Hand, came down from the Magic City to participate in the nuptials of his friend, J. M. Harris.

State Teacher's Institute.

Editor CHILTON VIEW:—Believing that an account of the State Teacher's Institute, now in session here, will be noticed with interest by your readers, especially the teachers, I respectfully ask a little space in your columns.

This move, originated by our efficient State Superintendent and the faculty of the Normal College, marks a new era in the educational history of Alabama.

The session began on the 31st of May, but was not fully organized till June 1st, and will continue three weeks. The addresses of welcome by Dr. James A. Heard and Hon. R. T. Simpson and their responses by State Superintendent Palmer and members of the Institute Faculty, were very entertaining and inspired the body, at once, with enthusiasm, and a determination on the part of all to make the meeting a success.

Prof. T. J. Mitchell, of Charlotte, N. C., who is a genius in his profession and of wide fame in teaching teachers how to teach, is Superintendent. He is also instructor in the science and art of teaching and school management.

The scope of instruction includes all the branches of study required in the public schools of the State and is conducted by the following prominent educators: Prof. J. K. Powers, Arithmetic and Algebra; Prof. J. A. B. Lovett, Geography and History; Rev. M. L. Frierson, Grammar and Rhetoric; Prof. S. L. Robertson, Orthography and Reading; Prof. M. C. Wilson, Natural Science; Prof. E. R. Carichoff, History of Language and Literature; Prof. M. A. Kirby, Penmanship. Besides these class exercises valuable lectures are given daily, and we are entertained frequently by lectures from prominent educators visiting us from various sections.

The aim of the Institute is to benefit the teachers and through them their patrons and pupils. This organization presents to the teachers a rare opportunity to obtain the greatest consequence, at the least possible expense.

At present, there are enrolled 142 teachers from 42 counties. It has been remarked frequently, by the managers, that they never saw a more earnest, industrious body of workers. It is to be regretted that Chilton has only one representative, the writer. The value of the instruction received here, although costing nothing, would be cheap at any price, and I feel assured that there are many teachers in Chilton, who, if they were apprised of the advantages to be derived from it, would not hesitate to come here.

Prof. J. A. B. Lovett, of the Ala. Teachers' Journal is doing faithful work and is one of the teachers' favorites.

In conclusion would say that the Teachers' Institute is a decided success and is one of the prominent features marking the successful administration of Supt. Palmer. We shall insist that it be made a permanent annual institution.

Respectfully,
G. L. SPEER.

The crop prospects throughout the country are good both for grain and cotton. Wheat and oats promise to be abundant, and the cotton crop rather smaller than last year, though larger in Florida, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas and Tennessee.

TAKE HEED.
 Footsore, hungry, and out of heart,
 A fox and wolf were wearily waiting, devising plans to gain a meal
 At little cost of time in plotting.
 When they spied a mule, who stood
 Out in the meadow calmly thinking,
 Is long ears flapping to and fro,

He" whispered Fox, a tricky elf,
"Dear brother Wolf, as I'm a dinner,
ere's just what we most sorely need;
Here's meat for many a hearty dinner."
What beast it is," said brother Wolf,
"I fain would learn ere we eat all him."
said brother Fox: "Your hint is good; Suppose you march right up and hail him."
Friend with the waving ears," said Wolf,

WOLF; he's Fox. What is your name!
It is an honor, sir, to meet you."

"My name," said Mule, "is graven deep Upon my hinder foot—the near one;
on'll laugh when you have spelled it out,
For it is such a very queer one."

Fox trotted gayly to the rear.
Mule raised his foot—to save him trouble—then let it drive. Full ten feet off Poor Wolf lay lifeless on the stubble.

Take not the cunning man's advice;
A tricky friend you'll always find him.
And when you interview a mule,
For safety's sake don't stand behind him.

Big Hearts in Little Bodies.
 A blind man sat beside his hand organ at the corner of Robert and Seventh streets.
 He raised his sightless eyes and appeared to be waiting the arrival of some one, as his remaining senses told him, that a storm was brewing.
 A small bootblack came round the corner. His trousers, being too long, were rolled up at the bottom. His coat frame. He stuck his thumbs under his dilapidated suspenders and relieved himself of a mouthful of tobacco. Catching sight of the blind man, whose evident anxiety was pictured on his face, he ceased to smoke for a moment and brought himself to a standstill.

"Is that you, Willie?" queried the blind man.

"My name ain't Willie," replied the street Arab.

"Can't you take me home? I'm 'traid it's going to rain and Willie is here," continued the organ grinder, gesturing ready to move at once.

"Bet your life I kin. Where do you eat? Haint you made nothing to-day?" continued the man as he rose from his seat and took a piece from the organ and handed it to the blind man.

A shrill whistle brought a still smaller boy, whose visible emaciation was made for his compassion. He had a cigar in his mouth. "What's de matter, Chilly?" propounded the older "some o' de cats" on "de way in de neighborhood of his fellow workmen." The latter explained, and in a jiffy the two boys were out with cups in hand begging for the blind man, who stood on "de sidewalk" to ascertain what was going on. The boys took "different sides of the street and dropped every nickel, dime, and penny" and were called for a period to help the blind man.

As the rain began to fall they returned to their blind charge, and having secured him to a neighboring house to shelter, turned over to him the money which they had collected. It amounted to $1.41.—San Francisco Chronicle.

It now looks but that Goy was a sergeant in the late war. Oh, for a private! Can one be found?

An Indiana farmer has committed suicide because he had too much money. First thing we know some editor will be doing the same thing.

The case of Phil. Givhan, charged with the killing of Walter Orr, came up in Jefferson circuit court last week. A strong case of self-defense was presented, and Mr. Givhan was acquitted.

Mr. Willis Roberts is a candidate to fill the position of postmaster at Birmingham, made vacant by the death of Capt. Sam Thompson. Mr. Roberts would bring a clever heart and a sensible head into the management of the affairs of the office.

The Age has it down about right when it makes the following sensible remarks: The Democrats of Alabama have not set McKleroy aside, nor even suspected him. There is not at this moment enough to go all round, but such a man will meet his occasion in the future. Alabama has need for him.

Judge J. T. Leeper has been re-nominated for Probate Judge by the Democracy of Shelby. Judge Leeper is a most worthy citizen and is a true and tried Democrat. We believe the Democrats of Shelby will rally for his re-election. No county in the State has a better officer.

Tennent Lomax, Esq., Secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, will be a candidate for Solicitor of Montgomery county before the next Legislature. We do not think the Legislature could do better than confer the honor and emoluments of the position upon Mr. Lomax. Having eminent talent for his chosen profession added to marked ability and a successful experience at the bar, the friends of Mr. Lomax throughout the State will be glad to aid him in securing any position to which he aspires.

The Democratic primary election was held that all good Democrats might have an opportunity of expressing their choice for party nominees. Now that you have had an opportunity of voting and working for your favorite (and it is only natural that every voter should prefer to vote for his friend or for him whom he thinks best fitted for the office) it is right and proper that personal preferences be laid aside and that all who took part in primary election rally to the support of the ticket nominated. This should be done for the sake of Democratic unity and Democratic success.

The way that the recent Democratic State Convention dodged the temperance question, which is really the only live political and moral question before the people of the country, was farcical in the extreme. A resolution was offered by Hon. Samuel Blackwell for insertion in the platform, and the politicians immediately raised the cry, "Let us adjourn, let us adjourn!" and began to scramble out of the hall before the question could be put and voted upon. Politicians can't get along without the aid of John Barleycorn. It was indeed a novel sight to see the coat tails of the big politicians whirling out of the hall door.

There is a split in the Democratic party of Tuscaloosa county caused by the fact that the party executive committee allowed the sawlaw, rag-tag and bob-tail independent element of the county to take part in the primary election there. Such a split should have been expected. None but true and tried Democrats have any business in Democratic councils, and none others can claim a right to vote for nominees for the Democratic party. A Democratic primary election that is not restricted to party followers is merely a farce and a humbug. If there are outsiders who wish to come into the Democratic ranks they can do that by voting for the nominees of the Democratic party. Until they show their faith by their works and by voting the ticket nominated by the Democracy they are outside of the party and have no right to vote in Democratic conventions.

Prohibition Convention.

A Convention of Party Prohibitionists of the State of Alabama is called to meet in the city of Birmingham, on Tuesday, July 6th. All who believe in constitutional prohibition, and are ready to enter the ranks of the new party, will be entitled to seats in the convention. The call is made by the Alabama Prohibitionist, the official organ of the State Temperance Alliance.

The Result of the Primaries.

The Democratic primary election was held in this county last Saturday, and we publish the result in tabular form elsewhere. A ticket has been nominated and good Democrats will no doubt vote and work for its election throughout the county. Though your special choice may not have been successful in the primary election, yet if you voted in that election you are politically bound to support those who were successful. There are kickers to be found everywhere and at all times. This must be expected. Nothing human is perfect, and our resource is to do the best we can where the agencies at work are not always favorable to doing the best that might be done.

The ticket nominated is a good one, and though it might be improved upon from some standpoints, yet looking at it from other points of view it is probably the best that could have been nominated. It is the purpose of this press to work for its election, and we believe that the Democratic voters of the county will turn out and see that it is elected.

Platform of the Democratic and Conservative Party.

For the first time in twenty-six long years the Democracy of Alabama meets in convention with a Democratic executive head of the federal government. Organized on federal politics, it is therefore fit that we rejoice over the great victory which, since our last assembling, crowned the efforts of the party; and we may congratulate ourselves on the change for the better in the general government and on the grand possibilities of the future for the people of this country. In the presidential office we have now a successor to Pierce, Polk, Tyler, VanBuren, Jackson, Monroe, Madison and Jefferson—democrats under whom the government of the United States was built up to stable strength and power, the territory of the country magnificently expanded and its people increased beyond precedent in numbers and in prosperity, "with none to molest or to make them afraid." To President Cleveland the democratic party of Alabama would extend an expression of the strong confidence they feel in his unswerving patriotism, high integrity, unshaken firmness, ability and good judgment, with the belief that, having superior knowledge of northern opinion, he is in his administration using his best efforts, under great difficulties, to correct enormous abuses, to bring the country back to pure, constitutional free government and to establish those conditions which permit and conduce to prosperity and happiness among the people of the whole country.

Twelve years ago the manhood and intelligence of the democracy rescued this State from the hideous ruin sought to be imposed upon all this section under the policy of the hostile, greedy, sectional party styling itself republican—a policy aimed to destroy our civilization and the values of all property that we might be completely uprooted. From the dark picture of that dreadful period, we turn away now, looking hopefully to a picture of promise. But our position still calls for the exercise of knowledge, wisdom and character, no less than energy. It is true that the democracy now controls the affairs of Alabama, and a Democratic president administers the executive branch of the federal government, with a majority in one house of the legislative department. Yet these facts and the situation do not warrant the idea that our lease of even the powers we have, is fixed and irrevocable. The party is not justified in relaxing its discipline or subordinating its interests to minor or personal considerations. It is important that the lines of party be drawn straight and that the rules of party organization be closely observed. And it is incumbent on all the members of the party to practice mutual consideration and to unite heartily in preserving a harmonious spirit and the integrity of its principles, which alone can make power lasting. The great cardinal principle, on which the Democratic party was formed and by which it has moved on its glorious career during eighty-six years to this day, must be kept steadily in sight. As the party of the constitution, strictly construed, it is well for the Democracy of Alabama to renew its pledge to subject every public measure to the prime test of its constitutionality and to support that fundamental law, which is the cement of union as well as its limitations as in its authorities reserved to the States and to the people, as equally incorporated with and essential to the success of the general system.

Alabama under democratic rule, for twelve years, has steadily advanced. The government of the last four years has been marked by integrity, economy and vigor. A just and wise conservatism has gone hand in hand with the firm and conscientious enforcement of the laws. The reputation of the State for the maintenance of law and order has been elevated. The important organization of the State militia has been beneficially developed and has materially aided in promoting peace. The relations between the white and the colored races has improved from a better understanding and the absence of intermeddlers. The public and the educational institutions of the State, by judicious appropriations, have made decided steps forward, and compare favorably with those of other States. The finances of the state have been well managed. The public revenues have been well collected and public obligations have been promptly met. The rate of taxation for State purposes has been reduced; and class "A" bonds, constituting seven-tenths of the bonded debt of the State, have advanced under this administration from 83 cents to 106 1/2 cents on the dollar. Excellent appointments to office have been made, increasing efficiency. The people of Alabama, notwithstanding misfortunes, have heart in their industrial efforts. And capital from without is coming into the State with confidence to aid in the development of her great natural resources. This convention, therefore, feels authorized to commend the administration of Governor O'Neal as eminently wise, efficient and successful.

In view of the indications of an inflow of population and capital into Alabama, it may not be out of place in this body to indicate the opinion, that statutory provision for the efficient extension of information among the migratory elsewhere would add to the wealth and resources of the state.

The record of the democratic party of Alabama is before the people. Its purpose is to give every man the fairest opportunity to pursue happiness in his own way, without interfering with others. To all who can achieve prosperity fairly under good government it offers a chance. It is identified not only with sound principles of government, but with solid progress.

ROBERTS CO. EXECUTIVE COM., DEMOCRATIC AND CONSERVATIVE PARTY OF CHILTON COUNTY.
CLANTON, ALA., June 22nd, '86.

In accord with the action of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county, had on the 22nd day of May, 1886, we the Central Committee in connection with the chairman of the County Executive Committee did on the 22nd day of June meet and canvass the vote cast at the primary election of our party, held June 19th 1886, and while we find that some Republican and other illegal votes were cast at said election that they were not sufficient to effect the result, and we therefore thought it unnecessary to take cognizance of such illegal votes, and as the result of such canvass we find the following named Democrats having received the highest number of votes for the respective offices for which they offered are the nominees of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county, to-wit: For Probate Judge, H. J. Callen; for Circuit Clerk, W. H. Foshee; for Representative, W. E. Johnston; and the Chairman of the Executive Committee is hereby instructed to make such publication as may be necessary in the premises.

P. C. DENNIS.

A. J. BROOKS, Chm. Cen. Com.
I. Wm. A. Collier, Chairman of the County Executive Committee hereby declare that the following named Democrats are the nominees of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county, at the ensuing August election:
For Probate Judge, H. J. Callen; for Circuit Clerk, W. H. Foshee; for Representative, W. E. Johnston.
WM. A. COLLIER,
Chairman Ex. Committee.
J. C. LAWRENCE, Sec'y.

Verberna.

We are glad to report that Mr. G. H. B. Mathews is fast recovering from his recent spell of severe sickness.

Mr. Mitchell Williamson has been quite sick but is up again.

Miss Annie Judkins, of Wetumpka, is spending a while in Verberna with her aunt Mrs. A. J. Brooks.

The charming Miss Hide, of Clanton, after spending a few days in Verberna, returned home on the 19th and went from there to spend a while in Deatsville.

The Methodist brethren here are taking steps to build a parsonage. While it is true that our present pastor does not need a parsonage, the next one may.

To those who love music it is delightful to walk up the R. R. and go along by the third house from the depot and hear that beautiful little melody sing.

There are four white rats in Verberna, they are beautiful pets and all have great names.

Omig, Whapping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Chamberlain's Cough Syrup.

Memorandum.

We had the pleasure of a short trip, a few days ago, into the eastern part of the county and were delighted to see corn looking so well. Cotton looks healthy but small. Oats surprisingly good, everything considered. Wheat scarce and rusty. The sweet potato crop is almost a failure in many places. Why is it that the farmers do not take enough interest in potatoes and all roots that man and stock could almost live on?

The good people here are discussing the propriety of erecting a new Academy at Jamison. We hope they will succeed to the utmost. Nothing speaks better of a community than good educational facilities.

Mrs. IRA CAMPBELL.

Meeting of the State Executive Committee.
A meeting of the State Executive Committee of the Democratic and Conservative Party of Alabama will be held in the city of Montgomery on the 30th day of June, 1886. The members are earnestly requested to be present, as business of importance will be transacted.

H. C. TOMPKINS,
T. LOMAX,
Chairman.
Secretary.

There was one vote polled at Verberna last Saturday for Sam Jones, for the office of Circuit Clerk. If the great evangelist only knew that he was receiving votes for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court of Chilton county, Alabama, he would no doubt leave his present field of labor and come down here and enter the race even if he had to run on the independent ticket. No we will take that back, we don't wish to slander Mr. Jones. He might run on the republican ticket but he wouldn't be an independent.

Alabama Radicals assembled at the State capital to howl in concert yesterday.

LOCAL NOTICES.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Cool nights.

Baptist Sunday school picnic tomorrow.

Mr. J. P. Allen, of Jemison, was in Clanton Tuesday.

Mr. J. A. Maddox, of Jumbo, gave us an encouraging chat Tuesday.

The newspaper business is on a boom in "these diggings"—seemingly.

Mr. R. Ehrman, of this place, made a business trip to Nashville, Tenn., this week.

Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for Constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle.

Miss Sadie Hyde, of this place, has taken charge of a summer school at Verbena.

Catarh cured, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal Injector free. For sale by M. J. Greene.

Several young couples went out to Mims' mill and picnicked last Wednesday.

Mr. Joe Beasley and wife, of Helena, spent several days in Clanton recently, visiting his father's family.

We return thanks for an invitation to attend a basket dinner, given at Calera on the 30th, by the Knights of Honor.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton. June 6 y

Read the advertisement of the Clifton House barber shop at Verbena, which appears in another column.

Our friend, W. M. Wilson will take subscriptions and collect for the View in his rambles over the county.

There will be a picnic at Kincheon on July 30th, so we are informed by a subscriber from that settlement.

Dr. J. S. Pitts is our authorized agent at Verbena. You can subscribe for the View through him, and be sure of getting the paper.

Messrs. Wells and McCranie have purchased and are now running the Woodruff saw mill four miles south of Clanton.

Will you suffer with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Mr. R. A. Wright, of Wells and Cox mill, was in to see us last week. He reports things as getting interesting in the base ball line out his way.

That clever gentleman, Maj. Jno. L. Harrell, of Decatur, spent a few hours among friends in Clanton, Friday, on his return home from a visit to Montgomery.

For sick headache, female troubles, neuralgic pains in the head take Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a box. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Maj. J. M. Bivings, of the firm of Bivings, Duke & Co., at this place, attended the meeting of the Southern Lumber Association, which met in Texarkana, Texas, week before last.

Dave Martin, a white man living near Lomax, was tried in the county court on Monday for wife beating. He was sentenced to twenty days hard labor for the county and to pay costs. It is thought that his wife is permanently injured. The sentence was too light.

We are glad to know that Mr. Mitchell Williamson, of Verbena, who was quite sick last week, is now convalescent.

Found, an umbrella, which the owner can reclaim by calling at this office proving property and paying for this notice.

Blackberry time. Hungry editors can now fill up for the summer, and give their delinquent subscribers a rest.

Mr. and Mrs. McCants and family, of Decatur, are visiting relatives, the family of Dr. Bivings, at the saw mill near Clanton.

The highest vote polled in the primary election was a total of 607 for W. H. Foshier for circuit clerk. This shows Mr. F. to be a very popular officer.

A fair friend in the Gulf City sends us an invitation to attend commencement of Miss Bagby's school, which began at Temperance Hall, Mobile, June 22nd.

Cadet John Bateman, of the State University, is spending his vacation in Clanton and is thinking of taking a vacation school in this county.

Rev. J. C. Armstrong, our Cumberland Presbyterian preacher, from Birmingham, filled his regular appointment at this place last Sunday night.

Serenaders were out last Friday night. The boys say they got some cake and are going again soon. We publish this so that everybody may be prepared.

Mr. Alfred Baker has brought to our office a curiosity in the way of twin cucumbers. They were large and well formed and seemed to have come from the same bloom.

The subject for the public debate of the Young Men's Debating Club, to come off on the night of the 5th of July, is "Should the United States have free trade or a protective tariff."

We had quite a wind and rain storm in this section on last Thursday. Several trees were blown down, and all the corn badly bent over, but no other damage done that we have heard of.

Mr. W. H. Mills sends us in some cotton blooms from his place on Little Mulberry. He writes that the continued rains and the wind storm on the 17th were very damaging to the crops in his neighborhood.

We publish this week the platform adopted by the Democracy in the State Convention. It is merely a lot of rambling generalities which mean no harm and very little of anything else, but the public will want to read it, and for that reason we publish it.

Our energetic sheriff and his efficient deputy are always on the look out for bipeds of the genus "slum," and occasionally pull in a "hard case" for the county to board and work. The man who beat his wife is the last of this noted species to be taken in charge, and he is probably the hardest case they have yet found.

Died, at her home near Clanton, on the 21st inst., Mrs. W. S. Baker. The deceased had been in ill health for some time prior to her death. She leaves a husband and several children to mourn her loss. Her remains were interred in the Clanton cemetery Tuesday evening. The bereaved ones have our sympathy.

Mr. L. B. Wells had a fine sow to go mad last Monday. The sow was bitten by a rabid dog eighteen days previously. Mr. Wells describes the actions of the animal as being frightful. Though the head had swollen very much around the bite received from the dog, there were no symptoms of hydrophobia until the seventeenth day after the bite was inflicted. The sow was killed before any other stock was bitten.

The Chilton View Base Ball Club, of Wells' Mill, will play a match game of ball with a Clanton club on July the 3rd at the mill. The View men are in good trim and they make up a fine team. Following is the club: R. A. Wright, umpire; Thelo P. Fearling, pitcher; Peyton Jones, catcher; Albert Jones, Lucius Wells, Frank J. Wells, Berry Cast, Chris Beall, Charles Maidland, Judge Wells. There will be a basket dinner on the occasion.

Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

To show the increased popularity of the View we give these figures: During the month of May we received 288 more papers to subscribe than during the same month last year. And during the month of June we issued 336 more papers to subscribers than we did during the month of June of last year. We do not believe this is altogether due to the political campaign or the hard times, on the contrary we are told it is due to unjust criticism which the paper receives from certain quarters. Let the critics continue their tirades say we.

In cases of Fever and Ague, the blood is so effluently, though not so dangerously poisoned by the effluvia of the atmosphere as it could be by the deadliest poison. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure will eradicate this poison from the system. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

For lather back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Price 25 cts. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

RELIEF

FORTY YEARS A SUFFERER FROM

CATARRH.

WONDERFUL TO RELATE!

"For forty years I have been a victim to CATARRH, three-fourths of the time a sufferer from EXCRUCIATING PAINS ACROSS MY FOREHEAD AND NOSTRILS. The discharges were so offensive that I hesitate to mention it, except for the good it may do some other sufferer. I have spent a young fortune from my earnings during my forty years of suffering to obtain relief from the doctors. I have tried patent medicines, every one I could learn of—from the four quarters of the earth, with no relief. And AT LAST (57 years of age) have met with a remedy that has cured me entirely—made me a new man: I weighed 138 pounds and now weigh 146. I used 13 bottles of the medicine, and the only regret I have is that being in the humble walks of life I may not have influence to prevail upon all Catarrh sufferers to use what has cured me.

Chicago is still "on the strike."

The silver question—Have you got a dollar handy?

The devil has no better servant than a preacher that is laying feather beds for fallen Christians to light on.

Gen. H. D. Clayton was elected President of the University of Alabama during the recent commencement exercises of that institution, and the Board of Trustees conferred upon him the degree of LL. D.

Mr. K. Wells publishes a card in the View to thank his friends for their support in the primary election, and to say what it is hardly necessary for him to say, that he will heartily support the nominees of the primary election.

Tom Ellis, who shot and killed Clara Ross in a disreputable house in Birmingham last winter, was tried in the circuit court last week. The jury found that the defendant is insane, and he will be sent to the hospital at Tuscaloosa.

The Radical pow wow in Montgomery last week didn't amount to anything. No State ticket was put out because the party was unable to find men willing to have their names placed upon such a ticket. Strobach and Turner were not on hand and no one present was able to inspire the "faithful" with enthusiasm for a political tussle.

Mark Twain says when he was a candidate his enemies "proved" him to be a horse-thief, a body snatcher, a professional burglar and a bigamist. They also brought up two strange women who swore their children to him, and paraded an old hag as his grand mother in order to show that her red nose was caused by Mark's fist. He says that after the election they told him it was all done for political effect; and he then got over it.

Prof. R. E. R. Hicks publishes a card in this week's View in which he pledges his support to the Democratic ticket. No sensible man acquainted with Prof. Hicks could have doubted that he would support the ticket nominated. Tho' he may have been disappointed, yet we now know that he has the manhood to meet any such disappointment, and to return thanks to those friends who earnestly worked to secure his nomination for Probate Judge.

Gen. Joseph Wheeler persists in recanting the record of Edwin M. Stanton, U. S. Secretary of War during the struggle between the States. This is untimely and out of place in a member of Congress who is sent to Washington to look after the interests of his constituents. There is nothing to be accomplished by denouncing dead men, General. If you are anxious to denounce somebody you might "go for" some of the rascals who are still living, and do some good.

We cannot publish all of the communication of "Young Democrat," because its tendency is to drift into a personal attack upon one of the nominees of the Democratic primary election. We firmly believe that it is to the best interests of the county that the entire ticket should be elected, and though our particular choice was not successful in every instance in securing the nomination, yet we think personal preferences should be laid aside, and the ticket receive the support of all good Democrats.

Congressional Convention.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the democratic and conservative party of the Fifth Congressional District, held in the Senate chamber on Wednesday, June 9, 1886, the following proceedings were had:

LaFayette was selected as the place for the assembling of the convention, and Thursday, September 2, 1886, as the time. The basis of representation was fixed at one delegate for every one hundred votes and fraction of fifty or over cast for Governor in the August election of 1884.

W. F. WILKINSON, Chairman.

At the August election of 1884, Chilton cast 1748 votes, which vote will entitle our county to a representation of 17 delegates in the convention.

Our County Ticket.

The ticket presented to the voters of Chilton county by the Democratic primary election, we repeat is a good ticket, and is so sure of being elected that very little opposition to it has yet developed; nor do we believe any will be developed that will endanger the election of the ticket.

Judge H. J. Callen the nominee for probate judge and the present worthy incumbent of that office, is a man whose experience of the past twelve years in the office gives him a great advantage in administering its affairs. He is always kind and polite to those having business with him, and is careful to a fault in looking after the interests of the county in all matters pertaining to its general welfare.

Mr. W. H. Foshee, nominee for circuit clerk, is as accommodating and obliging as he is popular, and he has made a most careful, painstaking and efficient clerk. Whatever the opposition may be it is safe to say that Mr. Foshee will be re-elected.

W. E. Johnston, Esq., nominee for representative, is a young lawyer who carries a level head, and we believe he understands the wants of the people of our section. We would be glad to know that he was a prohibitionist, and in the absence of any definite information on this all important point, we trust that he will enlighten the public through these columns.

Mason's Festival.

One of the most enjoyable affairs in the history of Jewson Lodge No. 411 A. F. & A. M. was had on the 24th of June. The occasion was the installation of officers, and the proper observance of the festival of St. John, the great feast of the Masonic year. The exercises upon which some two hundred persons attended, were opened with music led by Miss Bettie Demarus, organist, assisted by Misses Lizzie Smith, Herman and Bettie Anderson, and Rev. A. E. Burns and W. D. Hubbard, and "Uncle Dave" Hand.

The Marshal of the day, Prof. James M. Cordier, read the programme of ceremonies, which opened with an invocation by the Chaplain of Jewson Lodge, Rev. Amariah E. Burns. After which the Marshal introduced Lawson J. Hand, Worshipful Master, who read an essay upon our craft, which contained some excellent and timely thoughts. Then followed music, after which Adam H. Whitestone of Hampden-Sydney Lodge No. 67, proceeded to install officers of Jewson Lodge No. 411, for the ensuing year as follows:

Lawson J. Hand, W. M.; Seaborn J. Heath, S. W.; Jonathan Rice, J. W.; John M. Brantly, Treas.; Amariah E. Burns, Sec'y; Henry T. Estes, S. D.; Charles H. Smith, J. D.; James H. Hughes, Tyler; Thomas J. Hubbard, Stephen G. Whitley, Stewards.

"Re-elected."

Another beautiful song was quite impressively rendered, after which the Marshal introduced Rev. Amariah E. Burns.

ORATOR OF THE DAY.

The orator announced as his theme, "The Rise and Progress, Aims and Ends of the Masonic Fraternity." The address was replete with practical good sense, and true Biblical morality. "Good," "Just," "Splendid," "Can't be beat," "Absolutely perfect," are samples of the eulogies on the oration. After the intellectual had been thus regaled with a feast of reason and a flow of soul, and another piece of excellent music, dinner was announced. The ladies now took the floor and proceeded to spread the contents of their baskets upon two large tables, each nearly as long as the hall. The physical was now provided for, and shades of edibles! how those ladies did pile up those tables with tidbits rich and rare! and the boys did ample justice to the occasion and you need not question it. Where all did so well it were invidious to personate, but we feel that justice to the parties demands that we should. In the tournament for the championship as the grand "eatist" in the hall, Brethren Benj. Silbee and I. Newton Langston of our Lodge halved the cake, their most formidable rivals were George Smith, Benson No. 103, and Adam H. Whitestone of Hampden-Sydney Lodge No. 67. Poor Brother Jim Hughes thinks he might have won it, if he had had a fair whack, which he had not, being door keeper, so after consuming corn dodgers, a dish of beans, a baker's loaf, a mutton ham, a quart bottle of pickles, one baked hen, and stuffing seven biscuits and a bowl of honey, he then gathered samples of half a dozen kinds each of tarts, custards and cakes and piling them upon a large baking pan of chicken pie returned to his post; when Silbee and Langston, got the bulge on him. The consequences was that before four o'clock p. m. uncle Jimmy was prowling in the ante-room "hunting" for a basket to finish his dinner.

St. John's day, 1886, will long live in the memory of the members of Jewson Lodge as the red letter day of its history. Brethren George W. Demarus and Charles H. Smith deserve and we feel sure they have the heartfelt thanks of the entire attendance for an abundance of delicious lemonade and ice cream, with which they supplied the house during the entire day.

Ed. View:—Nothing is more essential to the success of any organization, and the efficient administration of its affairs than unity in thought and in effort, and in serving a like purpose. Necessity binds together the membership in unity, and harmony cements the stones in the building; while the absence of such unity tends to divide and discourage any cause. Democrats should have but one model, and that the one furnished by Democrats.

I, therefore, while the result of the primary election held June 19th was somewhat a disappointment to me, accept the decision as the verdict of the highest party tribunal, and will work, as I have always done, for the success of the nominees. I feel very grateful to those of my friends who gave me their support in the recent primary, and to you, Mr. Editor, I wish to return my sincere gratitude and esteem. Respectfully, K. WELLS.

Verbena.

Dr. Caffey, of Hayneville, was in Verbena last week stopping with Mr. J. G. Farley.

Miss Zella Collier, of Clanton, was in Verbena last Sabbath.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wadsworth, with their son and daughter Willie and Nellie, attended church in Verbena last Sabbath.

Mr. W. D. Wood, of Wadsworth, the active Alabama manager of the Southern Lumberman published at Nashville, Tennessee, was in Verbena last Sabbath.

Miss Belle Smith has taken charge of a school near Wadsworth Station, which, we are sorry to say, will deprive Verbena of her presence for a while.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather on the evening of the 20th ult., quite a number of ladies met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Werth and enjoyed the mite meeting given for the benefit of the Methodist church.

The music and singing rendered by Mrs. Werth and Misses Bettie and Wadie Saunders is said to have been very fine. Strange in the history of mite meetings, there were but few gentlemen present, "The weather being too inclement for them to turn out."

The Clifton hotel is rapidly filling up with visitors and Verbena bids fair to be lively during the summer months. It is said that there will be a dance at this hotel soon. Of course the good people of Verbena who are working for the upbuilding of the morals of the village, are sorry to know of this contemplated evil, as no good has ever come from a dance, but always harm.

Swift Creek Items.

Rain, plenty of rain.

Crops in very good condition.

Health of the community good.

Mr. John Edwards' baby has been quite sick but is convalescent.

Elder Wm. A. Wood will preach at Shiloh church on Sunday, July 4th.

Applicants for schools are as plentiful as candidates were heretofore.

Mr. Sam J. Strock, of Verbena, will commence his school at the Midway school house in the little Mulberry neighborhood on July 6th.

Messrs. J. H. and Mac D. Gray have been very successful in their search for bees. They have found several bee trees recently. That means honey.

Mr. J. R. Missilline is the champion bee keeper of Kincheon neighborhood. He has this season extracted 500 lbs. of first class honey from ten hives. Also, Mr. J. H. Griffiths has extracted one hundred lbs. of first class honey from one hive.

Mr. James Mims has returned from Mississippi where he has been for the past four months. Mr. Mims is satisfied to make Ala. his future home.

Your subscriber was mistaken as to time and place of picnic. There will be one at Shiloh church on Saturday, July 10th. We would be pleased to see the Editor at the picnic.

Mr. W. I. Mullins, is preparing to build a two story barn in place of the one that was burned last winter.

Success to the View.

CLINT.

Jumbo Dots.

We are having too much rain for the prosecution of farm work.

The wheat and oat crops are very light.

Growing crops are fine in this section, and the prospect now is that our farmers will gather their usual amount of cotton and a much larger corn crop.

The bridge over Yellowleaf creek, which was washed out by the March freshet is being rebuilt.

We have both a Baptist and Methodist church in this vicinity, each supporting lively Sunday schools. The Methodist church held a class meeting last Sunday, at which we are informed, a degree of exultation prevailed.

Mr. Jane Vinos, who has been confined to her room for several months, is now in a very much improved condition.

The general health of the people is good.

With the best of wishes for the View and its readers we submit our first communication.

A Card.

Editor CHILTON VIEW.—Having been defeated in the primary election of the Democratic and Conservative party of Chilton county for the office of Probate Judge, I hereby pledge my support and influence for the nominees in said election, thanking my friends for their efforts to secure my nomination. R. E. R. HICKS. Clanton, June 24th, 1886.

Benson Echoes.

Rev. Mr. Wood, of Wells & Co.'s mill preached at the Baptist Church at this place last Sabbath. Capt. B. T. Raspberry had an altercation with a negro named William Johnson last week, and received some slight injuries. The negro made good his escape.

Mr. Jeff Parnell, of Dixie, and his mother, Mrs. John Parnell, are visiting relatives in this community.

Crops are doing comparatively well in this neighborhood. Grass is doing well also. What are the defeated candidates to do? It was publicly proclaimed by some of the Jack-o'-lantern Democracy that if Hicks was nominated at the primaries they would bolt the party. Some of these men figured in the Democratic mass meeting. Such men are not Democrats and should not have been allowed to vote in the primary election.

Died, near this place, last Friday, the infant son of L. W. and Alice Raspberry. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

LOCAL NOTINGS.

The Maiden's Farewell.

The time has come and we must part. The tear drop dims my eye. How oft I've clasped thee to my heart With joy in days gone by!

When first I saw thee I was sure Thou camest to me to stay, But nothing earthly doth endure— All things must pass away.

How oft in days forever past My form thou hast embraced! Another takes thy place at last And clasps me round the waist.

But such is life—we meet to part, In midst of change we dwell. I clasp another to my breast— Old sorrows fare thee well.

Rev. S. H. Nettles filled his regular monthly appointment at the Methodist church on last Sunday morning and evening. He is a minister of no ordinary power and continues to grow in public esteem.

The meeting at Mrs. Hannon's, on last Friday night for the purpose of getting up a concert, was a success. Committees were appointed to attend to the several duties and make all arrangements necessary to insure the success of the occasion.

A lady reader at Verbena writes: "Your Maplesville friend is right. The View deserves success for the good it has done. It may meet with opposition, but that will help it." The View hasn't a thought of "busting"; not so long as the ladies are with us.

Mr. T. H. Williams, of Jumbo, is not the man who has failed to pay for his paper. Nor is our ex-Congressman Thomas Williams the man. The latter has lots of faith in the View and has paid for it for eight years in advance, and he is not a candidate for Congress either.

The public debate at the court house by the young men on Monday night was much enjoyed. The question "Shall the United States have free trade or a protective tariff?" was discussed in a spirited and interesting manner, and the judges gave their decision in favor of free trade.

The Fort Deposit correspondent of the Hayneville Examiner, in speaking of the closing exercises of the Fort Deposit high school says: "The exercises were opened by Rev. J. G. Skipper last Sunday morning. He made many remarks fitting and appropriate for the occasion. We would here say, were it not out of place, that Mr. Skipper though a young man, and a short time ago wholly unknown, is now making rapid strides in the ministerial work. The principal of our school built wisely when he called him to preach the commencement sermon."

Base Ball.

The match game of ball, played at Wells' mill on last Saturday, between the CHILTON VIEW nine of Wells' mill and the Call nine, of Clanton, resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 33 to 14.

The Clanton boys who visited the Mill Saturday say that though the View nine may not be a match for them at a game of ball, they certainly know how to treat a visiting team. The dinner prepared for the visitors, not only consisted of everything the market afforded prepared in the best of style but was plentiful in the extreme. One notable feature of the game was the absence of "kicking." It was decidedly the quietest and most peaceful game of ball we ever witnessed. There was only one whitewash made and the View nine did the whitewashing.

The next game between these two nine will be played in Clanton on the 30th inst., when the home club will have an occasion to show their appreciation of the kind treatment they received last Saturday, in a more substantial way than by mere words.

Our clever and promising young friend Tip Mullins came in to give the View a cheering chat Saturday. He was in to stand an examination before the county school board. He is now one of "jolly pedagogues," and has a good school in the Jumbo settlement.

Prof. W. U. Aree was in Clanton Saturday to attend to the duties of his position as chairman of the county board of examiners. He is a thoroughly successful worker and like everything else that is a success, he has had some opposition, but he has succeeded in building up for Verbena one of the finest schools in this section of the State.

Jumps from the Train.

Some days since Ellis Harris who is wanted for burglary in Clanton county, was arrested by the county authorities and lodged in jail here. The Sheriff of Clanton was notified of the arrest and yesterday came down for the prisoner. He left on the accommodation train, taking Harris, who was handcuffed, with him. Before the bridge was reached Harris jumped through the closet window while the train was running at the rate of twenty miles an hour, and made good his escape.—Mont. Dispatch.

On yesterday morning a special train stopped at Clanton, with President M. H. Smith, and Supt. Hege, of the L. & N., and Messrs. J. B. Gaston and J. R. Adams, of Montgomery, and Messrs. J. W. Sloss and H. F. DeBardleben, of Birmingham and several others on board. These gentlemen stopped off to visit our hot well, which they did and all seemed well pleased with their investigation. We did not learn the result or final conclusion arrived at by them, but hope their visit may result in something good for our hot well and Clanton.

A View man accepted an invitation from Mr. J. M. Ponder on Friday and took a ramble over the fine farm which the latter gentleman runs so successfully in West Clanton. His fruit crop, though not as large as last year, is a good one. He finds a ready sale for fruit in Clanton and at the various saw mills in this section. Mr. Ponder is an active, industrious and worthy citizen. We would be glad to get many more like him. His crop is the best we have seen this year. It is clean and beautiful, though he has had a hard fight with the grass. He extended us an invitation to draw on his fruit crop, consequently the View man feels unusually well, thank you.

"Stop my Paper."

An exchange says: "After you get on your ear, and make up your mind to 'stop' your paper, to make the editor feel humiliated, just poke your finger in water and then pull it out and look for the hole. Then you will know how badly you are misled. The man who thinks a paper cannot survive without his support, ought to go off and stay awhile. When he comes back he will find that half his friends didn't know he was gone. The other half didn't care a cent, and the world at large hadn't kept any account of his movements whatever. You will find things you cannot indorse in every paper. Even the Bible is rather plain and hits some hard licks. If you were to get mad and burn your Bible, the hundreds of presses would still go on printing them; and if you were to stop your paper and call the editor all sorts of ugly names, the paper will still be published. And what is more, you'll sneak around and borrow a copy of it every week from your neighbor. It would be much better to keep your vest pulled down and your subscription paid a year in advance."

Now is the time to subscribe for your county paper. An important election year is upon us, and every citizen is more or less interested in public matters. The VIEW will be sent to any address for one year for $1.50.

Paul H. Hayne, the poet, died at his home near Augusta, Ga., last week.

"Pa," inquired a little boy, "if you can say that 'people run for office' why can't you say that 'people walk for office'?" "Because they are in too big a hurry to walk," explained the intelligent father.

The Montgomery Dispatch is calling for the withdrawal of Judge Talley as the Democratic candidate for judge of the ninth circuit. The good of the party calls for the withdrawal of Judge Talley. Only men who are prompt and reliable in their financial dealings should fill a public office.

The Columbian Banner has been sold to Mr. C. C. DuBose, who is now issuing it under the name of the Shelby Chronicle. Its typographical appearance as well as its views and policy all speak well of its editor and publisher. Mr. DuBose is a brother of our townsman, Gordon DuBose, Esq. We wish him great success.

The Union Springs Herald says: "If the low life white scoundrel who was caught prowling around a certain residence Monday night, peeping into a young ladies room, will repeat his visit he will be greeted with two full loads of buckshot. He is known in the community and will be exposed in due time."

The Atlanta Journal, doubtless judging from wood cut pictures of him, says our Sergeant Seay is not a handsome man. It is true he is not pretty, as illustrated by the libellous wood cut which makes him like a wild man of Borneo, but we'll wager a state full of colonels he's a prettier man than anything Georgia can afford.—Age.

Steve Renfro, the out-law, desperado and ex-Sheriff of Sumter county who escaped from Pratt Mines some time since has been recaptured. A special to the Advertiser says he was taken from the jail at Livingston, Monday night, by a mob, and hung to a tree. A placard was attached to his body bearing the words: "The fate of a horse thief."

Forty years ago Josiah McCoy lost his home in Portsmouth Va., and his parents never heard of him again. Twenty-five years later his brother Frank settled in Savannah. The other day the brothers, who are now 60 and 67 years old, met for the first time in forty years. The runaway Josiah has become a flourishing orange grower in Florida.

Mobile Register: A special to the Memphis Avalanche from Vicksburg says: "A carload of Alabama manufactured cotton goods passed through this city this morning on its way to Portland, Oregon. It came by the Vicksburg and Meridian Railroad and was sent forward on the Louisville, New Orleans and Texas Railroad." When Ala. sends cotton goods to Oregon, who can say that our manufacturing interests are not growing as rapidly as those in any other Southern State?

Congressman John M. Martin, of the sixth Alabama district, voted against the Morrison tariff bill, and the Louisville Courier-Journal reads him out of the Democratic party because of this vote. Mr. Martin though a new member had the grit to stand up and vote in favor of protection to American labor and enterprise, and the Courier-Journal will find it a "tough" undertaking to bend his back-bone or to get him to "abandon" from the Democratic party because he may not favor its pet theory. Congress Martin should be re-elected.

A Dakota judge, in the course of his charge to the jury recently, touched on an important point. He said: "Although the prosecution has established the fact that the defendant's father was once a member of the legislature, this should have no influence with you in bringing in your verdict. The unfortunate affair in the life of his father might, of course, make us look with suspicion on the family, but at the same time it really proves nothing against the defendant as he may as deeply deplore the conduct of his paternal relative as you do."

The Meaning of It.

Chilton View.—I wish to say through your paper that in introducing the resolutions for a primary election in this county, I understood the phrase "Democrats only shall vote" to mean what the State executive committee defines, that is, those who vote the Democratic National and State tickets.

Respectfully, &c.,
A. J. BROOKS.

July 10th, 1886.

Another Ticket in the Field.

A disaffected element claiming to represent the farmers' clubs united in a meeting at the court house on Friday and placed the following ticket in the field for county officers: For probate judge, R. M. Honeycutt; for circuit clerk, E. G. Rollins; for representative, W. H. Shelby.

This ticket appears to have frightened some few. We can only wonder if those who brought it forth have the presumption to expect to see it elected over the regular Democratic ticket? It will die a natural death about the first Monday in August.

Is He a Republican?

The Montgomery Dispatch in a diarrhoea of words attempts to prove that the tariff views of Capt. John M. Martin, of the Birmingham District are such as to place him in the Republican party as that party agrees with him in his protection ideas. This because Capt. Martin had the temerity to vote against the Morrison bill reducing the tariff. Yet in another column it publishes an extract which shows that the Republicans do not always and everywhere favor a tariff for protection. The following is the extract:

It was resolved last week by the Grant county (Minn.) republican convention as follows: We hold that the doctrine that protection protects the laboring class of America is a delusion and a snare; that the laboring man of this country necessarily competes with the pauper labor of the whole world, while the manufacturer is protected and made rich at the expense of all.

The Dispatch quite often tells us the advantages of a free exchange of the produce of the world. But it tells of what has never existed, does not exist, and perhaps never will exist. It invokes us to give freedom on our side, whilst in the ports of almost every other nation we are met with a code of restrictions, shutting out entirely a great part of our produce, and letting in only so much as they cannot possibly do without. The maximum of tariff for revenue only is indeed everywhere proclaimed but nowhere practiced. Absolute free trade is truth in the books of European political economists. It is error in the practical code of nearly every European State.

We believe that Mr. Morrison's bill was preferable to the recent production of Mr. Randall in the same line. Mr. Randall wants the tariff taken from foreign lumber. If a reduction is made in such a quarter it would result in stopping about three-fourths of the lumber mills in Alabama, and cutting off the receipts of the State from this industry to the tune of millions of dollars annually. We do not favor Mr. Randall's bill for the above reason; for putting lumber on the free list means a terrible stroke at our own immediate section.

Capt. Martin favors protection to home industries. In that he represents our sentiments, the sentiments of a large number of citizens in this district as well as of a still larger number in his own district, all of whom are Democrats opposed to the Waterson school which teaches a science based upon assumptions. When the Dispatch attempts to prove that Congressman Martin is anything more than a Democrat who favors protection to home industries and home products it will have its hands full.

Two Amendments.

It should not be forgotten that two amendments to the State constitution are to be voted on at the August election. One of these amendments is to allow the counties, when it is necessary to do so, to increase the rate of tax to three-fourths of one per cent. for construction and improvement of public roads. Under the constitution now the county rate can be no higher than one half of one per cent. The object of the amendment is to let counties if they so desire, raise funds by taxation to improve the roads and highways. It is entirely with each county whether or not this be done. Some will not need to do so, while others will. The county rate of many counties is now much less than one half of one per cent. and they of course are not at this time interested in the amendment. Others, however, are not so fortunate.

The other amendment is to allow Birmingham to levy a tax as high as three-fourths of one per cent., it being found that under the present constitutional limitation she cannot meet all her expenses, pay interest on bonded debt and provide a sinking fund.—Advertiser.

The G. O. P.

The Republicans have nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Arthur Bingham, of Talladega county.

For Secretary of State, J. D. Hardy, of Shelby.

For Treasurer, Calvin Goodloe, of Colbert.

For Auditor, M. D. Wickersham, of Mobile.

For Attorney-General, Lewis E. Parsons, Jr., of Coosa.

For Superintendent of Education, Jos. H. Speed, of Perry.

For Chief Justice, David D. Shelby, of Madison.

For Associate Justices, George H. Craig, of Dallas, and George M. Dusk, of Hale.

It is a great pity that a newspaper cannot set up for a reformer without doing something that destroys all the credit due to its efforts. The Montgomery Dispatch sets out to expose official negligence but in publishing Judge Talley as a defaulter it also according to the CHILTON VIEW, "pays a merited compliment to auditor Burk for his efficiency in getting on the track of these defaulters." Now Auditor Burk has been in office two years or more, and we want to know why he had not notified Judge Talley that his accounts were behind. It seems to us Mr. Burk has been just as negligent as Judge Talley.—Fort Payne Journal.

The truth should be known by the Journal that Mr. Burk had repeatedly "notified" Judge Talley that he was behind in his accounts to the State; but failed to get a hearing from the Judge until the Dispatch published him as a defaulter.

Voted Down.

The following excellent set of resolutions were introduced by Mr. J. W. Gullede in the meeting at the court house on Friday. They speak for themselves.

Resolved 1st, That in the opinion of this meeting it is inexpedient to mix up the farmers clubs or other organizations of farmers with politics, and that such mixing would be ruinous to the efficiency and usefulness of such organizations.

Resolved 2nd, That in our opinion it is highly improper for those organizations, either in their separate clubs or other organizations or in their collective capacity to nominate candidates for the respective offices to be filled at the ensuing election or as a body to give an endorsement to any of the candidates now in the field or that may hereafter become candidates.

Resolved 3rd, That the object of farmers organizations either as clubs, granges or otherwise is not for political purposes either directly or indirectly. And that every member of any such organization should be left entirely free to act and vote in political elections according to his individual preferences.

Resolved 4th, That any other course would be destructive and ruinous to all such bodies and subversive of the objects for which they are created.

The resolutions were tabled by a large majority, as the meeting seemed to have determined upon putting out a ticket. One party present stated the farmers' clubs had nothing to do with the meeting and that it was made up of citizens who were dissatisfied with the result of the primary election.

Talladega Springs.

It would be impossible to describe how beautifully inviting are the surroundings here at Talladega Springs, where I have taken up an abode for a season. The refugees here are not numerous, owing I suppose to the excessive rains, but those who are here are making the best of life in the way of drinking and bathing in the finest medicinal water in the State. Buggy and carriage riding come in for a part in the diversions.

The citizens of the surrounding section of country seem to be a generous and thrifty people. On the way from Jemison we were seen some large fields of the best corn ever seen by the writer.

Henry Wilson, Esq., and wife, of Montevallo, have just arrived and taken quarters at the Springs. They will be a welcome addition to our circle.

Tell your man he can boil this down or spit it out to suit himself, though it appears very thin as it now is.

LOCAL NOTINGS

It's safe to bet a merchant is going to the bad, if in the local paper you fail to find his ad.

But if he's always telling what he keeps to sell, you'll find instead of failing, he's always doing well.

We hear of several new stores to be opened in Clanton this fall.

Give us your orders for job printing. Satisfaction guaranteed.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Heath, of Strasburg, visited Clanton Monday.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. June 17

We are sorry to learn that Miss Mamie Brushwood has been quite sick.

Dr. I. D. Lanier visited Clanton Saturday with the Calera base ballists.

Read our advertising columns and you will find many things to interest you.

For lame back, side or chest, use Shiloh's Pains Plaster. Price 25 cts. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Don't send your job printing off to be done when you can have it done here at home just as cheap.

Mr. Chas. Haden, of Matthews' Station, Montgomery county, visited relatives in Clanton this week.

Maj. Jno. L. Harrell is again among his Clanton friends and is trying the virtues of the hot well water.

Catarh cured, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal Injector free. For sale by M. J. Greene.

A great bargain is offered to any wishing to purchase a first quality saw mill outfit. Apply at this office.

The little infant daughter of Mrs. Wm. A. Collier received a very severe fall last Friday afternoon.

Mr. John T. Wells, formerly of Verbena, now of Bonham, Texas, is visiting his relatives in Clanton. He likes his Texas home.

Rev. James A. Mullins was attending commissioners court on Monday. He reports very good crop prospects in his locality.

Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton Ala.

If you wish to strike a bargain in a saw mill outfit worth $3,000 in a saw mill outfit worth $3,000 apply at this office. Will be sold for $1,200 cash.

A bright young lady visitor arrived at the residence of Mr. Lee Holt last week. Mr. H. is her happy father and she has come to stay.

The work on the new storehouse, being built by Dr. J. S. Johnson, has commenced. We learn that one of them is to be completed and occupied in five weeks.

Our able State Senator, Judge Jefferson Falkner, was in Clanton Friday among his many friends, who were glad to see him looking well and hearty.

The new residence being built by Mr. Jno. Garner, in West Clanton, will be completed about the middle of August and is to be occupied by the family of Mr. Peyton Aldridge.

Considerable excitement was created in the Baptist church last Sunday night by the near explosion of the large lamp that hangs over the organ. A great many rushed out of church. No damage was done. Several boys got their hands slightly burned in putting out the lamp.

Several Clantonians went up to Birmingham on Tuesday to attend the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the Hebrew Temple.

Mostre. John Garner and Will Callen are each having new residences erected. Consequently our Clanton carpenters are busy and happy.

If your kidneys are inactive, you will feel and look wretched, even in the most cheerful society, and melancholy on the jolliest occasions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm, will set you right again. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Mr. R. Ehrman, of this place, has accepted a bid for the erection of two four room dwelling houses on his lots just this side of the cemetery. The work will begin on them right away.

In another column will be found an advertisement of Howard College, Marion, Ala. This noble institution is doing a grand work in our state, and deserves the liberal and extensive patronage which it always receives.

The Hayneville Examiner says: "Dr. Hugh T. Caffee has gone to Jemison, Clanton county, where he will practice his profession. Also, Mrs. Brewer and children and Miss Kate Williams have gone to Mountain Creek for the summer."

In cases of Fever and Ague, the blood is so effectively, though not so dangerously poisoned by the effluvia of the atmosphere as it could be by the deadliest poison. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure will eradicate this poison from the system. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

A catalogue of Howard College, Marion, Ala., is on our table. We notice that our friend J. M. Kailin, Maplesville, is on record as distinguished in four schools during the past session. The college had an attendance of 105 students.

The proceeds of the moonlight picnic and ice cream festival to be given by the Amelia society of the Methodist church, on next Friday night, will go to the building of the new church instead of to the missionaries as stated last week.

Miss Fannie Campbell, of Nashville, Tenn., who made many friends in Clanton while on a visit here last summer, passed down on the mail train last Tuesday evening en route to visit friends in Coosada. She will visit Clanton before returning to Nashville.

Mr. M. W. Shoults, of Maplesville, was in Clanton Thursday last. He had a curiosity in the way of a white black berry. It was better in taste than the genuine black berry. He found them growing in large quantity between Clanton and Maplesville.

A card from Mr. A. J. Brooks published elsewhere explains the meaning of the resolutions passed by the Democratic mass meeting, which resolutions restricted the Democratic primary election to Democratic votes. Mr. Brooks introduced the resolutions.

At the meeting at Mrs. Ehrman's last Tuesday night a programme was arranged for the concert to come off on the night of the 30th, and those to take part in the performance, have now only to perfect themselves. A series of rehearsal meetings will be held at the court house.

Mr. J. L. Gartman came near meeting with a serious accident at Jemison Monday. He was thrown under a moving train while endeavoring to board it. His legs were thrown across the rail and under the car, but he was quick enough to make a turn and draw them out of danger.

A young man of Elmsport, Pa., who is very much in love with a young woman of that place, insisted upon "seeing her home from church" the other night. She objected. He insisted. She slapped his face. He followed her and enticed her. She got a whip and drove him out. He lingered on the piazza. She drove him off. He says he will have that girl yet.

The Calera Base Ball Club challenged the Clanton Club to a match game of ball which was played on Saturday last, in Clanton. The game was a good one and elicited great interest and cheering from both sides. The Calera Club won the game by the very close score of 4 to 2. The pitching of the Calera nine won the game; the curve ball of the Calera pitcher serving to "fool" the Clanton Club for several innings. The Clanton boys were superior batters; and with a little practice they expect to show their opponents yet. Their pitcher Jackson can't be beat. An amateur game will be played at Calera next week.

We are having some fair weather and the farmers are about done laying by their crops.

The public schools of this township opened up on the 5th of July. Rev. A. E. Burns filled his regular appointment at the Baptist Church last Sunday. At his next appointment he will preach the funeral of Mrs. James A. Mullins, the wife of our former pastor. The services will also be protracted some few days.

Mr. Oscar Mullins will attend the Baptist State convention at Birmingham as a delegate from Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Mr. Ben. Robertson is canvassing among the wool growers for the purpose of having their wool manufactured into jeans, flannels, etc. Political politics! Such a bustling talk, but surely the nominees of Clanton will not be beaten.

Dixie Dots

Mr. E. G. Adams and family after spending some time with relatives here, have returned to their home in Camden, Ala.

Mr. J. C. C. Morrow has erected a nice dwelling in place of the one which was burned recently.

Master Dee Crum has been quite sick with fever, but is now able to attend school.

Croquet is now a popular game in Dixie.

Miss Mary McGee, of this place, has charge of a school at Billingsly, Autauga county.

Mr. John E. Stevens has the contract, for carrying the mail from Dixie to Billingsly.

Miss Kate Todd, of Plantersville, spent some days in Clanton last week, the guest of Miss Lillie McGee. Ah, Miss Kate, you left him "in the valley."

"Ermine" in last week's dots should have been "crime."

Kincheon Dots

Health generally good. Crops pretty fair.

Work almost over. Rain not so frequent as usual.

Mr. S. W. Johnston, a graduate of Soule College, Louisiana, has opened a school near this place; with flattering prospects. Success to him.

On the 10th inst., we had a picnic at Shiloh church, which proved to be unsurpassed in the luxuries and pleasures of such an occasion. The order of the day was as follows: At about 9 o'clock the people began to assemble and by 11 o'clock there were some six hundred "Chilton citizens" on the grounds. Verbena was liberally represented.

Our clever and respected Judge of Probate was present to say that Clanton was still in Chilton. The people commingling together presented a perfect picture of sociability and friendship. At about half past 11 o'clock the good mothers and fathers of the community covered the extensive table with every good article that the appetite could crave; every body on the grounds were invited to the table; God's Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Jun 15 y

That excellent friend and gentleman, Mr. Willis Love, brings the View the first watermelon of the season. Who next? We are going to give a year's subscription to the one who brings us the largest melon during the season.

The match game of base ball between the "Eclipse" club of this place and the "Dunham" club of Calera, resulted in a victory for the "Dunham" by a score of 21 to 18. Dinner was prepared for the visitors by the Calera club.

We are in receipt of the August number of the Library Magazine, published by John B. Alden, New York. It is brim full of interesting articles by the best writers of the day and should be read by all who are fond of good literature.

A protracted meeting will begin at the Clanton Baptist church the fourth Sunday in August. Rev. J. L. Thompson, a beloved former pastor of the church will be present and assist the present pastor in the work. May great good flow from it.

An unknown man was killed near Jemison on Friday last by being knocked from the railroad track by a passing train. It is supposed by some that he committed suicide. There was nothing on his person to lead to identifying him.

Mr. John Robinson has returned from a trip to Ship Island and New Orleans. He reports a pleasant time, but very warm weather. He brought back as a contribution to the View cabinet some beautiful shells and a star fish which he collected on the beach at Ship Island.

A suit for damages is a bigger advertisement than we thought the View would ever stir up, and we trust the report of such a probability is correct. If we have told any stories or damaged anybody we ought to be punished. If a certain few don't consider themselves damaged, we don't consider that we are doing any good in the world. If the case ever gets into court the View promises that it shall be the richest farce ever put upon the boards in this section. Admission will be free and everybody should be on hand.

Streetsboro Dots.

A very nice shower of rain fell here last Sunday night which was useful for the crops as the ground had become quite dry since the cessation of the continued rains about two weeks ago.

We have a good prayer-meeting going on at this place, conducted by Mr. A. J. Garner, also a good Sunday school.

There is very little sickness in the neighborhood so says the Dr.

Miss Anna Gibson, of Uniontown, Ala., and Miss Fannie Dancy, of Birmingham, are on a visit to friends and relatives of this View office.

At the residence of James L. Hayes thirteen miles west of Clanton, on Tuesday, the 20th inst., Rev. J. M. Hicks, aged seventy-three years. Mr. Hicks was pastor of Sardis Baptist church, and was at the church attending to his ministerial duties when attacked with cholera morbus. He was a beloved pastor and a man who worked unceasingly for the elevation and advancement of his fellows. Deceased was an uncle of Prof. R. E. Hicks, of Clanton, and has left besides a large number of other relatives in this and Bibb counties to mourn his sudden death.

The Bang.

Mr. LAWRENCE: Dear Sir—Please give space in your interesting paper to the following impromptu verses from the pen of "Verbena Footers":

Fashion and Folly met one day, And after discussing the weather, Says Fashion to Folly let's see if we by putting our heads together Can't hatch up something entirely new That'll suit old and young and children too.

They talked of the train and the walking dress, Of "boots" and "slippers" of "braids" and "tress," But these were old, said Folly "be hanged."

Then they were tickled, and danced and laughed, As they shook down their "locks" and loudly sang, Of a style that should last, and that "style" they called "bang."

Dixie Dots.

Crops are tolerably good notwithstanding the incessant rains.

At Ebenezer, on last Sabbath morning Bro. Selman, a young Baptist minister delivered a very creditable address; in the afternoon and night Rev. E. F. Baber, of Benton, Lowndes Co., preached two excellent sermons.

There has been a great deal of sickness in our community, lately.

Mrs. J. C. Morrow is just recovering from the fever.

Several members of Mr. J. W. Broadhead's family have been ill, but all are now improving.

Rev. J. M. Kailin, well known to the View, now has charge of a school in east Perry county. May success crown his efforts in his new field.

Miss Nannie Morrow, of Plantersville, is visiting relatives at this place.

Long life to the View.

Verbena.

Miss Mamie Hood, who has been sick here so long, died at about 12:30 o'clock on last Tuesday, the 25th. A suitable obituary will be furnished for your paper soon.

Mrs. Floyd Brooks is no better.

Mr. Barnett Merriwether is improving.

Mrs. J. G. Farley has been sick for several days.

Quite a crowd of Verbonians expect to attend the concert in your town on the 30th. Mr. Hugh Foshee, of your town, was in Verbena this week.

Judge Callen, of Clanton, was in Verbena on the 27th.

SAN HENRY.

Shiloh's Cough and Consumption Cure is sold by us on a guarantee. It cures consumption. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton Ala.

Mapleville Dots.
This is my first attempt at newspaper scribbling to don't "view it with a critic's eye." Out of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh or the pen writeth, and as I am a farmer boy the first item that presents itself to my mind is the crops.

The upland crops are needing rain very much. Most farmers made short work of grass the past three weeks.

The picnics and barbecues at Randolph was well represented by the citizens of Mapleville, and like every such affair is highly enjoyed by some while some wish they had not gone. As to myself, at such places I labor to have a pleasant day, and my labors are generally rewarded.

Frank Glover is now on a visit to Uniontown. His friends hope he will keep sober.

The little boys of Mapleville are smart this summer. They have had their hair cut short so, when they go in swimming it will dry off quickly, so their mamma's cannot detect it in order to save—well you all know what.

On account of our backward spring vegetables are a month later this year than usual, but they are at last plentiful here. We are luxuriating on water and musk melons.

Yours truly,

D.

Swift Creek Items.

Health of community good.

Crops are fine though needing rain.

Work about done in the crops until fodder-pulling and cotton-picking season.

The school at the Oak Grove school house, is progressing finely under the care of Miss A. B. McGee. It has 80 regular pupils.

Ball playing seems to be the go here with old and young.

Mr. J. H. Gray killed a fine deer on the 20th.

At the next regular meeting at the Baptist church at Shiloh will be the time to elect those delegates to the Unity Association and the View shall know who is delegated.

The "Farmers' Club" says its time for them to do their kicking.

CLINT.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

Love is a thing
In all our lives,
With plenty of "poetry"
Your wants to fulfill.

But love is a thing
Day out and day in,
Make people who try to
Amass it in vain.

And love is a thing
Will turn out a cross,
Unless it has mixture
With plenty of dream.

Art and Fashion.

A New York letter to the Chicago Herald says: Art and fashion are involved with each other now as they never were before. Not only do the designers of elaborate toilettes reasonably claim to exercise artistic taste, for much originality and beauty is often put into the work, but genuine painters are employed to decorate dresses. Usage in the most pretentious New York circles authorizes the wearing of exceedingly fine gowns at dinners, and the apparel at the best balls hardly shows such unique garments as are seen in dining-rooms on occasions of fashionable eating and drinking. The aim is to wear something unlike anybody else's garb, and to effect this the silk or satin of a dress is often painted by hand in water colors or oil.

An artist acquaintance of mine, whose works on canvas have frequently been good enough to be admitted to the Academy of Design, was denouncing the fact that American buyers prefer foreign to native pictures, irrespective of merit.

"When a man has to go painting live women instead of his own creations," he bitterly growled, "I think it is time for him to throw down the brush and take up a shovel."

He explained that he had taken several jobs of decorating women's dresses as a means of subsistence, and that he was retained by a leading dress-maker for that sort of work, but he declared that he would never again do what he had done in one instance, which was to use his brush on fabric that at the time inclosed the owner.

The belle had insisted that the figures painted on the waist of her dress, though they looked well in themselves, were not adapted so as to be effective when she had it on, therefore she wished the artist to come to her house and touch up his work while it was on her person. That he regarded as humiliating. He could paint a gown in his studio, but professional pride forbade him to apply his brush to the person of the patron.

German Cooking.

Replying to some words of adverse criticism upon German cooking published in the Californian, Emilia Custer says in Good Housekeeping: "Now I should like to know in what part of Germany the writer got all those queer things that are talked about—the vegetables floating in grease, the roast beef which is first boiled, then baked, etc. I never met with such things in any German family that I have visited. The vegetables are generally prepared with a sauce of drawn butter. Roast beef is not a German dish at all; until lately it was very little known in Germany. When they do prepare a large piece of beef it is generally as a pork roast or as beef à la mode.

That dreadful thing that is mentioned as being served, is nothing more nor less than what the English call Salmagundi. And as to the hashed beefsteak, first of all, they do not pretend that it is the genuine thing, they call it either Hamburger or Breslauer beefsteak, and it is very much called for in German restaurants by chefs as well as Germans. By the way, how often I have heard business men speak of this or that dish that they have eaten in these restaurants, and ask their wives if they could not find out how it was cooked and have it at home.

"I think a great many readers of Good Housekeeping will agree with me that it would be a good thing if country boarding house keepers, and some city ones, too, for that matter, would chop their tough round steak that they give their boarders, so that one could get one's teeth through it and swallow it without being in danger of choking. The Californian goes on to say: 'The German family table with its mysteries and abominations is the severest trial which the American has to undergo who submits himself to the domestic life of the country.'

"Now I know from actual experience that the German peasant is a much better fed individual than most of our farmers. He does not have fresh meat any oftener, but what other dishes he has are properly cooked. There is not a day but what he has some good nourishing soup of peas, beans, or lentils, and on Sunday a beef soup, with rice or barley, or various delicious dumplings. Then they are not afraid to use their eggs and prepare them in every conceivable way; while our farmers either allow them to rot in the barn, or otherwise the hen chooses to lay them, or they collect them, keep out a few for cake and send the rest to market."

"When a man has to go painting live women instead of his own creations," he bitterly growled, "I think it is time for him to throw down the brush and take up a shovel."

He explained that he had taken several jobs of decorating women's dresses as a means of subsistence, and that he was retained by a leading dress-maker for that sort of work, but he declared that he would never again do what he had done in one instance, which was to use his brush on fabric that at the time inclosed the owner.

The belle had insisted that the figures painted on the waist of her dress, though they looked well in themselves, were not adapted so as to be effective when she had it on, therefore she wished the artist to come to her house and touch up his work while it was on her person. That he regarded as humiliating. He could paint a gown in his studio, but professional pride forbade him to apply his brush to the person of the patron.

German Cooking.

Replying to some words of adverse criticism upon German cooking published in the Californian, Emilia Custer says in Good Housekeeping: "Now I should like to know in what part of Germany the writer got all those queer things that are talked about—the vegetables floating in grease, the roast beef which is first boiled, then baked, etc. I never met with such things in any German family that I have visited. The vegetables are generally prepared with a sauce of drawn butter. Roast beef is not a German dish at all; until lately it was very little known in Germany. When they do prepare a large piece of beef it is generally as a pork roast or as beef à la mode.

That dreadful thing that is mentioned as being served, is nothing more nor less than what the English call Salmagundi. And as to the hashed beefsteak, first of all, they do not pretend that it is the genuine thing, they call it either Hamburger or Breslauer beefsteak, and it is very much called for in German restaurants by chefs as well as Germans. By the way, how often I have heard business men speak of this or that dish that they have eaten in these restaurants, and ask their wives if they could not find out how it was cooked and have it at home.

"I think a great many readers of Good Housekeeping will agree with me that it would be a good thing if country boarding house keepers, and some city ones, too, for that matter, would chop their tough round steak that they give their boarders, so that one could get one's teeth through it and swallow it without being in danger of choking. The Californian goes on to say: 'The German family table with its mysteries and abominations is the severest trial which the American has to undergo who submits himself to the domestic life of the country.'

"Now I know from actual experience that the German peasant is a much better fed individual than most of our farmers. He does not have fresh meat any oftener, but what other dishes he has are properly cooked. There is not a day but what he has some good nourishing soup of peas, beans, or lentils, and on Sunday a beef soup, with rice or barley, or various delicious dumplings. Then they are not afraid to use their eggs and prepare them in every conceivable way; while our farmers either allow them to rot in the barn, or otherwise the hen chooses to lay them, or they collect them, keep out a few for cake and send the rest to market."

WOMAN'S WORLD.

PLEASANT LITERATURE FOR FEMININE READERS.

Love is a thing
In all our lives,
With plenty of "poetry"
Your wants to fulfill.

But love is a thing
Day out and day in,
Make people who try to
Amass it in vain.

And love is a thing
Will turn out a cross,
Unless it has mixture
With plenty of dream.

Art and Fashion.

A New York letter to the Chicago Herald says: Art and fashion are involved with each other now as they never were before. Not only do the designers of elaborate toilettes reasonably claim to exercise artistic taste, for much originality and beauty is often put into the work, but genuine painters are employed to decorate dresses. Usage in the most pretentious New York circles authorizes the wearing of exceedingly fine gowns at dinners, and the apparel at the best balls hardly shows such unique garments as are seen in dining-rooms on occasions of fashionable eating and drinking. The aim is to wear something unlike anybody else's garb, and to effect this the silk or satin of a dress is often painted by hand in water colors or oil.

An artist acquaintance of mine, whose works on canvas have frequently been good enough to be admitted to the Academy of Design, was denouncing the fact that American buyers prefer foreign to native pictures, irrespective of merit.

"When a man has to go painting live women instead of his own creations," he bitterly growled, "I think it is time for him to throw down the brush and take up a shovel."

He explained that he had taken several jobs of decorating women's dresses as a means of subsistence, and that he was retained by a leading dress-maker for that sort of work, but he declared that he would never again do what he had done in one instance, which was to use his brush on fabric that at the time inclosed the owner.

The belle had insisted that the figures painted on the waist of her dress, though they looked well in themselves, were not adapted so as to be effective when she had it on, therefore she wished the artist to come to her house and touch up his work while it was on her person. That he regarded as humiliating. He could paint a gown in his studio, but professional pride forbade him to apply his brush to the person of the patron.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Not Built That Way.

A boy will eat and a boy will drink,
And a boy will play all day;
But a boy won't work and a boy won't think,
Because he ain't built that way.

A girl will sing and a girl will dance,
And a girl will work and sew;
But she can't throw a stone and hit a church,
Because she ain't built that way.

A girl will flirt and a girl will mash,
And a girl will give herself away;
But she can't scratch a match on the sole of her pants,
Because she ain't built that way.

Mr. John Garner is happy—it's a boy.

Friday last was indeed a red-letter day in Clanton.

Regular term of the Commissioners court on next Monday.

Miss Lula Gibson a lovely young lady from Montgomery county has been visiting friends in this place.

Mrs. I. N. Broussard, of Calera, accompanied by her charming daughter, Miss Jessie, visited friends in Clanton last week.

Mr. J. M. Felton, an attaché of the Birmingham Evening Chronicle, is spending a few weeks in Clanton for his health.

The election on Monday excited greater interest than any election ever held in Chilton county.

Rev. C. B. Jordan, of Florida, has been assisting the pastor of the Methodist Church in a protracted meeting at this place.

Friend John Aldridge brought down from the Bangor cave some specimen stalactites which he has placed in the View cabinet.

The greatest number of votes polled on Monday was for circuit clerk 2,115. Two years ago the highest vote was for State Auditor 1749.

Mrs. Arrington, of Birmingham, who has been visiting relatives in Clanton returned to her home in the Magic City on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. T. DeJarnette, of Birmingham, is here visiting the family of Mr. A. J. Hall. We are always glad to welcome Mr. DeJarnette or his family to our town.

Arrived in Clanton, on last Thursday night, Mr. Edward Sartor Stewart, weight eight and a half pounds. Lee, the happy father is the proudest man in the county.

The game of ball on last Friday between the View club of Wells Mill and the Call club of Clanton was won by the former club by a score of 31 to 26. A very poor game.

Mrs. W. H. McNeill, Mrs. W. H. Fowhee and Mr. R. Ehrman, constitute the committee to take the funds raised for improving the cemetery in hand and expend it in the best way possible to that end.

We learn that Mr. Frank Higgins who had a difficulty with a negro just over the river in Coosa county last week is getting better. Mr. Higgins was struck on the head with an axe by the negro, and his life was almost despaired of for a time. The negro escaped and is still at large.

There was only one fat farmer at the stand to hear the address of Maj. Thos. J. Key on Friday last. He was the only one present who had raised enough meat to sell any. The View was requested to make a note of this and also to say that accounts for so many poor editors running around loose in this county.

Verbena Views.

Mrs. R. S. Saunders is in Montgomery on a visit and will remain there for several weeks.

Miss Etta Haralson is absent from us on a visit to Benton, Ala., where she will remain for several weeks.

Rev. C. D. Jourdan, of Autauga, was in Verbena last week and registered at the Clifton hotel.

Mrs. Robt. Forgohorn, of Nashville, was in Verbena last week.

We are sorry to report that Miss Hattie Clisby is quite ill.

The Verbennians expect the concert that succeeded so well in your town on 30th to play in Verbena at an early date.

Notes from Lonesome Valley.

Lonesome Valley is a beautiful place four miles from Cooper's Station.

The fine saw mill of Wells & McCranie turned out a fine lot of lumber last week.

The health of our valley is fine. We will have preaching at the mill the third Sunday of this month. Services to be conducted by the Rev. A. C. Wells.

The weather is very warm.

Mr. Thomas, a lumber hauler, lost a fine steer this week from over heat. Mr. W. Scott also lost a steer by breaking his neck.

Mrs. Mollie McCranie and family, of this place, visited relatives and friends in Clanton Saturday and Sunday.

If our dots will be useful to your truly valuable paper we will be only too happy to serve you.

We believe everybody is glad the election ended to over with. The result satisfactory.

The Concert.

The concert at the court house on Friday night was largely attended. A packed house rewarded the efforts of the management to make it a success. A notable feature of the entertainment was in the admirable and highly entertaining recitations of Miss M. S. Butler, who is instructor of elocution in the Huntsville Female College.

The amount realized clear of expenses was about $50.00 which will be used in improving the Clanton cemetery. Mr. A. J. Hall and Dr. Stewart, who were the managers, deserve credit for the success with which the entertainment met, as did also the others who volunteered their services in aiding so worthy a cause.

Mrs. Oates, Mr. John Robinson and Mr. J. T. DeJarnette deserve special mention for their generous assistance in the work.

Mrs. Ehrman, Misses Bivings, Hide, Duke, Thornton and Ternan also had important parts in the entertainment, and acquitted themselves most creditably indeed. The solo by Mrs. Ehrman brought down the house, and judges of the vocal art who were present, seemed surprised to see such talent among our Clanton ladies. Miss Teresa Ternan, the accomplished pianist, occupied the stool at the piano, and added much to the success of the occasion, by playing the accompaniments in her graceful and artistic way.

Jumbo Dots.

We had a fine time at Lime Springs last Saturday. Everybody enjoyed themselves.

The new church at Lime Springs is being carried up nicely. We want to have it ready to preach in by the third Sabbath in this month.

Mr. J. A. Maddox has the brag pear tree. It has 16 pears in one bunch.

The bridge over Yellowleaf creek has been finished.

We are having good rains and that is what we need.

ADAMBUCKINER.

Some little sickness, but not very bad.

Crops are looking fine though they are needing rain.

Mr. A. Erland was in the Burg Saturday, also Capt. MacPierce who gave us a political "cut up."

Miss Alice Lee, of Maull's mill, closed her school last week with the grandest concert of the day.

Mr. Thos. Simmons near here has sold out and will move as soon as he gathers his crop.

Happened at Mr. A. D. Givhan's last week—it's a boy. S. I.

Card of Thanks.

The Musical Club of Clanton appreciating most highly the services rendered the club by Mrs. Alice Oates, Miss S. Butler, Messrs. W. J. DeJarnette, John Robinson, W. J. Simpson and R. Ehrman at the late entertainment given by the club at the court house, and remembering that the success of the evening was largely due to their efforts and kindness, hereby extend to them each and all the thanks of the club.

By request of the club.

W. E. STEWART, Manager.

A Fraud.

The Acme Manufacturing Co., of Essex, Conts., which advertised $1.00 worth of stationery for 25 cents turn out to be a fraud. It has not paid its advertising bill; and we publish this so that others may not be taken in by the proposition made in the advertisement. If it were not for the fact that the concern is too sharp to be inveigled into a scheme to get "blood out of a turnip" it might hire a country lawyer and sue the View for damages.

I am an old man. I have seen nearly a century. Do you want to know how to grow old slowly and happily? Always eat slowly; masticate well. Go to your food, to your rest, to your occupations, smiling. Keep a good nature, and a soft temper, everywhere. Never give way to anger. A violent temper of passion tears down the constitution more than a typhus-fever. —Father Waldo.

It is claimed that the Democratic State ticket has carried the State by 50,000 majority.

We congratulate our good friends in Shelby county, many of whom are readers of this paper, upon their rising Democratic victory.

Hon. Samuel J. Tilden died at his home in New York last week. He was the only president of the country ever elected who was not allowed to take his seat.

Snow in the New England mountains on August 3rd. Telegraphic reports told of people starving from the prolonged freezes in July. What a country is this western continent.

Gen. Dabney H. Maury, of Virginia, has been nominated as Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States of Colombia, vice Hon. Charles D. Jacob resigned.

Hon. B. H. Hill, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., says that of the seven hundred criminals convicted by him in his eight-years' solicitorship, six hundred committed their crimes under the influence of whiskey.

Judge Cobb should have received a larger vote in this county than he did. He is probably the finest and ablest lawyer on the circuit bench in the State, and we would have been glad to see him roll up a large vote complimentary to his true merit.

A method which gets around prohibition has been discovered in Rhode Island, where porcelain eggs filled with whiskey have been introduced, each egg containing "a good square drink." Six cases of such eggs, containing 40 dozen each, have been seized.

The State of Texas, through Gov. Ireland, has in effect informed Secretary Bayard that if the United States does not care to tackle Mexico in defence of its citizens, she would be pleased to take the contract and will ask for no outside assistance.

The Anarchists on trial at Chicago continue to receive encouragement in the shape of bouquets sent them by females. It is one of the weaknesses of the statute laws of Illinois that they do not permit the punishment of those who make fools of themselves.

A prospective war with Mexico is causing some excitement in the country. The Mexican government has imprisoned an American citizen for a crime alleged to have been committed on American soil. The said citizen is no doubt a Yankee sharper seeking notoriety, but the principle involved may cause a conflict of arms.

Jesse Ford, a negro convict, was killed at Hillsboro, Ala., by the cruel and inhuman treatment received at the hands of a contractor who had him in charge. The contractor gave him an unmerciful beating while he was sick and unable to work. C. N. Robinson, the contractor who was directly responsible for the convict's punishment has been arrested and put under a bond of $2,000 for his appearance before court on a charge of murder.

Party organizations are strongest when they commence from the bottom and grow up. The precinct, the boat, county and State are the threads which make up the whole, and whenever you pull at the threads of party organization you begin to unravel the whole thing. Each thread is interwoven with the rest. For a practical demonstration of this truth we refer to the election held in Alabama on the 2nd of August.

The newspaper fraternity congratulates themselves over the new postal law recently put in force by the postoffice department. It makes the taking of a newspaper, and refusing to pay for the same, theft, and any person guilty of such action is liable to criminal proceedings. The same act if he had stolen goods to the amount of the subscription. Hereafter it will not be considered a very serious offense to take a newspaper from the postoffice for a year and then return it.

The Returns.

The sheriff was assisted by Prof. W. U. Acree and Mr. O. A. Duke in canvassing the returns of the election in this county. The result of their work is published elsewhere in this paper. Last week we published as a matter of news the returns as obtained from the most reliable source to be reached at the time. The board of canvassers acting upon their construction of the law have brought about a change in the result as published last week. This action was pretty generally expected. We publish the vote this week as canvassed by the board, which, after hearing counsel pro and con decided to throw out the vote of three boxes on legal technicalities. Whether the board of canvassers will be upheld in their decision by the courts remains to be seen.

Official Vote.

The official count of the vote of the county as canvassed on last Saturday and completed on Monday, gives the following totals with Mullins, Jamison and Latham's boxes thrown out:

Seav	1527
Bingham	182
Langdon	1127
Hardy	89

The result is not a surprise to many. The throwing out of three boxes on legal technicalities gives Callen a majority over Honeycutt of 151 votes; Foshee a majority over Rollins of 302; and Johnston a majority over Shelby of 200. Last week we published the result as cast, this week as counted. As you pay your money you can take your choice of these results.

Republicans to Organize.

The following circular has been freely distributed in the county. Reading it will tell you what it is:

REPUBLICAN MASS CONVENTION.
The Republicans of Chilton county, Alabama, are requested to meet in Mass Convention at Lomax, in said county, on Saturday, Sept. 4th, 1896, for the purpose of organizing. All who are opposed to Democratic supremacy and who favor the success of the Republican party, are cordially invited to attend.

[Signed.]
H. A. Wilson, Reuben Popwell, London Pryor, Dolba Riggins, J. M. W. Pierce, John Baker, Samuel Starnes, Thomas M. Ternan, Percy Finley, Absalom Eiland, W. F. Littlejohn, Alfred Childress, J. W. Riggins, Wiley Littlejohn.
Don't let the devil! The names and names! We didn't suppose there were quite so many "straight" radicals in this "neck of the woods." As to what may be the purpose for which they are organizing at this time that is not clear enough for ordinary mortals to understand.

It has been reported that the Republican State Executive Committee would make contests of the election in each county in the State where the vote was sufficiently close to warrant it. This looks foolish enough when it is considered that the entire political machinery of the State is in the hands of the Democrats; but this organization of the Republican element of Chilton not until after the state campaign is over, will look still more foolish to some. However, we surmise that these fellows don't mean any foolishness and that they mean business. Our congressional election takes place in November. An independent candidate is already reported in the field in this county. It is a reasonable supposition that this Republican organization is going to make things lively for the Democratic nominees in this county. That they will support the independent candidate is probable. There is some dissatisfaction in other portions of the district, but not sufficient to endanger the election of the Democratic nominee.

strong candidate. But if the nominee is not a strong man and capable leader, he will dance to some pretty lively music in this section if the signs of the times mean any thing.

We don't know what else this circular means. When the meeting takes place we shall publish the proceedings if we can get hold of them, even if they don't amount to anything more than a row. And the bigger the row the better the reading.

We have been requested by the following gentlemen to erase their names from the circular as they would not have authorized the use of their names had they known that negroes were to sign it or have anything to do with the convention: Dolba Riggins, J. M. W. Pierce, Absalom Eiland, W. F. Littlejohn, Alfred Childress, J. W. Riggins, Wiley Littlejohn.

The Law on the Subject.

We have been requested to publish the following law governing the counting of the vote in this county. The judge and clerk, it will be seen, were disqualified by reason of their candidacy:

On Saturday, next after the election, at the hour of 12 m., the returning officer of the county, in person or by deputy, and the probate judge and clerk of the circuit court shall assemble at the courthouse, or if there be no such judge or clerk, or if either of them be interested by reason of having been a candidate at such election, his place must be supplied by a respectable freeholder or a household head of the county and if all such officers be of the same political party, then the returning officer of the county must summon three reputable persons, resident householders or freeholders of the county, members of the opposite political party, to attend at such time and place, and in the presence of such other persons as choose to attend, and it shall be the duty of this board of supervisors, so constituted, to make a correct statement from the returns of the votes from the several precincts of the county, of the whole number of votes given therein for each office, and the person to whom such votes were given.

Following is an extract from the election law (Code §§ 287 and 288): "One of the poll lists and a statement of the votes certified in writing, must be sealed up, together with a list of the registered voters in such precinct at such election, in a box to be furnished by the sheriff, and locked and given to the returning officer. The other poll list, and the ballots (and the rejected ballots also) must be securely sealed up, fastened in another box, and be kept by one of the inspectors. And if no legal demand be made on such inspector for said box and its contents within sixty days, he shall then destroy the contents of said box without unsealing or examining them."

The above is probably the law under which the board of supervisors acted in throwing out three boxes, which it is reported came to the Sheriff unsealed. We publish this by request, and just at this time it will prove interesting reading to many.

We could go on and publish more of the law ad infinitum, but it is long enough to reach from Dan to Beersheba and would confuse the most patriotic "wild man of Borneo." The above extracts touch upon the points at issue in the matter of our election.

Sometime since we called attention to the political mess in Tuscaloosa county. We are always interested in everything at Tuscaloosa having known the Tuscaloosians from the ground up. The trouble there was that the Democratic Executive Committee allowed independents and others who had openly and continuously antagonized the Democracy to take part in the Democratic primary election, which resulted in the nomination of two objectionable men for the Legislature. Immediately after such nomination, a new executive committee was appointed by a mass meeting and this new committee ordered another primary election and convention. This last convention nominated Col. N. N. Clements and Newton L. Whitfield, a well to do young farmer, as candidates for the Legislature, and endorsed the nominations of the other convention for probate judge and circuit clerk. The ticket with Col. Clements' name on it was elected, and the legislative candidates who had been nominated by a ring notorious for its rottenness were retired. Col. Clements was for two terms Speaker of the Alabama House of Representatives and served one term as member of Congress from the 6th Alabama district. His followers claim him as the representative of the pure Democracy of Tuscaloosa, and though many Republicans voted for him in the general election, yet he was nominated by Democrats only. The Tuscaloosa Democracy have declared that it does not want and will not allow the raving and hot-tail negro element to make nominations for its endorsement. This must be done where there is pure and strong party organization is perfected. We respectfully request friends in Tuscaloosa county to support the Democratic ticket.

LOCAL NOTICES.

The nights are getting longer.

Mr. G. W. Haden, of this place, is quite sick.

Mrs. E. C. Lawrence is visiting friends at Jemison.

The county school board was in session last Saturday.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Hennie Beasley, of this place, is very ill.

Mrs. Geo. W. Brown, of Darlington, S. C., is again on a visit to relatives in Clanton.

Mrs. F. W. Brown, of Columbus, Ga., is visiting the family of Mr. Wm. Wright, Sr., at this place.

Congressional candidates have begun to stroll around the district asking hands with "the boys."

Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for Constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle.

Old people suffer much from disorders of the urinary organs, and are always gratified at the wonderful effects of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm in banishing their troubles. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala. [mar1]

Miss Maggie McKee, of Ramer, Montgomery county, is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. M. C. McKee, at this place.

Mrs. Alice Ortes, of Augusta, Ga., after an extended visit to friends in Clanton left Saturday for Western New York to visit relatives.

A. T. Thomas, colored, has a fine school at Pine Hill near Jemison with thirty-five pupils in attendance. He is a good teacher and deserves well.

Master John Kirkman, of Birmingham, has been sojourning in Clanton to the enjoyment of a number of friends, who are always glad to see him and hear him talk.

Mr. Eugene Evans has purchased the corner storehouse and lot next to the View office from Mr. John Aldridge, and is preparing to move his stock of goods into it. Mr. McKee will open a stock of goods in the storehouse now occupied by Mr. Evans.

The young people of our town, more especially the little folks, spent a pleasant evening at the residence of Mrs. A. M. Adams yesterday. The occasion was a mask party and supper given complimentary to Masters Jimmie and Willie Martin, of Florence, Ala., and as is usual with all the entertainments given by Mrs. Adams the affair was a success in every way.

A sister of Mrs. J. M. Bell, from Montgomery county, is on a visit to the latter, at this place.

Mr. Cavin Fox and family, of Deatsville, are summering in Clanton. They are stopping with Mr. A. J. Hall.

Col. Virgil Murphy has returned from New Mexico and visited friends in Clanton this week. He will make his home at Jemison.

Cadet Sheldon Eddins, of Tuscaloosa, has taken up his abode in Clanton and is learning the art typographic in the View office.

The negro who struck Frank Higgins with an axe in the difficulty which occurred just across the Coosa river as mentioned last week, has been captured and placed in jail at Rockford.

"I advertise to make myself known to those who should be my customers; so that when a man comes to see me he knows or knows of me." So said a most successful advertiser. Here is logic for you.

The "Holt" base ball nine, of Clanton, defeated the Hunt's Mill nine, in a game played at the Mill last Saturday. The score was Clanton 19, Hunt's Mill 13. Another game will be played soon.

School teachers and parents should remember that anything in the way of school books can be had by leaving your orders at the View Stationery Stand. Cut this out and paste it in your hat.

If all the votes cast had been counted the majority of Mr. W. H. Foshee, for circuit clerk would have been 77 instead of 39 as published. He ran ahead of the ticket at Mullin's and at Latham's but was only given the votes cast for the ticket, on the first estimate made. This runs up the vote cast for circuit clerk to 2,143.

Verbena Academy.

Read notice in another column of the re-opening of Verbena Academy on Sept. 6th. This excellent institution deserves a liberal patronage from the citizens of Chilton county.

To Be Contested.

The election in this county will be contested we learn; both sides having employed counsel with this end in view. Both sides think they have a strong case. We shall not take sides with either faction, but we are anxious to learn something more about Alabama's wonderful election law, and will publish all we can that may be of interest to our readers and the general public.

Dots From Lonesome Valley.

The weather is still very warm. Religious meetings are still on a boom in this locality.

The Wells & McCranie mill has a fine lot of logs on the yard.

Blackberries are all gone, so of course commissaries have gone up.

We have decided to name our little town Kickerville, not in honor of the chronic kickers but in honor of J. T. Kicker, who is the founder and former land owner of Lonesome Valley.

The health of Kickerville still remains very good.

We regret to learn that we are to lose Mr. Scott and his most estimable wife they are going to Verbena. We wish them much happiness in their new home. M. M.

Items From Wadsworth.

Mr. W. W. Wadsworth is gone to Montgomery.

Mr. L. F. Rollins, who has for several years been employed in Mr. Wadsworth's mill business, is now building a mill for himself near Myrick's mill. We bespeak for Mr. Rollins good business, as his experience in the mill business is large and extended.

There will be an ice cream supper here on the night of the 12th for the benefit of the Methodist church a large crowd is expected to attend.

Mr. W. D. Wood, is still here and with his generous ways and winning smiles encourages those who call at the office to call again.

Preaching here on next Saturday night and Sunday.

A husband reading, while his wife near him sat embroidering a pair of slippers, remarked: "What surprise there are in statistics. A German physician affirms and proves by figures that half of the female sex are touched with insanity." "He is right," replied the wife, dryly, "for more than half the women leave it by getting married."

Verbena Items.

The third quarterly Conference of the M. E. Church South, for Clanton and Verbena charge was held in the church here on the 7th and 8th. Rev. O. R. Blue, the presiding elder, was present and the occasion passed off very pleasantly. Clanton church was not represented. The next conference goes by vote to Wadsworth and will convene in October next.

Misses Lucy Jenkins and Lola Cain, of Wetumpka, are visiting relatives in Verbena.

Miss Lissie Baldwin, of Auburn, is in Verbena visiting her aunt Mrs. B. J. Baldwin.

Ex-Judge Caffey, of Hayneville, was in Verbena last week stopping with Mr. J. G. Farley.

The election passed off well here last week, giving the democratic ticket a large majority. It is said that there was no whiskey on the grounds and hence no fuses occurred and no drunken votes were polled.

Three ladies and two gentlemen were invited to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Baldwin one morning last week, where they partook of the contents of a table elegantly enriched with grapes, melons and pears. All were bountifully satisfied and came away thinking "Who would not live here all ways."

That young man who sat up so late one night last week with his heart's delight and caught "such a bad cold as never was before" says he is not discouraged, but will try it again. RESTLESS.

On the ninth inst., Auditor Burke reported five probate judges to the governor for non-compliance with the revenue code. The reasons for the report in each case are given below:

Obituary.

Departed this life July 31st, 1886, WALTER E. BROOKS, in the 30th year of his age. Just one year ago he professed religion and united with Ebenezer Baptist Church, since which time he has been an earnest, faithful worker in the Master's vineyard; but his mission on earth is finished, he has gone to receive the reward of the faithful. Knowing that his time had come, he called his relatives and friends to his bedside. After assuring his father and mother that they had done all they could for him, and not to grieve for he would be so much better off, he bade all around him good bye, telling them to meet him in heaven. What a blessed consolation to the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters to know that Walter is now "safe in the arms of Jesus." Yet how we miss him in the Sabbath school and church, but our loss, we feel assured, is his eternal gain. "He shall sleep but not forever. There will be a glorious dawn. When we meet to part no more, On that resurrection morn."

Mr. Spencer Pratt, of Mobile, has been appointed minister to the Persian Court. He had as few claims on a democratic administration as anybody we know of. He is of the dude order, and we learn never even votes. His only qualifications for the office at that Court that have been strenuously urged, is that he is young and unmarried. Evening Capital.

Metamorphosis. It is said, here found that there can be no thunder and lightning without rain. When thunder is heard beneath a clear sky, the report must either come from distant clouds or be the result of some other cause than a discharge of electricity. Harvest or heat lightning is produced by a distant storm.

Texas has a new industry. The Clear Creek Crab Canning Company has been organized in Galveston county, and is doing a big business in catching and canning crabs. The shells are removed entire except the claws, ground in a mill, and shipped to France, where they are manufactured into a delicacy. The oil that arises on the vats where the crabs are boiled is used in making soap, and is said to be equal to coconut oil for this purpose. The crabs themselves are packed in five-gallon cans, and are reckoned good.

Few people will accept the remarkable views on opium smoking expressed by Mr. J. G. Scott, the traveler, in his book on Tonquin. He asserts that opium used moderately is at least no more harmful than tobacco or alcohol, and that the opium pipe is a positive blessing after a hard day's march, or in countries where fever fumes rise thick out of the marshes and jungles. He says that it is only when a man puts himself to sleep with a half dozen or more pipes that it becomes a curse. The opium habit is very prevalent among the French soldiers in Indo-China.

A United States Treasury expert says that it is very difficult to detect counterfeit gold coin. He says: "Those filled with platinum have a fair ring and the joint in the edge is effaced by remilling. Platinum is worth only about one-third of the value of gold, weight for weight. I have $30 gold pieces out of which $14 worth of gold had been taken and replaced by platinum, making an exceedingly dangerous counterfeit, which only a good judge of coin can detect. The ring is good and the weight is there, while the whole outside of the coin is genuine."

At the meeting of the Presbyterian ministers of Philadelphia recently the Rev. Dr. W. D. Roberts delivered an address on "Suicide, its Causes, Laws and Cures." He said that the publication of the suicides of the world by the newspapers caused weak-minded and sick persons to tend toward suicide. In France the first part of the week predominates largely over the latter part in number of suicides, because Saturday is day-day, Sunday drinking day, Monday repenting day and Tuesday the day of suicide. The remedy, he argued, against the suicidal inclinations is for all people to become devout Christians and fully believe in God.

The tongue, says a medical writer, is the indicator of the system. A white-coated tongue indicates febrile disturbance; a brown, moist tongue indicates disordered digestion or overloaded prima viæ; a brown, dry tongue indicates depressed vitality, as in typhoid conditions and blood poisoning; a red, moist tongue indicates debility; a red, dry tongue indicates pyrexia, or an inflammatory fever; a "strawberry" tongue with prominent papillae indicates scarlet fever or rotella; a red, glazed tongue indicates debility, with want of assimilative power of digestion; a tremulous, flabby tongue indicates adynamic tremors; hesitancy in protruding the tongue indicates concussion of the brain; protrusion on one side indicates paralysis of the muscles on that side.

An animal whose identity is at present unknown there, was landed in San Francisco lately from the interior of Japan, where it first saw the light of day. At a glance the curiosity might be taken for either a dog or a monkey. It is shaped like the former about the head and neck, but otherwise somewhat resembles the monkey. The animal's favorite position is on its haunches, but with a little urging it stands on its four feet, the body sloping downward from the head like a giraffe. The claws on the four feet are like those of a dog, but two extra pairs are furnished on the hind legs a couple of inches above the balls of the feet. The animal appears to be gentle, but has a strong, high-keyed bark, which it gives when spectators attempt to stir it up.

One of the small, rocky islands of Pyramid Lake, Nevada, is alive with rattlesnakes. It is supposed that the progenitors of these snakes were wafted to the island on bunches of floating reeds or rafts of driftwood. There are thousands of rattlesnakes—the people about the lake say millions—of the rattlers on the island, and their right to it there is "none to dispute." The rattlesnakes have their dens among the rocks and feed upon the young of waterfowl and fish that are cast on the island. Stories have been told of these snakes rushing forth in a body, hissing and rattling, to attack any one landing upon the island. The rattlesnakes of the island, when disturbed, glide away and hide themselves in the crevices of the rocks, just as would other snakes on the mainland, though they have not observed when last passed.

DRAMA.
"There are but interludes which fancy makes."
In the purple dreamland lying,
White winged dream,
Sleep with folded plumes fair
In the heart of violet rare,
Where the yellow rose is lighting,
Glimmering seems.
Soft grey clouds with sleep overweighed
The are seen,
And each heavy lidded star
Drifts through dream seas still and far,
Mists of gold, with peace overweighed, Lie between.
Breeding wings stretch o'er the meadows
Purple barred,
Snowy lilies, faced with gold,
In their bosoms dreams enfold,
Where the night wings cast their shadows
Golden starred.
In the mist dreams are lying
Full of peace,
Weary souls give up dark care
In the dream land far and fair,
In the heart of roses sighing
Sorrow cease.

DOWN THE SHAFT.

"As if I would think of a common cool-hand!" said Emmeline Lathrop, contemptuously. "I am surprised at your insolence, Mr. Hilford!"
She laughed lightly as she spoke, but to Garrett Hilford it was no matter of mirth.
"You're not in earnest, Emmy!" he pleaded. "You can't be in earnest! You never would have accepted all my attentions, and looked at me with such sweet, smiling eyes, if you hadn't meant something by it. I may be only a cool-hand, that is true," he added, with a dark-red flush mounting to his brow, "but I'm getting fair wages, and I could make a good and comfortable home for the woman that trusts herself to me."
"It's quite out of the question," said Emmeline, decidedly.
Hilford gnawed his under lip.
"Then you mean nothing all this time!" he said, in a reproved voice.
"I mean to enjoy myself—nothing more!"
"Humph!" uttered Hilford, sardonically. "The spirit means to enjoy herself when she's the wretchedest of wretches! The beautiful, hissing, diamond-eyed serpent means nothing else when it drags the palpitating bird to destruction! A strange sort of diversion, that!"
"I wish, Mr. Hilford, if you're through, you'd go about your business," said Emmeline, coloring and biting her lip.
"There's a good many customers coming in about this time of night, and I don't think they'd be particularly edified by your tragedy speeches."
"You think not, eh?" said Hilford.
"Well, I will go," said Emmeline, much relieved at this prospect of being so easily rid of her avian.
"Oh, I won't say good-by!" returned Hilford, with a light laugh. "Who knows but that we may meet again?"
Emmeline sincerely hoped not. And just then some ladies came in to look at ribbons and laces, and the pretty shop-girl found all her thought and time occupied.

And after all, what was the use of troubling herself about it? It was very foolish of young Hilford to attach so much importance to a mere flirtation—an exchange of the silly, smiling nothing which belongs to the vocabulary of all young people. Did he think that she, with all her attractions, intended to become that worst of all drudges—a poor man's wife!

And when, a few days subsequently, she heard that Garrett Hilford had left the place, she was very glad.
"Good-by!" said Hilford, as he would have made me my trouble, that he would not have a look in his face that I did not like. It's a good thing that he is gone."
And once more Emmeline threw herself into the gaieties of her light and frothy life. She was young and beautiful. Why, then, should she not enjoy herself?

To have half a dozen lovers at once; to be engaged three-deep at every ball, picnic or excursion; to muse on the possibilities of a splendid match some day, when she should have danced and dreamed and dreamed his was her life.
So, one day, she accepted Edelbert Warren's invitation to go with him on an excursion to the Wardenville Mountains.
"He's rich," said the little schemer to herself, "if he is stupid. And money means so much! Of course, it would be pleasant to really think that he would love me, but poor, dear George! he would be a poor, poor, dear George! a steamboat clerk, at ten dollars a week. Oh, dear, why is it that all the nice young fellows are so horribly ineligible!"
And so she succeeded more joyfully to the proposition to descend into the black chasm of the Wardenville Coal Mine, "just for fun," than did Emmeline Lathrop.

"Have I ever been down a mine? No, of course not!" the saucy beauty cried. "I live above ground, thank you! But of course it would be a splendid frolic to go down the shaft, if all the rest of you are going."
And they hurried together, screaming and laughing, on the rude elevator as it descended lower, and still more low, into the black depths of the earth, until the yellow light of day had vanished, and all that illuminated their faces was the lurid light of the torches carried by the men who accompanied them.
"Why," cried Emmeline, as at last the elevator touched ground, and she sprang off, "it's like a cathedral, with long aisles, supported by columns of glittering rock! There's a beautiful view below the level of the earth! Oh, it doesn't seem possible! It is grand beyond all I had dreamed of!—yet oh, how frightfully gloomy! One feels as if one were under a spell!"

The little party consisted in various directions under the gleaming arches of coal, lighted here and there by the pitiful glances of torches, and Emmeline found herself in a long, apparently interminable aisle, with its red-brown sides glittering like black diamonds.
"Where am I?" she cried, a little uneasily. "Have I lost my way?"
From a pathway, which seemed to be the broader side of right angles, a dark figure dropped down, with a light shining like a yellow star in the band of the cap it wore.

"Stop this way," said a deep, subdued voice.
And Emmeline gave a little shriek.
"Is it Garrett Hilford?" she cried.
"Here!"
"It's Garrett Hilford, and here," he answered, composedly. "How do you do, Miss Lathrop? Can I show you around my quarters? We don't have many visitors down here, and so, of course, we are proportionally glad to see them."
"Where is the rest of the party?" said Emmeline, glancing nervously in this direction and that.
"Gone around by the Black Arch, I suppose," Hilford answered. "It's quite a curiosity, that Black Arch—at least, so the above-ground people seem to think. Would you like to see it?"
"I must go back to the others," said Emmeline, hurriedly.
"We can meet them presently," said Garrett, with the utmost composure. "Follow me, please. It's only a few rods."
He walked on, and Emmeline, after a few moments' hesitation, reluctantly followed.

What else was there for her to do, but to keep in sight of that faint yellow star, where all else was hideous blackness? But after she had walked quite a distance through sinuous pathways, some of which were scarcely wide enough to admit of the passage of the human form, she suddenly stopped.
"I will go no further," she declared. Garrett Hilford looked around.
"Just as you please," said he, with a sinister smile.

"Take me back to the mouth of the mine," he cried. "All this time you have been leading me astray."
He leaned against the almost perpendicular low wall of the mine, with folded arms.
"Well," said he, "why should I not? Didn't you lead me astray once, and laugh at me, afterward, as if it were a capital joke? Do you think there is no such thing as retaliation in this world? Is it a pleasant sort of thing, this being deceived and made game of, do you think, Miss Emmeline Lathrop?"

A deadly chill seemed to enfold the girl's heart. She gasped for breath. In this sepulchral gloom, this terrible isolation, what was to become of her? she asked herself.
"Hush!" he said, lifting his finger in a listening attitude. "Do you hear that creaking sound? It is the chains of the elevator going up. Your friends have finished their survey. They are going back again. Up to this time they have not missed you. Yes, shriek—cry out until you have strained your lungs to the utmost! Do these black walls return you any answer? And who is there to hear you—the mules, champing their feed in the furthest sockets of these aisles? The few Swedes working beyond, who cannot understand a word of English! No, Miss Lathrop, you are at my mercy at last. You amused yourself with my anguish once; I can play with your fears now."

"I am not afraid of you!" cried Emmeline, feigning a valor she was far from feeling.
"You are!" he retorted, sharply. "I see it in your eyes. I hear it in your voice, and it fills me with delight."
"Why should I be afraid? I have done you no harm," she asserted.
"You have blighted my life! You have ruined my future! You have destroyed my faith in human nature! Is that what you call no harm?"

She sunk on her knees, with wildly-clasped hands.
"Be merciful!" she pleaded. "Be generous! Take me to the mouth of the mine! Signal them to return for me!"
"I will not!" he said, savagely. "Does the wolf give up the prey upon which his teeth have already closed? Does death give up its victim? I have sworn to be revenged, and I will keep my word!"
She turned and fled from him at the top of her speed, shrieking as she went; and, oh, joy! at the first turn of the black pathway she met men, hurrying toward her with torches.

She had been missed at last; they had returned, in quest of her.
"Why did you allow yourself to get separated from us?" asked they, reproachfully.
But she could not answer with sob and tears.
"I thought I was lost!" she faltered.
"It was so frightened!"
"There was nothing to be frightened about," said the superintendent. "You could not possibly have got lost. Garry Hilford is working there somewhere, and he would have set you on the right path. He is a poor, low-crazed fellow, but he would have done so!"

"Love-crazed!" repeated one of the ladies. "How very romantic!"
"He's been disappointed," explained the man, "and he has never gotten over it. He works where he feels like it, and when you don't like him at full length in the straw we keep down here for the mules, and stare at the roof of the mine."
Emmeline listened in silence; but if an arrow had pierced it, the pain in her heart could not have been keener.

FIREWORKS.

AN INDUSTRY THAT HAS BEEN LARGELY DEVELOPED.

Combinations of Color, Light and Flame That Illuminate the Skies at Night—Curiosities of Day-Fireworks.

The fireworks in use in this country are all imported. They cannot be manufactured so cheap here as in Europe. But the fireworks which are now so extensively used are all made here. There are more than eighteen large factories in the Northern States, which turn out many millions worth of pyrotechnics annually. The chief seat of this class of industry is in East New York and Williamsburg. Gunpowder is still the principal ingredient of fireworks, and as is well known three materials enter into the composition of gunpowder, sulphur, sulphur and charcoal. These ingredients are first separately ground into fine powder, then mixed in the proper proportions, and afterward committed to the mill for the purpose of incorporating their component parts in the special body to be produced. The latter process is generally carried on in a number of little wooden huts with light roofs, so that in case of accidental explosions the roof may fly off without difficulty and in the least injurious direction. When the powder has been dusted and glazed it is dried in the stonehouse, where great care is taken to avoid explosion.

Another important ingredient in fireworks is steel dust. Being mixed with meal powder or some other composition, and the mixture inflamed in a proper tube, a jet of fire is produced with a most brilliant effect. Iron filings, when freed from dust, are also often used. But firework makers generally prefer cast iron shavings to powder.

There are many other substances occasionally employed in the composition of fireworks which can be procured from all chemists and druggists. They are chiefly camphor, antimony, which gives to the fire different and particular shades of color, a benzoic acid, which imparts to it an agreeable odor, and spirits of wine, which are used for mixing up the ingredients into a paste.

The goodness of the article to be produced depends as much on the construction of the molds that are used as on the purity of the ingredients. The molds consist chiefly of solid and hollow cylinders of cast iron or wood or metal. Both are used in the construction of rockets. Then there is a machine for contracting the aperture of the cases, the operation of which is called clogging; another for boring them after they are filled, and a simple apparatus for grinding the materials previous to their being filled into the molds.

Rockets have ever held the first place among single fireworks since the invention of the art. The parachute rocket, discharges at great height a floating star of heavy calibre, suspended from a parachute, which is set free, expanded and carried by the bursting of the rocket when it reaches its elevation. These parachutes float long distances, and change colors several times before disappearing. Another rocket is called the "comet." It ascends to a great height, and discharges a single star of large size and great brilliancy, which changes colors several times, while floating slowly away, then suddenly bursts into a revolving wheel of brilliant fire, ending with a burst of tinted meteors.

Colored fires for theatrical use, tableaux and outdoor illuminations are now made free from disagreeable smell while burning. They consist of a dry powder which is spread in a metallic dish. A brilliant and dazzling display is produced by Bengal lights, which are also burning. A novelty are the colored Bengal light books, which consist of a book of six leaves, with three strips to each leaf. A strip or leaf is torn from the book and then lighted. It burns with a brilliant red or green illumination.

Pieces of fireworks, which are harmless and can be used by ladies and children, are the flower pots. They are shower cases, throwing out while burning remarkable streams of beautiful spur fire and spangles, presenting the appearance of a fountain of brilliant fire. Flower pots are held in the hand by the handle. There are a number of ways in which their revolutions, throw out circles of beautiful and dazzling spangles. These wheels are attached to a smooth, upright post, by a round nail through the centre bolt. The finest of these wheels are composed of six pieces of brilliant fire, each one after firing, changing in the form and appearance of its scintillations, and exhibiting, at the same time, variegated colored centre rings, changing to the most beautiful colors known to the pyrotechnic art.

Some of the finest effects produced last season at Coney Island were the "Colored Rainbows." A shower of fire fell from the intermediate stars of variegated colored fires, which finally explode with a heavy report and discharge high in the air a mass of contortions of fire, hissing and squirming in every direction and resembling fiery snakes. Floral bombshells show in burning all the choice colors of the rainbow, red, blue and variegated shades of all shades. They project a bombshell in the air to an elevation of about 800 feet, which then explodes and throws out stars of every hue, mingled with showers of golden rain.

daylight fireworks consist of shells which comprise a selection of combinations such as animals, fish, birds, crocodiles, dragons, beautiful colored smoke effects, etc. They are thrown from a mortar to a high altitude, when the figures described are released, which float through the air to the wonderment of the beholder. To the same class of fireworks belong the hot air balloons, which are small figure balloons, which are made of tissue paper tinted and colored, and in the shape of large pigs, elephants and fishes. After being inflated they are sent up, and present in the air a lifelike representation of the animal. Some of these balloons have fireworks attachments, which are set off when in mid-air, exhibiting in all varieties of color a bursting of shells, showers of golden rain and the dazzling brilliancy of the meteor.

Nearly all the fireworks come into the market in assorted cases, which range in price from $10 to $200. A case that can be bought for $20 contains 336 rockets, 10 Roman candles, 144 sky rockets, 24 flower pots with handles, 18 Bengal lights, 16 colored triangle wheels, 21 mines of colored stars, 6 colored vertical wheels, 6 dozen pin wheels, 12 dozen colored lights, 24 sticks Chinese punk and an unexcelled colored show ball. Extra large pieces are sold singly. A grandiose case about $125, and a light of rockets from $35 to $100, and a place called "whirling phantoms," $28.—New York Star.

Country Life in China.

Life in a Chinese hamlet is wound up to run like clockwork, and its busy regularity never varies. The hamlet itself, says a writer, is often very picturesque. Here is a group of 700 or 800 houses, situated between two graceful hills, presenting a charming view. Extending about a hundred tradesmen massed on the banks of a small river that runs through the valley, the inhabitants have scattered their cottages a little everywhere, leaving between them here and there spaces occupied by fields and gardens. The stream, spanned by bridges, is constantly dotted with big and little boats going and coming from neighboring towns. Compelled to shape their fields according to the sinuosities of the water courses and the contours of the hills, their designs are of the most unlooked-for sort. By small canals, conveying the water from the river, the terraces on the hills are irrigated for cultivation. Upon these terraces the gay, green color of the rice fields predominates over the darker tint of the sugar cane in spots not so well irrigated; big yellow flowers stand out on the cotton stalks; lines of orange trees, with their sombre leafage, are visible, and beyond stretch plantations of tea trees, under which is caught a glimpse of the gray earth, contrasting with all the rest. Rice, tea, cotton, sugar and oranges are the most important crops of the locality, but there are several others to add to its income, viz.: hemp, yielding twenty feet from the ground; oil extracted from a tree which has a disgusting look on account of its knotty, crooked trunk and rusty leaves, and bamboo, the most useful of all the small trees, and extending gracefully with its branches exceeding thirty feet and balancing their leaves in the light of the breeze. The country roundabout is a mass of small trees, from which ascend morning, noon, and evening, silver tinklings from the bells of a dozen pagodas, revealing their triple roofs of yellow tiles and their upturned corners through rifts in the foliage against the pure blue of the sky. No rattling wheels are heard, and even the song of birds, and the echoing voices of the field laborers, do not break the deep prevailing stillness.

Diminutive as the farms are, their yield is enormous. On a farm of four acres a family will live comfortably and economically for a hundred dollars a year. To secure such a result, the tiller does not limit himself to selling the raw products of the land, but transforms them as far as possible by manufacturing in their homes. They manufacture, by primitive process, their own oil and sugar, and weave their silk, hemp, cotton, and, by means of a small loom, the silken cloth as possible on the farm, and prevent their concentration in large factories, which would encourage overproduction. They proportion the quantity of their products to their immediate wants, thoroughly convinced that steady work will always supply them from year to year. As a consequence, little capital is accumulated, an China, perhaps, has less money piled up than any other nation of the world. All this is simply in accordance with frugal methods of living and the cardinal idea that work is the chief end of man.—Baltimore American.

Cheerful Cripples.

"The cheerfulness of crippled men takes me off my feet. The other night I attended a little reception at which there were present a dozen or twenty old soldiers. Some of them had wooden legs, others had crooked legs or maimed legs, and there was in fact scarcely a whole-bodied man among them, and yet when the music took a martial turn all these old fellows insisted on dancing. It was the most remarkable performance that I had ever seen, and for ten minutes a good many of us could not tell whether we were laughing or crying. But the boys seemed to enjoy it, and when their blood was up they were as reckless as a lot of romping lads and girls in attempting all the extraordinary capers incidental to a frolicsome dance."—London News.

Mr. J. C. Lawrence has purchased a half-interest in the View printing office and its business. To his energy and business capacity is due much of the unprecedented success with which the paper has just during a year of extended depression.

The View is a fixture. It couldn't run away if it tried, simply because the great body of its readers want it here and evidently are going to keep it here. Its circulation extends from New York to the Rio Grande, and from Montana to Florida. It has advertised Chilton county and made her many resources, advantages and capabilities known as no other agency has ever done. It will continue in this work, looking for its reward in the improvement, growth and enhancement which it thus aids to bring. And it hopes to merit in the future the liberal patronage extended in the past.

Dr. J. B. Kelley, of our neighboring county of Coosa, is in the field for the Congressional nomination. Without disparaging the claims of other gentlemen now in the field, we think that Coosa has some claims upon our people on account of the close relations existing, commercially and otherwise, and we hope her candidate will be well thought of by our delegates.

We publish a communication from Mr. H. A. Wilson, of Lomax. In its clear cut, vigorous, but good tempered expressions it shows that the writer says what he means and means what he says. We have therefore concluded that one of the objects of the forthcoming convention is to "smoke the pipe of peace" all around the ring. So note it be. We are promised the proceedings for publication.

Judge John D. Stewart, Circuit Judge of eight counties in Georgia, after five years on the bench, resigned. When he first filled this position, three of the counties were for prohibition and five not. Now, there is but one wet county in his district. He says: "In the prohibition counties crime has been reduced by one-half. I get through the docket in a dry county in a day or two, while in a wet county it takes about a week. The cost of running the court is about $150 a day, and the dry counties are saving about 800 dollars a year by prohibition—in the mere matter of court expenses."

The State Committee of the Indiana Democrats met at Indianapolis a few days ago. Senator McDonald was present and took an unusually active part. He spoke earnestly and decidedly in favor of Mr. Cleveland's administration, rebuking the criticisms of the spoilsmen and telling the hungry place hunters that Mr. Cleveland was strong and popular with the business men, and whether they wanted it or not they would have to take him as their candidate in 1908 and had better begin supporting him now. They would then understand how to do it when they were compelled to do so.

The graphophone is a decided improvement on the phonograph, as it will produce word for word any speech spoken in its hearing in an ordinary tone of voice. It is the outcome of the labors of Prof. Tainter, of the Bell Laboratory, at Washington. Its chief use will, it is expected, be as an amanuensis, doing away with a stenographic expert. The receiver may be a mere copyist. He or she sits in front of the instrument and writes out from it as fast or slow as the occasion and rapidity of the writer may require. A wax thread cut on the cylinder is a matrix, from which the sound can be taken at any time. The cylinder has a basis of paper, which can be mailed and the talk reproduced anywhere from a similar machine. Newspaper dispatches may be dictated and taken from it by the telegraph operator without going through a stenographer and being written out. The machine is about as big as a sewing machine. Newspaper dispatches may be dictated and taken from it by the telegraph operator without going through a stenographer and being written out. The machine is about as big as a sewing machine.

The State Vote.

The official vote of the State given the Democratic ticket 144,357 and the Republican ticket 23,388. The Prohibition ticket received 613 votes. The vote in favor of the Birmingham Amendment was 55,700, against 33,360. For the Road Amendment 1,741, against 48,794.

Editor View:—In your article of last week under the head of "Republicans to Organize," I find the following:

"We don't know what else this circular means. When the meeting takes place, we shall publish the proceedings if we can get hold of them, even if they don't amount to anything more than a row. And the bigger the row the better the reading."

Now, Mr. Editor, I assure you that you shall have the pleasure of giving publicity to the proceedings if you should so desire, but I hope you will not have the gratification of informing your readers that we had a rowdy time, and as none but Republicans are invited to attend or expected to participate in the proceedings of the convention it is hardly probable there will be a row, and I hope all rowdy characters belonging to the opposition party will religiously refrain from forcing their company upon us on that occasion.

I also find the following extract in the same article:

"We have been requested by the following gentlemen to erase their names from the circular, as they would not have authorized the use of their names had they known that negroes were to sign it or have anything to do with the convention: Doba Higgins, J. M. W. Pierce, Abner Eiland, W. F. Littlejohn, Alfred Childers, J. W. Higgins, Wiley Littlejohn."

Some, and I think all the above named gentlemen who have requested you to erase their names were informed by me at the time they authorized their names to be signed to the call that colored men's names would also be signed to it, and I can only account for their action in making such a request by attributing it to their inability to withstand democratic appeals and ostracism, as I stated in substance to them that Republicans did not discriminate in favor of or against colored men in the exercise of their civil or political rights; and that we did not resort to methods to secure colored votes our opponents did; but that we recognized every man's right to think and act for himself, and to exercise his right of elective franchise at the ballot box as he saw proper, and that neither the white or colored Republicans in the South recognized or favored the social intermingling of the two races, social equality or mixed schools as democrats have endeavored to make the poor and laboring white man believe. We believe in letting every man vote as he sees proper, and insist that his vote should be counted as cast not substitute democratic votes for, and in lieu of republican votes, as has repeatedly been the case in the South. We believe in a free ballot and a fair count of all votes cast, but are opposed to a fair ballot and a free count.

Respectfully,
H. A. WILSON.

Ever since the days which heralded the glory surrounding ancient Greece and Rome the world has had its share of commentators and comments. Some have been sensible, many have been senseless. Some comment, both favorable and otherwise, has been made upon the course of this press in the recent campaign in this county. The fact is our course was due to the decision of the State Democratic Executive Committee which recognized as Democrats all who voted the State and National Democratic tickets. Both factions in this county under this decision, claimed to be Democratic, and the white Republicans were about equally divided between them. This decision, so incomparably remarkable, left us no course to pursue and nothing to antagonize. This is why the View was politically silent after the "proclamation" of the State committee was quoted for the public through these columns by a member of the local committee.

In the Senate yesterday Antiquity Hour, P. A. L. L. D., took advantage of an adjournment resolution to bring in some timely and appropriate remarks about "outrages" in the South. He was rebuked, but it's no use rebuking him! The Democratic Senators should have tapped their foreheads significantly when he brought up his old hobby. If Frisbie Hour were at a meeting of the American Antiquarian Society, a Dairyman's Convention or a Reunion of Survivors of the Boerens Age, he would have to wave the R. S. The old boy means well, but he doesn't know, you know—N. F. S.

Sheriff Armstrong was shot and killed at Tuskegee on last Saturday by Mr. Ben Thompson. The election trouble in Macon was the cause of the shooting. Thompson's friendship for the Sheriff was in full view.

Items from Wadsworth.

The ice cream festival at this place on last Thursday night did not come fully up to expectations, as unfortunately for it, a heavy shower came up or rather down just at the time.

The fair hands of Misses Novella Falkner, Susie Johnson, Anna Stanfield and Nellie Wadsworth, plied the spoons diligently in dealing out ice cream and at the same time they spared no kind words to induce all their patrons to spend money liberally in button-hole bouquets, etc. Seeing that all would not probably be sold out that night, our esteemed minister, Rev. S. H. Nettles, who was very jovial and conspicuous on this occasion especially among the young folks, is responsible for having made a proposition to go halves with any one and treat the crowd to ice cream and cake. He was promptly taken up and afterward a third person offered to share, making the part of each only one-third. All were then invited, but only about 20 or 25 accepted treats. Next thing in order was getting up so much money, after which the bell or bells of Wadsworth was to be exhibited. Of course all were in hopes it would be a belle, but there were no specifications. At any rate the money was raised, but only a large size tavern bell was held up and no doubt its ringing caused some of the little fellows attending school to be reminded of past feelings of dread and fear. The young folks supplemented the pleasures of the evening by repairing to the residence of Mr. W. W. Wadsworth, where gayety and mirth were prolonged until the near approach of the small hours of the night.

Quite a crowd from this place went to the picnic at Cole's Spring on last Saturday. Several also went to Deatsville to hear Evangelist Thomason.

Much to the approval of the people Rev. S. H. Nettles spent several days during the past week in visiting about Wadsworth and vicinity. Friendly mingling is a requisite indispensable to the success of all ministers.

Mr. A. L. Haralson having been the successful competitor for the position as teacher of the public school near this place, he too is pursuing the duties of a pedagogue. Mr. H. is a gentleman of experience in this line and is doubtless imparting practical instruction to the young.

Stanton.

STANTON, Aug. 14.—A shocking accident occurred near here yesterday evening, to a young man named Winfield Foshee. While hauling corn tops, the mule became frightened and ran away, throwing Foshee out of the wagon on the double tree. In some way he became tangled up in the trace, dragging him under the wagon some distance, till coming in contact with a tree. The back of his head was struck by the double tree and split open to the skull. Knocking his front teeth out, and a portion of the roof of his mouth, and breaking his nose and jawbone all to pieces. At last accounts there was little hope of his recovery. Drs. Little and Joe Johnson are with him. The young man was about eighteen years old and the picture of health, and is a son of Mr. Wash Foshee, also a resident of Mr. W. H. Foshee, who is the clerk of the court of this county.

Mr. Foshee died on Sunday. He was a young man about seventeen years old. He had a large connection in the county.—Ed. View.

Maplesville Dots.

Farmers are listening with much anxiety for the "muttering thunder" that presages to us of to relieve our protracted drought.

Though we are still enjoying some vegetation, many, because of the severe drought, are things of the past.

Our friend Mr. Douthett is the right man in the right place to give satisfaction to his numerous summer friends who enjoy his hospitality.

Mr. Thomas Lawrence, an old and highly respected citizen of our town died at his home near Maplesville on the 14th.

A very serious accident occurred at Mr. W. Foster's on last Friday, his son, about eighteen years old, was driving a mule team when the animal took fright and running away threw him on his head and he was so injured that he died in a few days.

Since noting the many improvements which have been going on in Clanton, for the past few months we have become convinced that it is not the lack of enterprise on the part of our citizens that keeps Clanton from outgrowing Birmingham, so much as it is the want of capital. In proportion to the amount of capital in our town we think she has improved more than any town in the state. Capital is what we need, and what we are going to have. Anyone with capital would do well to come to Clanton and plant a furniture factory; Stanton, in this county, has one, and why can't Clanton? A cash door and blind factory at this place would pay a large percentage on the capital invested therein. Such an enterprise could be established with very little capital, by commencing on a small scale and gradually increasing the capital stock and manufacturing capacity as the business increased. There is already enough capital in Clanton to start up some such industry if our citizens would only form themselves into a stock company and go to work at it.

There is money to be made at it, and in addition to that it would enhance the value of real estate in our town, which is already steadily increasing, and it would give employment to many of our boys who are now idle. And they are not all idle from choice either, but because there is no work here for them to do. Another much needed enterprise, in Clanton, is a stock company to build a large hotel for the accommodation of summer visitors. Clanton can be made as popular a summer resort as any other town in Alabama, and why can't we erect a large hotel something on the plan of the one at Verbena which will be an ornament to the town and an attraction to refugees from the dust and heat of our cities. We have splendid water, delightfully cool nights, beautiful scenery, and as many pretty building sites for a fine hotel as can be found this side of the river Styx. We invite any and all who may be at all interested to come and see for themselves.

Editor Cutting has been released from jail. Whether this will satisfy the war cry is not apparent.

The truly brave are those who have the moral courage to speak out boldly what they think is right and who can bear the taunts of enemies as well as praises of friends. The truly great are those who do their duty to man and God. The truly great are those who bear their own burdens bravely and lend a helping hand to those around them. Their lives are spent in humble services.

The democratic party might learn something from the philosophy of Edmund Burke when he warns that "there are critical moments in the fortunes of all States when they are too weak to contribute to your prosperity may be strong enough to complete your ruin." Southern Democrats have seen the truth of this proposition demonstrated in every Southern State. It is wise to allow this wavering and dangerous element a voice in party councils?

Policeman William Montgomery was shot and killed by Harris Gunter, Esq., in Montgomery on the night of the 23rd. Gunter was drunk; he had been arrested for disorderly conduct and subsequently released on bail. He went to his home swearing death to the policeman who arrested him. About midnight he took his shotgun and went to the police station to look for police captain Martin. Seeing a policeman sitting down with his back turned he raised his gun and shot Montgomery, just as the latter turned to face his slayer. A sad affair, and whiskey was the cause of it.

In Erie, Kansas, a terrible tragedy occurred recently. A sixteen year old lad, having filled his mind with blood and thunder stories from dime novels of the worst class, armed himself with hatchet and butcher knife, entered the house where his father, mother, brother and sister were sleeping, and deliberately murdered every one of them, crushing their skulls and cutting their throats, and then ran to a neighbor's house and reported that a strange man had killed his father. The investigation proved him to be the guilty party. His name is Willie Sells. He had read these novels until, as he says, he wanted to be a "Wild Bill," a "Slippery Sam," or something of the kind, and commenced his career where it will likely end on the gallows.

The State of Trade.

The business outlook continues good throughout the country. The increase in the volume of transactions continues slowly, showing conclusively that the improvement is legitimate and permanent. Stocks of all kinds are low and merchants are buying to replenish for the balance of the summer trade. New York jobbers report strong inquiry for all kinds of goods for the trade, from all parts of the country, and as manufacturers have been careful not to have the output too strong the market is not overstocked, and prices are strong and firm, but without marked advance. Collections, too, are reported better there is not much paper floating and the percentage of loss is, therefore, at the minimum.

Our Outside.

On our outside can be found the best selection of reading matter from the best writers. On it may be found at times articles on science, art, industry and all things pertaining to the commercial world in addition to the best selections of poetry, for the lovers thereof; a love story for the sentimental; household hints for the homemaker; articles on agriculture for the farmer; statistics for the curious; a "Joke Book" and an illustrated funny column for those who love to laugh; and last but not least advertisements of some of the best business houses in the state and country can be found there, and should be read carefully. In fact our outside is a perfect wonder; being reserved for that class of readers who are in the least of reading matter that is interesting and instructive to all. It shows in north ten times the subscription price of the paper.

For Democrats Only.

"The people are worried of the division of labor, and the party is in a deeper field in dread. The power of politicians is being subjected to the way of the masses, and the truth is being asserted, that in democratic Alabama the people must rule." * * * Montgomery Dispatch.

Yes, and the people are getting tired of the scramble for office. The Democratic party must recognize this fact, and purify its ranks by ridding them of a large number of these "scramblers" for official position and promotion. Our political organizations have too many place hunters. We should heed the warning which comes from high Democratic authority that unless there be some to stand as faithful sentinels and give the alarm at the efforts of imprudent place hunters within our own ranks, their ambition may at any time seek personal advancement by organizing among us three or four political factions within the Democratic party, which will have their counterpart only in the turbulent and spoils hunting organizations which have long cursed the politics of the great city of New York. This may be achieved under the guise of patriotism, which Dr. Johnson once ill-humorously declared was the "last refuge of every scoundrel." Great political organizations are based on pure morals and wise principles. The Democracy should take time to read as it runs. Let us have a party organization that will be strong in its purity, intelligence and true patriotism.

Republicans, independents, bolters, infidels and ring-tailed monkeys will all read this notwithstanding the heading given it.

Going.

The last election virtually has broken up what little remained of the republican party as a state organization in Alabama. The latest to rejoin the democracy, is Hon. Chas. P. Lane, the ablest and most prominent leader of the republicans, and editor of the New South, at Huntsville. Hear him in the latest issue of that paper.

"It is clear to the mind of any thinking man, that the republican party of the south started wrong, and can never right itself; a party that is controlled by bad men, men whose characters reflect no greater credit upon the country, and men who are followed by a large majority of ignorant voters, who are unable to give an intelligent reason for their votes or their principles. We must say the party is not what we would like to see it. There are only two parties, it is true, but the principle upon which these two parties are based, can be found within the ranks of the southern democratic party. We mean to be distinctly understood when we say the white element of the southern democracy represents, through Randall, the Birmingham Age, the Huntsville Mercury, and numerous other agents, all that any fair-minded, liberal man could ask."

A Previous Case.

A writer in the Hayterville Examiner in criticizing the counting of the vote in that county by the board of supervisors appointed by the sheriff, quotes the following, which has a general bearing upon the duties of the election supervisors throughout the State:

In the case of Leigh vs. State 69 Ala. reports p. 261, Judge Stone in speaking of this board of supervisors says, "Their duties are defined. They must make a correct statement from the returns of the votes from the several precincts. Their duties are purely ministerial; confined to mere computation. Though called supervisors in the statute, they have no revising powers. They are governed by the returns made by the inspectors of the several precincts, as to the number of votes cast, and for whom cast. If there be in form, the supervisors have no power to go behind them and ascertain the qualifications of the voters. They add together the several votes of the several precincts cast for each candidate, as the same are shown in the certified returns of the inspectors, and declare the result. This is a mere matter of arithmetic and constitutes the supervisors mere canvassers."

A Prophecy that Has Been Fulfilled.

From the Baltimore Sun.] Senator German once said to Mr. Tilden with reference to the election of 1876: "The general verdict was that our friends did not display enough firmness on that occasion, and we lacked sufficient nerve to demand our rights." "That was perfectly natural," replied Mr. Tilden. "Yet I do not regret our conduct on that occasion, for within eight years every reasonable person will recognize that it was not possible for our party to take any other course, as the country was just recovering from the effects of a great civil war, and it would not have been wise to disturb the peaceful relations then existing between the people of our land. I will live to see the day when every Republican who has any self-respect will be heartily ashamed of the part he played in that political drama."

Too Humiliated.

My name is Archimedes Hardpan. Until recently I was editor of The Wayback Horn of Plenty. My journalistic career was short, and painful. I am now brooding over the painful past. I have no much painful past to brood over that I haven't time to much do else.

Let the frivolous and trifling pieces here and turn to another column. These remarks are not for them. They are for those who can keep a couple of tears over my painful past.

My wife's name is Maria. She is a woman of an economical turn of mind and great force of character. In her domestic walks "waste nothing" is her maxim, and her constant efforts to have me waste nothing have been the cause of my painful past.

The advertising patrons of the Horn of Plenty paid me mainly in sad-irons, corkscrews, garden erecs, health food, and a variety of other things which congress has thus far neglected to make a legal tender. In this respect my paper was truly a Horn of Plenty. It was more of the nature of a hollow horn.

My first advertising contract yielded me a dozen liver pads. I tried to trade them to the grocer for a piece of bacon, which I thought would give my liver more joy than a pad, but he looked at me coldly and said that liver pads had gone out of style. When Maria found them on my hands she insisted that I should wear them, and when Maria insisted I usually give in to save trouble and loud talk. For twelve weeks I wore a large, scarlet trimmed plaster over an innocent well behaved liver. Then Maria gave the cast-off pads to the local benevolent society for the poor. My next important contract brought me an artificial leg. That rather stumped Maria, as we were both fully supplied with legs. The old wooden limb caused her a great deal of mental pain. Some times she seemed to almost wish I would lose a leg somehow or other, so that the artificial limb could be turned to use. I knew that she was grieving herself sick because I couldn't wear it and wouldn't try. I oft found her weeping over the old, unavailing leg, and I was sorry I had told her any thing about it. She worried over it for months, and then a bright idea struck her. She sent it to a dear relative on the occasion of her wedding. The dear relative had a full set of legs of her own, but Maria said that did not matter, as an anniversary gift was not valued for its usefulness, but for the giver.

Then a traveling agent traded me a case of horse powder. That sort of health food non-plussed Maria for a time, as we had no horse to feed them to. She gazed at me in way that seemed to say I ought to end her perplexity by taking health food myself, but she did not speak out, and I was glad. After some months I ventured to ask about the horse powder, and then Maria frankly told me she had mixed them with my griddle cakes, and that I had seemed to like them thus. She couldn't think of having them to go to waste, she said, and as I complained so much about taking any little thing of that sort, she had decided to smuggle them into me in disguise.

I had another short respite from keeping things from going to waste when a mustard plaster naker sent me six dozen of his biggest and strongest plasters, with a request for a write-up.

"Dear Archimedes," said Maria, with a tender look at me, "we can not afford to waste these excellent plasters. You must let me put several of them on you every night. A man of your build and habits is liable to have some sort of sickness at any moment. These six dozen plasters may save your life."

I kicked, but to no purpose. I went to bed with six or seven large, warm, thrilling mustard plasters stuck about here and there on my person. There was one on each foot, a large one covered my gothic backbone, and another warmed itself in my bosom. It also warmed my bosom. When all these shop-made mustard plasters got to work they made things lively for poor old Archimedes Hardpan. They filled me full of intense excitement. I am a tough old fellow, but I couldn't stand a great deal of that sort of thing, so I rose up in bed with a wild, blood-chilling war-whoop, and filled the air with mustard plasters.

I told "The Horn of Plenty" soon after that last painful event. Maria has given those vigorous, thrilling mustard plasters to the missionary society to send to the heathen, and when the heathen adorn himself with nine or ten of them and a stovepipe hat, and go to church with a triumphal air, I shall want to hear how he departs himself. I am therefore, anxiously awaiting advice from the heathen, but I am well acquainted with those mustard plasters. -Sent Way in Pack.

Smaller Death.

The full reason seems to be missing. We had a good mix Monday night.

Since my last correspondence from here a series of protracted meetings have been conducted at Mt. Zion Baptist Church by Rev. A. E. Barnes. During the revival there were 57 conversions to the church. This benefits for our pastor, church and community a zealous christian working spirit. May the good be lasting.

Married, on the 19th inst., by Rev. L. O. Rutherford, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. W. E. Maddox and Miss Lucy Marcus. Also at the same time and place, Mr. Alex. Logan and Miss Catherine Marcus. Success be with them.

LOCAL NOTINGS.

The Gene Houshache.

He was a modest young man, And never on the mash, But his particular failure was— A flaming red moustache. It used to tickle his nose so, It made him sneeze and cough, So, after a night of weeping, He got the barber to cut it off. The girls will now not know him. His hopes of love are fled, And a bachelor he'll always be— A bachelor until he's dead. Now every rose a thorn has, And some of them have two. He won't be bothered sneezing, So cock-a-doodle-doo.

The croquet mania is now raging in Clanton.

W. A. Collier, Esq., is visiting relatives in Memphis, Tenn.

Miss Annie Darnell is visiting friends in Clanton again this week.

We are glad to see Miss Jennie Wilson, of Maplesville, again in Clanton.

Miss Emma Boykin, of Pratt Saw Mill, visited her many friends in Clanton this week.

The View prints the news when it can get it no matter whether it hurts a convict or the King.

Mr. Duke, of West Clanton, the father of Mr. O. A. Duke, is, we regret to know, very ill.

Mr. Steve Beasley, of the L. & N. R. R., is laying off at his home in this place on the sick list.

We are under obligations to a friend for recent Galveston papers which give a graphic account of the Mexican imbroglio.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough. Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Died, near Clanton on the 21st inst., little Virginia Athey aged 1 year and a few days.

Mr. P. A. Patrick, of Florence, visited Clanton Sunday and Monday. There was a bit of romance wreathed around his visit.

We have a scholarship in the Louisville Shortland Institute which we will sell cheap to any one desiring to become a stenographer.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure.

In cases of Fever and Ague, the blood is as effectually, though not so dangerously poisoned by the effluvia of the atmosphere as it could be by the deadliest poison. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure will eradicate this poison from the system. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Messrs. W. M. Wilson & Bro., are preparing to build a new residence on the lot adjoining the old jail. So the building boom goes on, and Clanton continues to grow.

That hacking cough can be so quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it. For sale by M. J. Greene.

Old people suffer much from disorders of the urinary organs, and are always gratified at the wonderful effects of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm in banishing their troubles. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

If you want letter heads, If you want note heads, If you want bill heads, If you want circulars, If you want programmes, If you want wedding cards, If you want checks, If you want valise notes, If you want blank deeds or mortgages, You can get them at the View Job Printing Office at all times.

The petition in election contest has been filed in the office of the clerk of the circuit court.

Our good friend, Mr. F. R. McCary, of Cooper's Station, was in to see us Tuesday, and made us happy by bringing a new subscriber.

The weather has become cool and pleasant since the rain of Monday night, which we learn was quite general throughout this section.

Mr. B. H. Chesnut says he intends to let the public know how cheap they can buy goods from him by advertising in the View at an early day.

Mr. Will Maddox, the good natured young miller, of Jumbo, was in Clanton last week and gave the View a friendly call. Crops are good in his neighborhood.

The life of a newspaper man is a hard one, but he is consoled in the thought that "Heaven lies about us in our infancy," and our enemies lie about us whenever they have an opportunity.

The old reliable house of T. E. Callier & Son, of Dixie, have a new advertisement in this issue of the View. They mean business and if you want bargains read their advertisement and call on them.

Rev. J. C. Armstrong, preached in the Baptist church at this place last Thursday night. We hear that Mr. Armstrong contemplates moving his family to Clanton and making this his home. We hope this is true.

Mrs. Thos. H. Watts, Jr. and family, of Montgomery, are spending some time in our town as refugees from the heat and dust of the city. They are stopping with Mrs. A. M. Adams, which insures them a pleasant stay.

Miss Sadie Hilde left Tuesday morning for Russellville, Ky., where she will take charge of a school. She will be greatly missed in our village by a host of friends that have been drawn around her during her stay here.

Died, at Verbena, Ala., on the 20th inst., after a lingering illness, Mrs. Floyd Brooks. The deceased had been a great sufferer for some years. She leaves an infant daughter and a devoted husband to whom the sympathies of a large number of friends in this community will go out.

Mr. Madison W. Rushton, of Montgomery county, and a recent graduate of the law department of the University of Alabama, is prospecting in Clanton with a view of locating and practicing law. He is a most agreeable gentleman, and we would be glad to have him make his home among us.

Rev. L. G. Skipper filled his regular appointment at the Baptist Church on Sunday last. Owing to indisposition he was forced to postpone the protracted meeting which had been previously announced. Mr. Skipper is an earnest and able worker in the holy calling which engages him. His sermons are replete with polished and idiomatic English, and his apt and forceful illustrations exhibit a strength and depth of mind that is far from common. We believe he has a bright future and a great work before him.

The junior of the View made a very pleasant as well as profitable trip down to Wadsworth Station last Saturday. He found that courteous gentleman, Mr. W. W. Wadsworth, proprietor of the mill, busily engaged in overseeing some extensive improvements being made on his narrow gauge railroad. Mr. Wadsworth is a man of fine business qualifications as the perfect system with which he manages things around his mill goes to show. The junior is indebted to him and his excellent nephew and book-keeper, Mr. W. D. Wood to a great extent for the success of his trip.

We hope to receive items from Wadsworth often, so as to make our paper especially interesting to its readers there.

Cooper's Station Notes.

Married, at the residence of the bride's father, near Cooper's Station on the 22d inst., by Rev. Hardy Jones, Mr. H. M. Ferguson to Miss Sallie Weaver. We all wish them a happy voyage through life.

Mr. Graham Norris, who has been sick some time, is still in a low state of health.

A mad dog was killed at Cooper's last Sunday.

We are having fine rains in this neighborhood, and crops are reasonably good.

Mrs. C. C. Greene, wife of Rev. A. A. Greene, of Verbena, writes to the Alabama Prohibitionist that she had five tickets polled at Verbena box for prohibition. She says in her letter: "I have a book—a colored Baptist preacher—who voted the ticket and says he could have voted fifty of his brethren. I am sorry I did not have more tickets."

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Baptist Church had its first regular meeting at the Church on Tuesday afternoon. The officers are: President—Mrs. J. L. Gartman; Secretary—Mrs. O. R. Bell; Treasurer—Mrs. P. A. Hannon. The meetings are to be held on Monday after the fourth Sunday in each month at four o'clock p. m. Ladies of all denominations are cordially invited to join the society.

At the Clanton beat meeting on last Wednesday the house was called to order and Mr. A. J. Hall elected chairman. A motion was made and carried that the chairman be invested with power to select the eight delegates to the county convention, which this beat is entitled to, counting himself in as one of the eight. The following are the names of the delegates selected: S. J. Heath, J. F. Manlin, R. Ehrman, W. H. Foshee, J. C. Lawrence, A. J. Hall, J. W. Gullaborn, and O. A. Duke.

This delegation favors Maj. J. M. Bivings for Congress, and the View is always for the Clanton county man.

Oak Grove Dots.

Health of the community good. Farmers busy pulling fodder. A much needed rain fell here on the 18th inst.

A match game of base ball was the excitement in our neighborhood last Saturday. Another game will be played next Saturday, near Mr. A. C. Pool's place.

We learn that Mr. Mat Bean will move his steam gin to our neighborhood to gin our cotton this season.

Mr. G. W. Kemp is the first man to pick cotton on Swift Creek.

Died, on the 19th inst., Mrs. Mary Gray, aged about 72 years. She was a sister to Elder J. H. Ray. She joined the church in the early part of her life, and has been an earnest faithful worker in the Master's vineyard. But her mission on earth is finished. She has gone to receive the reward of the faithful.

A FRIEND.

Since the arrival of warm weather the medical journals have come out in force with hygienic rules. The leading medical journal of France has published a pamphlet protesting against the extravagant use of artificial mineral waters, which, it sets forth, do the double damage of chilling the stomach, thus laying the foundation for gastric catarrh, while the limestone held in deposit in the carbonated waters finds its way to the kidneys and eventually produces Bright's disease. The pamphlet also protests against ice-water as a provocative of catarrh in the stomach. It further says: "Water should be drunk cool, but not iced, with the juice of a quarter or half a lemon in it. Mineral water should always be swallowed slowly. It is not the stomach which is dry, but the mouth and throat. If you toss off a drink of water you throw it through your mouth and throat into your stomach without doing the former any good, while you injure the latter by loading it with what it does not require. Drink slowly, and keep the water in your mouth for a moment when you begin. If you work in a hot room in hot weather in a damp cloth around your temples, and you will not experience half the cravings for drink you otherwise would."

LOCAL DOINGS.

An Ode.

The mud, the mud,
The beautiful mud!
Your foot drops down
With a sickening thud.
Mud in front,
And mud behind,
There's a girl on the crossing,
Oh! pull down the blind.
The slush, the slush,
The beautiful slush!
As brown as amber,
As sticky as mush,
Oh! what's that coming,
By a cat pursued?
Heaven and earth, 'tis
A mudified dude.

The girl was forty, lean and tall,
The dude a drummer from far St. Paul.

An Earthquake Shock.

An earthquake shock was felt through this section at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. A slighter shock was felt ten minutes later. No damage reported. Mr. Minor Wooley at the hot well says his house was shaken very roughly. The steam from the well Wednesday morning was of unusual density. M. Mallet in an elaborate report on the subject of earthquakes presented to the British Association, and which is quoted in Chambers's Cyclopaedia says that "earthquakes are most frequent around the present lines or centres of volcanic action; and their frequency and violence seem to bear some relation to the activity and intensity of the associated volcanoes." The shock appears to have been general throughout the country.

Elopes With Her Step Son.

Last week Mrs. Joseph Willis, of Clear Creek, in disguise, boarded a north bound freight train and paid her fare to Oxmoor. Thomas Willis, her step-son got on the train a few minutes later and paid his fare to Calera, where both got off, though too late to escape Mr. Willis, who followed on the next train. He found his wife in the waiting room and brought her home. The next day, however, she and her step-son succeeded in again getting off, and it is reported they went to Mississippi. At last accounts Mr. Willis was in hot pursuit with vengeance in his eye. When asked if it was true that he had mistreated his wife he replied: "It is not and I will whip the man who says it. Meddlesome neighbors were the cause of our disagreement."

Newspaper Advertising.

As the autumn season approaches and with it the opening and expansion of business of all kinds, every enterprise should be ready to speak for itself and to make the best of opportunities presented. This is an age of advertising, and those who avail themselves of all the best mediums through which to secure attention and patronage, will, if other things are equal, be rewarded with proportionate success. The most successful men in business as a rule are liberal advertisers in some way. Mr. A. T. Stewart advertised very freely at the height of his success as a merchant prince. He knew the value of printer's ink. It needs no argument to convince sensible men these times that judicious advertising in proper channels is the surest way to bring good custom. A respectable newspaper that goes into business houses, offices, family circles, and commands respect for its fairness and sincerity of views, has an enormous advantage over light, transient, ephemeral publications, and the various devices that catch the eye only for a moment without making any lasting impressions.

Maj. J. M. Bivings, attended the meeting of Alabama Lumbermen at Birmingham, on Wednesday last. He is the Secretary of the Association. He was delegated to visit every mill in Georgia, and if necessary, in Alabama, and explain to the proprietors the objects of the lumber association and use every means to induce them to become members. The association is in a prosperous condition, and the member ship is growing.

Mr. J. F. Goodgame, of Jumbo, was in to see us Monday. He says he is farming in copartnership with Mr. G. W. Marcus and expects to make about 800 bushels of corn, or an average of about twenty-five bushels to the acre on land that has been in cultivation fifty years. He says he has the best crops he has ever had.

Round trip tickets, to the Southern Exposition at Louisville and the Industrial Exposition, at Cincinnati, are now on sale at the ticket office in this place. The sale of tickets to Louisville and return, will continue until Oct. 19th; to Cincinnati and return, until Oct. 5th. Rates to Louisville $13.90; Cincinnati $15.25.

The Montgomery Furniture Company have a new advertisement in the View, as also have Messrs. Robinson and Ledyard, Cotton Factors of the Capital city. Parties interested should read these advertisements.

The new crop of sweet potatoes is in demand but not on the market. All those who want to pay for their paper in potatoes, must bring the potatoes around before they are rotten, by all means.

Justices' blanks, notes, deeds and mortgages for sale at this office.

A Falling Off.

From our efficient Probate Judge we have obtained an abstract of the assessment of values on property in Chilton county for 1886. It is the custom of this paper to publish the figures each year; and they have each time shown a marked increase over the previous year's assessment, but the present year shows a falling off.

In 1885 the number of acres of land assessed to owners was 373,964 valued at $492,572. For 1886 the total number of acres assessed is 394,285 valued at $510,765. The town property of the county, which in 1870 was valued at only $100, was assessed at $96,395 in 1885; and for 1886 it is $102,905. The personal property not exempt in 1885 was $1,142,229. This year it reaches a total of $1,095,540. A difference in favor of 1885 of $46,689. Railroad property of the county in 1885 was assessed at $635,187; in 1886 the assessment reaches $643,622.

The total value of real estate, town, personal and railroad property by assessment of 1885 was $2,366,383. The assessment this year only shows a total of $2,352,832; a falling off in value to the amount of $13,551. The figures show a gratifying increase in all property save personal, and the decrease there is unaccountable. In summing up the total it should be borne in mind, however, that a large amount of personal property has always been exempt from taxation.

W. H. Shelby has filed a bond for $500 in the office of the clerk of the circuit court and will contest the seat of W. E. Johnson, Esq., in the General Assembly.

The Congressional Convention for this district meets to-day, at Lafayette, in Chambers county. The convention promises to be a lively one as there will be more than one candidate from each county on a general average. Bibb will present Suttle. Chambers and Clay have no candidate yet mentioned. Coosa will work for Kelly; Elmore for Williams; Macon may present two names Foster and Ramsey; Tallapoosa has three, Bulger, Burns and Darby. Autauga is first and last for Saddler; and Chilton ditto for Bivings.

The sale of excursion tickets via Montgomery, to delegates to this convention commenced yesterday and will continue through to-day. Round trip from here to Montgomery $1.65.

O the shaking of the ague!
O the tortures of Neuralgia!
O the misery of dyspepsia!
O the wretchedness of headache!
O the gripes of bilious colic!
All of these will surely vanish
Like the snow before the Southwind,
If you'll only take SHILOH'S BILE BEANS.
You can buy them at your drug store
For a quarter of a dollar;
And if you will only try them
You will never be without them.

Will you suffer with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

If our patrons will treat us right this fall, the View will owe no man anything, and have a little to put aside for a rainy day.

Lodge's cooling at Lomax, is turning out eight hundred tons of charcoal per day, all of which is sold to the Shelby Iron Co. The cooling work employs about eighteen hands.

Mr. R. P. Wooley, is a deserving and enterprising young merchant who shows that he means business by the advertisement which appears elsewhere in these columns. He will sell you goods at low rates for cash. Read his "ad." and call on him.

Mr. W. H. Burton intends building a residence just back of his present one and facing the road leading to Mr. Gilchrist's place. Mr. E. H. Lowe also intends erecting a nice residence adjoining the one to be put up by Mr. Burton.

Rev. S. H. Nettles preached a very able sermon at the Methodist church on Sunday morning. The church building is entirely too small to hold the congregations which he draws. It speaks well of our community to be able to say that such a faithful worker is appreciated by Christians of all denominations.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. June 16 y

In cases of Fever and Ague, the blood is as effectually, though not so dangerously poisoned by the effluvia of the atmosphere as it could be by the deadliest poison. Dr. J. H. McLean's Chills and Fever Cure will eradicate this poison from the system. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

One day last week Ocie Brooks, of Verbena, had a right lively horseback ride. He mounted a horse at his father's store and made his mile in about 2:10. The boys say Ocie is a little sore over the joke or jolt they don't know which but he don't like to ride horseback any more.

Clanton has a military establishment, kept Mrs. Butler in the front part of Hall & Co's furniture store.

There was a baptizing at Cooper's on last Sunday. About seven applicants were taken into the church.

Jno. N. Thornton, of this place, has gone to Birmingham and has a position on the Alabama Christian Advocate typographical force.

See change of schedule of trains passing this place. The morning mail and accommodation trains reach here earlier than heretofore.

Mr. Howard Lamar, of the State Signal Service Bureau located at Auburn, gave the View a very agreeable visit Tuesday.

Round trip tickets to the St. Louis Exposition can be bought at this point for $16.90; good for five days going and unlimited returning.

Mr. W. H. Foshee was unexpectedly called to Birmingham last Tuesday on account of the death of a child of his brother, Mr. Harvey Brown.

Wells & McCranie are suffering from a "tie up" at their mill on account of the breaking of some of the machinery. They expect to be at work again in a few days.

Wilson threatens to take part in the Congressional campaign, but as he has lost his renowned monkey-wrench he may not be able to control the "truly loil" without the aid of that celebrated "persuader."

A lighted lamp was overturned in the residence of Mr. Jno. Gullahorn, last Sunday night which came near setting the house on fire. A fine dressing case was consumed by the fire and in the effort to extinguish it a beautiful toilet set was broken.

A fifteen year old boy by the name of Will Burnett who hauls logs for the Pratt Saw Mill Co., was found on the public road in an unconscious condition one day last week. No bruises could be found upon him, but he was bleeding some from nose and ears. Nothing later.

Mr. John Garner visited Coosa county last week in the interest of Clanton's trade. Coosa is sending us a good trade which has been largely increased within the past two years by the efforts of Mr. Garner. The Coosians can't do better than trade with him.

Read the new advertisement of that enterprising merchant, Mr. John Garner. He has built up a good trade since opening in Clanton which extends from fifteen to twenty miles into Coosa county. You can depend upon getting the worth of your money by trading with him.

Another moonlight picnic will be given on next Friday night by the ladies of the Methodist church for the purpose of raising more money for their new church building. The ice cream tables will be there we presume so will warn the boys not to forget their pocket books when they start after their girls.

For Charleston.

Through the efforts of Rev. S. H. Nettles a subscription for the benefit of the sufferers from the earthquake at Charleston was taken up at the Methodist church Sunday morning. About $10 was contributed which was forwarded to the Mayor of Montgomery who will send it to the Mayor of Charleston.

Earthquake Causes.

The most reasonable theory as to the cause of earthquakes is that the interior of the globe is liquid fire, and water percolating through a soft soil reaches the internal fire, when the steam which is generated by the contact of such elements seeks some avenue of escape. This causes the shaking and subsequent openings and fissures in the earth's surface. Earthquakes are more common in hot countries owing to porous character of the soil in such latitudes.

Another theory which will be taken with a large grain of salt in these latter times is an ancient superstition which will be readily recalled by readers of mythological literature. It is thus alluded to by Lempriere: "Enceladus was a son of Titan and Terra. He was struck with Jupiter's thunders and overwhelmed under Mount Atna. According to the poets the flames of Atna proceeded from the breath of Enceladus; and as often as he turned his weary side the whole island of Sicily felt the motion and shook from its very foundation."

Proceedings of the Radical Convention.

Below we give a condensed statement of the proceedings of the Republican Convention held at Lomax on last Saturday. We have condensed only the most important of the resolutions adopted.

The convention was called to order by H. A. Wilson; Abasalom Eiland was requested to act as temporary chairman, and was afterwards elected as permanent chairman and London Pryor was elected permanent secretary.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the democratic party for willfully misrepresenting republicans in order to prejudice the whites against the republican party by charging that white and colored republicans favored social equality of the two races. The resolution further declared that neither white or colored republicans favored social intermingling of the two races in any manner, and were opposed to mixed schools, but demanded a fair and impartial administration of the laws of the country without regard to race or color.

Also favoring liberal appropriations by State and Federal governments for educational purposes, and censuring the democratic party for not passing the Blair educational bill.

Denouncing the convict labor system and demanding the repeal of this law.

Endorsing organization of the laboring element of the county.

Inviting the prohibition and independent elements to join in securing fair and impartial laws, and an impartial administration of the same.

Demanding the repeal of the present election law and the enactment of one which will be so simplified that those of ordinary intelligence and education will be able to understand and conform to its requirements. Demanding that votes shall be counted as cast and denouncing the democratic party for converting Republican votes into Democratic votes.

Demanding the enactment and enforcement of a law to punish by fine and imprisonment those who by bribes, threats or compulsion force or cause any elector to vote contrary to his will and demanding that the law shall be enforced to punish those who knowingly make false certificates of election returns or distort or misrepresent the results of elections while in the discharge of their duties.

A speech was made by Wilson very conservative but pointed. Also a short speech by Eiland, and a few of the colored adherents likewise had their say.

Before adjourning an executive committee of twenty-four was elected for the term of two years with H. A. Wilson as its chairman.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

Through the efforts of Rev. S. H. Nettles a subscription for the benefit of the sufferers from the earthquake at Charleston was taken up at the Methodist church Sunday morning. About $10 was contributed which was forwarded to the Mayor of Montgomery who will send it to the Mayor of Charleston.

The most reasonable theory as to the cause of earthquakes is that the interior of the globe is liquid fire, and water percolating through a soft soil reaches the internal fire, when the steam which is generated by the contact of such elements seeks some avenue of escape. This causes the shaking and subsequent openings and fissures in the earth's surface. Earthquakes are more common in hot countries owing to porous character of the soil in such latitudes.

Another theory which will be taken with a large grain of salt in these latter times is an ancient superstition which will be readily recalled by readers of mythological literature. It is thus alluded to by Lempriere: "Enceladus was a son of Titan and Terra. He was struck with Jupiter's thunders and overwhelmed under Mount Atna. According to the poets the flames of Atna proceeded from the breath of Enceladus; and as often as he turned his weary side the whole island of Sicily felt the motion and shook from its very foundation."

The report of yellow fever at Biloxi was not well founded.

Edwin Booth, the actor sent $1,000 to Charleston sufferers.

While it was an earthquake everywhere else it was "seismic convulsion" in Boston. Everything is different in Boston.

Schilling, the coachman who ran away with Morcini's daughter Victoria, a year ago, has sold his wife to her papa and mama for $15,000 and gone a glimmering.

The man who pulled up his well and cut it into post holes is eclipsed and the man who built a barrel around an old bung hole is laid in the shade by the man who thinks every man should read his county paper whether he subscribes for it or not, and who believes it is economy to borrow it.

Albert A. and Bob Taylor are brothers who are running for Governor in Tennessee. Albert is the Republican candidate and Bob the leader of the democracy. They are making a joint canvass of the State. One of them will have to content himself with the honor of being the brother of the Governor.

The following were selected as the executive committee for the fifth congressional district: Autauga—Mac. A. Smith, chairman; Bibb—S. H. Gist; Chilton—W. H. Foshee; Clay—W. M. Lackey; Chambers—J. H. Harris; Coosa—R. C. Sandlin; Elmore—W. R. Weston; Macon—W. F. Foster; Tallapoosa—T. L. Bulger.

Away in Maine James G. Blaine, it is perfectly plain, wishes to run for president again. In the Adirondack mountains amid nature's pure fountains; our own beloved Grover is acting the lover, fishing for trout with line and hook, in purling stream, and crystal brook; at intervals he's brought to bay by the gentle voice of his mother-in-law. Yet he assured he still aspires, and in his heart he still desires, another term, with the people's permission, to work on the civil service commission; and prove to every man and boy, that honest government we can enjoy, alone by eschewing party lines, its customs, habits and designs; and thus on platform, field and stump prove the solid worth of a genuine mugwump; a queer compound in form and feature, a sort of moving, hybrid creature, that knows no country, sect or party, but scorns all with feelings hearty. Whose every wish, thought and design is, to worship at its own built shrine.—Lucerne H. Matthews.

The following appropriations were made for Mobile harbors and the rivers of Alabama:

Continuing the improvement of the Chattahoochee river in Georgia and Alabama $20,000.

Continuing the improvement of the Coosa river in Georgia and Alabama $45,000.

Improving the Choctawhatchee river in Florida and Alabama, $15,000; of which sum 5,000 dollars is to be expended below Geneva and 10,000 between Geneva and New Town, Alabama.

Continuing the improvement of the Conecuh-escambia river in Florida and Alabama, 12,000 dollars.

Continuing the improvement of the Alabama river, 15,000 dollars; improving the Black Warrior from Tuscaloosa to Daniel's creek, 56,250 dollars, together with the 47,600 dollars now on hand; to be expended in accordance with the plan adopted by the board of engineers.

Improving Cahaba river, 7,500 dollars; provided that no part of this sum shall be expended until the officer in charge shall have reported that the railroad and other bridges across the river have been provided with good and sufficient draw openings.

Continuing the improvement of the Tallapoosa river $7,500.

Continuing the improvements on the Warrior river below Tuscaloosa, 18,750 dollars.

Continuing the improvements of the Tombigbee in Mississippi and Alabama, 18,750 dollars; 11,250 to be expended below Vienna, and 7,500 dollars between Vienna and Pelton.

The appropriation for Mobile harbor is 90,000 dollars, and for continuing the improvement of the Muscle Shoals canal on the Tennessee 202,500 dollars.

It will be seen that the appropriations are just twenty-five percent less than was recommended by the house bill.

Blaine of Maine.

A three weeks political campaign closed in the State of Maine on the 11th inst. Maine Republicans generally believe that James G. Blaine will be the next President, and Brother Blaine is no doubt himself inclined to think that he ought to be. He has done more talking in the campaign just closed than in any previous one in which he took part. The prohibitionists of the State are strong and defiant, and they are not pleased with Brother Blaine because he has endeavored to dodge the great question of liquor prohibition. They say he has failed to keep the promises which he had previously made to them. That great mugwump, the New York Sun, is also inclined to sit down upon Brother B., and as a sort of stepping-stone into the good will of the prohibitionists, it has started a little song of its own, which runs:

"Blaine, Blaine, James G. Blaine, The biggest liar in the State of Maine."

But, notwithstanding and nevertheless, Blaine of Maine is said to be a very wise man, a man of many wiles and much work, and it is more than probable that he understands the business which he has in hand of grooming himself for the Presidential campaign, about as well as the Sun does.

From the present outlook he is likely to be heard from early and often during the next two years.

A Brief Biography.

A friend in close range deems it in order for the View representative who attended the radical meeting at Lomax in the capacity of reporter to nail the absurd report that he assisted in showing the "manipulators" how to work the wires of their "rump convention." There is no need to deny any such report, in our opinion, for the individual who is so great a fool as to believe a palpable absurdity cannot be reasoned out of his belief. However, while we are in a good humor (our friend having brought us a club of new subscribers,) and as stammering others seem to be on the increase to an unreasonable degree for a country claiming to be civilized, we will endeavor to gratify our friend and edify others who may at anytime be the objects of misrepresentation, by jotting down a brief biography of the hebetudinous crank who swallows as a sweet morsel any dirty yarn that he hears about his fellows.

Little need be said of the fellow who originates or repeats dirty tales about this or that man, for he advertises the man in a way he does not think, and so "worketh good from evil." Sensible people know him principally as a constitutional blackguard, and have no faith in what he says. They believe him to be a child of the Devil, and know that his affiliation is not with decent people, but with the tribe of Ananias ancient and modern. But the low fellow who does believe him, is not only a very gullible, but often a very depraved individual himself, and his entire religious, historical, intellectual and moral biography is embraced in these few words—he is a monumental ass.

Our readers are asked to pardon the brevity of this biography until the next lie comes around.

The Fifth District.

Since the adjournment of the Lafayette convention, and the acceptance of the nomination by Judge Cobb, the opposition has been boasting that a Republican or independent candidate of ability and character, could be elected over the regular democratic nominee. The lack of foundation for such a claim can be easily found in the vote cast in the last State election in the district, which, under the strongest and most favorable local influences against the democrats, gave a large majority for the regular state ticket. While it is true that the vote for Mr. Palmer includes a good part of the independent vote, it is not large enough to cover the majority for the democrats in the district:

	Palmer.	Speed.
Autauga	1,764	26
Bibb	1,757	182
Chilton	1,538	782
Chambers	2,877	609
Coosa	1,444	247
Elmore	1,888	1,218
Macon	1,955	1,756
Tallapoosa	3,920	81
	18,400	4,236

In Macon county the majority for the independent candidate for probate judge was about 1,000, and in Elmore about 1,500 and about 500 in Clay. So that with all these local disaffections, which were brought about by the desire for the county offices, and which will not exist in the congressional election, the majority for the Democrats was considerably over ten thousand votes in the district. Upon what sort of claim the opposition base their hopes of success, we cannot see. Several well known and distinguished gentlemen in the district have been approached by the opposition with proposals to become candidates, all of which have been promptly refused. It is now thought that Mr. Lewis E. Parsons, of Coosa county, a republican, will make the race against Judge Cobb. While he is a lawyer of acknowledged ability, and an orator of some reputation, he will lead a forlorn hope, for the fifth district is safely democratic.—Dispatch.

The Situation at Charleston.

By United Press to the Dispatch. CHARLESTON, Sept. 12.—Up to today over 20,000 rations have been issued, and in the opinion of the chairman of the relief committee there is not a single case of destitution in the city. Contributions continue to flow in. Great progress in building has been made all along the line, and public feeling is much relieved. The almost unendurable heat-to-day was broken about 6 o'clock by a heavy wind and rain storm, bringing great discomfort to tenters and others who are without sufficient shelter. Many loose bricks were blown from the ruined walls, making the streets dangerous for the few pedestrians seeking shelter. No casualties are reported so far to-night. At 9 o'clock to-night the sky is clear and the moon is shining brightly.

Verbena Items.

Misses Annie Logan and Mamie Greene are on a visit to Jemison.

Miss Jenkins, of Pike Road, is in Verbena, stopping with her aunt, Mrs. G. H. B. Matthews.

The Misses Holt, of Selma, who have been spending some time with Mrs. Palmer, returned home this week.

Miss Annie Lewis, one of Clanton's charms, was in Verbena, last week, visiting friends.

Among the visitors to Verbena last week registered at the Clifton were: Robert McLeister, Birmingham; A. J. Carlisle, Baltimore; W. W. Prayor and wife, Mobile; W. A. Pratt, L. L. Moses, G. Ware and L. L. Rike, Montgomery; R. H. Gray and J. McLean, Nashville; and L. Williams, St. Louis.

Mr. Martin Baldwin, of the capital city, was in Verbena last Sunday to see his uncle, Col. B. J. Baldwin, who is still confined to his room.

Dr. W. A. Moore, of Clanton, was in Verbena, last week.

The Verbena cemetery, about one mile from the Clifton Hotel is sadly in need of a fence. There is not a sign of a fence around it. This ought not to be so. We hope that many good women of Verbena will think of this and start something that will result in the enclosure of this neglected but sacred spot.

Mapleville Dots.

These dissatisfied people are complaining about the Lord's work once more; not long ago there was too much rain for anything, now it is too dry. I think if the people would do their part as well as the Lord does His there would be a paradise on earth.

I believe the excitement of the earthquake has about worn off for the present. It is amusing to hear every one experience. Some of them thought somebody was under the house with a pine pole trying to break in; while others thought the dogs and hogs were trying to be sociable.

This country is being fumigated once more with the smell of new molasses.

Mr. F. J. Bolino made a successful trip to the job factory recently. He says if a boy ever gets tired of home just send him off in a wagon on a three days trip and if that does not break him just write to F. J. Bolino for further particulars.

Cementation is the new burial process. It consists in covering the body with plaster which, being water tight and air tight, will preserve it forever and a day. Some politicians have been whitewashed so often that they don't need the new process.—Advertiser.

COLLINS' AGUE CURE

THIS WIDELY KNOWN AND HIGHLY CELEBRATED MEDICINE has gained for itself many friends in the South and elsewhere, than any known FAMILY REMEDY. WHY? Because it NEVER FAILS to give relief. As a Household Remedy it is INDISPENSABLE. A LIVER REGULATOR. UNQUALIFIED, IT QUICKLY REMOVES ALL BILIOUS DISORDERS and IMPURITIES of the Blood, Cures INDIGESTION, BILIOUS COLIC and CONSTIPATION. And as it is so simple, it is an absolute SURE CURE for CHILLS and FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, SWAMP FEVER and MALARIA. Sold by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. Prepared by COLLINS BROS. DRUG CO., St. Louis, Mo. D. H. JAMES, Mayor of St. Louis, Mo. I have used this AGUE CURE in my family for many years, and I can say it is the best remedy for Chills and Fever. J. J. DUNN, Gen'l Mgr. of the Dallas, La. agent, I sell your AGUE CURE right along and it cures BILIOUSNESS, CHILLS and FEVER, and it is the best in the family. The AGUE CURE is, and will continue to be, a Household Remedy. jun24-y

The meeting of the Unity Baptist Association will be held with the Clanton Baptist church, commencing Friday the first day of October and lasting several days. A large attendance is expected.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure.

In cases of Fever and Ague, the blood is as effectually, though not so dangerously poisoned by the effluvia of the atmosphere as it could be by the deadliest poison. Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills will eradicate this poison from the system. 50 cents a bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton, Ala.

Misses Anna Lou Duke and Rosa Gullahorn left on Monday for Tuscaloosa, where they will become pupils at Prof. Hill's Female College. Their friends here expect to hear a good report from them in their studies, and their sweethearts will pine away and feel lonesome until they return.

Dr. J. S. Pitts and his two interesting daughters, Misses Sydney and Fannie, of Verbena, passed up the road Tuesday morning en route to Tuscaloosa where the young ladies will attend school again this season.

The Ladies Aid Society, of the Baptist church in this place, are getting up money for the purpose of having a new belfry built on their church and to be completed in time for the meeting of the Association.

The liberal advertisement of the great book dealer and stationer of Birmingham and the State, Jno. B. Roden, will attract the eyes of our readers this week. If you wish anything in his line send him your orders.

If your kidneys are inactive, you will feel and look wretched, even in the most cheerful society, and melancholy on the jolliest occasions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm, will set you right again. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

The business season will soon open and it is to be hoped that the low fellows who enjoy sitting around in front of country "skulduggeries" and spinning mean yarns about their neighbors will find something better to do for a while.

The Largest Melon.

During the season Mr. Willis Lowe brought the View the largest watermelon, and will get the paper one year as the premium offered. Mr. Lowe's melon weighed 36½ lbs.

Farmer's Social.

The farmer's clubs of the county propose to hold a grand union social on Friday, and Saturday, Oct. 15th and 16th at Poplar Springs Church. They propose to make the occasion a pleasant as well as an interesting one.

Clanton at the Fair.

Mr. J. H. Harris, of the State Fair Association has been canvassing Clanton in behalf of the Fair. The Advertiser says he carried an encouraging report from our county on his return to Montgomery; and that he secured an exhibit that will prove worth seeing.

Our clever little friend, O. R. Bell, Jr., brings us a cotton boll from which were gathered twelve locks of lint. Very good cotton that. O. R. is not yet seven years old and he is picking cotton like a little man. He has picked 100 pounds of the new crop for his father thus far, and says he is going to keep at it as long as there is any money in his pa's pocket to pay for what he picks. That's business for you.

It Ought to Take the Premium.

Mrs. Amelia Sexton, of our town, and whom we all know as "Grandma" has knitted a bed spread for exhibition at the State Fair in Montgomery. "Grandma" is now in her eighty-third year, as she was born February 18th, 1804. She did the knitting without glasses. We hope she may bear off the premium.

Hymenial.

Mr. Lee Sampey went to Tuskegee Tuesday, and was yesterday united in marriage to Miss Lena Pinckard, a lovely young lady of that place. The groom and his bonnie bride went from Tuskegee to Talladega to attend the marriage of Rev. J. D. Renfro, which takes place to-day. From thence they take their leave for Clanton and Louisville respectively their future homes. May all the joys of life be with them.

Dixie Dots.

Mr. M. C. Reynolds and family, of this place, have moved to Birmingham.

Mr. J. C. C. Morrow is now on an extended tour through Texas. We wish him a pleasant journey and a safe return.

Base ball, Saturday, 4th inst. Dixie 4, Plantersville 31. Hurrah! for Dixie.

Farmers are complaining of rust in cotton, but are busily engaged picking. They appreciated a good rain which fell Sunday last.

Mr. E. Coe, of Stanton, and his little son, Johnnie, have gone to Cincinnati.

During court week all the subscribers to the View who have not already paid up should come in and do so and pay for a year in advance. If you can't do that come and pay what you can. Every citizen of Clanton should take the View and we hope all those who are not taking it will come in and subscribe while here during court or at any other time, and if you cannot come send us one dollar and a half with your name and post-office address and you will receive a copy of the paper regularly for twelve months. Now don't forget it.

Lomax Dots.

A few nights since while the moon was shining brightly, causing everything to look as lovely as a sunshiny day a gentleman residing in this locality went out and after looking at the moon for some minutes, called his wife out of the house and asked her what was the matter with it. She scrutinized it closely, but could detect nothing unusual in its appearance. "Why," said he, "don't you see that the lower end of it is forked." She informed him that she did not. Whereupon he became very angry and refused to speak to her during all the next day. (Too much corn juice.)

Wiley Foshee seems to have a hankering for something he left in Bibb county a few months ago.

Miss Mary Bell Scott, daughter of that whole-souled gentleman, Thomas J. Scott, of Montgomery, has been on a visit for some time to relatives at Maul's mill.

Hawks are getting very bad on the fall crop of young chickens.

Brother Gibson is holding a series of religious services here this week. May the Lord be with him in his efforts to convert souls.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Foshee paid Jemison a flying visit last week.

Mrs. John Cox, from Birmingham, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Jim Acree, visited Lomax last week. These ladies are wives of two clever engineers on the L. & N. railroad.

Marriage of Baron De Bismarck—Dean Hickman—
A Strange Diplomat

The following is taken from "Pelley's Reminiscences":
John Tyler was fifty-one years of age when he took possession of the Executive Mansion, was somewhat above the medium height, and of slender figure, with long limbs and great activity of movement. His thin, auburn hair turned white during his term of office, his nose was large and prominent, his eyes were of a bluish-gray, his lips were thin, and his cheeks sunken. His manners were those of the old school of Virginia gentlemen, and he was very courteous to strangers. The ceremonious etiquette established in the White House by Van Buren vanished, and the President lived precisely as he did on his plantation, attended by his old family slaves. He invariably invited visitors with whom he was acquainted, or strangers who were introduced to him, to visit the family dining-room and "take something" from a sideboard well garnished with decanters of ardent spirits and wines, with a bowl of juleps in the summer and of egg-nog in the winter. He thus expended nearly all of his salary, and used to regret that it was not larger, that he might entertain his guests more liberally.

A SECOND-HAND COAT-OF-ARMS.
One day President Tyler joked Mr. Wise about his little one-horse carriage, which the President styled "a candle-box on wheels," to which the representative from the Accomac district retorted by telling Mr. Tyler that he had been riding for a month in a second-hand carriage purchased at the sale of the effects of Mr. Paulding, the Secretary of the Navy under Mr. Van Buren, and having the Paulding coat-of-arms emblazoned on the door panels. The President laughed at the sally, and gave orders at once to have the armorial bearings of the Pauldings painted over. Economy also prompted the purchase of some partly worn suits of liveries at the sale of the effects of a foreign minister, and these were afterward worn by the colored waiters at state dinners.

"BEAT" HICKMAN,
as he called himself, made his appearance at Washington toward the close of the Tyler administration. He was of middle size, with long hair, and an offensive, cadaverous countenance. It was his boast that he was born among the Alleghies of Hancock County, Va., and he was to be seen lounging about the hotels, fashionably yet shabbily dressed, generally wearing soiled white gloves and a white cravat. It was considered the proper thing to introduce strangers to Beau, who thereupon unblushingly demanded his initiation into the life of the capital. He was a ready talker, and his denials sometimes secured him a generous victim. He was always ready to pilot his victims to gambling houses and other questionable resorts, and for a quarter of a century he lived on the blackmail thus levied upon strangers.

COLONEL MENTON AND HIS FAMILY.
One of the most agreeable homes in Washington was that of Colonel Benton, the former Senator from Missouri, whose accomplished and graceful daughters had been thoroughly educated under his supervision. He was not willing, however, that one of them, Miss Jessie, should receive the attentions of a young second lieutenant in the corps of topographical engineers, Mr. Fremont, and the young couple, therefore, eloped, and were married clandestinely. The Colonel, although terribly angry at first, accepted the situation, and his powerful support in Congress afterward enabled Mr. Fremont to explore, under the patronage of the general government, the vast central region beyond the Rocky mountains, and to plant the national flag on Wind River Peak, upward of 13,000 feet above the Gulf of Mexico.

BAHON DE BISMARCK'S WEDDING.
A very different wedding was that of the Baron Alexander de Bismarck, the Russian Minister Plenipotentiary, and Miss Harriet Williams, a daughter of the chief clerk in the office of the Adjutant-General. The Baron was nearly fifty years of age, and a blonde school-girl of "sweet sixteen" celebrated for her clear complexion and robust beauty. The ceremony was performed at her father's house on Georgetown Heights, and was a regular March and December affair throughout. There were eight groomsmen, six of whom were well advanced in life, and as many bridesmaids, all of them young girls from fourteen to sixteen years of age, wearing long dresses of white satin damask, donated by the bridegroom. The question of precedence gave the Baron much trouble, as he could not determine whether Mr. Fox, then the British Minister and Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, or Senator Buchanan, who had been groomsmen to Russia, should be the first groomsmen. This important question was settled by having the groomsmen and bridesmaids stand in couples, four on either side of the bridegroom and bride. The ceremony was witnessed at the bride's residence by a distinguished company, and the bridal party then went in carriages to the Russian Legation, where an elegant entertainment awaited them, and where some of the many guests got gloriously drunk in drinking the health of the happy couple.

A STRANGE DIPLOMAT.
Queen Victoria's diplomatic representative at Washington, the Honorable Henry Stephen Fox, was a son of General Fox, of the British army, who fought at the battle of Lexington in 1775, and a nephew of the eminent statesman, Charles James Fox. He had served in the British Diplomatic Corps for several years, and was thoroughly acquainted with his duties, but he held the least possible intercourse with the Department of State and rarely entered a private house. He used to rise about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and take his morning walk on Pennsylvania avenue an hour or two later. Miss Weston says that a gentleman on one occasion, meeting him at dusk in the Capitol grounds, urged him to return with him to dinner, to which Mr. Fox replied that "he would willingly do so, but his people were waiting breakfast for him." On the occasion of a funeral of a member of the Diplomatic Corps, turning to the wife of the Spanish Minister, he said: "How very odd we all look by daylight!" It being the first time he had seen his colleagues except by candlelight. He went to bed at daylight, after watering his plants, of which he was passionately fond.

HOUSEHOLD MATTERS.

A Useful Table.

A correspondent of the Householder gives the following table showing the time required to cook different fruits for jamming and the amount of sugar required:

Fruit.	Time for boiling.	Quantity sugar.
Cherries.	5 minutes	6 ounces
Raspberries.	6 minutes	4 ounces
Blackberries.	6 minutes	4 ounces
Strawberries.	8 minutes	8 ounces
Plums.	10 minutes	10 ounces
Whortleberries.	5 minutes	8 ounces
Bartlett pears, halved.	20 minutes	6 ounces
Peaches.	8 minutes	4 ounces
Apples, whole.	15 minutes	4 ounces
Fine apples, sliced.	15 minutes	6 ounces
Siberian crab-apple.	25 minutes	8 ounces
Sour apples, quartered.	10 minutes	8 ounces
Rhubarb.	10 minutes	8 ounces
Wild grapes.	10 minutes	8 ounces
Tomatoes.	30 minutes	none
Gooseberries.	10 minutes	8 ounces
Quinces, sliced.	15 minutes	10 ounces

The Baby.

The baby's second summer! Every mother knows what a time it is. The poor little pilgrim has already found the earth a place of tears and pain. These teeth, coming so fast, and as they come, occasioning so much disturbance in the fragile little frame, what a source of peril and irritation they are to the baby and of anxiety to his parents. Keep the baby in comfort. Dress him loosely and simply, with soft, thin, woolen garments next the skin. Give him a sponge bath when he cries uneasily and fretfully. See that there is no chafing of the soft flesh, and that no pins are pricking him in unperceived places. Let his food be properly cooked and given at regular intervals, and attend to it either yourself, or let it be prepared by a trustworthy person. Let the little one be out of doors much of the time, and if he is ill and a physician is to be had, send for him promptly. But as the life of an infant is, and quickly as the silver thread may be snipped, yet a young child rallies in a way impossible to an adult. A very sick child, indeed, to-day, may be frisking about merrily to-morrow. Never despair of the recovery of a little one while life lasts, but do not trifle with the beginnings of disease. Prompt measures at first are often half the battle.—Christian at Work.

Recipe.

GREEN CORN PUDDING.—Cut the corn from six ears of corn, add one quart of milk and three or four eggs. Season with pepper and salt, bake as custard. Nice either hot or cold.

SALAD CUCUMBERS.—Lay the cucumbers in cold water for an hour or more. Peel, slice thin and evenly, sprinkle with pepper and salt, and put in a small quantity of vinegar. When serving lay a small lump of ice on each dish.

GINGER ALE.—Two pounds brown sugar or one quart molasses, two table-spoonfuls cream of tartar, two of ginger, two sliced lemons, two gallons boiling water. Stir well, and when milk-warm add half pint of yeast. Stir again, and let it settle in a lightly covered vessel twelve hours. Strain, bottle, and put in a cold place. It will be fit for use in two or three days, and will only keep a week.

COLD MEAT PUDDING.—For cold meat pudding rub one-half pound of beef dripping into a half pound of flour, and add a little salt. Moisten the paste with water and roll it out one-half inch thick. Mince any kind of cold meat; season it and add a few spoons of gravy. Spread the minced meat on the paste and roll it up. Tie it up in a cloth buttered and floured and boil for an hour and a half.

BOILING POTATOES.—Peel and put into boiling water, with a tablespoonful of salt. Let boil till a fork will pierce them easily; drain, cover with a towel to absorb the steam and render them mealy. Potatoes are really better if cooked with their "jackets" on—simply cutting off an end or peeling a narrow strip around the center. It is perfectly proper to serve them so, if more convenient than to peel them, and they are certainly more palatable.

CABBAGE SALAD.—Shave a hard, white cabbage into strips; take the yolks of three well-beaten eggs, a cup and a half of good cider vinegar, two table-spoonfuls of thick cream, one table-spoonful mustard mixed in a little boiling water, salt and pepper to suit the taste. Mix all but the eggs together and let it boil; then stir in the eggs, rapidly turn the cabbage into the mixture, and stir well. Make enough for two days at once, as it keeps perfectly, and is an excellent relish for all kinds of meat.

FAMILY APPLE PUDDING.—Make a biscuit crust with one quart of flour, three small table-spoonfuls of baking powder, butter or lard the size of an egg, table-spoonful of salt (less if butter is used) and milk enough to make a soft dough. Fill a deep baking-dish with sliced apples, and cover with the dough. Bake in a moderate oven. The oven door may be left open a few moments when the pudding is put in, and closed as soon as the crust rises. Serve with cream.

THE COACHMAN'S BRIDE.
Referring to the daughter of Morosini, the rich banker, whose marriage to her father's coachman created such a huge sensation in New York social circles, a New York correspondent of the Boston Herald writes: I hear that the somewhat celebrated love match between Victoria Schelling, heretofore husband and is, is quite as rosy as it was. Indeed, they do say that the wedding life of the coachman and his bride is rather more spirited than affectionate. Mrs. Schelling looks thin and anxious. She was plump and rather light-hearted when her runaway marriage occurred. Now the girls in the Casino are telling that she cries in her dressing-room between the scenes on the stage, and there are rumors that she is badly treated at home. Her father, I understand, would take her back to his home if he would get away from her husband. She is, however, beginning to think that she made a great mistake in life and to feel her humiliation very keenly. But she is too full of pluck to acknowledge her error publicly, so she grows pale and thin and goes away by daylight! It being the first time he had seen his colleagues except by candlelight. He went to bed at daylight, after watering his plants, of which he was passionately fond.

SHORT NOTICES.

The best monument in the west is in the Washington monument.

It has been observed that on a rocky road the tires of wheels wear round on a clay road flat, while in sand they cut out in the centre.

A Swiss scientist estimates that in 1970 there will be 8,000,000,000 people in the world speaking English, 194,000,000 German and 60,500,000 French.

King Ludwig's heart has been enclosed in a silver urn and turned over to the monks of Altorfing in Bavaria. These monks are taking care of the hearts of a long line of kings.

There is, of course, no disputing the truth of a thing that can be proved by mathematical demonstration. For instance, this proposition advanced by a professor of mathematics to his pupils: "It is evident that if it takes one brick-layer twelve days to erect a wall of given dimensions, twelve bricklayers ought to do the work in one day, 258 in an hour, 17,280 in a minute, and 1,038,800 bricklayers in a single second."

The United States has been the richest gold and silver producing country in the world, though by very little of the precious metals were found here before the discovery of gold in California in 1848. The chief product was in the Southern States. The total amount of gold mined in these States from the discovery of the metal until 1873 was $30,000,000. From 1848 until 1873 the total value of the gold product of the United States was $1,411,000,000.

Before the introduction of stamped money in Rome, all sums were reckoned by the pound weight, and not by the number of pieces, whence the person who weighed out the amount for any purchase was termed libripes, the weighman. But the name was retained in after times, although the custom from which it arose had long fallen into disuse, to designate the person who reckoned up and distributed their pay to the soldiers, whom we might term the quartermaster of a regiment.

The great plague broke out in London during the reign of Charles II., and the pestilence did not know how to treat it. When the plague came into a house the people used to mark a red cross upon the door, and write: "Lord have mercy upon us." The shops were shut up and the whole city desolate. The following year, 1660, the great fire broke out. The whole city from the Tower to the Temple was destroyed, and St. Paul's Cathedral and innumerable churches were reduced to ashes. It burnt out the plague, however, by destroying many old, dirty and disease-breeding buildings.

Washington at Yorktown.

One who was in the army at the time relates an incident that came under his notice:

"A considerable cannonading from the enemy; one shot killed three men, and mortally wounded another. While the British were thus engaged, was standing near the cannon, a British soldier struck the ground so near as to cover his hat with sand. Being much agitated, he took off his hat, and said: 'See here, General!' Mr. Evans, replied his excellency, with his usual composure, 'you'd better carry that home and show it to your wife and children.'"

Indeed it seemed to many that Washington bore a charmed life, and it was often said that he was under the special protection of God. He was fearless, and constantly exposed to danger, but his constant escapes made him cool and self-possessed and the admiration of his men. For his escape from the enemy's hands he was called by the enemy "Swamp-foam."

"If you think so," said Washington, "you are at liberty to step back." Presently a ball did strike the cannon, and rolling off, fell at Washington's feet. General Knox seized him by the arm. "My dear General," said he, "we can't spare you yet."

"It's a spent ball," replied Washington, coolly. "No harm done." He watched the action until the redoubts which his men had been assaulting were taken; then he drew a long breath of relief and turned to Knox.

"The work is done," he said emphatically, "and well done."—St. Nicholas.

A School of Fish.

James Smith, of Clark's Harbor, N. S., caught a fish and found in its stomach a mouse, recently swallowed.

Dick Holman and Alexander James caught a forty-pound crank in a single merrig-bolow log in a stream near New London, Mo. More than 1,000 pounds of fish have been caught in this hollow log during the last three years.

A Milwaukee man caught a black bass weighing three pounds in Okaukehe lake, Wisconsin. He cut open the bass from the gills downward, and then he laid it in the water a moment. The "split" fish sprang away from its captor and swam off, disappearing beneath the surface of the water.

Captain Levi Shields, of Corydon, Ind., has a carp pond near his house. When he wants to feed the fish he goes to the pond and rings a small bell. Instantly the fish from all parts of the pond start for the feeding place and gather in great numbers near the shore, where they fight for food as it is thrown to them.

Eskotrom, the Rev. M. Moller, and other writers assert that the flesh of a pike which has been struck by a bird will heal with the talons of the bird in its back, while the bird becomes converted into a skeleton which is carried about by the pike. One skeleton which had long been exhibited by the fishermen as a harbinger of misfortune. Another skeleton carried by a pike in Lake Frydelske was known to the fishermen as a harbinger of death. The pike was finally killed and the waterside proved to be the skeleton of a sea eagle.

Mr. G. P. Miller, head of the Occident, writes that in his left knee, which he has been unable to use for some time, he has been unable to walk up the stairs. He writes that after a few applications of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, he was able to walk up the stairs, and the knee resumed its normal position.

The Rural New Yorker condemns the practice of scraping the trunks of fruit trees, as some people do, in order to get rid of the small insects that infest them. It says that the practice is as foolish as it is cruel, and that the insects are not so small as that. John Eaten Cook, author of "Surrey of Eagle's Nest," died at his home, Boyce, Va., last week.

The Montgomery Advertiser trade issue is the finest thing of the kind ever successfully carried out in Alabama journalism.

As long as the Montgomery Dispatch retains on its staff its present paragraphist it is a first class paper for politicians to stay on good terms with.—Eutaw Mirror.

Tom Armstrong, of Henry county, is the only man we have heard of in the state who has had to move his fence out to give his potatoes room to spread.

In the fourth Alabama congressional district the Republicans have two candidates in the field; one is the redoubtable Ben Turner, of Dallas and the other is Judge McHugh, of Lowndes, formerly of Iowa.

The Wetumpka Times says: Quite a number of politicians were here, in attendance on the Independent Convention, last week, to look after the interests of their party in the Congressional campaign. Among others we noted Jesse Edwards, Esq., of Chilton, Mr. B. W. Walker, legislator elect from Macon and Dank Booth, of Autauga.

We wish to say to those who have been handing into this office communications finding fault with the style general "get up," matter and manners of our local contemporary and to others who may think of doing so, that such communications cannot be published in this paper. Common professional courtesy precludes us from publishing them and we have heretofore and will always suggest that they be handed to the correspondent, i. e. itself, to act upon as it may see fit.

The Birmingham Age says it is a temperance paper, but says "prohibition fanaticism" would ruin Birmingham if its followers could have their way. Pluto's fiery regions are full of advocates of any cause who think it a good thing until it begins to touch them and then conclude it is no good. Prohibition is a good thing but when it proposes to close out a few dram shops and out of a little business, however respectable it becomes fanaticism. Good! that such creatures should be allowed to flourish for a time as a green bay tree. But we are promised that they shall at last be cut off.—Fort Payne Journal.

From a South Alabama paper, of recent date we take the following: A gentleman living in the vicinity of Selma has in his possession a letter in the seventies, in which it is predicted that the city of Charleston would be devastated and the whole South Atlantic coast shaken up by a terrible earthquake in 1886. He also predicts that in five months and ten days after the Charleston disaster an earthquake will visit the entire Pacific coast and San Francisco will bow her proud head amid the ruins of her former splendor, and of her pride and glory naught remain out ruins to tell of what had been.

This will occur Feb. 10, 1887. Can the Elmore Express give the name of the above prophet or letter writer. The first part of the prediction having come to pass, San Francisco should have timely warning of her nearing doom.

Judge Cobb.

There has been some discussion of the propriety of Judge Cobb continuing in the office of circuit judge after accepting the Democratic nomination for Congress.

A number here agree with the hypothetical proposition advanced by Judge Robinson, of Chambers, in a recent communication to a Montgomery paper; "if it is proper that Judge Cobb should now resign, since he has received the nomination for Congress, would it not have been just as proper for him to have resigned last summer, after receiving the nomination for circuit judge?"

Another expressed opinion is that Gov. O'Neal should not appoint Judge Cobb's successor, and that the appointment should be left to the incoming Governor for obvious reasons of policy and executive responsibility.

Still another and forceful reason why Judge Cobb should not resign at this time, is in the fact that he is far better prepared to dispatch the business of our crowded docket than would be a successor who has yet to familiarize himself with the rules and business of the court.

We believe the general public here as well as throughout the district is fully appreciative of the fact that it is not in the man to canvass for votes by rendering judgment contrary to law. This is really the basis of his great popularity in the circuit. It was this popularity that secured for him the congressional nomination, and such popularity, which extends all over the district, will be sufficient to secure his election by a large majority, whatever opposition may be developed.

The Railroad Commission.

The Tuskegee News thinks there will be another "rattling of dry bones" at the Alabama Railroad Commission during the next session of the Legislature. We think with the News that there is no necessity for killing time upon such a subject. The Legislature will find plenty to do to fill out the session's work. Unless the Railroad Commission is to be abolished, we have no need for any more legislation in that line, as the railroad will pay no attention to further powers granted, and there is no way to compel them to respect mandates that are plainly unconstitutional. The News says: "The Railroad companies are fully competent to manage and conduct the details of their own business, and except for arbitration, we have no need for a commission in Alabama. There are times when apparent injustice has been done the citizen by the road, or the road by the citizen, and in such cases the commission steps in and adjudicates the difference, and in every instance its decision has been and will be accepted and carried out as though it were the verdict of a jury. We have never yet heard from a single railroad in Alabama any objection to the commission as it now exists. It stands as a protection to the people and to the roads, and it might be best to let well enough alone."

Independent Party Organized.

A number of Independents of the 5th Congressional District met at Wetumpka on September the 21st and organized by selecting two members from each county as an Executive Committee, also selecting Hon. B. W. Walker, of Macon, as Chairman. They then adjourned to meet again on the 7th day of October, 1886, at Montgomery, for the purpose of determining their course in the Congressional campaign of said district.

Hon. Thomas Williams.

"M" in the Tusculum North Alabamian says: "Col. Thomas Williams, of Wetumpka, passed through here last Tuesday on his way to Florence. Col. Williams represented his district in Congress for several terms. There is no better man or truer friend in the State than Thos. Williams, and we would be glad to see him again filling the position he once adorned. Alabama in honoring Thomas Williams honors herself."

Prohibition in Atlanta.

The following is an editorial from the Atlanta Constitution of the 7th inst.: "Has Atlanta gained or lost business since the prohibition election? This question has been discussed heartily for some weeks, and the weight of opinion has been one way to-day and the other way to-morrow. Fortunately, exact statistics are at hand which settle the matter beyond dispute and prove that Atlanta has gained largely in business since prohibition went into effect."

There are eight railroads that carry Atlanta's freights. Every pound of goods we sell goes over one of these roads. If these roads show a diminution on outward freights from Atlanta, then our business has diminished. If the volume of out going freights has increased, then our business has increased.

Let us see what the railroad books show. The East Tennessee carries out of Atlanta, and billed from Atlanta, 7,191,000 pounds of freight in August 1886, against 8,472,000 in August, 1885. There was the same proportion of increase in June and July. So over the East Tennessee road Atlanta doubled her business this summer over what she did last summer, and the fall increase promises to be even greater.

But, did the East Tennessee gain business at the expense of the other roads? If so, the city's gain is lost. At the Central there was almost a blockade of outgoing trains; the officials reported a heavy gain in business, and the books showed a gain of 70,000 pounds in the first three days of the month. The West Point road reports that the business for the three summer months of 1886 is at least 30 per cent. above the 3 summer months of 1885. The Georgia Pacific reports that the increase has been so marked as to provoke comment from all the depot and railroad officials. The Western and Atlantic road makes up its books on July 1st and presents them to the lessees, but the officials state that the demand for extra depot accommodations and extra local freight trains has been marked, and is constantly increasing. The Richmond & Danville received from freights billed from Atlanta $5,691 in July, 1885, and $6,792 in July, 1886, an increase of 20 per cent., and the increase for August is even larger. The Georgia railroad books are kept in Augusta, but the increase of Atlanta's tonnage this summer has been so marked that it has been a common topic about the depot.

This testimony is positive and irrefutable. In spite of freight discriminations, the freights billed from Atlanta (which means goods manufactured or sold in Atlanta) has increased on every road leading out of the city. This increase runs from 20 per cent. to 100 per cent. The way-bills show that Atlanta freight is constantly reaching new territory. Against these plain and emphatic figures, no amount of opinion or complaint can prevail. Commercially, Atlanta is holding her own, and pushing ahead as rapidly as her best friend could desire.

A CALL.

For a Convention of the Alabama State Temperance Alliance.

A convention of the Alabama State Temperance Alliance is hereby called to meet in the city of Montgomery on Tuesday, November 16th, 1886, at 11 o'clock to take such steps as shall be deemed necessary to secure legal prohibition of the liquor traffic in Ala. The State Alliance is composed of all sincere friends of temperance, irrespective of creed or political affiliations. While all such will be recognized in the convention, it is especially desired that delegates properly accredited should be sent by counties, towns and temperance organizations.

I trust that the State Executive Committee of the Alliance, composed of Hon. John T. Tanner, (Chairman), Dr. J. T. Searey, Rev. Z. A. Parker, Rev. F. J. Tyler and Hon. John C. Orr, will issue a call for mass meetings in all the counties, and thus secure a full delegation from every county in the State. F. B. WEBB, Pres't A. S. T. A.

Don't Publish Them.

The Alabama Prohibitionist finds entanglement in the fact that Mr. Tanner, its candidate for Governor, got 684 votes. The Prohibitionist is easily gratified. Less than a thousand, in a total vote of something less than two hundred thousand may exhibit our contempt for the party that is disposed to carry whiskey into State politics. In many of the counties in Alabama, and in Barbour we are certain, many more than 684 votes could be had to abolish the sale or giving away of whiskey. It would not surprise us, if when opportunity is offered, Eufaula and Barbour county would vote whiskey out. These temperance men, however, don't want it in State politics, and by their recent vote they said so. Tanner's vote, when multiplied fifty times, does not nearly represent the pros. in this State. The figures which the returns give him, belittles the cause of temperance in Alabama and the Union.—Eufaula Times.

Don't forget that you can get any school book you may need or anything in the way of writing material or stationery of any kind at the View Stationery Stand.

There is no use talking gentlemen, the View has some strong friends at its back; and it does not hesitate to boast of them, because of the very good reason that it feels proud of them.

Isn't it rather ungentlemanly to continue the practice of discharging fire-arms right around town, after ladies have publicly requested its discontinuance on account of the annoyance. Miss Rosa Dantle would second us by saying: "Isn't it really though?"

S. G. DuBose, Esq., visited Columbiana and Uniontown this week. We learn that he intends going to the latter place to start a newspaper at an early day. While we regret to lose him from our town we wish him much success in his new home and the field of journalism.

Among visiting attorneys in attendance upon this term of court are Col. J. M. Falkner, Chas. H. Jones, ex-Gov. Watte and Col. R. M. Williamson, of Montgomery; Henry Wilson, W. R. & H. L. Oliver, Walter Cary and J. L. Peters, of the Shelby county bar. R. J. Lowe and R. H. Sterrett, of Birmingham.

A New Enterprise.

Mr. John W. Gullahorn is building a livery stable on his lot just opposite his residence. This is a new enterprise that the public will be glad to know of. We are glad to see Mr. G. engage in this line of business, and hope that he will meet with abundant success.

Each of our old subscribers by paying up to date for the View and for one year in advance, will thereby secure a valuable premium which we offer to such, in the way of an interesting monthly magazine, "OUR COUNTRY HOME." New subscribers paying for one year in advance, will also get this premium.

The winter session of Isabella School will begin first Monday in Nov. 1898 and will continue until about the middle of May 1899. The patronage of the community and surrounding country is earnestly solicited. Cheap board can be obtained. Society and moral influence good. Splendid church and S. S. facilities. Harplesville Data.

We are needing rain very much. Miss Fannie McMath our popular teacher opened a full school here last Monday; we hope her success in her work although she may have some rough work to do.

Mrs. Jennie Boline, of Centreville is visiting friends at this place.

Mr. James McCary, of Birmingham, is visiting relatives at this place.

Cotton pickers are in demand now. We want some of those old tough back fellows for our cotton is so low that bawling very low will be a necessity.

Dixie Data.

Mrs. Ed. Crossland, who has been visiting Mrs. T. E. Callier of this place, has returned to her home in Selma.

Mrs. M. A. Hare, of Camden, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Crum. Miss Ida Stewart, after a protracted stay in Orrville has returned to her home.

Master Dee Crum has been quite ill, but is now some better.

The protracted meeting at Ebenezer church closed on Sunday night last with 15 conversions. Ten by baptism and five by letter.

Our community has secured the services of Prof. Acker, of Cross Plains, Ala., as teacher. School will begin Oct. 4th. We hope that success will crown the efforts of our teacher.

Lily Settings.

Cotton picking is in full progress. The crop is considered very poor. The new bridge at Benson is finished and has been received by our Commissioner R. C. Lenoir.

Mrs. Jas. Raspberry had the misfortune to get her arm severely sprained by a fall while walking in the yard a few days ago. Mr. W. M. Oden and Miss Josie Raspberry, who have been suffering with a protracted illness of typho-malarial fever are now convalescing rapidly. We hope to see them out soon.

Our very enterprising and energetic citizen B. F. Hammond, who has been confined at home several weeks by an attack of fever, has gotten able to return to Montgomery to take a business position which he had just entered upon when he became sick. His father will leave us soon to make his home in St. Louis. We regret to lose them from our community.

Prof. G. L. Speer leaves us this week to spend a short vacation with relatives and friends in Coosa county, prior to opening the winter session of his school at Isabella.

Miss Stella Malone has just returned from a visit to relatives in Wilcox county.

The people of Mulberry have recently been the recipient of a splendid gift in the form of a hundred dollar bill at the hands of our most magnanimous, public-spirited merchant, S. J. Heath.

The regular appointment of Rev. J. M. McCord was filled Saturday and Sunday by Mr. Jno. Thomas, a promising young minister from Bibb county, a student of Howard College.

Our fine Sunday schools are still flourishing. Another has been recently organized at Old Maplesville. Our community is decidedly on the improve despite of financial depression and poor crops.

The crowning event of the season was the closing exercises of the summer session of Prof. Speer's school. In the presence of a good audience, the examination began Friday morning the 17th inst., and throughout the day the Prof. and his efficient assistant, Mrs. B. F. Hammond, entertained the audience highly, showing to the satisfaction of all that both teachers and scholars had been doing good work. At 7 o'clock p. m., the concert exercises began and from that time till 11 o'clock p. m., a crowded audience sat unwearied beholding the beautiful tableaux, listening to the charming songs, choruses, declamations &c. Would like to mention the names of some of these bright scholars, who made the occasion such a grand success, but where all did so well it would be injustice to persons without mentioning all, and that would occupy too much of your valuable space. From the encomiums that have been since poured out upon them by the audience, the teachers, patrons, and scholars have great reason to be proud of their achievements. We hope this will stimulate all to still greater efforts in the future.

As an endorsement of the services of Prof. Speer the people have made him a better school than ever and in the short time since the close of the school have raised more than half enough money to build a good academy. The house will be ready for use by Christmas.

Partisan spirit in politics is happily subsiding here. The people seem to be ready to acquiesce cheerfully in the decision of the court upon the unfortunate contest.

Vox.

Verbena Items.

Mrs. W. C. Saunders, after spending several weeks in Montgomery has returned to Verbena.

The Misses Pitts, after a pleasant vacation spent at home have again returned to school at Tuska-loosa.

Mr. Dell, of Newton, Ala., spent several days in Verbena last week.

Rev. Dr. Briggs and family, of Robinson Springs, were in Verbena last week stopping at the Clifton hotel. Dr. Briggs preached two very interesting sermons in the Methodist church while here. He left here on last Monday to spend a few days with his friend Mr. Harry Herbert of Clanton.

The revival at the Baptist church last week resulted in 19 conversions to that communion on profession.

As yet nothing has been done towards fencing the Verbena cemetery. This ought to be done at once.

When will it rain again? Is the question of the day. RESTLESS.

A Persian Bride.

Although the bride was very young, having at the most been sixteen summers, she was not a stranger even to her pretty face. Her hair, which was jet black and very long, plaited into a number of tiny tails, the ends of which peeped forth from under the chaperon of folded white linen she wore on her head.

Nothing can exceed the ugliness or unbecomingness of this headgear; it is merely a square piece of muslin or cotton folded cornerwise, and tightly fastened with a pin or tiny brooch under the chin, with two ends hanging down the back and the remaining two falling over the breast. Over this again is worn the house veil, which envelops the whole

piece of muslin or grey-patterned chintz, and is not fastened on, but simply kept in its place by the arms. Her voluminous skirt was of white and pink striped satin, handsomely trimmed with gold lace, and reached only half way to the knee; the legs were bare. Often as many as twenty yards of silk or satin are employed for these skirts, which are gathered into a band at the waist, and worn over four or five petticoats very much stiffened. The more a skirt stands out the more fashionable it is. The bodice is a loose sort of jacket of silk or velvet trimmed with gold lace, the sleeves are long, and terminate in a pointed cuff that turns back, reaching nearly to the elbow. This is worn over a calico or linen shirt. Although all dresses agree in their leading features, and the fashions never change in the east as they do in the west, yet they differ to a great extent in detail, and afford a scope for the peculiar taste or fancy of the wearer.—London Society.

A Cheyenne Courtship.

The Cheyenne tribe of Indians has a bloody record of wars with other tribes and of collisions with United States troops. Its remnants are now gathered upon a large reservation in the western part of Indian Territory. They are a large, athletic, well-formed race, and mentally superior to most other plains

Indians. A good reason for their superiority is to be found in the more carefully guarded morality of their women.

A Cheyenne maiden knows her rights and her value, and conducts herself with strict propriety, according to the established customs of her tribe. She is owned by her father and he may sell her in marriage without her consent, but she is not without a remedy. Once wedded, she is the property of her husband, and is bound to all the slavish obedient drudgery of squaw life. The warrior, however, who unwisely buys her against her will, does so at a risk of losing all his property for her, as the Cheyenne law of divorce is peculiar, and provides important limitations of her bondage. More commonly she is permitted to choose for herself, and is apt to do so with an intellectual reference to questions of comfort, supplies, and social standing.

A young Cheyenne brave has a great deal of spare time on his hands, and one consequence of this fact is that there is a vast amount of courting done by him.

His best time comes to him after sunset, for he is expected to serenade, and he does so. He does not sing, he blows the cho-tunk. This is a sort of flute, varying much in shape and character. He generally makes it of two pieces of cedar, hollowed out, and glued at the edges. It is sometimes improved by a snake-skin drawn tightly over it and dried, and he does so. He does not sing, he blows the

A TEST CASE.

Regarding Legal Advertisements and Notion Published in Papers Using Ready

Printed Sheets.

Some years since the Dover (N. J.)

Times published a mortgage sale. When the property was sold under the mortgage, the former owners claimed that the sale was not legal, as the paper publishing the notice of it was what is known as ready-print—that is, one of the sheets was printed out of the county. Suit was brought in the court of chancery to have the sale set aside. The following is the decision of the chancellor in the case:

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY:

Between Julius Hairhouse, petitioner, and The National Union Bank, of Dover,

N. J., defendants; on petition to set aside sale.

Upon petition, filed in this court by the above stated petitioner, to set aside a sale made in pursuance of the commands and directions contained in a certain writ of sequestration, lately issued out of this court in said cause wherein the National Union Bank of Dover, New Jersey, was complainant, and Samuel Cross and others defendants;

because the advertisement of said sale was defective and not in compliance with the statute in such cases made and provided for certain reasons in said petition alleged and set forth. And upon the matter being opened and argued to the court by the respective solicitor and counsel of the petitioner and of the National Union Bank, of Dover, N. J., and the court having examined the said petition and the facts therein stipulated to be true, and the exhibits of the petitioner and being fully advised in the premises

it is considered by the court that the advertisement of said sale was legal and sufficient, and was both a substantial and literal compliance with the statutory requirement. It is, therefore, on this twentieth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, ordered and directed by his Honor, Theodore Runyon, chancancellor of New Jersey, that the prayer of said petition be denied, and the said petition be dismissed.

Respectfully advised,

THEODORE RUNYON, C.

Fairies.

Once we believed in fairies. We never walked through fragrant fields but we expected exquisite little fay to spring up through the sod. We never looked at a bright blossom but we hoped to see little princesses, dressed in gorgeous floral robes, resting like snowballs on each dewy petal, and politely bowing to us, as the wind gently wafted the daisy leaf.

A rainbow-hued butterfly was to us the metamorphose of a fairy queen, and we would follow, with all a lover's ardor, her flitting among the buttercups and daisies. At every misdeed of our childhood, the fear of dreadful ogres and witches was often our severest punishment. We envied every "Sunday child," who, we firmly believed, knew the "good people."

Our disillusion in this matter caused us more cruel suffering than even that we felt when we found our doll was stuffed with saw-dust.

What an infinitude of fancies and worlds do fairies awaken! Poets are peculiarly responsive to the idea, for fairies must speak in sweet snatches of song, not in plain prose. What delicate images have they traced in the poet's mind! What suggestive fancies, what

The Confederate Preacher.

It is told that in 1863 a country preacher, somewhat of a humorist, was notified by the boys in blue that he must cease his treasonable utterances in the pulpit or be arrested. The preacher demanded a bill of particulars. He was told in an abrupt way that he must pray for the President, and, to the astonishment of the soldiers, he promptly declared his willingness to comply with the order. On the following Sunday morning his church was crowded with home guards, soldiers, and Confederate sympathizers, each filled with half-conscious anxiety for the day's results. It was a hot day in June. In the amen corner at the officers of the military. In the opposite corner sat the deacons of the congregation. The white-haired preacher was hidden from view behind the pulpit longer than usual that morning, but at last the services began and a breathless hush fell upon the assembly as it solemnly knelt for the prayer on which the fate of the congregation was hanging.

O Lord," said the preacher, breaking the painful silence which had followed his introductory of thanks. "Bless this waiting congregation. Bless Thy servant who will address them this day, and may his words be fruitful to Thy kindly de-

ty. O Lord, in a special manner we pray

Thy richest blessings upon the President."

"Amen!" said the kneeling militia officers, nudging each other violently, while great drops of perspiration stood upon the State of the Union. There was a brief and awful pause.

"Lord, should the preacher familiarly, with sudden animation. "Thou knowest whom I mean. I mean Jef-ferison Davis!"

SOMEbody writes protesting against that that are turned up so as to look jaunty, and says that he went to a funeral the other day, and found his attention distracted from the services by the jaunty military worn by the ladies present.

President Cleveland has been invited to visit Montgomery during the State fair, and some hopes are entertained of his accepting the invitation.

The anniversary edition of the Montgomery Dispatch showed great enterprise in that journal. Montgomery is indeed well advertised by her local newspapers.

One of the results of the earthquake was to cure the rheumatism of a citizen of Columbia, S. C. He had used crutches for years, but when the quake quaked he ran out of the house like a four-year-old steer, and he hasn't used his crutches since.

When a citizen of Lowell the other evening stopped a horse that was aimlessly dragging a top buggy through the streets, he found within the buggy a young man and woman and sleeping couple clasped in each other's arms, the girl's head resting gently upon the young man's shirt bosom.

Charles J. James, a son of G. R. P. James, the English novelist of "transatlantic horsemen" fame, peddles papers and makes orifices in Euclaire, Wis., where he is an Alderman, and presides dominantly and anarchically between times. He had a letter in a recent North American Review, entitled "Anarchism Defined by an Anarchist." He is described as a harmless and not disagreeable crank.

The democratic executive committee of the fifth district met in Montgomery on Friday last for the purpose of considering the matter of Judge Cobb's resignation. The committee decided that a canvass of the district was necessary, leaving the matter of resignation to Judge Cobb, and that gentleman on Monday last tendered his resignation as circuit judge to the Governor, which has been accepted. Judge Cobb will enter upon a canvass of the district.

W. L. Timmons of Lillards was engaged to marry Lottie Porter of Ohio. He had a sister, L. B. Downs, and she a sister, Maudie. The wedding was held at the Porter residence. But when the young men appear, Maudie positively refused to marry Louis because he had deceived her. Instead of his own photograph, he had sent that of a black and white some negro minstrel, and Louis was neither black nor minstrel. Timmons stood by his fiancée and refused to marry Lottie. Maudie married Louis, and so the double wedding was celebrated.

Judge Cobb's Case.

The communication of "Maudie's Case" published elsewhere is from the pen of one of the most eminent legal lights of the State. It touches upon a phase of the question which, however, does not admit Judge Cobb's case, since the latter will not enter upon the term as circuit judge for which he has been elected, and which begins in November. The term of a Congressman does not begin until March, we understand, and as Judge Cobb's present term as circuit judge will expire in November, and as he further states to a representative of this paper that he will not take the oath of office or enter upon the duties of circuit judge for the term of his reelection, his case will not be affected by the constitutional clause so ably criticized by our distinguished correspondent.

The Boy of the Scientist.

Wiggins is the name of a weather wiser (?) wiggler who holds forth in the country of bank cashiers and ice bergs just north of us. His fame as a prophet is principally due to the fact that he has an incredible habit of spasmodically predicting great catastrophes from wind and weather, which calamities, perhaps through compassion for a world that is cursed with such a weather juggler as Wiggins, never happen. Wiggins predicted an earthquake for Wednesday night, the 29th of September. The date has come and gone. The quake has done neither. His earthquake was to shake down the towns of New Orleans, Mobile, Montgomery, Atlanta and Macon. Those towns are yet standing forth to tell the world that they never shake with Wiggins. Wiggins was consumed with a desire for them to shake but they recoiled only "shux!"

Another scientific son-of-a-gun is this Prof. McGee of Washington. He places Wiggins in the great army of cranks! and yet here is what he, as a scientist, practically told the home-ridden people of Charleston immediately after the earthquake there! "Men and women of Charleston your houses are gone and your churches are gone, and all I have to say by way of comfort is that a wave of the Atlantic ocean about fifty feet high, will soon roll over and pull you all out of your misery." This was a 500-horse power comforter. But the wave came not. In the words of Dr. Talmage: "Science has lied, thank God!" So let the fame of Wiggins and McGee go rattling down the ages in the blunderbuss car of Juggernaut.

Prohibition Booming.

The cause of Prohibition is booming efficiently and with such rapid progress that all ordinary calculations are at fault—hardly a single State is now without its full representative character made apparent in its various election districts.

Each State, county, and congressional district are holding conventions, and every town is alive with Prohibition lectures, and demanding Prohibition Literature. New recruits and converts with active demonstration of a widespread enthusiasm are falling into the ranks, and it seems that we may expect a boom for Prohibition this fall that will bring counteraction in both the Republican and Democratic parties. The Fisk boom in New Jersey is one of the marvels of our political times. It has now become certain that Fisk will receive a majority of the vote cast that there is hardly a question about it. This concealed will prove one of the most astonishing developments ever brought about in the history of our country in such a short time, and gives promise of the possibility of carrying the next Presidential election for Prohibition with its glorious results to follow. A new reformation of mind and intellectuality is taking possession of the minds of the people that means great progress, and that the nation must stand much quicker than we could at first have anticipated.—Edmund Martin.

The Constitutional Objection.

Oct. 1st, 1886.

It is sometimes urged against Judge Jas. E. Cobb, and was two years since, against the late Chancellor Graham, that each violated the spirit if not the language of the constitution of 1876 in being candidates for Congress, during the term for which they were elected to the judicial office, they respectively held. The constitution of 1876, Art. VI, §10 declares: "The Judge of the supreme and circuit courts, and chancery judges, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their terms of office; but they shall receive no fees or perquisites, nor hold any office except judicial office, or profit or trust under this State or the United States, or any other power, during the term for which they have been elected." This language, it is true, prohibits any Judge of the supreme court, circuit judge or chancery judge, from holding any office, judicial office, except under the United States, during the term for which they have been elected; but is such declaration binding on any judicial officer of the State?

It is well settled that the qualifications of any officer whose office is created by the constitution cannot be changed by a mere law. The constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land, "anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding." The only qualifications of a Representative in the Congress of the United States are prescribed in the constitution of the United States, in the 2d Art. I. These qualifications thus prescribed are 1st, That the person shall be twenty-five years old. 2nd, That he shall have been seven years a citizen of the United States, and 3rd, that he shall be at the time of his election an inhabitant of the State in which he is elected.

Section V, Art. I. of the United States Constitution declares that each house shall be the judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members.

Now, it is too clear to admit of debate, that the convention which framed the constitution of Alabama of 1855, had no power either directly or indirectly to add to or diminish any qualification of a member of Congress. The clause of the constitution of Alabama above quoted is in direct conflict with the Federal constitution, so far as the qualifications of members of Congress are concerned, and of course it must be void. The clause which prohibits a State judicial officer from holding a Federal office, during the term for which he has been elected to a State office is in palpable conflict with the Federal constitution which prescribes, (and has the exclusive right to prescribe) the qualifications of members of Congress.

Judge Cobb can be legally and constitutionally elected a member of Congress and he can hold the office of a member of Congress notwithstanding the term for which he was elected a judge has not expired.

The clause in our constitution of 1875 which attempts to make the prohibition was evidently inserted hastily and inadvertently, by the able men who framed it.

The many friends of Col. B. J. Baldwin are glad to see him able to go on the streets again with much improving.

Mr. William Downey of the Clifton hotel was taken very sick last week and had to be carried to his relatives in Montgomery on last Sunday night. We hope he will soon recover.

Mrs. A. H. Lockwood of Mobile, after spending a few days with relatives and friends in Verona has again returned to her pleasant home "beside the sea."

Several families have gone from the Clifton hotel to their respective homes.

Master Clifton and Miss Annie Chambers have been quite sick at the Clifton, but are now convalescent.

Pr. J. S. Pitts has been quite sick but is now convalescent.

There will be an entertainment at Brook's hall on next Friday evening, given for the benefit of the Baptist church. Quite a treat in store for all who attend. We bespeak for them a large audience.

The attempt to break off the engagement of Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, and Princess Victoria, has reached us here and we are anxious to see how it will terminate. They are certainly a devoted couple confronted by the question, "shall I give up my position in the German army, or our contemplated happiness in becoming husband and wife?" If they marry we wish for them a life of happiness and success.

LOCAL NOTICES.

Miss Inez Collier has gone to Montgomery where she will attend school.

Mrs. P. A. Givhan, of Birmingham, is visiting her father's family at this place.

Clanton Academy will open next Monday with Prof. R. E. R. Hicks in charge.

We learn that Mr. Glaucus Moore intends building a residence in Clanton ere long.

That hacking cough can be quickly cured by Shiloh's Cure. We guarantee it. For sale by M. J. Greene.

Catarh cured, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Nasal Injector free. For sale by M. J. Greene.

Found, on the street in Clanton, a key. Owner can get it by calling at this office and proving property.

The View office received many pleasant visits during the past week from friends and patrons.

Rev. Jefferson Falkner is still a prominent and faithful worker in all gatherings of the Baptist denomination.

Mr. A. J. Brooks, Moderator of the Unity Association and makes an excellent presiding officer, and an earnest christian worker.

We had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. N. E. Goodwin, of Maplesville, in Clanton this week. She had been attending the association.

Mr. A. J. Hall is the clever local correspondent of several State dailies, and is thus aiding in advertising our town very effectively.

Hon. J. M. Clay, of Selma, attended the meeting of the Baptist Association at Clanton, and while here gave the View a pleasant call.

Mr. G. W. Haden is removing to Montgomery this week. Our depot agent, Mr. Holt has rented the Haden residence and will move into it in a few days.

Sleepless nights made miserable by that terrible cough, Shiloh's Cure is the remedy for you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Will you suffer with Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint? Shiloh's Vitalizer is guaranteed to cure you. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Mr. Berrier, of Bangor, is in Clanton on a visit to his son, our night operator. He is thinking of moving to our town with his entire family.

Mr. J. H. Aldridge, of this place, but who is engaged in the lumber business in Birmingham at present came down to attend the meeting of the Association last week.

H. L. Williams, Esq., of Wetumpka, announces through the View that he is prepared to loan money on farming lands in Chilton county. Read his notice.

The singing of Mrs. O. A. Duke at the Baptist Church on Sunday afternoon was pronounced especially excellent. Mrs. A. J. Brooks also lent the charm of her voice to the meetings of the Baptist Association.

For sick headache, female troubles, neuralgia pains in the head take Dr. J. H. McLean's Little Liver and Kidney Pills. 25 cents a vial. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

Shiloh's Vitalizer is what you need for Constipation, loss of appetite, dizziness, and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle.

Mr. Wiley Ramsey, of Lily, brings the View the champion sweet potatoes thus far. They were of a very large growth and go to show what there is in good cultivation of the soil such as Mr. Ramsey makes.

The Mince Pies who have been spending the summer in Clanton and Dadeville are here for a short time before returning to their home in Pensacola.

Mr. J. R. Kemp, one of our most thorough-going and intelligent farmers, gave us a very agreeable and encouraging visit Saturday. As a citizen and as a farmer he has few superiors.

Mr. R. L. Wooley, who resides near Montevallo, came over to Clanton last week and returned home with his daughter, who has been visiting the family of Mr. Jno. Garner.

We were shown a curiosity the other day by Dr. W. E. Stewart. It was a young chicken with four perfect legs and feet, two of which had grown out where the wings should be. It was dead and in a bottle of alcohol for preservation.

U. S. Marshall's Sale.

In another column will be found an advertisement of sale of personal property on the 18th inst., by U. S. Marshall Allen. Attention is directed to it.

Mr. W. I. Mullins, of Kincheon, met with quite a serious accident last week, while superintending the work at his gin. His right arm was caught among the bands and machinery and very badly crushed. We are glad to learn that it will not be necessary for him to lose the limb, and that he is steadily improving.

A Fine Lecture.

"David and Absalom" was the subject of a very fine lecture delivered on Sunday afternoon by Maj. J. G. Harris, of the Alabama Baptist, before the Unity Baptist Association at this place. Maj. Harris handled his subject in a scholarly and masterful manner, and fully sustained his State wide reputation as a lecturer.

Wadsworth Items.

In the View of Oct. 23rd., your correspondent was made to say that "Mr. Willie Wadsworth, after spending a pleasant vacation at home has again returned to College at Tuskegee." It ought to have been Miss Nellie Wadsworth instead of Willie. However Mr. Will Wadsworth has returned to college at Tuskegee, and lost his trunk on the way.

The View is in high favor with our people here and is anxiously looked for every week. May all of her endeavors be crowned with success.

Rockspring Locals.

Farmers are very busy gathering their crops.

Some sickness. A new arrival at Prof. G. W. Dawson's, it's a boy. A good rain badly needed, water is very scarce.

This community has been blessed with protracted meetings and we hope much good has been accomplished, and we trust that good may be seen in succeeding years.

Mr. E. O. Dawson, one of Shelby counties pedagogues, is visiting relatives at this place, his former home.

Perhaps our worthy probate Judge has let his stock of marriage licenses run low, if so we would merely advise him to have about a 1000 fixed up at the nearest printing office. Several of our boys have got to have a pair pretty soon if they have to have them made in the blacksmith shop.

Grand Jury Report.

To the Hon. James E. Cobb, Presiding: We, the Grand Jury empaneled for the Fall Term of the Circuit Court of Chilton county beg leave to submit the following report.

We have diligently inquired into all indictable offences that have come to our knowledge and have found eighteen true bills.

We have also examined our jail and find it insecure, but are pleased to report our new jail nearing completion, which will be as secure as any in the State.

We have also examined the books of the various county officers and to the best of our knowledge they are correct and neatly kept. We also find that the Treasurer and Superintendent of Education have vouchers and cash to balance their books.

We have examined the bonds of the county officers and believe them to be good and sufficient.

We now desire to return thanks to your Honor for your able and instructive charge and with it express our regret that this is perhaps the last time that your Honor will preside over our court, but we console ourselves that in losing our judge we gain a congressman.

We also return thanks to the Solicitor for his wise counsel and cheerful assistance during our labors, and regret that we will no longer have his valuable services as Solicitor.

We also return thanks to the various officers who have assisted us in our labors.

Having finished our labors we now ask to be discharged.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

O. A. DUKE, Foreman.

Executive Committee Meeting.

The members of the Executive Committee of the Democratic party of Chilton county are hereby requested to meet at the rooms of the Committee in Clanton, Ala., on Friday, October 8th, 1886, at 10 a. m. for the transaction of important business. Every member of the Committee is urged to attend.

WM. A. COLLIER, Chairman.

J. C. LAWRENCE, Secretary.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. I. A. REYNARD.

Notice.

I have not flooded the country with posters telling how many goods I would sell at cost, because I am not selling goods that way. I desire to say to the public however that I am still selling honest goods as low as any and making a small profit besides for my trouble. Come and see if I am not as cheap as any.

W. L. SANFEE.

Lost Boy.

Information is desired by an anxious mother concerning the whereabouts of her son, Curry Vick, who left this country quite a while since, and has never been heard from. Any person knowing where this young man is, will confer a great favor by writing at once to his mother, Mrs. Tilda Vick, at Lewis, Shelby county, Ala.

AGRICULTURAL.

TOPICS OF INTEREST RELATIVE TO FARM AND GARDEN.

The Cause of Scorching.

The disease known as scorching is produced by local irritation from any cause, such as exposure to wind, or to frost, or to a disordered condition of the blood. There is a contagious form of the disease produced by a parasitic fungoid growth, which is spread by the spores from a diseased surface becoming attached to any wounded part of a plant. A scorch or canker by a cork on a horse's foot may thus be infected by contact with litter or manure upon which a diseased horse has trodden, and the disease is often spread in this manner in large stables or the hobbles of horses and liveries. The treatment is similar in either case. The diseased skin should be washed with warm water and soap and bathed freely with a saturated solution of hyposulphite of soda; or a solution of one dram of sulphate of zinc in a pint of water twice a day. An ounce of hyposulphite of soda should be given daily for two weeks. —New York Times.

Farm and Garden Notes.

Milk being a complete food, it cannot be produced unless complete food is given the cows for that purpose. It is best to water plants in the evening. Make a few holes around the plant and allow the water to run down into the roots. Do not feed breeding sows very largely on grain. They may be kept in good condition, but it should be done by mere bulky or partially green food. Road dust may be gathered easily now and stored for use in poultry houses, where it will be worth much more than its cost. The following are said to be the symptoms of hog cholera. Drooping ears, low-hanging head, diarrhea, vomiting, rapid breath, and an aversion to light. Stake up the tomato plants, and do not allow the vines to fall on the ground. The light and air should be allowed to enter between the boughs freely, and careful watch should be kept for the large green worm. Cabbage worms are a dread, but they may be disposed of by hand-picking the first brood before they pass into their perfect state. A later on dust the centre of the leaves thoroughly with a mixture of one part of pyrethrum powder to five parts of plaster or dry earth. To protect watermelon plants from bugs a South Carolina grower recommends charcoal dust, or coal kiln dust, dusting about a pint over each hill when the plants are young. He states that he has used this method fifteen years, and always thus protects his plants from bugs. Do not work too closely in the melon hills after the vines have begun to run. Melons may be now applied with advantage, but it should be well rotted and spread around the hills on the edge of the running vines. Work with the hoe in front of the vines and not among them. For mulching gooseberries and currants no material is better than the short clippings from the lawn. It lies closely, keeps down weeds and promotes needed coarseness to the soil. As for cucumbers and squashes, they may be watered more fruit from each several years old than from last year's seed. House plants that have been planted in the border need to be carefully watched and supplied with water; otherwise in a dry time they will suffer far sooner than those with their roots unconfined. As these make their way into the soil, they need more care in pinching and training with reference to their future forms. There are many dairy farms that can be provided with water power for churning at small cost by constructing reservoirs where the elevation is great enough to make a reservoir serve its purpose. A spring may keep the reservoir supplied, or if there is no spring above, a watershed of a few acres will serve the purpose. It is stated that if an outside leaf of a cabbage plant which is infested with green worms is broken off and placed at one end of the row, the worms in the afternoon nearly all the worms in the cabbage will be found next morning congregated on the leaf, and can easily be removed and destroyed. A valuable remedy if true. There is a gain to be found in lifting pot plants in July instead of September. Take, for example, such free-growing kinds as geraniums, coleus, heliotropes, abutilons, salvias and the like, that may be wanted for fall decorations or for fall flower shows, and they can be gotten up in much better shape if potted now than if taken two or three months later. Professor Fiedler says that yellowish peaches may be cured by digging a shallow trench around the tree and filling it with boiling water. A heavy dose of potash will have the same effect. Filling the trench with ashes and pouring boiling water on them is said to effect a cure also. All these remedies are based upon the supposition that a root fungus causes the disease. In sowing mixed grasses for hay reference must be had to their periods of ripening; they must be ready for the mower at the same time. Red clover and orchard grass, for example, will ripen at different times, and if sown together they will mature at different times, and may be advantageously added to them. Timothy and herds, or redtops, ripen later and would not fit well into the combination. One squash vine, if certain not to be destroyed, is enough for a single hill. If more than two or three are planted together they will crowd so that none will yield much fruit. This necessity for an abundant supply of food is the reason why chaise vines often yield so enormously. Vines thus coming up in a rich place have the field all to themselves, and the result shows that they occupy it fully. If clover has been cut early enough the second growth will start rapidly without manure. If it has been left until full blossom, or the heads just turning, the aftermath will be small whatever is done. Sowing gypsum or land plaster is helpful, as it will retain moisture on the leaves. Coarse manure should not be used unless with the intention of leaving all after-growth to lie on the ground for manure. It will rot in a single hill, and so to partly offset whatever good it may do. It is surprising how thin a covering over a clover plant will suffice to smother it. Even the scattering hay is injurious, and for this reason should be raked up and removed, and not to get it where it will not hurt the clover but to the value of the hay. Horses, especially those hard at work, suffer more from overfeeding than from almost any other cause. They may not eat too much, in fact, overfeeding is often a cause for a horse not eating enough. It is much easier to put too much hay or grain before a horse and let him eat what he will and waste and soil the remainder, than it is to give just the right amount and see that all is eaten cleanly. No animal is more delicate in its food than a horse. If the manger is half filled with some hay or other feed the horse will take away his appetite for what is freshly placed before him. Disregard for this fact is one reason why horses often grow poor and cut feed moistened and fed to them in warm weather. It occurs very quickly at this season, and a very little left in the feed box will soon destroy a horse's appetite.

I sit on the glacial, musing, and I am startled by a sudden genuine Apache war-cry on the ramparts over my head, behind me come two braves in war paint or dress, bearing on their heads a fantastic wood arrangement resembling horns, their faces covered in a kumuk, with a yellow veil and dress of same stuff, slashed with dark red, belted with gleaming metal. They trot along, and suddenly a noise like bells, up by their friends inside the walls, and the shrilling yell floats over in strange contrast to the quiet scene. These Apaches were only captured a few weeks ago, brought direct to this place of imprisonment. They are a part of Geronimo's band, who is now raiding in Mexico and the Arizona border in revenge for their supposed death. A Queer Little Western Railroad.

There is a little narrow gauge railroad in Central Illinois which is rather amusing to rail through a rich farming country and is owned and managed by wealthy farmers. The conductors, engineers and brakemen are farmers' sons who have grown weary of raising cattle and corn and have taken to "rail-roading" the various and sundry stations along the line of this little railroad are of no consequence whatever, except to their score or more of inhabitants and to the farmers of the neighborhood. A train starts from each end of the road every morning after breakfast, runs to the opposite end of the road, and returns again for tea, and then up for the night. As there is no telegraph line connected with the road, nobody at any of the stations knows when a train is coming until it arrives in sight. As the rails are laid on the place on the flat prairie, and as no grade exists from one end of the road to the other, the tall grass has an awkward habit of getting under the wheels and stopping the train. Not infrequently, also, the light rails spread apart and the cars run off the track, and go tumbling along on the virgin prairie. Whenever a little accident of this kind occurs the engineer, conductor, brakemen and passengers jump ashore and lift the cars into place again. The passengers ride in a car, served for them in the rear of a long line of freight cars. Half of this car is partitioned off in order that it may also serve for carrying mail bags, express matter and baggage. Not infrequently the passengers are taken to the village ahead of the train and announce their arrival to follow them in an hour or two, providing they can be kept on the track long enough. Sometimes a locomotive gets stalled on some one of the several gentle hills along the line. The trainmen then upon quietly wait until the other engine appears. Then the two engines draw the train up the hill. Notwithstanding the oddities which exist in the management of this little railroad it hauls large quantities of freight and is making money for its stockholders. —Chicago News.

An Artist in Peach Stones.

There has been a sculptor in butter, who has made a sleeping Venus out of Orange County rolls, and an expert in oleomargarine, a sort of Rosa Bonheur, who has made an Alderney cow out of "dairy oleo." On the sidewalk in Brooklyn, near the Fulton Ferry, is a trolly in peach-stones. He takes the rough pits of peaches and apricots and carves them into all sorts of beautiful shapes. He makes them into rowboats, castles and baskets. One basket of peculiar shape and color is made from the pit of a Maryland peach, and is altogether different in design from the pit of a California peach, and still another of the pit of a Jersey peach. Other odd trinkets are made by him from apricot stones and some which are pure white and look like ivory. The man who makes these carvings comes from Panama and South America. The old man has the pieces of miniature sculpture displayed on a card. He wants to popularize art and so he makes it cheap, for he sells his two works for five cents. He is deaf and unable to hear a word that his customers say, but he understands them all and replies to questions in words that he does not himself hear. He has been carving peach-stones for sixteen years and used to make $4 a day, but now the public has left peach-stones for playthings and he makes more than $1 a day. —New York Journal.

An African "Whip."

The fact that "whip" is an old name for a conchus points to the days of bad roads and lumbering carriages, when a driver was obliged to lay a whip as well as to direct his team. In South Africa, where stones and sand make wheeling difficult, it requires two men to drive a team. One of them holds the reins, and the other uses the whip, which is a stout stick with a handle fifteen or twenty feet in length. The multi-team may number eight or ten mules, but only the leader, and the driver, and the man who directs the team, are allowed to sit on the backs of the animals. The driver simply guides his animals, but the "blasher" urges them. He does his work by grasping his whip, which resembles a chain of fishing rods, and with both hands, and causing it to swing through the air, to crack and snap, and occasionally to touch viciously the flank of some lazy mule. (The crack of the whip is accompanied by shouts, and the driver, who is a man of great spirit, performs during the ride. —Youth's Companion.

Sunday in Mexico.

When the first streaks of dawn appear in the east Sunday morning the people bob out from their street and that, host-hurrying horse off to private residences, get ready for the day. They catch the shades of night as they are sinking in the west, and by 6:30 it looks as if all Mexico was on horse-back. Ladies wear beautiful costumes, dark habits, short skirts, silver and gold buttons, and broad collars. Men display greater variety of costume; some wear yellow buckskin suits trimmed with light cloth suits and high boots, buttons at the side and reaching the knee. A belt holding a revolver, and a man can saddle to which is fastened a sword, complete this beautiful riding suit. And what riders! It is the poetry of motion; they are as part of the perfect horse they ride. Take the beautiful hours, artistic and graceful, and the riding at home from beneath a pretty sembrero, and you have a Mexican scene which is irresistible. —Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Opal Cannot Be Imitated.

There is no difficulty in imitating the opal, says a New York writer. The changing, over-varying colors in that stone, as the light upon it changes, have hitherto proved more than a match for the most skillful copyists. But opals, notwithstanding their beauty, are in small demand, and the reason is the fact that they bring ill-luck to the possessor. You may scarcely believe it, but there are a great many people in this very city who would not accept an opal to-day if you would make them a present of it. I fancy the belief has its origin in the fact that opals are so brittle and liable to fracture. More than one-half are broken in course of setting.

General Jubal A. Early writes to the Lynchburg (Va.) News to contradict the story that during the closing days of the civil war General Lee intentionally exposed himself to death. General Early, who can speak on the subject from personal acquaintance, says: "No; while General Lee did expose himself very greatly, often to the great distress of his officers and soldiers, he did not see death because he foresaw defeat, but determined from the beginning to share the fate of his people in victory or defeat."

There is a rising prima donna in the West, according to a newspaper writer in Los Angeles, Cal. He writes: "There is a woman here who is selling many fruit and vegetables to educate herself in music. She has been, she says, 'starved for music all her life,' but not at forty years of age, in spite of poverty and discouragement, she is cultivating her voice, which is really a fine one. An odd and pitiful sight was this woman with her broad sun hat and linen duster at the piano the other day, playing an evening for a wealthy invalid, while her vegetable wagon stood waiting at the door."

The National Board of Fire Underwriters celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their organization at New York recently. Vice-President Heald delivered an address reviewing the experience of twenty years. The amount paid out for fire losses last year in this country was $55,000,000, and in twenty-five years the losses paid amount to $785,000,000, which is more than half the remaining national debt. Our total losses by fire average $100,000,000 a year, equivalent to one fifth of our annual growth in wealth, and this burden is growing faster than wealth grows, in Mr. Heald's opinion.

A recent investigator has made analysis of popular brands of paper cigarettes and has been rewarded with some startling discoveries. In the manufacture of one of the best known brands he found that valerian and tincture of opium are used in large quantities to give the cigarettes their delicate flavor and well-known soothing property. Another favoring material is made from the tonka bean, which gives the so-called "Havana flavor" to a cigarette. It is known that the bean contains a deadly poison called melitoxin, seven grains of which have been found sufficient to kill a dog. Other drugs and substances equally deleterious to the health are used in coloring, coloring and flavoring the tobacco from which cigarettes are manufactured, and the symptoms of cigarette poisoning are liable to occur in any one who has used them to excess for a long time. The only remedy is to give them up entirely or "paper off," as most cigarette smokers are obliged to do, at frequent intervals. So overpowering, however, is the force of the habit that when its victim once gives himself any license at all, the number that he will smoke every day is only limited by the number of opportunities afforded.

Lieutenant Greeley, to whom Arctic adventure ought, one would suppose, to be a nightmare, is confident that new Arctic expeditions will soon be undertaken. Lieutenant Hovgaard is planning one which is to take Cape Chelyuskin, in Siberia, for its base, and Franz Josef Land for its objective point. Hovgaard's plan is a joint land and water expedition, the men to travel on sleds over land and ice, and in the ships when clear water offers. Two English expeditions are projected, one of which proposes to reach Franz Josef Land directly from a Scotch port, following the course which has been sailed by Leigh Smith; the other passing west of Spitzbergen, and establishing its base at the Seven Islands. Nordenskjold is going to East Greenland with an expedition, which, if fair weather should prove tempting, may strike across for Franz Josef Land, passing north of Spitzbergen. It will be noticed that all the Arctic explorers—English, American, Danish, Swedish and Austrian—agree that if the Pole is ever reached, it must be by way of Franz Josef Land. The Russian government alone is pushing a party—largely a sledge party—by way of the Yana River to the new Siberian Islands, which are nine hundred geographical miles from the Pole. And this country has a sledge party in Alaska, which will push forward to the southern shore of the Arctic Ocean, and will establish a base for future operations somewhere near Point Barrow. Arctic expeditions are kept up, not so much by their yield of scientific knowledge, but by the spirit of adventure which animates our race. Young men volunteer because it is a plucky thing to do, and they want fame. So far as practical results are concerned, they have added little to our stock of knowledge. But they have tended to keep alive an instinct of adventure, and a readiness to endure suffering, and to confront the grave, which are the best traits in human nature. The courage which leads a young man to sail into the jaws of almost certain death in the everlasting ice masses of the North Pole, merely to solve a geographical problem, is the quality which makes great soldiers and patriots, and furishes a country with leaders against times which try men's souls.

BUDGET OF FUN.

HUMOROUS SKETCHES FROM VARIOUS SOURCES.

A Hand for a Hand—High Feeding.
—The Trials of Farming—A Recipe for a Good Appetite, Etc., Etc.

"I've heard of 'an eye for an eye,' a tooth for a tooth,' etc., but I never heard of a hand for a hand 'till to-day," said young man to a friend.
"How did it happen?"
"I was calling at the house of my best girl and had mustered up courage to ask her for her hand."
"And you got it?"
"Got it? No. Didn't the old man come in the parlor and give me his?"
—Tid-Bits.

The Trials of Farming.
"I can't imagine what the trouble is with that cow," said a New Yorker, who was giving his attention to amateur farming this season.
"She looks all right," commented a neighbor.
"Yes, she looks all right," agreed the New Yorker, "but the doocid critter won't give down her milk. When I bought her a month ago she gave twenty-four quarts a day; now I'm lucky to get five. And it isn't because she doesn't get milked often enough," added the puzzled amateur. "Not a day passes I don't milk that cow half a dozen times at least."—New York Sun.

High Feeding.
"Here," said a gentleman to a lively stable man, "take this horse, curry and feed him. Don't be afraid to feed him high."
An hour later he stepped into the stable to see how his horse was doing, and found him standing before an empty manger trying to reach a box which was above his head.
"I thought I told you to feed this horse," he said.
"So you did, sir, and it's plenty he has," replied the stable man.
"Where is it?"
"In that box."
"What is it doing up there?"
"Sure ye would me to feed him high, and I did the same."—Goodall's Sun.

He Prepared Himself.
A large stout man, who looked as if he might be a pretty tough customer in a fight, entered the operating arena of a New York dentist. The sufferer from toothache had taken a large dose of whisky to enable him to bear up under the pending affliction.
The dentist examined the tooth, went into an adjoining room and presently reappeared with a large pistol strapped to his person.
"What do you mean?" asked the man in the chair.
"Nothing in particular, except that I am not going to take any risks."
"What risks?"
"When a man built like you, and his breath smelling of whisky, climbs into that chair, I'm not going to exasperate him unprepared. You may be John L. Sullivan, for all I know."—Sittings.

A Recipe for a Good Appetite.
"Your appetite is good enough. You have no reason to complain in the matter of health, Everett."
"No. You are correct," replied Everett. "I have a recipe," he added, "sure thing every time."
"Hey! Recipe? What is it?"
"I—m. Might tell you. Had to pay the doctor for it myself. Confidentially, mind," and Everett leaned over to whisper impressively in his friend's ear: "Two things. Make it a rule never to eat them with dinner. Consequently, always sure of good appetite."
Everett hesitated, tilted back in his chair and cautiously scanned his friend's features seemingly debating with himself whether or not to divulge his recipe.
"Well—what—what is it you don't eat with your dinner?" inquired the gentleman, somewhat nonplussed.
Everett leaned forward and again whispered slowly and impressively in his friend's ear: "Breakfast and supper, you greenhorn!"—Lynn Union.

They Found the Bore.
A pretty young mamma, with a little girl by her side nearly as pretty as herself, was being entertained by a male stranger, who had struck up an acquaintance through the usual and always convenient mediumship of the little girl. The stranger did all the talking. He was one of those men who think they know everything, but only rarely get a good chance to tell it. The lady answered only in monosyllables. The little girl listened patiently and demurely for a time, and then began to fidget about in her seat. Finally, as the stranger stopped for a breath, she said:
"Mamma, you've found one, ain't you?"
"What, my dear?"
"Why, don't you remember what you told papa when he said you'd be lonely some on the car? You said you'd find some bore to talk you to sleep."
Mamma looked out of the window, and the stranger suddenly thought he had better go into the smoking car to find his friends.—Chicago Herald.

Nearly as Bad.
He was making his first call, and all the formalities of the season were in full blast. She toyed with her fan as she conversed about the gayeties of the winter time. Leisurely strolling into the elegant drawing room came the family dog, a large and intelligent type of the Newfoundland breed. It was a warm mouth open and the dog came in with his tongue protruding from his mouth. He made directly for the hostess, who manifested great uneasiness at the first sight of the unexpected animal. As he came nearer the young woman dropped her fan, mounted first the heavy upholstered chair and then the centre table.
Seeing the unusual performance, the young man followed suit and was soon on a top of the marble mantelpiece, to which place of safety he invited his hostess. Meanwhile the dog, the cause of all this, was crouched under the

Any Time.
"I heard that somebody in this crowd said I was a liar," blustered a Fourth Ward bully, as he approached a knot of men he thought he knew. "Which of you was it?"
"It was me, I reckon," quietly remarked a strapping stranger from up the creek, as he whipped off his coat and succeeded to roll up his sleeves.
"That's all right," continued the Fourth Warder, "kiss on your clothes didn't say I was a liar?"—Tid-Bits.

"Oh, he's been that way all summer," replied the young woman.
"It's strange he doesn't try to bite us, isn't it?" continued the young man.
"Why, wouldn't he bite anybody," remarked the young hostess.
"Why, hasn't he got the hydrophobia?"
"No," replied she, "he's got fleas, and that's pretty near as bad."—St. Paul Globe.

Rhymes for Borrowers.
Some people have a strange way of designating their ownership of books. Of course you remember, when a school-boy, what ridiculous doggerel some of the scholars wrote in theirs. As for example:
"This book is John Smith's
My list is another:
You touch me
And you'll feel the other."
And again:
"Steal not this book, my honest friend,
For fear the galleys'll be thy end."
A great many grown-up children have adopted the custom in a graver mood. The two verses commonly used are:
"If thou art borrowed by a friend,
Right welcome shall he be,
To read, to study, not to lend,
But to return to me."

And this:
"Not that imparted knowledge doth
Diminish learning's store;
But books, I find, I often lose,
Return to me no more."
There is one found in a book formerly belonging to a well-known resident of New York: "Any one may borrow, but a gentleman returns." David W. Jayne's books have the following Scriptural quotation: "Go thou rather to them that sell, and buy for yourselves." The following rather severe lines were used by a Massachusetts man:
"Stern power of Justice, lift thy wand
In spite of mercy's block:
Strike him who with presumptuous hand
Purloins this valued book:
Aaron Putnam, who flourished in Medford, Mass., about one hundred years ago, used these lines: "The wicked borrow, but do not return again. See thou art not one of that number." Duncan C. Pell, of New York, had this rather churchy motto, not at all in keeping with his character: "He does not lend his books." W. J. Snelling, one of the early editors of the Boston Herald, had these instructions: "Do not turn down the leaves to mark the place, but put in a slip of paper. Do not give the book to children for a plaything. Handle not with dirty hands. Return the book when you have read it."

Rhymes for "Kalamazoo."
Well, we sat upon a lovely piazza and somebody referred to Michigan, where one of us soon going, writes Kate Field in the New York Graphic. Then somebody else spoke of Kalamazoo and wondered whether it had ever been dropped into poetry by any nonsense rhyme. "Nobody has ever had the courage," replied another body; "though why not try, since Mrs. Browning has made 'modena' rhyme with 'God in a'?" Kalamazoo! Kalamazoo! the word expressed me. I dreamed last night of Kalamazoo. I sang a rhyme in my car and drew illustrations on the foot-board of my bed. The idiotic rhymes still linger in my memory, but the illustrations so necessary to their meaning have faded away. Listen to an imp: There was a young lady of Kalamazoo Who he never in company dared to say "boo" But she looked so so "utter" That she made people stutter. Did this utterable young lady of Kalamazoo. Here is another: There was once a woman of Kalamazoo Who had so many children she didn't know What to do. "But as they're boys, They'll make a great noise In the world," said this woman of Kalamazoo. And another: There was an old fellow of Kalamazoo Who always to questions made answer: "Pooch, pooch!" By the great mouth of Gosh All that's in a book. Said this laconic old fellow of Kalamazoo. And still another: There was once a dutelet of Kalamazoo, Being fully convinced that he everything knew. Straightway hired him a hall, "Alack! no one at all. Went to hear the wise dutelet of Kalamazoo."

Famous Gold Mines.
Nevada county is the chief of all the mining counties of the State of California. It has a middle situation in the State, but is generally ranked as a northern county. The summit of the Sierra Nevada runs through the county, the towns of Truckee and Boca being east of these mountains, and within Nevada county. The chief industry is mining, although farming is carried on with profit in the western part of Nevada county. No equal area in the world has produced more gold than Nevada county, and no region known has the promise of an equal mining permanency. The gold is found in both quartz ledges and gravel beds.
The great gold-gravel region of the county is in the townships of Bridgeport, Bloomfield, Eureka, Little York and Washington. These are of immense extent and of incalculable richness. These beds were worked by the hydraulic process for the most part, and enormous values of gold were washed out of them. The hydraulic process of working mines is now under the ban of the law, but doubtless a way will be found for lawfully taking the gold from those rich gravel beds. There are some gravel mines in Nevada, Grass Valley and Rough and Ready townships, but they are not extensive, excepting at Mooney Flat, in Rough and Ready, where is the extension of the famous gravel leads of Timbuctoo, Smartville and Sucker Flats.—Grass Valley Tidings.

In California they indulge in rose hedges. The best variety for the purpose is said to be the hybrid perpetual, Madame Charles Wood, a semi-dwarf rose of close and compact growth, constantly in bloom from early spring till winter. The flowers are deep rose crimson, medium to large size, and very fragrant.

A traveler in the desert, in Southern California, has seen what is called a "ghost" plant. It is a small, fleshy, green plant, with a single, large, white, bell-shaped flower, which is said to be the only one of its kind in the world.

NEGLECT.
When Morn, with music and perfume,
Burst shining in the eastern room,
And made my eager heart's state
With promises of life and bloom,
Especially with the crystal dew,
There came an Angel to the gate,
And said: "I have a task for you."
And I replied: "Good Angel, wait:
The day will be so long, so long,
And I am blithe with dance and song;
The sun is not an hour high;
I'll do your bidding by-and-by—
Have patience with me, then, and wait."
The glaring sun stood overhead,
The guests were met, the board was spread,
And high the feast and revel grew,
When, fainting with the midday heat,
The Angel rested at the gate,
And said: "I have a task for you."
And I replied: "Good Angel, wait:
The festival is at its height,
The lips are warm, the eyes are bright;
The sun is yet half-heaven high:
I'll do your bidding by-and-by—
Have patience with me, pray, and wait."
The sky is dull, the daylight wanes,
The sleet beats on the western panes:
The festive wreaths lie where they fall,
Like withered garlands on a tomb,
Their dust the only thing to tell
That there was ever love or bloom;
The story of my life is told,
The music hushed, the revel gone;
The brightness down, the lips are cold,
And watch the dreary night creep on.
Ah, had I but the duty now
I counted irksome till too late;
Come back, O Angel at the gate,
And give me yet the task to do!
—J. T. Goodman, in Argosy.

PITH AND POINT.
Going the rounds—Climbing the ladder.—Sittings.
One does not need a thermometer in summer to find that it grows warmer by degrees.—Pittsburg Chronicle.
"Tha," said the tramp, as he arose from a hearty meal, "seems to fill a long-felt want."—Philadelphia Call.
Illinois butter is remarkably strong. A churn burst at Elgin, in that state, and killed two men.—Burlington Free Press.
"Don't be so stuck up," as the feather bed said to the wall paper. "You are down enough for both of us," replied the paper.
If a dealer in grave stones were to fail, some newspaper would be sure to refer to the disaster as "a bust in marble."—Norristown Herald.
The price of Jamaica ginger goes up when the price of watermelons goes down. It is the see-saw of commercial adjustment.—Philadelphia Call.
She—"John, when you put up the hammock!" He—"Jessie, you forget that I put up the hammock last fall and got only ten cents on it."—Tid-Bits.
"We more than hold our own," says an exchange. "Yes, that's why your neighbors all looked up their chickens coops."—Marathon Independent.
"Over the valley the soft winds are blowing. Kissing the shadows asleep 'neath the hill; While under the trees, without any one knowing, Sallie, sweet Sallie, is kissing her Bill."
What is more pathetic than the simple faith with which a bald-headed man will buy an infallible hair restoration from a bald-headed barber.—Detroit Free Press.
Now dips and sways the laden grain, The harvests dot the mead. Thy leafy shades a golden rain Sprays fern and lissome reed; One snowy cloud—like ermine rug—Flaunts calmly over the scene. While yet the reek potato bugs Doth brown on Paris green.—Yorkers Gazette.

How to Tell a Good Melon.
A good water-melon may be known by pressing the thumb on the rind near the center. If the melon yields a little to the pressure and the indent made by that pressure disappears after it is removed the melon is ripe and juicy. If no indent can be made the fruit is not ripe; if the indent is easily made and remains after the thumb is lifted from the melon it is over-ripe and unfit to be eaten. When the water-melon is thoroughly ripe and of good quality the interior of the rind should be greenish white and the meat reddish pink in color. The rind of a water-melon generally becomes hard and the pulp brittle. If left on the vine until properly matured it is part in contact with the ground will be changed from a white to a pale yellow, and upon close examination numerous small pimples somewhat like the measles will be noticed on the surface, particularly on the outer edge. With these signs, if the melon be gently pressed and it cracks inside it may be regarded as ripe. The top side of a ripe water-melon is of a dull, lifeless brown color. A good musk-melon is known by its color and odor. The rind is generally divided into nine ridges. The ridges are rough, but the spaces separating them are narrow strips of smooth skin. When the melon is ripe the rough skin is of a brownish-grey color and smooth skin of a greenish yellow. If the smooth skin separating the rough ridges is green the fruit is not ripe. If the melon is yellow all over, or nearly so, it is over-ripe and in a state of decomposition. The quality of the musk-melon is known by its odor. It should be smelled at the end opposite the one to which it was attached to the stalk—"the far end" fruit-eaters call it. The quality of the melon will depend upon the strength of its smell. If there is no odor, the melon is coarse and only fit for cattle. If it has a sweet smell, the fruit is good. The stronger the musk odor, the better the melon. The best of a musk-melon when it is of fine quality is a rich mellow, yellow color; in some varieties it has a greenish tinge, in others approaches orange.—New York News.

Nutmegs Poisonous.
The common nutmegs are poisonous in large doses. In a case which came under medical treatment, a woman caused a whole nutmeg and caused extreme drowsiness, nervousness, and other symptoms. J. T. BAKER & CO., 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41, 43, 45, 47, 49, 51, 53, 55, 57, 59, 61, 63, 65, 67, 69, 71, 73, 75, 77, 79, 81, 83, 85, 87, 89, 91, 93, 95, 97, 99, 101, 103, 105, 107, 109, 111, 113, 115, 117, 119, 121, 123, 125, 127, 129, 131, 133, 135, 137, 139, 141, 143, 145, 147, 149, 151, 153, 155, 157, 159, 161, 163, 165, 167, 169, 171, 173, 175, 177, 179, 181, 183, 185, 187, 189, 191, 193, 195, 197, 199, 201, 203, 205, 207, 209, 211, 213, 215, 217, 219, 221, 223, 225, 227, 229, 231, 233, 235, 237, 239, 241, 243, 245, 247, 249, 251, 253, 255, 257, 259, 261, 263, 265, 267, 269, 271, 273, 275, 277, 279, 281, 283, 285, 287, 289, 291, 293, 295, 297, 299, 301, 303, 305, 307, 309, 311, 313, 315, 317, 319, 321, 323, 325, 327, 329, 331, 333, 335, 337, 339, 341, 343, 345, 347, 349, 351, 353, 355, 357, 359, 361, 363, 365, 367, 369, 371, 373, 375, 377, 379, 381, 383, 385, 387, 389, 391, 393, 395, 397, 399, 401, 403, 405, 407, 409, 411, 413, 415, 417, 419, 421, 423, 425, 427, 429, 431, 433, 435, 437, 439, 441, 443, 445, 447, 449, 451, 453, 455, 457, 459, 461, 463, 465, 467, 469, 471, 473, 475, 477, 479, 481, 483, 485, 487, 489, 491, 493, 495, 497, 499, 501, 503, 505, 507, 509, 511, 513, 515, 517, 519, 521, 523, 525, 527, 529, 531, 533, 535, 537, 539, 541, 543, 545, 547, 549, 551, 553, 555, 557, 559, 561, 563, 565, 567, 569, 571, 573, 575, 577, 579, 581, 583, 585, 587, 589, 591, 593, 595, 597, 599, 601, 603, 605, 607, 609, 611, 613, 615, 617, 619, 621, 623, 625, 627, 629, 631, 633, 635, 637, 639, 641, 643, 645, 647, 649, 651, 653, 655, 657, 659, 661, 663, 665, 667, 669, 671, 673, 675, 677, 679, 681, 683, 685, 687, 689, 691, 693, 695, 697, 699, 701, 703, 705, 707, 709, 711, 713, 715, 717, 719, 721, 723, 725, 727, 729, 731, 733, 735, 737, 739, 741, 743, 745, 747, 749, 751, 753, 755, 757, 759, 761, 763, 765, 767, 769, 771, 773, 775, 777, 779, 781, 783, 785, 787, 789, 791, 793, 795, 797, 799, 801, 803, 805, 807, 809, 811, 813, 815, 817, 819, 821, 823, 825, 827, 829, 831, 833, 835, 837, 839, 841, 843, 845, 847, 849, 851, 853, 855, 857, 859, 861, 863, 865, 867, 869, 871, 873, 875, 877, 879, 881, 883, 885, 887, 889, 891, 893, 895, 897, 899, 901, 903, 905, 907, 909, 911, 913, 915, 917, 919, 921, 923, 925, 927, 929, 931, 933, 935, 937, 939, 941, 943, 945, 947, 949, 951, 953, 955, 957, 959, 961, 963, 965, 967, 969, 971, 973, 975, 977, 979, 981, 983, 985, 987, 989, 991, 993, 995, 997, 999.

The initials of Judge Cobb's opponent are P. A. W. These letters signify his position in the present campaign—powerless and weak.—Montgomery Dispatch.

Col. Thos. G. Jones, of Montgomery, seems to be the most prominent candidate for Speaker of the next house of representatives. He would fill the position admirably.

The local correspondent of the Montgomery Dispatch pays a marveled compliment to Chilton's candidate for Solicitor, W. A. Collier, Esq. We are more than ever impressed with the fact that Mr. Collier would fill the position with ability and efficiency.

We are reliably informed that the young ladies who promised to meet Mr. Baumgarten and his bride at the train Sunday evening were very much chagrined to think they had congratulated Jake Sawyers who was dressed in ladies attire, and whom they supposed to be the bride. Max says you can't catch old birds with cherries. The girls have sworn off and say they will never promise to meet another newly married couple at the train unless it is in broad open daylight so they can size up the bride before embracing.—Montgomery Age.

A Mr. Monk of Canada has started what he calls "The New British Empire Company, Limited," the object of which is to purchase Jerusalem and make it the common capital of the world. Hon. James G. Blaine is put down as one of the vice-presidents of the company, and the Philadelphia Times thinks the golden opportunity has come to the Maine statesman, who, though he cannot accomplish the height of his ambition in this country, might stand an excellent chance to become emperor of Jerusalem. At any rate it thinks it evident that the new empire company will offer Mr. Blaine many channels in which he can make himself useful, and that if he goes into it, he will not prove a deadhead in the enterprise.—L.

Judge Cobb's Successor.

Mr. J. W. Lapsley, of Autauga county, was appointed Judge of this circuit on Friday last to fill the vacancy occasioned by Judge Cobb's resignation. The Montgomery Dispatch, which seldom praises public men, has this to say of Judge Lapsley:

Mr. James W. Lapsley, of Autauga county, yesterday appointed Judge of the fifth circuit, is well known as a lawyer, and has recently achieved distinction as examiner of public accounts, in which employment he has been of the greatest service to the State. He is about fifty years of age, plain, unpretending in dress and manners, simple in his tastes, irreproachable in morals, habits and character. A Democrat, firmly grounded in the principles and faithfully supporting the measures and candidates of the party, he was one of the faithfullest among the faithful in the dark days when wicked men bore rule in Alabama and a great people were struggling against fearful odds for the right of self government and of honest government, and his sound judgment and wise counsel, never more needed than then, were potent in shaping the way to the success that came in 1874.

Europe and America.

The mental condition of some of the crowned heads of Europe is becoming a matter of much anxiety. Indeed, the situation in this respect may be said to be grave. It is not long since a crazy King jumped into a lake, and not only drowned himself, but his physicians, who tried to save him. Prince Alexander, who allowed the Czar to bunko him out of his throne, must have been slightly off his base. Now we read that King Otto, of Bavaria, is in a bad way. One report intimates that he is as crazy as a loon, and will soon have to be retired. Another says he may get well, but the chances are against him. While history is full of instances of Kings and Princes, not of the United States has its mental equilibrium been sure, when

P. A. Wood's Nomination Endorsed.

The Republican Executive Committee, of Chilton county, met at Lomax on last Saturday, and passed resolutions endorsing the nomination of P. A. Wood, independent candidate for Congress in this district. After some discussion the endorsing resolutions were unanimously adopted. Our information is obtained from the chairman of the committee, H. A. Wilson.

A Touching Incident.

New Mississippi.
And the next Legislature that assembles there will find Jackson dry—dry as the desert of Sahara; dry, dry as the imprisoned Anarchist bereft of beer; dry, dry almost as one of the New Era man's jokes. And that Legislature will not tarry long with us, as they did before. For the first time in the history of the State they will get through with their work quick—oh, so quick. They will not raise again the question of moving the capital to our dry sister city Meridian, but some of the thirty old toppers will rise and impassionately urge that it be moved to Vicksburg. And we expect their appeals on this question to be filled with a deeper and more touching pathos than anything that ever rang through our Legislative halls. And we expect their pathetic eloquence to move strong men to tears, even if it does not move the Capitol to the wet city. And since the dark and gloomy curse broods over the capital, we expect many men who heretofore did hunger and thirst after the position of Legislator, will now spurn the office with scorn and contempt.

Hon. James E. Cobb.

In accepting the resignation of Hon. James E. Cobb as judge of the fifth judicial circuit, Governor O'Neal addressed him the following letter which will be read with pleasure by Judge Cobb's many friends throughout the State:

Montgomery, Oct. 5, 1886.

Hon. James E. Cobb, Tuskegee, Ala.
My Dear Sir—I have received and accepted your resignation of the office of judge of the fifth circuit, and at an early day will relieve you of its duties, which you have discharged so well and so acceptably, by the appointment of your successor. In the office you resign for another branch of the public service, you have been distinguished for learning, firmness, discretion, and judgment; and with one voice, bar and people bear testimony to your faithful, fearless, and impartial administration of the law. Between man and man, and between the State and its citizens, you have held with strong and steady hand, the even scales of justice, and there are none to question your probity or to accuse your motives. I regret your loss to the bench, to which I am reconciled only by the expectation that in the career you are about to enter upon your usefulness to the State and its people will be even greater than it has been in that from which you are about to retire.
Very truly, your friend,
E. A. O'NEAL.

Another Law for the Sluggards.

The rumors that have been circulated since the Lafayette convention, to the effect that Judge Cobb would be opposed by an independent candidate for congress, it appears were not without foundation, and on yesterday the truth was definitely ascertained by the action of the convention held in this city, composed of the independent of the 5th congressional district. The proceedings of the convention will be found in our local columns this morning.

Some days ago the Dispatch alluded to the fact that the convention would probably be held here, and the meeting yesterday was pursuant to an agreement made by "the chosen few" that assembled about two weeks ago at Wetumpka. The main features of the session was a platform and nomination. The platform is made up of a lugubrious whine over that sad bereavement of "a free ballot and a fair count," a terrible denunciation of "democratic election frauds," a protest at the right of congress, "to appropriate the public domain to satisfy greed or corruption," an appeal for a change in the national banking system, an endorsement of the robber tariff and Blair bill, and a demand of the coming legislature to investigate the present convict system.

Having constructed "a platform" replete with "planks" strong enough to hold a candidate, the convention next proceeded to find a man brave enough to stand on it. He was found in the person of Col. P. A. Wood, of Autauga. The Dispatch, at the risk of arguing itself unknown, confesses no further knowledge of the gentleman than that he is a good citizen and leading farmer of Autauga county.—Montgomery Dispatch.

Boston Globe: "The Republican party is the natural opponent of those who toll for the devil."

LOCAL NOTINGS.

Mrs. W. A. Collier is visiting relatives in Montgomery.

Trade at John Garner's on Saturday last was lively. Advertising pays.

Chancery court convened here last Friday. Several cases were disposed of.

H. C. Tompkins, Esq., chairman of the State Dem. Ex. Committee was in Clanton Friday.

Mr. Pritchett, of Coosa county, has moved to Clanton and says he will buy a lot and build.

Thos. H. Watts, Jr., of Montgomery, spent Friday in Clanton, attending chancery court.

Mrs. O. A. Duke, is in Tuscaloosa visiting her daughter Miss Anna Lou at the Tuscaloosa Female College.

Mr. Hampton Busby, one of the oldest citizens of this section died at his home near Clear Creek on Saturday last.

We understand that several wells in Clanton have run dry. The hot well is not one of them however.

The View went to press a day earlier than usual this week, and some local correspondence was received too late.

Clanton Academy opened on Monday last with 72 pupils. On Tuesday morning the number was increased to 80.

Don't forget to subscribe for your county paper when you sell your cotton. You will profit by subscribing for and reading it.

Mr. Buce Bivings, who is attending school in Birmingham, was down to see "the home folks" on Saturday and Sunday.

Everybody has adopted the advice of old Strobach to "walk lide" during the past several weeks of drouth and dust.

Our circulation continues to increase. We are now printing more copies of the View, weekly, than ever before since it has been established.

Mr. W. H. Phillips has moved his stock of drugs into his new storehouse and his establishment again ranks first in appearance in our town.

Only one light rain has fallen in Clanton in three months. No whisky has been sold here for several years, consequently this is an exceedingly dry town.

Mr. H. A. McKinney, formerly deputy sheriff of our county, has accepted a position in the store of Mr. J. P. Allen, at Jemison. The office of deputy sheriff has not been filled as yet.

Stales, school satchels, copy-books, pencils, pens, ink, paper and anything in the stationery line at the View Stationery Stand. If we have not got what you want in stock will order it for you.

The Independent candidate for Congress in this district is announced to speak at Maplesville to-day, and at Clanton Saturday next, the 16th inst. These are the only points in Chilton that will be visited by the "forlorn hope."

Miss Eleanor Jackson, of Florence, Ala. who is pleasantly remembered by the many friends she made here during a visit last year, is again visiting our town and the guest of Mrs. A. M. Adams. Some of our young men are no longer dissolute.

New Tax Collector.

Gov. O'Neal has appointed Mr. David A. White, tax collector of Chilton county, vice Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, resigned.

Special Term Wanted.

Upon careful inquiry we learn that the bar, county officers and the general public in this locality concur in the wish that a special term of the circuit court be held sometime this winter for our county in order to clear up the crowded docket.

A Successful Business Man.

Mr. A. J. Brooks, of Verbena, whose large advertisement will be seen in another column, takes the lead among the merchants and business men of Chilton, and his business is kept fully up to the manner in which he advertises it. He does the largest business by advertising more extensively than others, and may his efforts in this direction continue to be crowned with success in the future as they have been in the past. His advertisement speaks for itself. Read it and call on him.

When trade grew slack, and bills fell due, the tradesman's face grew long and blue; his dreams were troubled through the night with sheriff's bailiffs all in sight. At last his wife unto him said, 'Rise up at once, get out of bed, and get your paper, ink and pen, and say these words unto all men: 'My goods I wish to sell to you, and to your wives and daughters, too; my prices are so very low that all will buy before they go.' He did as his good wife advised, and in the papers advertised. Crowds came and bought, of all he had, his bills were paid, his dreams were glad; and he will tell you to this day how well did printer's ink repay. He boasteth, with a knowing wink, how he was saved by printer's ink.

Dixie Dots.

A good rain would be acceptable. Dr. T. E. Callier, who has been spending the summer at Bladon Springs, has returned home.

Mr. C. J. Currie has moved to Ashby. Cotton has been coming in freely during the past week, but the decline in price will cause a slight falling off in the receipts next week.

Miss Gussie Crum has returned from a visit to Sevierville, Tenn. Mr. D. M. Martin has bought Mr. C. J. Currie's place and will soon occupy it. Messrs. Lewis Johnson and Tom Harris have moved to Birmingham.

Master De Crum is sick with fever. An effort is being made to open a bar-room 3 miles from Dixie.

Mr. J. C. C. Morrow intends moving to Texas soon.

Master Arthur Broadhead was somewhat injured by a runaway horse last week, but fortunately not seriously.

The Dixie "Dude" had his mustache shined.

Verbena Items.

Miss Rosa Clisby after spending a while in Birmingham, has returned to Verbena.

Misses Della and Annie Logan are spending a while in Montgomery.

Miss Anna Reddish, is on a visit to friends somewhere.

Mr. Joel Barrett was in Verbena on last Sunday.

We are glad to report Miss Clara Mullins as having recovered from a recent attack of fever.

Miss Sallie E. Judkins, after spending several weeks in our midst, has returned to her home at Shorter's Station. Miss Judkins is a charming young lady and made many warm friends while in Verbena, who will always remember her and be glad to have her come again.

Mrs. Williams, wife of our Ex-Congressman Thos. Williams and her daughter Mrs. Buyc have returned to their Wetumpka homes.

The entertainment given by the ladies of the Baptist church on last Friday night was quite a success. Everything passed off well and all who attended felt repaid for going.

"Ten Nights in a Bar-room" will be played here soon by the Children's Missionary Society of the Methodist church. RESTLESS.

Chancery Court.

The following cases were disposed of at the fall term of the chancery court held on Friday last.

Littleton Daniel vs. M. K. Welch et al. Final decree in favor of respondent. Dismissing complainant's bill.

O. R. Bell & Son vs. C. N. Headley. Motion of complainants to re-instate injunction over-ruled, and cause continued. Plaintiffs assessed cost of term.

Easter Smitherman vs. William Smitherman. Decree of divorce. Ex-parte John W. Keitt. Decree relieving from disabilities of non-age.

Nathan Aldridge vs. G. W. Pierce and V. J. Ellison. Cause continued on account of the death of respondent, G. W. Pierce.

Mr. P. A. Wood declines to run for Congress in this district against the Democratic nominee. Sensible man.

The Montgomery Dispatch is to be highly commended for its vigorous and fearless war upon the gambling hell of the capital city. You are on the right line again Dispatch, no go ahead.

Bro. Hudson, like many of his conferees, is becoming desperate. He will soon offer his accounts for sale. Those who owe the parties advertised may take up the claim and pay the Bro. of the Standard. That's the only hope, Bro. Hudson.

The following from the Birmingham Chronicle meets with our endorsement: The Chronicle thinks that it is better to pay fees to solicitors than to pay them fixed salaries. We all know that we work better and harder when the reward is contingent than when it is fixed before hand. States attorneys are not greatly better than other men and it is but fair to suppose that they, too, will work better for fees than for a fixed salary. There is no fairness in increasing the fees of some of the circuits and reducing the fees of others, when the work remains the same. We think the whole system is about as well arranged as need be and there is no need to take up the valuable time of the legislature with the question when other things are pressing.

Said a merchant yesterday: "Do you know that prohibition is changing the character of business in the interior towns. Wherever prohibition has been adopted this money formerly expended for whiskey is devoted to something else, and this has given rise to larger general business, and in some instances, new business. One country merchant told me this week that he sells fifty pairs of children's shoes, where he formerly sold one. The fathers used to drink up the shoe money and the children went bare foot. He said also that he sells quantities of women's hats and bonnets, and never sold anything of the kind before prohibition was adopted. The husbands had no money so the wives made their own bonnets out of calico and splints, now there is no gallon jug under the bed, and the women have decent headgear and even gowns. That is a solid fact, and is a whole sermon if you choose to lengthen it out a bit."—Mobile Register.

PAYING THE EDITOR.

The Woods are Full of Newspaper Patrons of This Kind.

(From All About Florida.)

"There are some people in this country who, when they have to patronize a newspaper for some mysterious reason bestow their favors abroad, and then bring up a 3 ounce tomato to their local editor and expect him to tell a 16 lb. lie about it and the wonderful quality of the land they have to sell."—Oxford Mascotte.

That reminds us of one of our subscribers, who came in and said "Herndon, I've got some fine beans for you in my buggy, which I will bring around in an hour or so." The speaker came in an hour or so later with a dozen beans tied up in a silk handkerchief. We thanked him several times for them, but he continued to fidget as if something else was on his mind. "Herndon," he said after awhile, "if you are not too busy, I would like to see you privately a moment." There being no private boudoir to our office, we escorted him outside of the door. "I wanted to say to you," said the subscriber, "that in noticing these beans in your columns, in the next issue of your paper, I would like to have you to state that they grew on one of the finest places in this section of the country, and it is for sale."

The notice went in the next issue, gave the donor's name, pronounced the beans splendid, stated, that they grew on fine soil, etc., etc., about a dozen lines, worth at our regular rate in local advertising columns, $1.20. All this for a dozen beans, worth probably as many cents. About three months later the same individual took mortal offense at our refusal to publish a long political speech he had made, and never entered our office again. The woods are full of this kind of newspaper patrons.

Dr. Tilmage's sermon on Blasphemy, Drunkenness, and the Impurity of our cities, cites the following: "In 1861 diphtheria raged in a village of Sullivan county, N. Y., and a physician became so successful in curing patients, that he defied God to produce a case of diphtheria he could not cure. His youngest child took the disease and died, and one child after another until all the eight had died of diphtheria. The blasphemous challenged Almighty God, and God accepted the challenge."

Men of Nerve Take Notice.

Jumping from the East River Bridge has already become a trifle monotonous; swimming through the turbulent rapids below Niagara has ceased to attract general attention; even rowing 3,000 miles across the Atlantic in an open boat has about it elements of tediousness. The public taste, which at first relished these achievements, regarding them as something new and risky, has begun to clamor for a change of diet for something really difficult, for feats which are a peg above the commonplace. The Sun therefore, will make the following liberal offer:

To anyone who will slide down the exterior of the Washington Monument without scratching it, $1,500.

For turning a back somersault from one tower of the Brooklyn Bridge to the other $1,000.

To the first man who shall swim up Niagara Falls, $300.

For beating Col. Gilder to the top of the North Pole, $250 and expenses.

For demonstration by standing up against them, whether Tim Keefe of the New Yorks, pitcher, or John L. Sullivan hits the harder, $350.

For showing that when standing in front of a Harlem express train he can "take the track and keep it," $400.

For eating two quails a day until George Francis Train is elected president, the price of the quails.

For putting one's head in the British Lion's mouth while Richard Robinson (the boss twister) has hold of his tail, a decent funeral.

For calling Col. Blood, of Kentucky, sah, "no gentleman," a suit of bomb proof armor.

To any book agent who will offer to sell to Joe Blackburn a copy of Dorman B. Eaton's works on civil service reform, an order for a new hat.

For sewing up O'Donovan Rossa in the British flag, a steerage ticket to London.—New York Sun.

Maplesville Dots.

Rev. J. M. Kallin has returned to college.

Mr. Willie Kelley has returned to Selma after spending a delightful summer with his relatives.

This weather is rough on old shoes for we are saving our better ones for rainy weather which we hope will come soon.

Mr. Frank Bowline has gone to Selma to live. Our best wishes go with him and we also hope that his shadow will never grow less.

The Maplesville people who attended the Clanton Association were highly delighted with the hospitality shone them while there.

Mr. Walter Lawrence had the misfortune to have his gin house burned down Saturday night. It was discovered about ten o'clock. There was one bale of cotton and sixty bushels of seed in it. It was insured for about half value.

Dixie Dots.

The Dixie dude is on a visit to Camden, Ala.

The business of the freight depot at this place is ten times as heavy as it was three months since.

Miss May Crum left for Florida on the 18th inst.

On last Sunday five new members of the church were baptized at Ebenezer church.

Stanton, the pretty little suburb of Dixie, furnishes your correspondent with an item, in the marriage of Mr. S. M. Griffin and Miss Julia McArthur, which occurred on the 14th inst., Rev. W. J. Ruddick officiating. We wish them much happiness.

Our ginners complain of the drouth, as it prevents our water gins from running.

Mrs. T. E. Callier, is visiting her daughter Mrs. E. G. Adams at Camden, Ala.

Rev. G. W. Mills was recently chosen to preach at Ebenezer church at this place. This is evidence of the popularity of Mr. Mills, who has been pastor of this church for about six years.

Beat 8 is the most orderly, democratic and intelligent beat in Chilton.

Perry Hughes landed on the 15th inst., from Texas. Mr. Hughes lives in East Perry and has moved back to his old home to live. He says that in Comanche county Texas it has not rained in sixteen months, and he is satisfied to live in Alabama.

The festive drummer "is altogether numerous and decidedly previous" in our town. Though sometimes troublesome, we are partial to drummers, for they, as a class, are gentlemen.

Mrs. M. L. Harris the popular teacher has a fine school at Howison, the southern suburb of Dixie.

Dixie, the capital of Beat 8, is rapidly growing, and will soon encompass Stanton and Howison.

Mr. Chas. Parnell is very ill with intermittent fever.

The View still continues popular in our vicinity, and its many friends wish it many years of usefulness.

The Legislature convenes next Tuesday.

Hello! Secor, you had better keep an eye on Stanton, or she might get ahead of you.

The Montgomery Dispatch alludes to the Edwards movement against Cobb as that of the "widow and flatiron." Well the "widow and flatiron" have gone aglimmering now.

It is evident from our Stanton communication that the whiskey-ites of beat 8 did not find the temperance men napping for they are not of the lazy kind. It is not likely that they will ever find any of them afraid to do their duty either.

The paragraph saying that Gerónimo is pronounced "Heeronimo," has reached San Angelo, where they ought to know how to pronounce the name, and leads the Standard to exclaim: "Good gracious! what is he living us? What a hay and a hiddy style of talk this gentleman would let us into. By Jesh, we won't have it. Ho to! Ho to!"

A witness in a law suit in Portland, Me., was considerably shocked the other day to learn that there are places where profane swearing is discouraged. He was testifying in regard to an overflow of water, and said: "If dot brick hadn't been dard ere whole—al-ley would hah caved in." The Judge checked the laughter that followed, and fined the witness $25 for contempt of court.

A correspondent writes that in a gambling saloon in Moscow the walls and ceiling were covered with paper on which stars were stamped. Among the stars in the ceiling holes were out, and a man lying on the floor in the room above saw the hands of these playing cards and telegraphed them, by means of wires connected with his shoes, to his confederate.

A negro named George Hart killed Mr. Edwin Waldrop a young white man, near Waverly in Lee county, by cutting his throat with a razor. Two horrible wounds were inflicted and the young man's head was severed from his body. Robbery was the motive prompting the terrible crime. The negro succeeded in getting away with $65 of the murdered man's money.

We don't know Secor Harris and don't think it any misfortune. We have heard that he is a saloon keeper, and as such he is in opposition to peace, order and good morals, and therefore this press is his enemy as long as he is a saloon keeper. And this press will continue to meddle very industriously in the future as in the past with whatever it thinks and knows is wrong, when the public weal is concerned; notwithstanding that Harris and the whiskey ring now have an organ through which they may publish their silly objections. We will be pleased to hear from them as often as they choose, as each communication gives us an advertisement that is worth paying for, and is too cheap when it comes free. In addition we can inform this man Harris that we never publish whiskey petitions unless earnestly requested to do so, for this reason: The publication of such a petition is a free advertisement of the saloon, and we have often thought that such advertising of the place where liquor is sold might do as much harm as the publishing of the names on the petition would do good. However, we have always and will always publish the petitions when requested. Harris' petition was brought to this office by a prominent citizen and property holder of beat 8, and a member of the Baptist church, with a request that it be published. The request was complied with, and a truthful statement made that a large majority of the names appeared to have been signed in one person's hand writing. We shall continue to publish such petitions whenever requested to do so, and the saloon keeper ought to pay us for the advertising instead of "kicking" as Harris does. We could give Secor much wholesome advice, but won't waste ammunition on small game. Aye, Secor, "we may meet again at Philippi!"

The Vote in Chilton.

It seems that the Democracy has carried the day all over the State. In this district Cobb has left Edwards very far in the lurch, beating him even in Chilton county. We give the vote in Chilton only. The total vote received (Kincheon not to be heard from) is Cobb 263, Edwards 283. Cobb's majority 70. Following is the vote by boxes:

Mullins—Cobb 9, Edwards 25.
Jemison—Cobb 33, Edwards 47.
Providence—Cobb 20, Edwards 8.
Macedonia—Cobb 6, Edwards 25.
Benson—Cobb 22, Edwards 8.
Clanton—Cobb 99, Edwards 94.
Coopers—Cobb 24, Edwards 61.
Verbena—Cobb 98, Edwards 17.
Kincheon—Not heard from.
Maplesville—Cobb 23, Edwards 4.
Latham—No Election.
Dixie—Cobb 31, Edwards 0.

Time for Work.

It is well enough for the temperance people of this county to keep their eyes and ears open and be ready for work when the Legislature meets. It is safe to say that two-thirds of the intelligent taxpayers of the county are in favor of total prohibition of the whiskey traffic in the county and State, yet there are a horde who are unable to write their own names and who even dodge the payment of a poll tax for educational purposes, who are willing to again fasten the whiskey traffic upon the county generally.

A general local option law for the whole State will be introduced into the next Legislature, and this county should be included in its operation, should it pass, and it undoubtedly will pass and become a law. However, there are those who are going to make an effort to have this county excluded from the operation of such a law; so the people who believe in temperance, the enforcement of law and order, who prefer less crime and lower taxes, should go to work with their petitions and ask the Legislature through the Senator and Representative from this county for aid in the great work of totally suppressing the fearful evil of whiskey selling in Chilton county and in Alabama.

Remember it is time for work; and every Christian, man or woman, should help in the work.

News Bits from Everywhere.

A laborer was crushed to death in a furnace elevator at Birmingham Saturday.

The Adams Express Company's car on the St. Louis and San Francisco road was robbed of $100,000 last week. It is thought that the Express agent was in collusion with the robbers.

A heavy snow storm in Montana October 29th.

All quiet in Charleston. Rain badly needed.

Mrs. Warren Newcomb, a wealthy widow of New York city has given $100,000 to Tulane University, New Orleans.

Terrible railroad disaster at Rio Wisconsin last week. About thirteen passengers killed.

The Know Nothing Party still has an organization extant in Chicago.

A wild-cat distiller murdered a deputy internal revenue collector near St. Louis Oct. 29th.

There is no yellow fever at Biloxi, and the health of the place is reported good.

Bartholdi's great statue of liberty enlightening the world was unveiled in New York harbor Oct. 28th. President Cleveland was present during the ceremonial exercises and delivered an address.

Guntersville is one of the most peaceable towns in Alabama. The marshal has made but two arrests in a year. Some one may ask why? The Democrat says it is because they have no saloons there.

The Saloon Not Yet Opened.

MR. EDITOR.—In the issue of the View two weeks since your correspondent from Dixie made an effort to cast reflections on Stanton. We know that the cause which prompts this is envy, consequently we consider the source. Perhaps the readers of the View will remember that in the same issue a list of names appeared that had been signed to a petition to sell whiskey in beat No. 8; among them were a majority of Dixie's citizens.

Now Stanton is in beat 8, but thanks to the good sense of her citizens none of their names appeared as desiring that the accursed whiskey traffic should be carried on in our beat, and it was through the noble efforts of one of beat 8's citizens, who, however, was not a resident of Dixie, that the grog shop was not located in our beat, by his buying the land on which the liquor den was to have been built. God forbid that Stanton should ever be considered a part of Dixie or even claim a remote relationship.

Under the circumstances we cannot blame your Maplesville correspondent for his big effort at sarcasm in reference to the intelligence of beat 8. STANTON.

The last grand jury for this county found eighteen true bills. Before prohibition prevailed in any of the beats the number of bills found by each grand jury would usually double or treble the above number, sometimes being more than a hundred. This fact is published for the benefit of Secor Harris. If it were possible we would like to convince him that all that is licensed is not God-like. The sale of whiskey means crime and criminals for the community to look after.

The Age will undertake to furnish subjects to the approaching session of the Legislature of Alabama of the most imperative nature, which will require full one hundred days of hard work to formulate into statutes now required by the people.—Birmingham Age.

What's the use of having any Legislature anyhow? Let the Age boss the whole job.—Mobile Register.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THE EVILS OF GAMBLING.

First. "Aceldama, that is to say, the field of blood."—Aceldama, that is to say, the field of blood. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood.

On the 14th of the month of November, 1886, I preached a sermon on the evils of gambling. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood. THANKSGIVING.

On the 14th of the month of November, 1886, I preached a sermon on the evils of gambling. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood. The money that was used for building the temple was used for building the field of blood.

A FAMILY FEUD.

The houses were just like; green-shut and white; only one story high, but occupying much space on the ground. "I've no eye for these city buildings," remarked Mr. Brown, one of the owners, when the plans were laid out. "Poor looking, built for the poor, and for the poor to build them out of."

THE SUMMER IS DEAD.

"The summer is dead," a saying that has been in the mouths of many people since the first of September. The summer is dead, the summer is dead, the summer is dead. The summer is dead, the summer is dead, the summer is dead.

PITH AND POINT.

Long-winded—The cyclone. A fruitful source of debate—A dispute over a barrel of apples. The phrase, "in due time," probably means the first of the month, for that is when the bills come in.—Rambler.

SOME FAMOUS KISSES.

In the "Midsummer Night's Dream" Shakespeare calls the lips "those kissing treasures." Titania "kisses the fair, large ears of her gentle jay," and seems to take much pleasure in it, while further on she kisses the lips of Bottom.

Ex-President Arthur died at his home in New York on Friday last.

Atlanta's prohibition does not amount to much nor will it as long as there are scores of wine rooms open in the city. A bar-room or whiskey shop by a new name.

Mr. Johnston has introduced a bill in the legislature for the establishment of a court of county revenue for this county, to be composed of our Probate Judge and four commissioners.

We notice that Judge H. J. Calen's name is mentioned for the position of State Inspector of convicts. We do not believe that Judge Calen is a candidate for the office, but if he should secure the appointment, we are sure the State would have a most worthy and efficient officer in the position.

The temperance question is paramount to everything, and all issues in this day of progress. Since the saloon has been eliminated from our city, the place has improved both in population and capital; business houses have been erected where none were before, happy faces greet us upon the streets, schools have been better patronized, and in fact, everything presents a better prospect. Cotton has flowed into the city from plantations that never brought their cotton here before. Merchants are doing a much better business and the city presents a life of prosperity that it never did under the saloon reign.—Opelika Times.

Verily this world moves. Spirits instead of coming in the shape of harmless visitants from the "ether world," or in the form of unseen devils, now "tote" clubs.

The spirit avenger of a certain beautiful young heiress to $20,000, Miss Emma Saunders, of Spruceville, N. Y., only sixteen years of age when she mysteriously disappeared from the guardianship of one Alexander Carpenter, of that town, is making periodical visits to the young lady's native village. Three times the unseen spirit has made a call on the unlucky Carpenter, and each time the poor man has been made to "bite the dust" from a well directed blow from a heavy club on the back of his cranium, leaving a ghastly wound and a big knot on the fellows' pate.

Any more spiritual improvements going on that you know of; if so please inform us.—Pittsboro Progress.

We reproduce an article from the Montgomery Advertiser on the subject of the compensation of solicitors. Though the article does not cover the subject as fully as it might in favor of the fee system, it is sufficient to show that there is no foundation for the statement that there is a general demand among "press and people" for making the Solicitor's office a salaried one. If the office pays more than it should the Legislature can fix and reduce the fees. But pay the solicitor a fixed salary, remembering that he is a man and not a god, and he will not exert himself in prosecuting many classes and cases, because of the personal animosity that such prosecution would engender against himself; and as he will get his salary whether he prosecutes or not, he would naturally consider it bad policy to make enemies where he could make friends by failing to prosecute wherever he saw that it would be to his personal interest to do so. There may be strong points in favor of the salary plan. But the strong points, the reason and common sense, we think, predominate in the fee system.

Fees or Salaries.

The question of changing the mode of compensation of solicitors is now before the legislature. There can hardly be a doubt of the perfect right of the legislature to do so, the only thing to be considered being its advisability. Their pay may amount to more than that received by the judge, as advocates of the salary system contend, but there are considerations which may outweigh this. The pay of the judge is fixed and certain, while that of the solicitor depends upon his own success in representing the interest of the State. It would be a horrible system that fixed the pay of the presiding judge upon the basis of success decided for reasons that readily present themselves and there is no reason in the world why the pay of the solicitors should be fixed because that of the judge is a sum certain. There is and can be no other satisfactory way than a salary for compensating a judge who must be impartial and protect the interests of the State and prisoners alike. The solicitor looks in one direction alone, that of properly prosecuting crime and criminals. He must not of course prostitute his office to base ends or become a persecutor but he is not required to have the impartial and judicial bearing of a judge. It is better to let him earn his pay according to the work he does than to make it a certainty whether he discharges his duty or neglects it. His pay may be large or small. That will depend upon his success in looking after the interest of the State and country in the prosecution of crime. While every solicitor might be as vigilant upon a salary less than he could earn from fees, it is not exactly according to average human nature that it should be so.

Another consideration that of itself is sufficient to prevent a change from fees to salary is the necessity that the solicitor has in each county of his circuit for local assistance. He cannot in every case know exactly who to challenge as a jurymen nor is he able at all times to tell who is the proper witness or exactly what line of argument and prosecution to take. On a meagre salary he could not and would not have assistance of a local attorney. An important case comes up for trial, the solicitor lives fifty to seventy-five miles from the locality, and knows absolutely nothing of the local influences and feelings that govern in the case. He goes into trial helpless because his salary does not warrant him in paying any out. Under the fee system, when his own compensation depended upon proper conduct of the case he could and would have all information and benefit to be obtained from attorneys on the spot thoroughly informed in every particular. The legislature would do well to let the present system remain.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Another Letter from Sam Ming

"Lasses bilin" time is nearly over now. The good old farmers have made considerable quantities; enough for home use. Its a mighty good thing to make. And the "bilin" time is excellent. You know the cane is ready to "bile long" in October and November every year, and about that time the political campaigns are at high ebb. Well the "lasses bilers" generally run their mills and pans at night a good deal, and how pleasant it is for the neighbors to meet at the "lasses" mill at night, and talk politics, and then the young folks have little meetings and put a good big pot on the fire, sort like the old dinner pot, and fill it up with "lasses" and it "biles" awhile, and then they go to what do you call it? pulling "lasses," until the "lasses" gets to candy. The young fellows have a heap of fun at these candy stews.

Politics are all over now, and brother Ike says he is glad of it. Bro. Ike, you see is a great politician, in his way and he loses a good deal of time during campaigns, in working "the stews" for the democrat ticket. Bro. Ike was flooded almost, in the last election. He says he don't see how men can vote for an independent candidate in opposition to such a man as Judge Cobb, who was a regular democrat nominee, and a man faultless in his public life. Well, Bro. Ike says he asked some of the leading ones against Judge Cobb, why they voted against such a man, and the answer was, because he did not put Mr. Honeycutt in the Probate office last court. Well, Bro. Ike says he was so mad, but he could not argue against, or with ignorance. He says some men have not intelligence, or sense enough to enjoy good health, or a good shower of rain in June. Bro. Ike is a captain. He and Mrs. Ming have some great arguing sometimes, not on politics, however—most of their differences are about the management of farms, and church-going, and the raising of children and such like.

Well you said you had to "bile" down my last letter. And perhaps I had better drop off, or this letter may go to a "lasses bilin."

Much success for the View.

Mustor Roll of the Hayneville Guards.

The following is a correct muster roll of the Hayneville Guards, Captain William H. Hayneville, attached to the Sixth Alabama Regiment in the late war. Believing the copy which we have before us and which is furnished us by a surviving member of the company, now residing at this place, to be the only one in existence, and knowing that many of our citizens have moved to this section from Lowndes county, of which Hayneville is the county seat, we reproduce it thinking it may be especially interesting to them.

Our sheriff reports that last week was a busy week with him. He "roped in" five culprits, and now has them safe in jail.

To-day is the day set apart for the giving of thanks for the many blessings which we enjoy on this earth. Let all observe it as such.

The enormous license required for running a skating rink has about squelched the prospect of Clanton's having one this winter.

Croup, Whooping cough and Bronchitis immediately relieved by Shiloh's Cure. Jun 16 y

Catarrh cured, health and sweet breath secured by Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents. Need no doctor free. For sale by M. J. Greene.

Clanton now boasts of genuine, full-fledged boot blacks. Thus by degrees she assumes the ways of a great city, which she is destined to be.

The View is indebted to our representative, Hon. W. E. Johnston, for valuable documents. State Examiner's report, report of the Trustees of the A. & M. College, &c.

Several of our sportsmen have gone out on Coosa river for a few days' hunt. We hope they won't forget to send the editor a wild goose or duck on their return.

Auditor Burke and Treasurer Smith, two faithful and most efficient State officers have our thanks for reports from their respective offices for the past fiscal year.

H. H. Barclift & Co., wholesale and retail grocers, of Birmingham, Ala., will fill your orders promptly, and give you prices as low as the lowest. A trial order is all they ask.

Life will acquire new zest, and cheerfulness will return, if you will impel your liver and kidneys to the performance of their functions. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm will stimulate them to healthy action. $1.00 per bottle. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton.

We learn that Mr. Tom Phillips, of Loachapoka, and a brother of Mr. W. H. Phillips, of this place, will move his family to Clanton this week to make this their home. Another good citizen to whom we extend a cordial welcome.

Died.

In Atlanta, Ga., on the 19th inst., of typhoid fever, Mrs. Minnie Lawrence Brown, wife of Geo. W. Brown, Esq., of Darlington, S. C., and daughter of Mrs. E. C. Lawrence, of Clanton.

Is it vain to hope that a heavenly crown now gives a halo of glory and life to that dead, cold brow?

Don't forget that the View Stationery Stand will be full of holiday goods soon, as come around and look at them and purchase Christmas, New Year and birthday presents.

Dr. W. E. DuBose, of Columbiana, was in Clanton Monday morning and gave the View office a pleasant call. The Dr. is a genial and cultured gentleman and we are always glad to see him.

Mr. R. P. Wooley, one of our most energetic merchants has changed his location and can be found on the north side of main St., next to the railroad. See his advertisement elsewhere.

Messrs. Wall & Giacomazzi, and Messrs. Hudson & Co., both wholesale fruit, produce and commission merchants, of Birmingham, have advertisements in this issue, which speak for themselves. Read them.

W. L. Sumpsey, of Clanton, Ala., desires us to inform his friends that he is still selling goods as low as if not lower than any of his competitors. Go and examine the quality of his goods, especially his shoes, before purchasing elsewhere.

Professional and business men of Clanton and Chilton county, remember that you have a first class job printing establishment right at your door and do not send off when you want work done in that line. Send your orders to the View office.

We understand that a movement is on foot for another concert. There was to have been a meeting at Mrs. Hannon's last Tuesday night for making necessary arrangements for same but the bad weather caused a postponement of it. Do not let that break it up. Try again.

Mr. W. B. Stock, at Verbena, is a model farmer. He raises all he needs and keeps out of debt. The past year he raised 650 bushels of corn, 8 bales of cotton, 300 gallons of molasses, and potatoes, peas, &c. in proportion, and he paid for his fertilizer when he got it. He also raised all the hogs needed for home consumption. This is the way to farm, and such farmers the county feels proud of.

The new jail is nearly completed and is a model structure. The interior has been painted white, which gives it a clean and comfortable appearance, and instead of being too dark as was thought by some it has light in the greatest sufficiency. After getting the heating apparatus in place the building will be ready for use. The sheriff expects to transfer the prisoners from the old jail into it next week.

For Sale.

The Marsh property in Clanton is offered for sale at a low figure. The premises comprise about 2 of an acre, which contains a good sized room dwelling, with a well of good water, a garden spot, and a young orchard. Also a good farm of 200 acres six miles south of Clanton. Apply to W. H. & J. C. Lawrence, Clanton, Ala., who also have other valuable real estate for sale and to rent.

A Special Offer.

To those of our subscribers who desire a first-class weekly paper in addition to their county paper, we make this offer. To every cash subscriber we will send the New York World one year, and give a handsomely bound volume of the History of the United States, with twenty-two engravings, for 90 cts. in addition to our regular price of $1.50. This is a liberal offer, and we hope our readers will avail themselves of it at once. Just think of it! You get your county paper, the New York World and a History of the United States for $2.40.

Verbena Items.

Miss Fannie Wainwright, who has been in Birmingham sometime, has returned to Verbena where she will spend the winter.

Mr. Barnet Morriweather is again in Verbena. He has been in Birmingham for sometime past.

Several Verbenians went camping hunting this week. They report a jolly time.

Bill Nye On Fence Board Advertisers.

Bill Nye doesn't always talk nonsense, as witness his very sensible comment on fence board advertisements.

I believe that the fence board advertiser is not only a rule, wickeder, but he also lacks common sense. Who ever bought a liver pad, or a cornet because he read about it on a high board fence? No one. Who ever purchased a certain kind of pill or poultice because the name of that pill or poultice was nailed on a tree to disfigure a beautiful landscape? I do not believe that any sane human being ever did so.

If every one feels as I do about it, people would rather starve to death for pills and freeze to death in a perfect wilderness of liver pads than buy of the man who daubs the fair face of nature with the names of his alleged goods.

SOME BARGAINS!

The View has for sale the following articles at the prices named, all of which have been advertised in its columns:

One of Bradley's Solid Comfort Buckboards, Single Spindle wagons. List price $50. Will be sold for $40.

No. 3 Spring Cart manufactured by the C. Spring Cart Co., of Rushville, Ind. List price $55. To be sold for $40.

One Open End Spring Buggy, manufactured by T. T. Haydock, Cincinnati. Price $60. Will sell for $50.

One Avery Sewing Machine manufactured by Avery Machine Co., New York, worth $50. Will be sold for $25.

One Estey Organ worth $150. Will be sold for $90.

One Chicago Cottage Organ with stool and instruction book. Organ is six feet high and is listed at $170. Will sell for $95.

Also one of Atkins' Silver Steel Cross Cut Band or Circular Saws, and one of B. W. Payne's Engines and Boilers, each of which will be sold at a great bargain. Call on us before purchasing anything mentioned in this list.

Sayings by Bob Ingersoll.

If nobody has too much everybody will have enough.

I would like to see this world so that a man could die and not feel that he had left his wife and children a prey to the greed or avarice or necessities of mankind.

There is something wrong in the system when idleness is burdened with wealth and industry with famine.

Get out of your minds that old nonsense about man's free moral agency. A man is no more responsible for his character than for his height or for his acts than for his dreams. Then you will have charity for the whole human race.

Wealth is not a crime nor is poverty a virtue, although virtue has generally been poor.

There is only one good—human happiness.

To do right is the bud blossom and fruit of wisdom.

No perfectly civilized man could be happy while there was an unhappy being in the universe that he knew.

The poor imagine that the rich live in paradise. I know that the most of them live in a gilded hell.

No man has the genius or brains to own five millions dollars. The money owns him. He is the key to a safe. Yet these men go on accumulating. It is a sort of insanity.

Imagine a man—a good intelligent man—with two million coats [laughter], six or eight million hats [cheers], a billion neckties [laughter and cheers]. Then imagine him getting up at 4 o'clock in the morning and working hard all day to get another necktie. [Prolonged applause.]

Representative Johnston has introduced a bill to establish a new jury law for the State. We are acquainted with the merits of the bill, but there is certainly a great need of improvement upon the present plan of drawing jurors in some counties of Alabama.

The Mobile Register shows by figures that the tax rate can be reduced from six to five mills. It is very certain that our tax rate is too high for our circumstances. It is also very certain that the lower the rate of taxation the fuller will be the valuations of property.

The esteemed scribe of the esteemed Eufaula Times has rounded off and polished up the word "esteemed" until it has become very "shiny" indeed. In fact the esteemed word has grown so sleek that it slips into about every other esteemed squib that esteemed scribe pens.

It is said that the man most urgently insisting that the legislature of 1880 should not reduce the tax rate was State Treasurer Vincent. The rate was not reduced, the surplus largely increased, and Mr. Vincent took a benefit from the failure of the legislature to do their duty.—Dispatch.

The question of Solicitors' fees is exercising many of our contemporaries. We think what is well done should remain. The present plan works well; if the Solicitor does not prosecute his case he gets no money. Then why make a change when the Solicitor earns his money.—Opelika Times.

Of Dr. P. Bryce, superintendent of the Insane Hospital, the Advertiser says: "Words of eulogy would be exhausted and then no more be said of Dr. Bryce than he deserves. No state has his superior, and it is our opinion that his equal as a superintendent of an insane hospital is not to be found in the Union."

If the legislature passes all the bills to amend the code now under consideration and keeps up the business like it has started out, that old instrument won't know itself from an editor's waste basket when the body adjourns, and justices of the peace will have to begin anew and read law over again in toto.—Eufaula Mirror.

Mr. T. V. Powderly, Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor, denies the report that he is a free trader, and says: I am a protectionist from the top of my head to the bottom of my foot. I have experienced no change of heart or sentiment on this question. This country is not ready for free trade, and until it is I will be a protectionist.

Abram Hewitt, the man who was elected Mayor of New York city is a son-in-law of the late Peter Cooper, the great philanthropist. He is at the head of a great foundry and manufacturing establishment, that employs several thousand men. He sets apart one day of every week as a time to listen to needy persons, and his clerks are always ready on that day to listen to those who ask for alms. Al though an invalid and a dyspeptic, and at times of a troublesome disposition, Mr. Hewitt is a very benevolent man. It is hoped that his election will mark an era of municipal reform.

The young alumni of the University showed up well in the recent distribution of solicitorships at Montgomery. Alto V. Lee, Esq., who graduated in 1884, and then showed his good sense by marrying a Tuscaloosa girl, was elected in the third circuit. He is a model officer and well deserved this endorsement. Messrs. Stallings, of Greenville, and Lomax, of Montgomery, both of whom are pleasantly remembered in Tuscaloosa society, where they were very popular when cadets, were successful against strong opposition. C. C. Shorter, Esq., of Eufaula, another University graduate, made a strong case for his election, and was elected to one of the subordinate clerkships of the House.—Tuscaloosa Gazette.

Barrie Guter, who killed a policeman in Montgomery, three months since has been adjudged insane and sent to the hospital in Tuscaloosa.

Representative Johnston, of the Lower House of the General Assembly, spent Saturday at home. He has introduced a very good bill in regard to the establishing of a court of county revenue for this county. It makes the office of commissioner an appointive instead of an elective one. We believe that the majority of the tax paying population of the county would prefer that the Governor appoint our county commissioners. Mr. Johnston says that if any objections or suggestions can be made in relation to the measure, now is the time to make them and that he will give all such due consideration before asking for the passage of the bill.

We clip the following from the Montgomery Advertiser of the 27th ult.:

A bill was introduced by Mr. Johnston at an early day of the session to repeal as to the counties of Chilton and Elmore the jury law passed by the legislature of 1884-85. This law has failed to give satisfaction in those counties on account of its impracticability and both Mr. Johnston and Mr. Goodwyn have been untiring in their efforts to get it off the statute books. The judiciary committee, however, to whom the bill was referred, have withheld their report up to this time, for the purpose of giving time for the preparation of a bill which will meet the deficiencies in the existing law and it is not owing to the neglect of the gentlemen named that the law has not been repealed.

The Greensboro Beacon has the following sensible words in regard to an appropriation from the State for the proposed Confederate monument:

A few years delay in the erection of the proposed monument will be no evidence of a lack of respect and admiration for the memory of those who sacrificed their lives in battling for the "lost cause." Probably thirty years elapsed from the date of the battle of Bunker Hill till the monument commemorating that event was completed. And even a longer period than that elapsed from the close of the life of the "Father of his Country," till the monument to his memory, in Washington, was finished.

The tax-payers of Alabama are certainly in no condition at this time, with a very short crop, and that bringing a ruinously low price, to bear any additional taxation. For this reason we respectfully dissent from the recommendation of the message, on the matter in hand, while most cordially approving its views and recommendations generally.

Solicitor's Fees.

The fees of solicitors seem to have troubled some of our contemporaries for some time past. We'll suggest a remedy whereby the solicitors' fees can be materially reduced. It has worked well in Lee county and it can be worked well in other counties. Since prohibition has been in effect in Lee county, at the present term of the circuit court the grand jury made a return of only nine true bills. If every county in the state will work upon that principle they will soon find that the solicitors' fees will be so materially reduced that it will be a difficult matter to get a first-class lawyer to accept the office unless he is assured of a specific salary from the state. If our grumblers would make an effort in that direction we would hear nothing more of solicitors' fees.—Opelika Times.

We hadn't thought of that. Give the state absolute prohibition, and the business of the solicitor and of judge grand jurors and of petit jurors and feeding prisoners in jail will be "gone up!" And here we have been urging the propriety of giving solicitors a $3,000 salary, to keep them from making $10,000 out of the unfortunate victims of the liquor traffic! You are right, brother: stop the sale and use of whiskey, and crime virtually ceases; the occupation of law-officers and the lawyers will settle down to the minimum fees of a justice's court! The whiskey business is a terrible tax upon those who get no benefit from it. The nine judges and solicitors at a salary of $3,000 each, foot up $54,000! Now suppose the court fees in each county will average $198,000! The state pays $70,000 a year for feeding prisoners. These three supposed items foot up $322,000! Suppose one-half of this is chargeable to the whiskey traffic, don't you see what tax sober people have to pay to maintain the whiskey traffic! But then, the business affords revenue! supports schools! gives employment! helps the lawyers! helps the farmers, by turning their grain and fruits into rot-gut! Yes, and it turns rot-gut into employees, farmers, lawyers, judges, solicitors and jurors.—sometimes! And this is taxation. Nine true bills in prohibitory Lee county! That's good. Ninety-six for the grand old county of Tuscaloosa, with her five licensed whiskey dealers. Of course, they didn't all result from whiskey, but how many did, directly or incidentally?—Tuscaloosa Gazette.

Reflections.

As I don't often see locals in the county paper from our little town, I will give you some dots concerning us and ours.

We don't boast much on our town, but we do on our farmers and our merchants too. Mr. W. J. Mullins is our chief merchant, and Mr. W. J. N. Culp is our boss farmer. The latter is a small man, weighing only 100 pounds, and has made ten 500 pound bales of cotton and 400 bushels of corn the past year. That is the way to get there. Next! Try it again. Mr. A. C. Pool is another of our good farmers, but I can't say how much he has made.

Weddings seem to be all the go with the young folks. There was one not far from here last Sunday. Pat didn't go. Don't expect he had an invitation. There will be two more when Walter and Willis get fixed up. Wish they would hurry.

Pat went to Clanton Saturday and rode the boss' mule. The mule didn't want to keep company with Pat and he had to walk home and go back and get the saddle the next morning. "Date" what makes me apise a ding mule."

I wonder why it is the View man doesn't visit Kincheon. I guess its because we pay our subscription in advance, as I don't know what other reason to ascribe. You had better come out and see us "fore all do taters and lasses are gone."

There is plenty of music in town now. Mr. R. F. Atkinson has received his flute organ. It makes a great deal of fuss. Bob can't you give us a serenade? I don't believe Bob can play it.

We are sorry to hear that two of our most prominent citizens, Messrs. Popwell and Kemp are moving off. We give them our best wishes. Success be always with the View. PAT.

Lilly Dots.

We have had a good rain at last. Mr. B. H. Jones happened to bad luck last Sunday. He stuck an 8 penny nail in his left hand about $\frac{1}{2}$ of an inch. He fears he will have to have his hand lanced.

Mr. J. T. Headley has just returned from a trip down in the southwest corner of this county. He speaks very highly of the fertility of that country, and says he intends to go back again. Jim is a jolly good hearted fellow and may his pathway through life be strewn with the flowers of happiness.

Our new tax collector, D. A. White, has just started on his first round to collect the taxes of Chilton county. We hope that Mr. W. will have good luck in his new business. We want him to show the people of Chilton that there are men who are as honest and can collect the taxes as well as Mr. Honeycutt who gave universal satisfaction and resigned his office with honor. Mr. White is inexperienced and will be liable to make some mistakes, but let us hope they will be few and of little importance and may his term of office end with honor to himself and county.

The Rev. A. A. Green will preach his last sermon for the year at Pierce's Chapel next Sabbath.

We hope to stick our tooth in some wedding cake over in the piney woods on the red hill pretty soon. Hurry up Boon.

No more news this week that we think of.

The Shelby Chronicle: Married, at the residence of the bride, near Briarfield in Chilton county, by Rev. Mr. Nelson, on Nov. 18th, Mr. James Mason, of Shelby county, and Miss Georgia Woolley, of Chilton.

That enterprising young merchant W. L. Sampay, has just received and opened a large and well assorted stock of dry goods which he is selling very cheap for cash. To be convinced of this fact you have only to call at his store on Main street, and price his goods; then you will be sure to buy.

Kind Words.

The following kind and encouraging commendation is from the genial and talented Dr. W. S. DuBose, of the Columbiana Chronicle. Coming from such a high source it is all the more appreciated, and is republished to show our appreciation of the Dr. and his kindness.

We called upon the editors of the Chilton View on Monday morning last, early. As soon as the door was open, we found the office swept and garnished as neat as a pin. Printers, as a rule, are not celebrated for neatness. But the View of 800 is an exceptionally neat, tidy, comfortable retreat, where a weary man, or the most fastidious lady could find repose, good literature and refined society. Why this marked difference between the View and most others, especially on Monday morning. We will tell you. The editors and proprietors of the View are temperate. They will not employ a printer who is not temperate. They are cultivated, christian gentlemen. Ergo they present to their readers the neatest, cleanest, newiest county paper in the state. Chilton county should be proud of her paper, and every citizen should be a subscriber.

For Sale.

The Marsh property in Clanton is offered for sale at a low figure. The premises comprise about 2 of an acre, which contains a good six room dwelling, with a well of good water, a garden spot, and a young orchard. Also a good farm of 200 acres six miles south of Clanton is offered for sale at a great bargain. Apply to W. H. & J. C. Lawrence, Clanton, Ala., who also have other valuable real estate for sale and to rent.

We learn that Mr. J. H. Aldridge has purchased a half interest in the steam gin and grist mill of Mr. C. W. Rutherford, at this place, and they intend putting in new machinery at an early day and propose to establish a number one grist mill, to be a permanent thing and to run year in and year out and not shut down during the summer months as heretofore. This shows enterprise and under the firm name of Aldridge & Rutherford it is sure of success.

Messrs. Simpson, Callen, and Gullahorn, of Clanton, and the clever and genial Geo. W. Bains, of Birmingham, joined by J. L. and W. C. Atkinson, of Jumbo, in a big goose hunt last week, brought in 13 geese and lost several that were killed. They also killed ducks and birds in abundance, and did not forget to send the View a nice large goose. They are the boss hunters of the season, and we don't care how soon they go again on the same terms.

The Verbena correspondent of the Advertiser says that Sheriff Smithman attempted to arrest one Allen near Verbena on Saturday. Allen is charged with murdering a man near the Shelby line some time ago. The Sheriff found Allen near Verbena driving a team and walked up to serve his warrant of arrest. Allen attempted to shoot and the Sheriff commenced firing. Allen ran into the swamp and escaped.

We have no room to print the immense amount of matter that makes up the daily work of the Alabama Legislature, so we advise all who are anxious to see the full proceedings to subscribe for the Montgomery Weekly Advertiser. The Advertiser and the Chilton View will both be sent to any address one year for $2.00.

The first number of the Uniontown Herald, of which our friend Gordon DuBose, Esq., is editor and proprietor, has been received. It holds out as well as this number promises, there need be no doubt about its success. It deserves the support and encouragement of the intelligent citizenship of Uniontown and Perry county.

To Cure Dull Times.

Apply an advertisement to the afflicted parts. People who advertise only once in three months forget that most folks can not remember anything longer than seven days. Keep dropping your advertisements on the public and they will melt under it.

Oyster Supper.

The Ladies Aid Society will have an oyster supper at Phillip's Hall on the night of Dec. 10th. Oysters served in the best style, and at reasonable prices. Proceeds to be used for church purposes.

Tax Assessor Smith publishes his notices of appointments to meet tax-payers on his first round. Take heed and meet him.

FUNERAL OF

Mrs. Minnie Lawrence Brown.

On Saturday afternoon, Nov. 20, 1886, Mrs. Minnie Lawrence Brown was buried in Evergreen Cemetery in this city. The impressive funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church, by the Reverend Messrs. Dill and Mont.

This simple announcement will shock many of the friends of the subject of the notice, for this is a lady that was entirely unprepared. The death occurred at Atlanta, Ga., where she was being treated for an affection of the throat. A large concourse of our people assembled at the church to pay the last and rites to the deceased. The coffin and grave were almost hidden under the many flowers gathered by loving fingers.

A large list of friends mourn her loss, a list which was begun in childhood, continued during the days of the maiden's life, and so increased, by the time that womanhood's years were reached, that it numbered almost all our people. The reason for this was, that she was one of the most stately and beautiful of the creatures of our Maker, and not less lovely was her character. She was noted for her kind and tender disposition, and her firm and steadfast devotion to her friends. Nature had endowed her with a magnificent voice, which was regularly used in her Maker's worship while she was a resident of the city.

This loss falls upon all—but chiefly upon a devoted husband, loving mother, and two brothers with whom we deeply sympathize in their great affliction.

Died.

At her home in Jemison, on the evening of Nov. 24th, of typhoid fever, Mary Ann Nix, wife of James Gibbons. She was born Sept. 25th, 1839, she was married Feb'y 3d, 1857. She was again in May, 1861, and united with the Missionary Baptist church at Macedonia, Bibb (now Chilton) county, being baptised by Eld. James Hand, for whom she ever cherished the kindest Christian regard.

Mrs. Gibbons was a neighbor of the Good Samaritan type, a faithful wife, a devoted mother, and an exemplary Christian. True to her church to the day of her death, her light was not hid. Her dying request of her husband was, "Do not fail to pay my preacher." The family is now equally divided. Fourteen children were born into it, seven of whom died in infancy, and childhood's tender years; hence they're in heaven: surely a happy way into the face of the mother in her last hours on earth will ever doubt that she has joined them. About an hour and a half before she breathed her last, she fell into apparently a sweet sleep as ever refreshed a weary mortal, from which she never awoke, with a bright smile beaming on her placid face, she simply ceased to breathe. Great God, what a death! Nay, it is no death, to fall asleep, and wake in Heaven!

The remains were conveyed to the church of which she was so long an honored member; within those sacred walls the writer preached her funeral, and in that quiet churchyard where sleeps her children, the body was deposited by loving hands, there to rest in peace till the morning of the Resurrection.

Stricken husband and weeping children weep not as those who have no hope; remember those affectionate words, "Be good, and meet me in Heaven." God grant that that loving admonition may burn into each sorrowing heart, and that the family, without the loss of one, may be reunited and perfected "on the sunny banks of sweet deliverance," where separation, "Sickness and sorrow, pain and death are felt and feared no more."

here are all those shining dollars that we dreamed of by and by?—
—Are they as modest lawyers who had never told a lie.

here are all those stately mansions with their periwinkle of pride!—
—Sweet still, and non-existent as "the little boy that died."

here are all our accepted power that should shake the earth with fear!—
—Unshined in Canadian dactyls, like the modern knight-errand.

here are the deep-fronted islands, groves of spice and banks of flowers, —where the turtle-dove and hallow sang amid the citron bower!—

—Will they lie in the magic distance, far beyond the setting sun!

—Awaiting their realization when the Keely Motor's done.

here are all those young ambitious ones, hopes so vast and unfulfilled!—
—To me off with some other fellow, like "the girl we left behind."

—The fleets of youthful ventures freighted with their hope and sublime, —Back as Grover Cleveland's veto.

—Wrecked upon the shores of time.

—How those young ideals have fallen that once fired our youthful blood, —like the captured Texan horse-bitch, with a "dull and sickening thud!"

—here are all those fond ambitions boasting 'gainst the gates of doom, —like a wild Montana cowboy shouting for "more room, more room!"

—here are all those siren voices, mellow-sweet as raspberry jam!

—Sweet now, and non-committal, as a glam Rhode Island clam.

—Here have vanished in the distance, all those hopes that once could thrill, —like a debtor when you ask him "Will you pay that little bill?"

—They have gone—those dreams of morning, built of unsubstantial air,

PITH AND POINT.

Short, sharp and decisive—A tack.
The lion's share of anything is usually a mean portion of it.—Merchant Traveler.

As perhapal the world understands—
The bishop is given to laying on hands,
The granger to haying on land.

The world is filled with men whose chief occupation is parting their hair and rearranging their neckties.—New Haven Herald.

It adds nothing to the self respect of John L. Sullivan that he has to get behind a one-cent stamp in order to lick it.—Full River Advertiser.

The festive cackle of the hen
Sounds ever light and gay.
When e'er she lays an egg, 'tis then —she carols forth her lay.

A SURE TRUTH.

When the fevered, hectic base
Of the melancholy days
Is to the rustling, ruddy foliage of the woodland all ablaze——on the husband, taken back, —finds him sadty of the pack

The Young Idea.

A little girl calling with her mother a new house where the walls were not papered, explained: "What a bald-headed house, mamma!"

"Mamma," said little Mary, "is uncle Arthur's uncle, too!" "No," said her mother, "he is Arthur's father." "We are his young uncle!" "No," he is his brother. He is Fred's uncle and cousin, and cousin Lizzie's." "Now," said little Mary, shaking her head very positively, "I know uncle Ned. isn't such a case as that!"—Philadelphia Coll.

It is decidedly hazardous to make the truthful answer too many questions. They often answer with an unapologetic frankness that may be decidedly embarrassing. A little boy was visiting his neighbor's. Strange as it may seem, he was eating very light. The host and hostess said: "Little man, you don't seem to be hungry. Why don't you eat?" He blurted out: "Yes, I am hungry; but there ain't anything here fit to eat!" You can't cook like my ma.—Common City Star.

The following is a decision of the United States Supreme Court: 1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary, are considered to have authorized their subscription. 2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals the publishers may continue to send them until all arrears are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are held responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

Marriages are numerous all over the State.

Sam Small, arrested in Montgomery Sunday night.

Tuscaloosa and Greenville both mourn over recent deaths of prohibition.

A good deal of Mobile money has been invested in Sheffield property lately.

A bank has been established in Sheffield with a capital stock of $100,000.

The State Grange met at Dentsville on the 14th inst., the next will be held at Smyrna, Henry county.

A correspondent to the Register from Tuscaloosa says that the girls of the Druid City are not any faster than they are any where else.

To read some of Alabama's papers one would think that the towns in which they are published are on a right tolerable "Big Boom."

Mr. Thos. H. Clark, late editor of the Selma Times is now on the editorial staff of the Montgomery Advertiser. We extend congratulations all around.

The granting of a license, to practice medicine, to a woman, by the Court of Appeals of Kentucky, is evidence that that State is progressing in spite of itself.

The Russian Government wants to buy war material at once. There doesn't seem to be much chance just now for it to borrow anything of the kind from its neighbors.

The proposition made by the citizens of Montgomery for the holding of the State Fair in that city for a term of years not less than five, has been accepted.

Tom Ellis, of the Insane Asylum fame, will doubtless make "Romeo" and "Night hideous" around Birmingham when he again enters journalism.

A temperance lecturer named Cheves was knocked down and beaten in Greenville last week by the mayor of the city. Which caused great indignation against the mayor.

A young man froze to death in Lafayette this week. He was drunk and fell off his mule while on his way home, and froze by laying out all night. He leaves a widowed mother.

A conductor on the A. G. S. railroad shot an offensive negro and killed him, at Wheeling Station, on the 16th inst. The negro had struck him on the head with a jug of whiskey.

The Senate bill, to prevent freight trains from running on Sundays, passed. What will become of perishable goods, and who will bear the loss of them in case they are ruined by laying over Sundays.

The steamer J. M. White, was burned on the Mississippi river last week near New Orleans. Forty lives were lost and several thousand bales of cotton, besides a heavy cargo of other freight, were burned.

The Chattanooga Times, by its continued jeers and reflections cast on Birmingham's continued boom, only acknowledges to the world that Birmingham and other manufacturing cities of the South is fast getting the upper hand of them all in the general boom.

The State Grange at its recent meeting at Dentsville, endorsed Col. H. Hawkins, of Barber county, for the position of Commissioner of Agriculture. From the information we have at hand we surmise that it would not be an unwelcome act upon the part of the Governor if he should appoint Col. Hawkins to the position.

Cleveland's Growing Popularity.

Some interesting and important news comes from New York City. It is to the effect that the sentiment in Tammany Hall and among the County Democracy is surely and rapidly crystallizing in favor of President Cleveland as the Democratic candidate in 1896, and that the efforts to inaugurate a boom in favor of Governor Hill have collapsed. This information comes with the endorsement of two of the most reliable journals of the city, namely the Times and the Evening Post; and it is apparently founded on evidence that leaves no room to doubt that it is substantially true.

It is also stated that the feeling between Tammany and the County Democracy is more harmonious than it has been for many years, and that the policy of Mayor-elect Hewitt will probably result in a still closer union between them. Leading men of both parties have noted the growing strength of Mr. Cleveland in every part of the country, and are coming to look upon his re-nomination as inevitable. They believe that if he should be re-nominated he would be elected by a much greater majority than he received in 1884—in fact, that notwithstanding the ill-concealed hostility of a certain class of politicians, he would carry New York by a very decided majority.

This intelligence is interesting, and it is believed that it is of the highest significance. It seems to indicate that the better element has become predominant in the two great political organizations named, and that instead of being merely bands of spoilsmen, they are coming under the control of right-minded men and patriots.

The question is, what has brought about this wonderful harmony among the New York Democrats? There is but one answer; it has been brought about by the inherent power of the right and as illustrated in the just and fearless policy of the administration. The wisdom of many of the shrewdest and most experienced politicians has been proved to be but foolishness, and it has been demonstrated that a government administered according to the great fundamental doctrines of our constitution, and and strictest principles of official and personal integrity, can put to the blush its enemies and false friends whose ideas of politics do not rise above a policy of time-serving and spoilation.

It is a great day for America when the long alienated factions of the New York Democracy can find a bond of union in endorsing the policy of one of the greatest and best Presidents the country ever had.—Jacksonville Times Union.

We are requested by the Rev. Dr. Wharton, pastor of the First Baptist church in Montgomery, to correct a statement published in our last issue and taken from the Montgomery Advertiser, in regard to an expression used by Mark Twain at a dinner given Gen. Grant, and which it stated was used by the Rev. Dr. in one of his sermons, without giving Mark Twain credit for it. Dr. Wharton denies having used the expression in his sermon, but admits having referred to Mark Twain's reply to the toast at Grant's banquet, but says that he gave Mark full credit for it. The witticism referred to and which Dr. Wharton denies having said is "The future President of the United States is lying flat on his back this beautiful Sabbath morning engaged in the difficult task of putting his big toe in his mouth."

The following lines were very respectfully dedicated to our sister towns in Alabama viz: Sheffield, Florence, Talladega, Selma, Anniston, Montgomery and last but not least "Birmingham," which, like Clanton, are all enjoying booms.

Boom! Boom! Boom!!!
Boom! Boom! Boom!!!
Boom! Boom! Boom!!!
Boom! Boom! Boom!!!

There are 365 verses to this; one for every day in the year, excepting leap years, but as they are all alike we only publish the first verse. This poem is not completed however, the last verse is to be written yet. What will it be?

A difficulty occurred Saturday night between some Howard cats and negro students, in which cadets Prowell and Kirt, were out with a knife by W. D. Brown, colored, of Sumpter county. Mr. Prowell received a serious but not dangerous cut across the hand and wrist, which severed an artery and two leaders. Mr. Kirt received a cut under the chin near the throat, which felled him to the ground as if he was shot. Mr. Prowell's clothes were also in three places about his breast, clear through his overcoat and uniform. The negro has so far escaped arrest, but we have seen a written statement from him in which he claims to have acted in self defense. On the other hand the cadets unite in asserting that the assault was totally unprovoked, and a willful attempt to murder.—Marion Standard.

Jackson county, Alabama, was the scene of another atrocious murder on the 15th. Alfred Hawks went to the store of a prominent young merchant named Smith and asked the latter to loan him a revolver. Smith gave him the pistol, and as he did so Hawks sent a bullet through his breast. Smith fell to the floor, and, being perfectly defenseless, pleaded with his murderer to spare his life. Hawks' only reply was a derisive laugh as he sent four more bullets into the prostrate form of his victim, who expired in two minutes. The murder was witnessed by a dozen persons, who were powerless to render Smith any assistance. Hawks was arrested and a mob was organized to lynch him to-night.

Montgomery's citizens propose to erect suitable buildings on the grounds of the State Fair Association; run a street car line out to them and have water from the city's water works, all at their own expense. That's the way to do it.

The quickest time on record! Neuralgia of the worst type, cured by one dose of SMITH'S BILE BEANS in from one to four hours, as many who have tried it can testify. It does seem strange that sensible people will suffer with this terrible disease when speedy relief can surely be found in this simple safe and inexpensive remedy. 25 cents. For sale by all druggists and dealers in medicine, or sent anywhere on receipt of price in stamps.

Sick Headache and a sensation of oppression and dullness in the head are very commonly produced by indigestion; morbid dependency, irritability and over-sensitiveness of the nerves may, in a majority of cases, be traced to the same cause. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm and Pills will positively cure. For sale by M. J. Greene, Clanton. sept 5
